PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I know many of the Members are going to leave in the next minute or two because there is no intention to bring up any other controversial bills today, and do want to inform the membership of the plans for tomorrow and next week so they may know before they go home what is expected of them next week.

Tomorrow's session will be a consent calendar, but next Monday and Tuesday, the 19th and 20th, will be working days. We mean working days, and we want the Members here. Unless the leadership of the House changes the present status of its mind, we are going to send for the Members who are not present next week and do not have a leave of absence.

The plan is to recess, with the consent of the Senate, until January 16th, subject to being recalled any time by the Speaker of the House or the President pro tempore of the Senate.

As most of you know, the State Farm Show will be held the week of January 9th, and that is the reason we are not going to ask you to return until the January 16th. We hope it will not be necessary to recall you in the interim, but those are the present plans.

The SPEAKER. We will be out of the trenches by April.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, to preside.

Mr. LOPRESTI IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, the Majority Leader, for the purpose of stating the time of meeting on Monday.

Mr. READINGER. At 3:00 p. m., Mr. Speaker. A letter will be sent to all the Members advising them of the time.

There will be no Democratic caucus on Monday.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Chairman of the Committee permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VAUGHAN. Does his Committee intend to do anything about them?

Mr. SNIDER. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Allegheny, that is entirely up to the Committee.

Mr. VAUGHAN. I have a prepared statement to make on House Bill 24, which I introduced on January 24, 1955, and is now in the Committee on Agriculture and Dairy Industries. I have some prepared remarks that I was going to make, but due to the lateness of the hour I am going to ask that my remarks be filed and printed in the Journal.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the Legislative Journal. The Chair hears no objection.

Mr. VAUGHAN, presented the following statement for the record.

On January 24, 1955, I dropped House Bill No. 24, into the House. This Bill was referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Dairy Industries on that date.

This Bill provides that the Milk Control Commission shall have no power to fix the minimum or maximum wholesale or retail prices of milk and milk products produced in this Commonwealth or produced elsewhere and sold in this Commonwealth.

I am at a total loss to discover what reason there could possibly be for this Committee's delaying submission of this Bill to this House for so long a time. It is not controversial legislation. It is not even Partisan legislation.

The Incumbent Governor, during his campaign, so forcibly promised to untangle the state's snarled milk situation that the author of an article on this subject in a recent issue of one of the popular magazines attributed Governor Leader's election to it. Certainly this Bill must now have his support.

This same author, after citing deplorable conditions existing in other states, stated that the most bizarre situation exists along the Pennsylvania-Ohio border, on the Ohio Side of which, during certain months, milk can be purchased for as low as 12 cents a quart while, on the Pennsylvania side, the consumer must pay as high as 25 cents a quart.

Authorities who have studied this situation hold that no other industry has been thrown into so chaotic a condition nor has the public ever been victimized so ruthlessly than by our Milk Control Commissions through their arbitrary power of fixing the price of milk.

But of far greater importance than the economic aspects of this situation is the irreparable damage that is being done to the health of our citizen, especially our future citizens, our children, whose families, because they cannot afford to pay the exorbitant prices set by our Milk Control Commission, have been compelled to eliminate this necessary and almost perfect food from their tables. This aspect of the situation is so serious that our public health authorities have already become greatly alarmed over it.

To date, seventeen states have stepped ahead of Pennsylvania in repealing the retail price-fixing provisions of their laws and, in every instance, prices dropped while profits to dairymen increased because consumption increased to unprecedented levels. Further, such one-time ardent advocates of milk control as Dr. Leland Spencer, Cornell University Agricultural Economist, Dr. James M. Tinley of the University of California School of Agriculture and many others, now admit that such controls are unwise and should be removed.

Mr. Speaker, what reason then can anyone have for further denying the citizens of Pennsylvania and those engaged in the milk industry, the benefits to be gained through the passage of the legislation which I have proposed.

Therefore, I ask that the Chairman of the Committee on Agriculture and Dairy Industries consideration of House Bill Number 24, at once.

Any change of the principal place of business of an institution shall automatically terminate its right to maintain and operate any branch located or authorized by the articles of incorporation or otherwise to be located in a county which is not contiguous to the county in which the principal place of business is to be located

Except in the case of any change of the principal place of business within the same city borough or township an institution shall not change its principal place of business unless in the case of a bank bank and trust company or trust company its unimpaired capital is at least equal to the minimum capital required by this act for the incorporation of a bank bank and trust company or trust company as the case may be in the proposed city borough or township and in case branches are maintained and operated or are authorized by its articles of incorporation or otherwise to be maintained and operated unless it has such additional amounts of capital and surplus as are required by this act for the establishment of branches and in the case of a savings bank unless its surplus equals a minimum amount approved by the department and in the case of a private bank unless its net worth equals a minimum amount approved by the department

D However an institution may with the prior written approval of and for the period fixed by the department change its place of business to permit of the alteration or improvement of the premises at the time occupied by it

Section 2 Section 204 of the act and its amendments are repealed

Section 3 The act is amended by adding after section 203 a new section to read

Section 204.1 Branches A Any institution may continue to maintain and operate any branch heretofore lawfully established by such institution

If an institution is hereafter merged or consolidated with another institution or national banking association the surviving institution in case of merger or the newly consolidated institution with the approval of the department with respect to any such institutions or national banking associations may retain and operate as branches any of their principal places of business and branches which may have been in lawful operation in the same county or in a county contiguous to the county in which the principal place of business of the institution resulting from the merger or consolidation is located on the effective date of such merger or consolidation. If any national banking association shall convert into an institution all of its branches in operation in the same county or in a county contiguous to the county in which the principal place of business of the institution resulting from the conversion is located on the date of such conversion with the approval of the department may be continued in lawful operation.

B Any institution pursuant to a resolution of its board of directors its trustees or in the case of a private bank its owners or board of managers may establish and maintain branches (1) with the prior written approval of the department in the same city borough or village in which the principal place of business of the institution proposing to take such action is located and (2) with the approval of the department and the Banking Board in any other city borough or village or any place in a township other than a village located in the same county or in a county contiguous to the county in which the principal place of business of the institution proposing to take such action is located. No such branches shall be established unless the institution has the capital and surplus required by this section.

The request for the department's written approval of the establishment and maintenance of the one or more new branches authorized by resolution of its board of directors its trustees or in the case of a private bank its owners or board of managers shall be set forth in an application in such form and containing such other information as the department may require and such application shall be accompanied by such reasonable fee as the department with the approval of the Banking Board may prescribe.

When an institution files an application for the establishment of a branch in the same city borough or village in which its principal place of business is located the department if it finds upon investigation that there is a need for banking services or facilities such as are contemplated by the establishment of such branch and that all other requirements of this section have been met shall approve the application and issue a letter of authority to the applicant institution.

Should the department find after the investigation above provided for that the institution has not met the requirements of this section governing the application for the establishment of a branch or should it find that there is not a need for banking services or facilities such as are contemplated by the establishment of such branch it shall disapprove the application and return the same to the institution with a statement of its reasons for doing so. The fee paid by the applicant bank shall be retained by the department.

When an institution files an application for the establishment of a branch to be located in any place outside the city borough or village where the principal place of business of the institution proposing to establish such branch is located it shall immediately notify by registered mail return receipt requested each other institution whose principal place of business is in the county in which the proposed branch is to be located. Within sixty days of the receipt of such application the department if it finds upon investigation that there is a need for banking services or facilities such as are contemplated by the establishment of such branch and that all requirements of this section have been complied with shall approve such application and forward it to the Banking Board for review. The department in its sole discretion may disapprove an application the effect of which is to establish a branch in a county contiguous to the county in which the principal place of business of the incorporated institution proposing to establish such branch is located if an incorporated institution having its principal place of business in the county in which the proposed branch is to be located has in good faith notified the department of its intention to establish a branch in the same city borough or village in which such proposed branch is to be located. The Banking Board after such additional investigation or hearing as it may deem advisable shall either approve or disapprove the action of the department and shall return the application to the department with notice of its decision and in case of disapproval with a statement of its reasons for doing so. The decision of the Banking Board shall be binding upon the department.

Immediately upon receipt of the application from the Banking Board the department on the basis of the decision of the Banking Board shall either approve or disapprove it in the same manner as provided for under this section for branches subject only to approval of the department.

C A branch may be established in the same city borough or village where the principal place of business of an institution is located if the institution has minimum capital and surplus required under the provisions of section 401 for the same type or class of institution. For each branch located outside such city borough or village it shall have or provide the following additional capital and surplus:

BILL ON THIRD READING DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1879, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue for Commonwealth purposes by imposing a tax on the manufacture use storage or purchase of certain manufactured tangible personal property providing for licenses reports payments of tax interest and penalties assessments collections liens reviews and appeals conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue public officers manufacturers wholesalers retailers corporations partnerships associations and individuals and making an appropriation

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator, will you tell us if you are the same Senator Albert Pechan who was quoted in last night's Pittsburgh Press?

Mr. PECHAN. I presume that I am the only Al Pechan who is in the State Senate, but I did not read last night's Pittsburgh Press.

Mr. DENT. Did you know that you are quoted as saying that you are positively for this bill?

Mr. PECHAN. Oh, that is certainly a misquote if that is in the paper.

Mr. DENT. Would you say then that the Pittsburgh Press does not print reliable news?

Mr. PECHAN. Oh, no, I would not say that.

Mr. DENT. Are you the same Albert Pechan who gave a release two weeks ago Saturday to the Pittsburgh Press, in which you are quoted as saying that you were for this bill?

Mr. PECHAN. Am I the same Al Pechan?

Mr. DENT. Yes.

Mr. PECHAN. Well, I was sick then. Mr. President, I want to assure you that even though I was ill, I am a better Al Pechan today than I was that day when I was in the hospital.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, my understanding, for his information, is that he did not get sick until he got back to the Caucus.

Senator Pechan, would you mind telling the people of Pennsylvania how you can be for the bill in the newspaper and against the bill on the floor?

Mr. PECHAN. I think I can explain that very easily. I think that if you will read the release which was printed two weeks ago on Saturday, in which the Pittsburgh Press carried the story that Al Pechan would be one of the three who would vote for this bill, provided—and do not forget this word "provided" which was not in small print—that it did not penalize Pennsylvania industry on a competitive basis. I think if you will read that story you will find that the reporter who wrote the story did it correctly.

I cannot tell you about last night's Press but I can tell you about the story in the Press two weeks ago.

Mr. DENT. We will be glad to read it to you later on in the discussion, Senator Pechan.

Now, Mr. Pechan, will you tell the people of Pennsylvania how this bill penalizes Pennsylvania industry competitively?

Mr. PECHAN. I can tell you that very easily. I gave you a memorandum a few weeks ago, or perhaps it was last week, where I pointed out the inequities.

Mr. DENT. I have your memorandum. Would you like to have it back so that you can quote from it? Do you have a copy of the memorandum or do you want my copy?

Mr. PECHAN. Your copy is just like mine.

Mr. DENT. Oh, I do not know. If your statements in the paper are not any more accurate than what you are saying now, I might be accused of doing what the Pittsburgh Press did by not quoting you correctly.

In your memorandum, Senator, you called to my attention, particularly, an incident which could happen under this bill relative to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company. Will you tell the Members of the Senate how you worked out that formula contained in your memorandum, because there is nothing in the bill that does what you say it does?

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, I will. I offered amendments to you the other day. I said if this bill were made palatable—that is a nice word and it means that you can take it even though you are a “sacrificial lamb,” as the papers called me—that, for instance, the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company in Pennsylvania and I used the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company because they have one of the largest plants in my home community of Ford City. They manufacture glass and they have wholesale outlets in Pennsylvania, whereas their largest competitor is an Ohio concern that does not have a wholesale outlet and sells their glass to distributors. Therefore, on a ten dollar piece of glass at the manufacturer's level, the Ohio firm would pay 3.5 per cent on the ten dollars or thirty-five cents, but the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company on their wholesale level would pay at the rate of seventy cents. In other words, if the article sold for twice that amount at the retail level, of twenty dollars, the tax would be seventy cents.

Mr. DENT. Do you say that this bill does that?

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, unless you amend it.

Mr. DENT. Well, it does not do that and never did do that. Like the Pittsburgh Press, maybe we just do not understand the things that you say.

Mr. Pechan, that is a misleading statement and I doubt if it were true whether too many people would jump up and get awful disturbed over the fact that an article which starts out at the manufacturers level for ten dollars and is sold by the next receiver of goods for twenty dollars, I doubt if anybody would feel that that company would be going bankrupt if it paid the thirty-five cents which it would pay under this tax. I would rather think that if you would pass your sales tax, the individual who had to pay the twenty dollars, and would have to pay the three percent on the twenty dollars, would be penalized more than the manufacturer would be in this instant.

However, I just want to call to your attention that there is nothing in your brief that the bill does.

Mr. PECHAN. Did you read my brief again this morning or is this from memory that you are making that statement?

Mr. DENT. Well, you see, either you are wrong or the Chamber of Commerce is wrong and I do not know which one to take. If they are right then, of course, the statements which have been made here on the floor by the various opponents of the bill are wrong. I am just trying to get down to the basis of what is wrong with this bill. You are the man who said that you would vote for it if it were not competitively unsound for Pennsylvania manufacturers. Now we have here testimony from the mercantile people in the State and if it is competitively unsound for Pennsylvania manufacturers, then it cannot be harmful to the mercantile people. I only want to know who is right in this instant. Who are we supposed to be protecting? Who is being hurt in this bill? You say the manufacturers, so point out how the manufacturers are getting hurt.

Mr. PECHAN. I am going to point that out, but it is not only the manufacturer who is being hurt. I am alarmed. You know I have several large manufacturing firms in my two counties. Just because I have a little mud on my shoes when I come into the Senate in the morning does not mean that everybody in Armstrong and Butler counties are farmers. We also have a great deal of industry and every one of the concerns in my two counties are alarmed. When they are alarmed, it alarms me because of the great number of people who are employed in that area.

I want to say to you this, and I think I mentioned this to you once before, Senator Dent, that the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is currently building a plant in Cumberland, Maryland which will be the most modern glass plant in the world, and the reason that they are going to Cumberland, Maryland is because the State of Maryland dangled before them a tax-free structure on a local basis for ten years.

Now you wanted to know how this hurts industry. It hurts industry in this respect. The Pennsylvania manufacturer will have to pay a three and one-half per cent excise tax, as you call it, on all the materials, buildings and machinery which they use in the manufacture of their product. They will have to pay on everything down the line, and it will cost them three and one-half per cent more to build a plant in Pennsylvania than it would in Ohio.

I also want to say this to you, Senator Dent, that, on I believe July the 10th of 1953, you bled from that very same rostrum from which you stand for the things which I am talking about now for one hour and one-half. I do not want to read it back to you, but I have a copy in which you stated that you wanted Pennsylvania manufacturers exempt from all of the things I talked to you about, and which appeared in the Pittsburgh Press in the release which I gave you and in any statements which I have made before or after.

Mr. DENT. Would you tell me who was in control of the State of Pennsylvania during the time that the Pittsburgh Plate made its decision to move to Maryland?

Mr. PECHAN. Do you want to know who was in control of the Senate?

Mr. DENT. Who was the Governor of the State?

Mr. PECHAN. Governor John Fine.

Mr. DENT. Thank you. At least we are not blamed for that industry moving out.

Mr. PECHAN. I will never blame you for anything that you are not to be blamed for, Senator Dent, never.

Mr. DENT. Well, that is the nicest thing you have ever said outside of the fact that you are a fan of mine and read my speeches.

Senator Pechan, would you tell me whether you are going to vote for this bill or not?

Mr. PECHAN. In its present form, I could not even think about voting for the bill. As I have told you—

Mr. DENT. I think the first part of your statement should have been concluded right when you finished with the word "think."

Thank you very kindly.

Mr. President, the reason that I interrogated the gentleman from Armstrong was because I wanted to try to bring out to the people of Pennsylvania that they are being led down a very sad and disastrous road.

In thinking with the positions taken by the gentleman from Armstrong, we have here the Legislative Spotlight of the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce. I accuse today the Chamber of Commerce of the State of Pennsylvania of doing more to destroy Pennsylvania's industrial growth than any other single agency in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. They deliberately and knowingly have sent out statements which have little or no bearing upon the actual contents of the tax bill before us, designed primarily to agitate the in-State manufacturers but have the adverse result of building up a psychological barrier against Pennsylvania by those who might be interested in moving into this State.

Mr. President, they are like the boy shepherd who, when tending his flock, found that he could have a great deal of sport by crying in a loud and plaintive voice, "Wolf, wolf, wolf." The other shepherds would come running to his rescue. The other shepherds finally got tired of running to his rescue and one day, when the real wolf was there, he had no help.

Mr. President, the Chamber of Commerce has cried wolf for twenty-two years that I know of. They have done more to advertise this State adversely than any other agency in the Commonwealth. They are our worst public enemies.

I am a member of the local Chamber of Commerce and I want to say that they are not supermen; they are just ordinary folks like we are. However, some of them like their nice plush jobs that they have and so, in order to enhance their chances of staying in these jobs, they have to cry wolf, wolf, wolf. In the meantime, Pennsylvania industry gets another black eye.

Mr. President, these are the same people who stood in this Chamber, and in the House of Representatives, twenty-two years ago and screamed to high heaven that the taxes under Governor Earle would drive every industry out of this State. After they achieved their political aim, they quietly subsided to the sidelines when in 1939 Governor James re-enacted all of the Earle taxes.

I predict here today that if you have the courage to give us the constitutional majority to pass this legislation and that if you then won the State of Pennsylvania, you would re-enact this law because you would find that you have been lied to, that the people have been lied to and today we had an example of the critical consequences which can come when propaganda is let loose upon innocent people.

Senator Derk, a Member of this body, suffered a heart attack and lays at this moment at the point of death. I sat with him back there yesterday and he was cutting open hundreds upon hundreds of envelopes, and all they contained was a little square, addressed to him, cut out of the local papers with his name on them, asking him to vote against the hidden sales tax and hundreds upon hundreds of them were in the same handwriting. That man had a heart attack just recently, and he was sitting back there and his hand was shaking and I attempted to take them from him and throw them in the wastebasket. The people who started that chain of propaganda to him are responsible for the condition that he is in right now.

Mr. President, the very men who stood upon this floor and talked about matters they knew nothing about, when asked a question at the end of their presentation, said that they favored the sales tax. These representatives of industry were asked two questions by the Members of the Senate, who were the Democratic Members of the Senate Committee on Finance. One of the questions was, "Do you believe that the State of Pennsylvania needs money?" They all answered, "Yes." The question which followed was, "Will you then tell us, as Members of the Senate, how we can raise the money that the State needs?" Every one of them came out for a sales tax. Then, Mr. President, I went over to the House yesterday and I asked for the bills which were introduced on sales taxes. The chairman showed them to me and I said, "What is all of this?" There was a stack of onion skin papers in each bill, of which there are two. "Oh," he said, "those are the amendments that the authors have given me and which have to be considered at the same time." Lo and behold, the men who stood upon this floor and asked for a sales tax went over to the House and introduced amendments exempting themselves from the sales tax.

Ben Moreell was asked, "How would you finance the State?" Mr. Ben Moreell's statement was, "A sales tax." One of the amendments, gentlemen of the Senate, introduced by the author of the bill in the House, exempts Mr. Moreell's company. The Sun Ship Building Company, one of the pallbearers here today, has an amendment to exempt the Sun Ship Building Company from the sales tax. However, its lobbyist here on the floor will tell anyone who wants to hear him that the only way to finance this State is by a sales tax.

You see what they mean, Mr. President, is that they want a sales tax on everybody but themselves. I could have passed this bill. I am not a bit afraid of that. I could have passed this excise bill with your votes just like that. All I had to do was to accept these amendments. Then we would have had left a bill that Senator Pechan would have liked. It would have been like Dooley's Union, without contracts, without dues, without bylaws and without members.

Another pallbearer here—I have the pallbearers all listed and I think the people of Pennsylvania should know who they are. This bill is not being defeated by legislative action. This bill is being defeated by the ghost Senate.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, I have on my desk a resolution calling for the discharge of the committee that has the bill calling for the registration of lobbyists. I have often said on the Senate floor, and I want to repeat now, that a lobbyist who comes to Harrisburg in the interest of the people who send him here and gives to the Members of this General Assembly the information pertaining to their industry or their business or their profession, is a very valuable asset to the State of Pennsylvania and to the General Assembly. However, this new clique that has formed around here—particularly this year since the Republican Party is aimlessly wandering—has discovered that by banding together the lobbyists, they are able to control the Senate of Pennsylvania. Yesterday morning, I had one lobbyist say to me, "If you will take this amendment, your bill will go through. If you do not take it, it will not go through." Two hours later, another lobbyist said to me, "If we are not out of that bill, it is a dead duck." Within fifteen minutes, another lobbyist said to me, "Look, if our company is not out of that bill, you cannot get a Republican vote." So, I went over to the Governor and I said, "Governor, we have been dealing with the wrong people. We have been holding conferences with Members of the Senate. We have just been wasting our time. What we should do is to call in Harry Princeton Davis and William 'Pennsylvania Railroad' Reiter. They know the other boys and they will bring them to a conference and then we will get somewhere."

I know the Republicans will deny that I am telling the truth, but to show you how much of the truth I speak, the other night I was down at the Penn Harris Hotel, that low-priced hostelry down the street, having dinner with my good wife. One of the Members of the Senate was with us and a foursome came into the dining room. They went over and sat in a corner, and I nudged my fellow Senator, who is on the floor at this time, and I said, "there goes the tax excise bill." That same afternoon, we had been promised three votes. That same day, I was told by three sets of lobbyists that if I did not take them out of the bill, it would be killed. That same night, they met with certain individuals and the bill was killed. I am only trying to give you my understanding of the picture.

Mr. President, some say this bill is a bad bill. Let us measure it. It is a three and a half per cent tax and, for matters of clarity, let us just say that it is a sales tax. However, it is a sales tax at the manufacturers' price. I am told that the Republicans want a sales tax. We searched and tried to find something that would resemble as near as possible the kind of a bill that the Republican Party has said they wanted. Lo and behold, Mr. President, we find that they do not want a sales tax of three and a half per cent of the manufacturers' sales price. They want a sales tax down here at the retail sales price. However, they also want, if amendments would be put into that bill, to take everybody out but the people. I will predict here and now, at this moment, that if a sales tax bill comes over from the House, placing the same burden on all peoples at all levels of activity in this State, such as the Chamber of Commerce promoted back in June, you will not get five Republican votes to vote for it. The same strings will be pulled and they will have to exempt Ben Moreell and his company. They will have to exempt Mr. Davis and his company.

Incidentally, at this moment, I think it is good for the people to know the difference between a sales tax which the people pay down at the little penny line and when that sales tax is applied at the top bracket in an industry. The Sun Ship Yard's spokesman, for instance, Mr. Phil Sterling, the other day said, upon questioning by me, that his company favored a sales tax. Then when I found out that they favored the sales tax, but wanted exempted from it, I went over and talked to some of my friends at the Harrisburger Hotel one night. I talked with a couple of boys from Philadelphia who know something about Sun Ship. I started looking into the question of how much money they make and so on. I am only sorry that I do not own some of their stock. However, I did find out something by this question that may interest the people of Pennsylvania. I found out that although the little housewife, who has gone into the store and purchased little items, was nicked for her pennies every-time she made a purchase, the Sun Ship Building Company owes the State of Pennsylvania over $400,000 in delinquent sales tax collections. Sure, they want a sales tax because, Mr. President, they collect it in such large gobs that they do not pay it to the State and then they come down and ask for an adjustment. They want to settle for a sum somewhere near about half of what they owe. However, the little person who goes in and buys shoes and buys the articles that they need for their children—under a sales tax that would be big enough to finance this State, shoes would have to be in it—does not get such consideration. In fact, what happens to them is this.

I stopped at the airport in Jacksonville, Florida, last week on my way home from making a speech down in the southern part of this Country, and I stopped at the airport and made a purchase of thirty cents and the girl said, "Two cents tax." I went over to another counter and I spent thirty-five cents, and I paid two cents tax. Then I went and bought a cigar. It was twenty cents and I paid two more cents tax. That is why they want a sales tax. They collected six cents off of me. They still had a few more pennies to go that they could collect off of some other sucker who walked in. Then, when they settle with the State, they give them two cents and four cents goes into their pockets. Otherwise, why would the Philadelphia Merchants Association, which came to this Senate and cried until the tears almost flooded the Chamber, be against the one per cent sales tax and say that it would ruin Philadelphia's mercantile industry? Yet, that same Philadelphia Merchants Association is down here begging us to put on a three per cent sales tax. They said that a one per cent sales tax would ruin them with competition across the river. If one per cent would ruin them, what will three per cent do? I will tell you why they want it. They want it because they will make more money on low-priced items from a sales tax than they will make out of their markup.

Mr. President, I admit, and I have admitted publicly, that this is, in a form, a sales tax at the manufacturers level. I have never denied that. However, the difference is that an individual who pays is not subject, if you please, to the whims and the wills of merchants who have no conscience when it comes to markups. At least an individual who buys a product will be paying a tax somewhere near the value of the product and not paying a tax that carries with it the transportation cost, the handling charges and the markups of distributor, wholesaler and retailer.

You say to me that you are for a sales tax. You are for a sales tax only on people. You are against any sales tax which affects business or industry in any way, shape or form. If you do not believe that I know what I am talking about, I hope the House gives us a sales tax bill next week so that you twenty-six men can fester it upon the people of the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, we have tried in every manner and method known to any negotiators to reach an agreement with the other side. I have met with them on numerous occasions. I have certainly been fooled in my reading of character, I have never been more disappointed in the results of personal negotiations than what I have been this day of our Lord. I have never known men who have shifted from their base so often and so quickly. I am disappointed that the Republican Senate will not give us three votes to let us assume the responsibility that is ours. I have told you since the month of June—and when you are reading my speeches, Senator Pechan, read the ones where I said to you for the last seven months that any time the Republican Party can deliver the Republican votes for a sales tax, we would give them the necessary constitutional majority over in the House. You can have it over here and your twenty-six votes could vote for it. We have never once put any road-block in your way.

Your own Floor Leader, on the other side, has refused under any conditions to allow his group of Republican Legislators to act upon any sales tax. You should get together. I predict, and say again here today, that this General Assembly will be here next spring as a result of a filibuster being carried on by the Republican Senate at the direction and under the complete domination of Charlie Smith, the leader in the House of Representatives. Charlie is a candidate for Auditor General and some twisted conception of the mental capacities of the people of this State has led him to believe that if we can keep the Legislature in Session until about April, it will help his candidacy. You know, I would be tempted to offer him my vote if he would only allow you people over there to use your own good judgment so that we could pass a tax bill and give the State the needed revenues.

I have often tried to make some approach to the problem on a personal, man to man basis with Members on the other side. I have put into this bill every amendment that they demanded from me as part of a package that they would go for and give us the three votes. However, I neglected to talk to the Pennsylvania Railroad and to the Sun Ship Building Company.

Mr. President, I was informed today, on the floor, that this bill is going down into defeat. I believe every newspaperman here knows that the day before yesterday we were told that we had three votes. The bill has not changed from that time until this time. There is nothing in this bill today, Senator Pechan, that was not in it two days ago. At that time, you not only permitted but asked me to say a few kind words showing that you had attempted to do something about some of the conditions that you complained about. I accepted your amendments and it was my understanding at that time that you were going to vote for the bill. The bill has not changed, but you have.

I do not care much. There is no use talking all day about a situation that is beyond the control of the individual Members of the Senate on the Republican side. If it were a fact that by appealing to you on the basis of need, and appealing to you on the basis of simple political justice, that the Governor of this State has been elected by the people, that this Administration has been elected by a vast majority of the citizens of this Commonwealth and that in that election they gave to this Administration certain duties that must be performed, but that is not the case. This Administration controls the House of Representatives and, except for a few little incidents in Somerset County, we probably would have controlled the Senate of Pennsylvania. However, we did not gain control of the Senate and we knew that we had to talk to you about tax legislation. We came to you and talked and all we ever got was this, "Let the House pass the taxes and when we get them and if we like them, we will take them. If we do not like them, we will not take them." I said to you then, and I will say to you now, that is a deliberately unfair advantage to take. All you are asking, for political purposes, is that the House Members of the Democratic Party march up to the battle line in the tax field time and time again and get the legislation passed over to the Senate. Then you get your propagandists going to work, destroying the characters of the men who voted for the taxes so that you can sit smugly by and say, "The Democrats voted for them; we did not."

Yesterday, you passed, over our opposition, a bill allowing this State to borrow $110,000,000 because you say the schools are distressed. I said to you then, and I am going to say to you now, that if I have any influence in the House, that bill will die. You are not going to solve the problems of this Commonwealth by sitting comfortably on your chairs in the Senate and having the House march up the battle field time and time again for legislation that you will not tell them before hand that you are for or against.

I am asking you now to marshal your forces in the House and have them ready to vote for your despicable sales tax. I am asking you now to deliver your votes as a Republican Party since you will not deliver them to us as the Democratic Party, willing to accept the responsibilities of government. If you will not give us the responsibility, then you accept it. March over there to the House today and, from now until Monday, get your House Members in line to vote for your sales tax. Get it over here to the Senate and have your twenty-six stalwarts stand up and vote for a sales tax in order that you can prove to the people of Pennsylvania that you are not political parasites trying to defeat this Administration through a do-nothing policy.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, I would like to read from the Pittsburgh Press so that Senator Pechan will write them a letter and tell them that they should fire their reporters and burn their newspaper because it is not worth anything. It does not quote him right.

"Senator Pechan declared openly he will vote for the bill. He said, 'It is nothing but a sales tax anyhow.'"

That is the same bill, Senator Pechan, that is on the calendar today. You cannot say that it required any more amendments because this statement was made by you after the amendments were introduced. We cannot put many more amendments in because you see, Senator Pechan, this bill was not designed to put the whole load on the little people. This bill was designed to try to give Pennsylvania somewhere near an even balance. To say that industry has no obligation is not fair. To say that industry is moving to Maryland because we proposed this tax is not fair. The minute they move to Maryland, they will find out what they found out when they moved to Mississippi. They will find out that as soon as they move and their people come there to work and they will have to build roads and build schools and build recreational facilities and build all of the public services that we now have in Pennsylvania, their taxes then will start to reach a state higher than they are in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, in this legislation, I want to say to industry, we have recognized for the first time in sixteen years the chief complaint of industry and the chief complaint of the Chamber of Commerce. We have recognized the necessity, if you please, of removing from the capital stock tax in this Commonwealth manufacturing industries, giving to the manufacturing industries of Pennsylvania $65,000,000 a biennium. In this biennium, alone, they would have saved, if we had passed that bill, $16,500,000. Let me predict what I think you will try to do.

I think you will defeat this bill and then you will try to slip over that manufacturers exemption just the same. You have taken machinery from local taxation in real estate and placed the load on the home owner. You are trying to take and will take, if you have your way, all the taxes of a sales and mercantile tax off of industry and business and put it all on the people. We are not for that. We believe that people serve industry the same as industry serves the people. Without the trained men who work in these industries, industries would not come to Pennsylvania nor would they go anywhere else. I want to tell you that the chief factor in the determination of an industrial plant, in its decision to either expand or move, is the kind of people who live in the community. Any industry that tells you different is not telling you the truth.

Mr. President, I know there has been some talk on the other side that what they intend to do is to kill the bill today and then you will be able to revive it if something better does not come along. I do not know what might come along. If you deliver your ninety-seven votes over in the House, we know what will come along. We will give you your much beloved sales tax. Then we will watch you very closely, because the minute you start to take all of these people who said they were for the sales tax out of it, we will have to protest because they do not want out of it. They said they were for it. Then, when you get that bill passed, we will be able to pay the bills of the Commonwealth and we can go out to the people and say, "We want you to know that the Commonwealth is on a sound fiscal policy because the Republican Party sponsored and passed a sales tax."

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, here in the gilded con-finer of this magnificent chamber, aroused by unexpected interrogations, beguiled by oratory and entranced by the adroit maneuvers of statesmen, we are likely sometimes to lose track of time and to lose touch with the practical realities of the world that surrounds us; the world that lies just outside these marble walls. That is the world, Mr. President, for which we work, the world which elects or rejects us, a world of flesh and blood people for whom the calendar, the change of the seasons, and the impact of taxes and high prices are very real, very intimate and very serious matters.

Mr. President, tonight, when we leave this hall of deliberation and debate, we will see the Christmas lights enmeshed in strands of green, beautifying the streets. The store windows will be rich with goods for the Christmas trade, and from the bell towers of the churches will peal the ancient carols of our creed. The wind will be crisp and the air cold. In short, Mr. President, outside it is winter, it is December, it is almost Christmas and the end of the year 1955 comes within a fortnight.

However, Mr. President, here in this Chamber it is still January 1955. Here we have sat for nearly twelve months and we have yet to dispose of that which should have been our first order of business and the first responsibility of this Administration; a tax program to raise the money to run Pennsylvania. Was this because we came to the Legislature unaware that one of our duties was to enact the laws which provide State revenues or because we were surprised to find more money needed in the 1955-1957 biennium than was needed in previous years, or perhaps because there was not existing machinery which could be employed with modifications to meet the new requirements? Mr. President, we all know that none of these constitutes a valid excuse for this Legislature's long delay. We knew we had to pass tax laws; we knew we had to raise more money than before; and we knew that we had a broad base tax in operation, fully susceptible of modification, to make it raise such funds as the Legislature deemed necessary.

Admittedly, Mr. President, our fiscal problem is not as simple as my remarks perhaps have implied, but neither is it one which will not yield to intelligent application of proven business principles and methods. However, because candidate Leader had entangled Governor Leader's Administration in a contradictory complex of campaign slogans, vague promises and curious alliances, we have been compelled to witness the discard of the sales tax just as it had begun to gain full operating efficiency and momentum. We have been compelled to spend months pondering two income taxes, each of which was declared by reputable lawyers to be unconstitutional almost as soon as proposed and now we labor over an incredibly jumbled compound of hidden sales tax and consumer use tax, deceptively labelled "manufacturers' excise tax." Because the Administration has suddenly peeked outdoors and found it to be December, we are admonished to pass this monstrous hybrid promptly without delay, pronto, and forthwith.

Mr. President, I submit that it would have been the proper and the intelligent thing for the Administration to have brought its "classified income tax" out of committee long before it did and thus to have learned early in the Session that however you mask it, a graduated income tax or wage tax is still not legal under Pennsylvania's present Constitution. Instead, it restored to stalling tactics in the vain hope that some sort of "pressure" might compel legislators to pass either the "classified income tax," or the equally unconstitutional tax on the Federal income tax return. It should have been obvious from the start that public opinion favored continuation of the sales tax even at a higher rate and preferred that to the imposition of any form of wage tax, but the Administration stubbornly persisted in its forcing tactics.

What is the result? Winter is upon us, the end of the year in sight and the Administration with its financial problems multiplied by eleven months of dillydallying is frantically calling for swift passage of a hidden sales tax bill, the like of which has never before been seen in this or any other State.

Mr. President, our financial plight is serious, but that does not excuse headlong flight into unchartered tax lands. I, for one, shall think carefully and because my mind is no more than normally adept, I shall think slowly about the taxes that we are asked to impose upon the people of this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, it has been said that the building of a government takes a thousand years, but that its destruction can take place in an hour. So it is with the economic structure of our Commonwealth. Built in a century and a half into a gigantic industrial society, employing millions of people, it, too, can be strangled in an ill-advised hour in this Legislature. Let us not permit our exasperation at the Administration's stumbling fiscal policies to goad us into accepting blindly a pernicious tax bill in order only to escape the irritating frustrations of this seemingly endless Session.

Mr. President, perhaps with a little less haste than the Administration displayed in its forty hour hurricane passage of House Bill No. 1879 through the House, we can make more speed in the long run. Certainly, we can not brush off in a flurry of legislative engineering the solemn obligation to the people of this Commonwealth which the Constitution places upon us. "They stumble that run too fast."

To begin with, Mr. President, the manufacturers' excise tax is a tax never designed for imposition at the State level. Its proponents in Canada, where it exists as a Dominion-wide levy, or in the United States, where it has been proposed as a Federal levy, are frank to admit that the manufacturers' excise tax is employed only because the government finds it impracticable to place its own retail sales tax on top of the retail sales taxes now being collected by most States or provinces. The retail sales tax, they say, is the most suitable form of excise taxation at the State level.

The Federal government, with its ports of entry, customs and like services is equipped to protect its business men against foreign competitors in nations that do not impose a manufacturers' excise tax. The State is not. The Federal government, similarly, is equipped to police the importation of goods purchased by its citizens in other places and brought back home. The State is not.

Later, Mr. President, we shall consider what an army of enforcers, informers and administrators this nightmare of a tax would require, but for the moment, let us consider the slight-of-hand artistry of its title. "Manufacturers' excise tax" would certainly imply that the manufacturer will shoulder all, or most anyway, of the burden, while the rest of us presumably go free. Actually, the burden of this tax falls most heavily upon the small business man, the housewife, the wage earner and the farmer. Here is what happens. Every manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer is forced to prepay this tax to the State and to administer and collect it. That constitutes a pretty expensive job and the man or the business who does it is entitled to reasonable compensation for doing it. The government will not pay you for the money you invest and the work you do in collecting its taxes, so if you are to continue to make money enough to pay your help, continue your service to the public and create a profit, you have to get it from the ultimate consumer who always gets caught in the end. The housewife, the small business man, the farmer and the wage earner are the folks who best qualify as ultimate consumers. On goes the manufacturers' excise tax; up goes the cost of doing business and up, inevitably, go prices. The manufacturers' excise tax hides the sales tax all right but it cannot soften the wallop that the tax, which the wholesaler, retailer or manufacturer originally paid, has gathered by the time it hits the ultimate consumer. By that time it has pyramided considerably, and the wallop hurts the farmer, the worker and the home maker.

As the post says:

"Who are you kiddin'?"

"With a tax that's hidden?"

In view of these facts, Mr. President, it is not surprising that no State in this Union, however hard pressed, has ever given serious consideration to this phony manufacturers' excise tax, let alone enact it. The Federal Government considered it once and Governor Leader might be interested in reading the record of the debate in Congress when, in 1932 at the peak of this Nation's severest financial crisis, the Democratic controlled House of Representatives killed conclusively a manufacturers' excise tax proposed by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The Mason Bill, House of Representatives No. 5694, 84th Congress, proposes a uniform five per cent on all manufactured goods, not as an additional tax but as a substitute for the present hodgepodge of excise taxes imposed at varying rates on a random assortment of manufacturers, retailers and utility services.

Mr. President, this Mason bill gives me a great deal of difficulty. It bears a strange resemblance to Governor Leader's State manufacturers' excise tax, and it was denounced by all segments of organized labor as a "hidden sales tax." If you wish further support of the position of a large labor organization the C.I.O. said, and I quote from its "Handbook on State and Local Taxes," published in 1954, at page 16 on which appears this interesting statement:

"At the beginning of the 83rd Congress 'they' pushed a drive to shift more of the tax load onto the average American family through the levy of a national sales tax or manufacturers' excise tax."

It is barely possible that the curious reticence of certain labor leaders in this State to express themselves upon House Bill No. 1879 should be construed not as passive acceptance but rather as tacit disapproval of this tax? I shall leave it to the students of the occult to explain how, by a coincidence of geography, a "hidden sales tax" in Washington is suddenly and miraculously transformed into a benign indulgence of a tax in Harrisburg.

Mr. President, well, we have seen that the proposed manufacturers' excise tax is geared to Federal, not State operation; that it hides but not very successfully the sales tax; that it pyramids the tax paid by the manufacturer, wholesaler or retailer into a heavy, high cost of living wallop to the average guy; that it has been denounced by labor, rejected by State governments and by a Democratic Congress and accepted as a Federal levy only in Canada where experts say they enacted it only because the provinces had pre-empted the retail sales tax. As a Federal levy, we have said it is more easily administered and enforced than as a State levy.

Mr. President, if you take a look at Canada's experience, you will find that even at the Dominion level the manufacturers' excise tax is a costly tax to manage. It costs Canada about two per cent of the total revenue yield to collect the tax. Compare that to the cost of enforcing our Federal income tax of one-half of one per cent. Now Canada's population is about the same as Pennsylvania's, but it collects the bulk of its revenues from about 50,000 manufacturers. We would have to hit at least 150,000, and it can rely on its customs procedures for thorough enforcement.

Mr. President, unless there is thorough enforcement the severely discriminatory features of this bill would penalize Pennsylvania seriously. I make no idle statement when I say that this tax, haphazardly enforced, would cost us thousands of jobs, hundreds of plants, hundreds of service businesses and industries. If it were to be enforced strictly and administered properly, I am convinced it would involve the employment of thousands of persons—of the proper party, to be sure—at an incalculable annual cost to the Commonwealth which would cut deeply into the total yield. This is a sobering thought, and it is not an idle speculation. It was part and parcel of the fears and doubts expressed by the witnesses who were heard by the Finance Committee of the Senate in this chamber a week or so ago. If ever a cross section of Pennsylvania paraded through this Senate, it was that Wednesday and Thursday when farmers, labor representatives, community organizations, bankers, bakers, real estate men, newspaper publishers and businessmen, both big and little, made their pleas.

Mr. President, these men told us how the necessary absorption of much of the tax by them would result either in higher prices for their products or curtailed service or both, and always in a handicap to them in competition with businessmen of other states. Community leaders feared the loss of payrolls. Labor saw the spectre of high prices, fewer jobs. These level-headed Pennsylvanians saw nothing but eventual loss to the State if the manufacturers' excise tax goes on.

Mr. President, newspaper publishers have been the target of some harsh words from the other side of this Senate. Editorial criticism of Governor Leader's kaleidoscopic tax program perhaps has piqued the leadership. At any rate, newspaper publishing is singled out for some particularly rough handling in the manufacturers' excise tax. First, the bill as originally proposed would impose a three and one-half per cent tax not only on circulation, but also on the machinery, equipment and materials purchased and used to produce the newspapers and magazines. Meantime, incidentally, gross receipts of newspaper publishing's hottest competitors, radio and television, go scott-free. An exemption was proposed for circulation receipts. However, if this exemption were granted as drafted, the newspaper would lose its status as a manufacturer and thus presumably its exemption from the capital stock tax, and, meantime, the tax would fall with full effect upon the newsprint, ink, and other materials used to produce the publications. With newsprint at its highest price in history, the tax on these items will in most cases be greater than the tax that would have been collected on circulation receipts. What horrors of bookkeeping for carrier boys, rural delivery and other phases of newspaper production the tax, in any form, would produce, I shudder to contemplate.

Mr. President, an examination of the brief life history of this astonishing proposal offers an unparalleled example of executive arrogance. The first public notice of his intention to sponsor a manufacturer's excise tax was given by Governor Leader on Thursday, November 17. The proposal was introduced in skeleton form in the House on Monday, November 21, as House Bill No. 1878. A few hours thereafter, it was superseded by a later draft in the form of House Bill No. 1879. This bill, the one before us today, was given first reading on Monday, the 21st, and was debated a few hours on Tuesday, November 22. At this time a number of amendments were adopted, among them the exemptions for coal, electricity and gasoline. The amendments adopted were rushed under police escort to the printer. Late in the evening of the 22nd, the amended bill was steamrolled through the House by the majority party, in wanton disregard both of established rules of procedure and Republican protests. It was passed on third reading at 2:00 a.m., on Wednesday, November 23, just forty hours after it was introduced. Every Republican member and two Democrats voted against the bill. Testimony presented at our Senate hearings convinces me that at the time of passage of House Bill No. 1879 in its present amended form in the early hours of the morning of Wednesday, November 23, no Member of the House, the Governor, the Secretary of Revenue nor the Attorney General understood the administrative, fiscal, or economic implications and consequences of this destructive tax proposal. Never in the history of this Commonwealth has there been a more unseemly display of haste in drafting, presenting and passing legislation of this magnitude and consequence.

Even before the House steamroller hissed its last, public outcry against the bill had begun to reach Members of this Senate. Mr. President, we have all received a tremendous volume of mail, and practically none of it has favored approval of House Bill No. 1879. In letters and telegrams, our constituents have instead urged passage of a retail sales tax. Just last evening, I received this telegram from Pittsburgh which I would like to read:

"Urge you to vote no on the excise tax bill. It is still a basically unsound and untried tax that may well undermine the economy of the Commonwealth. Collection of the tax will be costly and difficult. Bookkeeping and accounting procedures enormously complicated. Amendments while well intentioned and alleviate will further complicate an already complex tax bill. Please vote no."

Signed by "I. D. Wolf, President, of the Golden Triangle Association."

I would like to point out that this is the same Mr. Wolf who is a former State Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Democratic Party, and who I believe was a National Delegate of the Democratic Party to the National Convention.

I am sure that the Democratic Senators have been deluged with the same kind of mail. Even if the thousands of letters and telegrams from all classes of citizens were to be callously disregarded, we face the evidence of the comprehensive cross section of Pennsylvania, people who left their work to appeal against this tax in the Finance Committee hearings a week or so ago. These letters and these petitions are of the thinking people of this State. Finally, we have our own consciences and our own constitutional duties to guide us in our judgment.

Believe me, Mr. President, when I say that I have studied this measure more intently than I have studied any other in my experience as a State Senator. I have searched it, Mr. President; searched it not for obscure points on which to condemn it, or for sly devices which could be used in partisan jockeying, but for ways and means of doing an honest and effective job on getting money to run the State of Pennsylvania. This tax simply does not lend itself to such an objective without wholesale revision. It would be excessively costly and practically impossible to administer, and its impact upon the business, industrial, agricultural and domestic economy of this Commonwealth would be such that any child, reading the history of this State in years to come, would condemn as despoilers of this Commonwealth the legislators who permitted it to become law.

The things I have said I can address to both sides of the aisle.

Now Mr. President, I speak particularly to the men who sit with me on the Republican side of the Senate. I must ask them to remember, even in their urgent wish to close this Session of the Legislature and return to their homes, that they must not permit either that personal urgency or the beckoning finger of political expediency to enter into their decision on the bill before us or the situation which must follow.

Only one consideration, the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth, protected within the sheltering fold of our Constitution, must be our concern. I submit, gentlemen, that the welfare of our people and the economy of our Commonwealth are jeopardized by the manufacturers' excise tax in the form in which it was originally submitted and I, therefore, urge my colleagues to defeat this bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Senator Kessler, would you inform the Senate, and for my edification, if the bill today were a sales tax, would you vote for it?

Mr. KESSLER. Do you mean if the present manufacturers' excise tax were a sales tax?

Mr. WEINER. No, sir, I mean if we had a bill here today that was a sales tax, would you vote for it without any exemptions in it?

Mr. KESSLER. That is a pretty broad statement. I am ready to vote for a sales tax that is fair and reasonable. I cannot, however, commit myself to vote for a tax unseen.

Mr. WEINER. Senator Kessler, in order for us not to get into the problem of semantics, would you tell me what you mean by fair and reasonable?

Mr. KESSLER. That is a little difficult. If you will submit the bill, I will be glad to tell you whether I can vote for it or not.

Mr. WEINER. Senator Kessler, were you here during the 1953 Session?

Mr. KESSLER. I was.

Mr. WEINER. Did you vote for Governor Fine's sales tax?

Mr. KESSLER. I did.

Mr. WEINER. Was there ever a tax in the State of Pennsylvania that was known as a sales tax prior to that tax?

Mr. KESSLER. I cannot answer that. They tell me that there was.

Mr. WEINER. If it is within your knowledge, can you tell me?

Mr. KESSLER. I cannot answer that question.

Mr. WEINER. Did you consider that tax, when you voted for it, to be a new tax or one that covered unchartered waters?

Mr. KESSLER. I did not.

Mr. WEINER. In other words, there was no hesitancy on your part to vote for that tax?

Mr. KESSLER. None, because it had been used in many other States in the United States long before Pennsylvania tried it.

Mr. WEINER. Would you explain to me why there was difficulty in getting that tax bill passed and over to the Senate?

Mr. KESSLER. I do not recall, sir.

Mr. WEINER. You do not recall whether there was any difficulty?

Mr. KESSLER. I assume there was; I do not recall why or what difficulty.

Mr. WEINER. Did you consider that tax a fair and equitable tax?

Mr. KESSLER. It is as fair as most any tax is. Nobody likes taxes.

Mr. WEINER. Would you please answer my question? Did you consider that a fair and equitable tax?

Mr. KESSLER. I do.

Mr. WEINER. And you felt that tax was good for the housewives, the farmers and the general working people in this State?

Mr. KESSLER. As fair as any tax.

Mr. WEINER. Thank you.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I had not intended to speak on this bill today because there are some things in life that are inevitable and this is one of them. The votes are on the other side. There is no question in my mind that when this bill is called for a vote, and some of the Members are looking at the clock to see when they can disappear from here as soon as they have cast their proper ballot, and some of the gentlemen sitting around this Chamber are most anxious to get to a telephone so they can record the result to those people who are interested in it—I am sorry if I must keep them here a little while. I would be a little remiss in my duty if I did not say a few words on what Senator Kessler has just stated. Unfortunately, I do not have a prepared speech and, therefore, I will try to be both brief and I will try to also cover some of the points that he made in this speech.

I believe that it was certainly in keeping with the season that Senator Kessler spoke about Christmas cheer and the spirit of Christmas. Unfortunately, that is missing from this body today and has been missing from this body, I think, since the inception of this State, and a careful study will show this. I made a careful study of it, having at one time been a schoolteacher where we took up the history of Pennsylvania. One of the things which was very clear to me, and is very clear to anybody who takes the trouble to study it, is that everything which has ever been done in this state has been done on a political basis and what it can do for this or that political party and the people be damned.

Unfortunately, also, this Christmas spirit will never get through to quite a number of our citizens in this State who happen to be in mental institutions and who happen to be in some of our hospitals; some of the youngsters who are not as fortunate as some of us here and who will never receive some of the benefits that will accrue to other persons who are in good health and are able to get along on their own power and do not have to depend upon the State either giving them a stipend or looking out for their welfare.

Mr. President, I am interested in Senator Kessler's remarks about his being interested in the housewives, the farmers and some of these other small people. I sat here for a full day when the hearings were going on by the Finance Committee and unfortunately, or maybe I was not listening very carefully, nobody appeared for the people. The only people who appeared here and are still here, and are still waiting to hear what the vote is, are the manufacturers and those people who are allied to those industries.

Mr. President, I would like to take exception to the Senator's remark that if this tax is passed, these industries will move out of here. That not only is not true, but there are certain surveys that have been made—one of them by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which certainly is not for the Democratic Party—which stated that no industry has ever moved anywhere due to an unfavorable tax situation. They will never get into the position where they will find that their manpower, their railroad facilities, their shipping facilities, their raw material setup is as adequate as where they are now. The other part of it is that if they do move out of a certain area and even if they get a benefit—some of them have even moved to the South and some have even moved to Puerto Rico to avoid the tax situation—they find that after a very short time, the very problems that plagued them here in Pennsylvania begin to plague them there. Children do grow up. You must have schools; you must have institutions to take care of them. They place the tax load where those who are best able to share it can do so. They will find themselves in the position of building new schools, and taking care of those citizens within their population who are no longer able to take care of themselves. Therefore, they are right back where they started.

As to the position of the unions and all the working people, all the telegrams I have received are from the manufacturers, from people with special interests. I have yet to receive one from a wage earner where he said that he was against this tax program, because it really does not affect him at all. The letters, and some of the telegrams, I have received are from people who live in my District, which is true. I have checked with those people and not one of them has either written a telegram, a letter or a post card. One of the people who wrote to me against this tax, I think, had the unmitigated gall to have the people who work for him sign their names to a typewritten letter on his stationery. I certainly do not think that expresses their sentiments or their opinions. I think that is really used for a window dressing to show where he stands and by having these people who do live in my District sign it, it makes it appear as if they are the ones who really have expressed an opinion.

I doubt, Mr. President, if there are more than five or ten Members sitting in this body today who have thoroughly read this bill and who are familiar with the amendments and can speak with any kind of caution or with any kind of free wordage on this bill. Most of the Members who have come in contact with this bill have received letters either from the Chamber of Commerce or some other special interest which wants out of this bill. A number of them have called me at my office and I told them I would be very happy to discuss this matter with them at great length. When they went into the details of the bill, I found they were not only sadly lacking in understanding but had to go on to say that they would have their attorney call me and that he would discuss the bill with me further," but I am against the bill, period."

One of the Senators here related to me, after speaking to one of the manufacturers, that if we do not get the money from some place, we would have to close these institutions. He said, "Go ahead and close them. I do not care anything about it. I do not want to be taxed." It is all very well for anybody in this Senate to vote for appropriations. You can do so with impunity. People will even love you for doing it. However, when you get to a tax program, any kind of a tax program, nobody wants to vote for it and everybody wants to be excluded. If you tax the other fellow, then it becomes a good tax program. If you tax me, it is no good.

Mr. President, all the amendments, about which Senator Kessler spoke that were put in by the house, if you will review them very carefully, were all amendments that were inserted at the insistence of the special groups who said, "If you take me out of it, I think I can get you a certain number of votes for this bill or I think we can put this bill across, or we will stop the machines of public opinion against it."

Since Governor Leader has been in office, I have never seen any newspaper article that was favorable to him, much less the editorials. If he happened to do anything that, in their opinion, they felt was good, they sort of went at it in a backhanded manner by saying that it had bipartisan support or that it is a good measure and all the people in Pennsylvania should be for it. They never said that it was the Governor's own idea or that the Governor did a good job in getting it across.

Mr. President, we will not only be here this month, next month, the following month, but we will continue to sit here until we can work out this tax problem and our budget. We have asked for public hearings on the budget. We have never gotten them. We have asked for public hearings on some of the waste that we have had in government. We have never received those either. All we can do is sit here and criticize one program after another. At that rate, all we can do is take political advantage of the situation we are now in.

This bill, whether it is acted on favorably or unfavorably today, will just lie here. Over in the House, they will take the position that there is a tax program up and if we come up with something new, we will work on that and so on, ad infinitum, ad nauseam, until all of us not only have heart attacks, but we will not be able to do any of the work that needs to be done other than just sitting up here two or three days a week.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, unlike my predecessor who has just spoken, I was prepared to speak briefly on this very important legislation which is before us. I do not suppose there has been a measure before this body in many years that I consider as important as this one. I invite you, my colleagues, to take a walk with me. I do not mean the kind of walk the Communists take when the negotiating gets tough. I mean the kind that gives all of us a better look at the people back home who elected us, the people who depend on us to protect their futures by wise legislation and frugal fiscal policies, the people—all 11,000,000 of them—who make up this wonderful Keystone State, our own Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, sometimes we get too close to the trees to see the forest. So, we had better go out to our people once in awhile and learn what they expect of us. It is not too much of a stroll. Every corner in our State has many similarities, some farms, many industrial plants and warehouses, little, medium-sized and big, in every corner of Pennsylvania. Invariably, we see workers, millions of them, good, honest, salt of the earth men and women who look to continued industrial employment for their food, clothing and shelter their families expect them to provide. We see many white collar men and women, sincere devoted, many of them physically handicapped, who earn less than the average industrial manual worker. We see schoolteachers and nurses and sales girls made secretaries, hundred of thousands of them, whose incomes well up from the industrial payrolls at the bedrock of our economic foundations. We see farmers who must sell the fruits of their long day's labor, dairy, dairy products, poultry, grain, vegetables and so on, to the families who are sustained entirely by industrial payrolls. We find tens of thousand of small businessmen who must gamble all their meager resources on continued industrial employment for their millions of customers. We find uncoun- ted thousands of retired people, in the sunset years of their lives, who often live from rents collected, in the main, from industrial workers and on the return from small industrial investments. Then we see that long, long line of housewives who have that hardest of all jobs, keeping house, making a home, raising the children and balancing the household budget more often than not on a pay check from their husbands' industrial employment and we must see the hopeful smiles of those millions and millions of future citizens who are not yet employable, the babes in arms, the tiny toddler, the lusty grade school crowd, the hopeful but not yet sophisticated high school boys and girls, all of whose fathers and often their mothers, too, earn the family income directly or indirectly from Pennsylvania's economic bedrock, industry.

It is an inescapable fact that our great Commonwealth is, above all, an industrial State, a unit of 11,000,000 people with a common economic base, the base of industrial employment and industrial production.

We are all, everyone of us, part of this great industrial complex, the farmers, the doctors and lawyers, even the ministers, if you will, all, without exception, are linked together in this industrially sustained whole. We are 11,000,000 of God's children, all in the same boat.

When we look out over this vast expanse of humanity who people our great Commonwealth, we see them as millions of fine, hard-working, law-abiding, community-serving, sincere people. And we see the profound truth in Abraham Lincoln's immortal expression, "God must have loved the common people; he made so many of them."

Well, Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, these are the voters who have elected us because they had confidence and trust in us. I say that kind of confidence, that kind of trust is a sacred thing to me. I am sure it is to you, too. Well, then, the very least we can do for those who have been referred to so aptly in the collective sense as "the earning man," I say, the very least we owe them is absolute honesty. I mean absolute, uncompromising, red-blooded, one hundred per cent American honesty. Nothing less will do. That kind of honesty compels us to see things as they are. I sometimes think some legislative proposals drift away off into a fairyland, a land of make believe, where everything has its own irrational focus, like Alice in Wonderland. But we—you and I—have been elected by that earning man to keep our feet on the ground, to see things as they are, to call a spade a spade. So we must, in all honesty, see House Bill No. 1879 for what it actually is, an anti-employment bill. I repeat, House Bill No. 1879 is nothing more than an anti-employment bill. We must, in all honesty, strip it of that fairytale cloak that would try to make it appear as a cleverly contrived soak-the-rich industry scheme, a theory of government that has its very well springs in the class hatreds and the dark suspicions that have made Europe and Asia run thick with blood for uncoun- ted centuries, a theory that the avowed doctrine of today's world-wide cancer, Communism.

No, my good colleagues, our Pennsylvania people know better. They know what is beneath that cloak. They are not going to be fooled by a gold wrapper on a bale of hay. They know it is still hay. Well, then, let us not try to fool ourselves, either.

With the enactment of this anti-employment bill, we would not be providing added revenues, as it is our duty to do; we would be killing the goose that lays the golden egg, killing the very base of all our revenues. We would not be acting in the best interests of the common man or the earning man, as it is our duty to do. We would be hitting him hardest where it hurts him most, in the pay check that means bread and butter and housing and clothing and, occasionally, some of the pleasures of life for the family he loves, the family to whose well being all his working hours are dedicated. I want to point specifically to one of the many glaring inequities in this thoughtless bill. "Company A" has three plants in Pennsylvania and two in neighboring State. All five plants are in similar production. Do you think the management of that company would be silly enough to voluntarily price themselves out of a legitimate market by paying this absurd three and one-half per cent industrial penalty when they need only to channel their production out of Pennsylvania to escape it? Would you not do the same things? Would not that action in itself reduce employment for the 15,000 present employees of that company in their Pennsylvania plants? If we face that problem like men, if we do not ostrich-like bury our heads in the sands of confusion, then there can be only one answer to those questions. That answer proves beyond any possible doubt that not only "Company A," but hundreds more in similar circumstances will inevitably pass production schedules along to out-of-Pennsylvania plants.

Let me tell you that no party pride, no political leader's ego, no preconceived notion of easy fiscal solution is worth the awful price that would be paid by the earning man, the earning man who is your boss and mine.

I repeat, House Bill No. 1879 is, in fact, an anti-employment bill. It will inevitably reduce employment, cut payrolls, stop pay increases and force a decreased value on everything that is for sale in Pennsylvania, made in Pennsylvania by the people of Pennsylvania.

When the industrial laborer—and he is the same hard working family man in your district as he is in mine—goes home to break the sad news to his wife and kiddies, the news that his plant is closing down, his job is abolished and his company is moving out of Pennsylvania, then we will have some tall explaining to do. I tell you now, that is going to happen if this anti-employment bill should pass.

I am not especially concerned about industry, itself. The self-preservation instinct is very much alive in industry. It will continue to live and prosper and give employment in some neighboring State where taxes are not nearly so burdensome, where an unfair encumbrance is not placed on industry by a politically inspired and a treacherously dishonest industrial employment penalty. Yes, industry, itself, will survive somewhere. However, I am thinking of the earning man, all six odd million of them, most of whom do not have the means to move, to sacrifice their home purchase investments in a depressed market in order to move away with their employers. The earning man with a home, with community ties, is surely going to be the unintended victim of this ruinous anti-employment bill. You have a right to ask for proof of this assertion. I tell you the proof is all around us. If we are not afraid to face it, we will see vigorous industrial growth, far greater than ours, in every one of the surrounding States and all at the expense of our own people. Ohio enjoys increased population, increased wealth and increased industrial activity and their industrial or corporate taxes are lower than ours. But then, they have a "terrible" sales tax under a Democratic administration. New York enjoys increased population, increased wealth, increased and increasing industrial employment and their industrial and corporate taxes are lower than ours. However, they, too, have, in their largest single governmental subdivision, a sales tax encompassing more than half the State population and they have a Democratic Administration, too. Maryland, our small neighbor to the south, has been fattening up on the industry Pennsylvania seeks to discourage with still another industrial penalty, this anti-employment bill. Maryland has a fast-growing population, increasing per capita wealth and a vastly expanding industrial employment level. But then, Maryland as one of those nasty sales taxes, too. Tiny Delaware and even poor, mountainous West Virginia, both are booming with new industrial employment for the simple reason that they encourage industrial employment with industrial and corporate taxes that are already lower than ours. All those surrounding States, with fewer personal and natural advantages than we enjoy, have an industrial rate of growth far in excess of our modest gains. However, they all encourage industrial employment. In short, they do not have anything remotely resembling this proposed anti-employment bill.

Furthermore, I must warn you that the people who elected you can have no reliable estimate of the cost they must pay through increased costs of the industry that does remain here. I challenge anyone here to give an honest, reliable estimate of the out-of-pocket cost to the earning man. You cannot do it. None of you can do it, on the Democratic side or on the Republican side, because there is no precedent for it. Such a burden has never before been foisted on a free American citizen in any of the forty-eight States. You have no way of estimating what it will really cost the earning man, the man who knows he ultimately pays every tax bill.

Now, I ask you to face still another hard and unpleasant fact. Many communities in my district and yours as well are united in a valiant effort to bring in new industrial employment. I am sure most of you have similar or identical situations. These hard working people are trying to protect the future of their communities for their children. They spend time, money and an untold amount of civic effort trying to locate new industrial employment for their people. Now, I ask you to answer this soberly and honestly. Could you face those public-spirited citizens and say you are helping them when, by your vote for this vicious anti-employment bill, you would frustrate all their efforts? I could not and I will not support any legislation that runs in complete opposition to the welfare of the earning man, his wife and his children.

Let me say, however, that while I cannot and will not support this administration-sponsored anti-employment bill, I still like Governor Leader's pre-election proposal of substantially reduced expenditures with no sales taxes or other new revenues.

My record, through the tenures of six different administrations, has always shown complete agreement with sound principles of economy. I say that I like the Governor's pre-election proposal even though it sounds too much like a fairyland story to suit our hard needs for revenues to operate a soundly drawn State budget. Gentlemen, we have our work cut out for us. I do not and most of us do not want to embarrass the good people of Pennsylvania by a financial impasse that cuts deep into the many public institutions and the many services that derive total incomes or partial financial support from our Commonwealth treasury. We have a serious obligation we must face. We must not only face it, we must act on it. But that action must be honest; that action must be courageous; and that action must be intelligently planned in the total good—present and future—of the earning man of Pennsylvania. He, the earning man, asks no sleight-of-hand tricks; he asks no special favors; he asks only for our most honest, most courageous, most intelligent efforts in putting our State back on its financial feet, a situation made doubly acute by the short-sighted, precipitous action of last August when the education tax was allowed to die, cutting off our financial nose to spite the opposing Party's face.

Mr. President, our job is simple and inescapable. We must find an honest and equitable form of education and welfare tax and we must do it without further delay as those who spoke previously have said. Let us forget about those dreamy-eyed, clever contrivances, those fancy-dan schemes of trying to put a wolf in sheep's clothing. Let us, in the words of Saint Paul the apostle, "put away childish things" and "see face to face" in this pivotal legislative session.

However, in the process of developing such an honest and equitable form of education and welfare tax, we must kill this dishonest, unequitable, anti-employment bill. Our people expect it of us. We dare not kill off their primary form of family income. We dare not drive industrial employment out of our State. We dare not pass this bill which would say, in big, bold, flashing letters, "Industrial employment not wanted here. Please take your jobs and your Mr. earning man's income elsewhere."

Mr. President, faced with such an emergency we are neither Republicans nor Democrats. We are true Pennsylvanians through and through. I appeal to you, every man, both Republicans and Democrats, to vote as true Pennsylvanians and to earn the everlasting gratitude of the earning man of our Commonwealth by defeating unanimously, if you please, this reckless, dangerous, un-American, anti-employment tax.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am going to make an humble request, to expedite the work of this Session, that those Members who must prepare their speeches have them prepared, hand them to the Clerk, have them printed in the Journal and in that way they can give their constituents notice of what they think about. Why should we sit here all afternoon and listen to prepared speeches? If they cannot remember long enough to give them to us, how can we remember them afterwards? It is just impossible.

I, therefore, suggest, Mr. President, to Senator Wade and my other good friends, that from now on if they have to give a prepared speech, they should prepare it and hand it in and give somebody else the floor.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, the gentleman's request may be in order. However, over the years that I have been a Member of this Senate, I have listened to Senator Haluska very long, loud, impassionate, and very often uninteresting, but I have patiently tried to listen to him even though he had very little to offer. I do not mean to say that this discourse which I have just given is so enlightening or anything of that kind, but I do consider it a personal affront when the gentleman suggests that we do not have the privilege of the floor of the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the gentleman must be under a misapprehension, because I never said, and shall never say, that any person should be denied the privilege of the floor. In spite of the fact that he referred to my talks, he nor anyone else ever saw me with a written speech. My speeches come from my heart and I prepare them myself, within my own system, and not with somebody else. Evidently the speech which the gentleman from Cumberland read was not his wording. He prepared his speech with somebody else, and that is why I object so much.

Mr. President, when Senator Wade gets up to the microphone and speaks from the heart, I enjoy him very much for he is natural. This afternoon he was very unnatural.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I just say very briefly that I had hoped many times that Senator Haluska had prepared his talk because he very frequently rambled around over the land surface and when he was through, I again repeat, he had said very little or anything.

I want to again say this. I would like to say, too, to the gentleman, and I am sorry the rules of our Senate do not permit me to talk directly to him, that he is absolutely wrong and that he is the bearer of a falsehood when he said that I did not prepare the talk which I just delivered to the Senate. I want him to clearly understand that; that this talk which I delivered was of my own preparation.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, although the gentleman from Cumberland does not enjoy my speeches, believe me they are mine. I speak the words and I believe in what I have said. I still insist that he had a lot of help on the speech he just read, because he was very unnatural. He was not the same George Wade whom I have known for a great many years.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I certainly do not want to continue this discussion because it is absolutely not on the important subject before us, but let me assure the gentleman that he is absolutely wrong when he said I did not prepare my own speech. I have no copywriter and I prepared that myself, for his information.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, are we in order to revert our discussion to the bill?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman yield for a moment?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would like to go along with Senator Haluska's suggestion, but I so enjoy the presence of my friend, George Pennington, that I am afraid if we adopted his suggestion, George would not have any more work to do around the Capitol and, therefore, I cannot go along with Senator Haluska's suggestion.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, is it out of order to revert to discussion of the bill on the calendar, which is House Bill No. 1879?

The PRESIDENT. I think that would be in order.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I should like to make a few brief remarks in answer to Senator Wade on this bill being an anti-employment bill.

If I felt this were an anti-employment bill, I would vote against it. There is one feature that I would like to call to the attention of this Senate and that is this. We hear a lot of generalities that this bill is bad, that it is good and it will drive out employment. Some of the Senators received a terrific amount of mail. I have myself, for I have a lot of manufacturers in my District who tell me the bill is bad. I am told that the bill is good by my side. When you reach a situation like that, you try to do some of your own thinking in order to figure things out.

Mr. President, here is a tax on manufacturers which is supposed to drive them out of the State of Pennsylvania and I want to think concretely and not generally. I do not want to talk about General Motors or Bethlehem Steel or any of the other big corporations. I want to take, as a concrete example, the average manufacturers in the State of Pennsylvania who does approximately $1,000,000 worth of business a year. I would like Senator Wade to hear this because he called this an anti-employment bill.

The manufacturer who sells $1,000,000 worth of merchandise pays a three and one-half per cent tax, which would amount to $35,000. Let us assume that in 1955 he did $1,000,000 worth of business and that he had a reasonable net profit of $50,000. He comes to 1956 and this bill, which is not going to pass, is presumably passed. He does his $1,000,000 worth of business, he makes his $50,000 and then he comes to make his Federal income tax return. Lo and behold, his accountant tells him that he made $50,000 net on which you pay taxes, but remember this. This year, 1956, you have a tax deduction of $35,000. You, being in the fifty per cent bracket, will, therefore, receive a saving of $17,500 on your taxes so that instead of making $50,000 net, you are going to make $67,500 net. Now where is that man hurt if he passes on part of his tax saving to the consumer?

I would like one more minute to answer Senator Wade on the three manufacturing plants; one in Ohio, one in New Jersey and one in Pennsylvania. This will not hurt Pennsylvania because if he ships any of his products into Pennsylvania from New Jersey or Ohio, somebody will have to pay the tax of three and one-half per cent. If the plant in Pennsylvania ships outside of Pennsylvania, he is not subject to the tax.

Mr. President, I believe that the misconceptions of this bill are so great, and the hobgoblins built up against it have no basis. I say again that if I felt this to be an anti-employment bill, I would vote against it regardless of Caucus action.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I have a radio program every Sunday afternoon and I am going to try this Sunday to untangle the confusion which I am sure exists in the minds of the people of Pennsylvania who have been reading the headlines and the stories which appeared in the public press this week. One day the excise tax bill was to pass, the next day there was a doubt and the next day the votes that were necessary to pass it were to be provided. Even the people who were going to provide the votes were named. When I get all through, I am going to sum it up in this way. The alleged "sacrificial lambs," Senators Pecan and Mahany, were scared by the big bad wolves, Mr. Reiter and Mr. Davis, who represent the special interests here at the State Capitol. That is just the way I am going to sum it up, and that is just the situation as it is right now.

I would like to say to Senator Wade that I have been here for seven years now, or three Sessions. I think I got to know you pretty well. I know when you write a speech and I know when you read somebody else's. I am not going to accuse you, Senator, of not writing that speech, but if you did you must have taken the sum total of those canned speeches which were presented here by the special interests at the public hearings, because the sum total of everything that you said was incorporated in the series of telegrams which I got from the people who testified here and who tried to scare me with a lot of things which were going to happen in Pennsylvania. By your statement that it was an anti-employment bill, you assumed, for those special interests, the character of an alarmist and a fear-monger. Not one single person, in my opinion, will lose their job if this bill would be passed, and not one single industry would move out of Pennsylvania, not so long as Pennsylvania can offer the economic advantages that other States cannot offer.

Mr. President, industry is here for a reason; not because our State is named "Pennsylvania," but it is here because it has water, some of the finest water that could be found anywhere in the United States. It has transportation facilities, more so than perhaps any other State. We are just a short distance from the greatest seaports in the world; New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore where the goods and the natural resources which must be brought into the State can be brought in pretty cheap. We have a great outlet here for the products which are manufactured here. This is fertile soil for industry, and that is why they are here and they are not going to move.

Your plea today, I will tell you what it was, George. It was a plea for higher, bigger and juicier profits for the special interests who do not want to pay their share of the responsibility of maintaining our schools, our hospitals and our institutions. Mr. President, that is about the size of it. George, when you talk about a sales tax, what you are trying to do is hog-tie the little guy, the little fellow, and lead them to the tax market for slaughter.

If Senator Wade or anybody else can prove to me that a sales tax at three, four or five per cent can benefit the little fellow, you can also prove to me that the Confederate Army won the Civil War. What you said, Senator was not sincere because everytime you came to something which was not embedded and a part of you, you almost choked on it and you stuttered because you did not believe it yourself. You were just reading something that the Chamber of Commerce and the special interests prepared, and you did not believe it so you choked all over it.

I only know one thing, George, that the State is in bankruptcy; it is broke. I know that a good many schools are just about ready to close. There are a lot of school-teachers who are worrying about getting their Christmas pay. I know that the State-aided institutions and hospitals have not received their quarterly payments for the end of August and the end of November, and they will not receive them for the end of February. Those are the things which are facing us. If you refuse to face up to what confronts us, I suppose there is not too much that can be done about it.

Mr. President, I was certainly sorry and sympathized with Senator Wade as I sat here and listened to him fumble all over that speech which he prepared from something else or which somebody else prepared for you. There is something I want to tell you before I quit.

You know, we have a Republican county chairman down in our county whose name I will not mention, but he finally, after a few setbacks, decided to resign as county chairman and this is what he said in the statement which he issued. Keep this in mind, because next year is election year. The year before last, you got a terrific licking because of this sales tax which you are fighting for. You got a terrific licking, with a 1,000,000 Republican registered majority, George, by 285,000. Just imagine that. Now that is all from lousy government and people just did not go to the polls and vote the way they did without cause; there was cause for it. You are asking us now to re-enact a tax which the people repudiated and that is plain silly. The people did not want the sales tax and we do not need a sales tax in Pennsylvania. A sales tax is a tax against those least able to pay and you know it. I do not have to tell you that. To get back to the point, this is what that Republican county chairman said in his letter of resignation:

"Unless we find a way from a national and State level to appeal to the average working man, over the heads of the union leaders, to support our great party, the future looks black."

Right now, the future looks black for you. Mr. President, this man implied that because labor leaders are for some one party, the people just flock to the polls and they vote in accordance with the union's wishes, but that is not true. Who is labor, George? He is the fellow who earns his bread and butter by the sweat of his brow.

Mr. President, what this statement means, in reality, is that it you, the Republican Party and Republican leadership, do not soon start to do something which appeals to the average guy, the little fellow whom Duff always talks about but never does anything for, the situation and the future look black for you. You took a good beating last year; you got a good licking this year and you will get a good licking next year at the election that are—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, will state his point of order.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I think the gentleman from Northampton knows he is out of order.

I think it is very much in order that I request, at least, a five minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of gathering together certain information.

Mr. President, I withdraw my request because Senator Berger would like to say something.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Northampton, Senator Yosko.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Yosko, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. YOSKO. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask the Senator from Northampton whether he has ever been invited to be present at any of the conferences in discussing the tax program on a bipartisan basis?

Mr. YOSKO. I have not.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, by what knowledge or authority does the Senator from Northampton County say that my vote on this tax program has been influenced, or will be, by either of the people he mentioned? Do you want me to repeat the question?

Mr. YOSKO. Yes, please.

Mr. BERGER. I think you understood it. By what knowledge or authority do you state that my vote on this tax measure will be influenced by either of the persons mentioned in your remarks?

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Berger, I just know this. I know that the newspapers named you as one of the three Senators who was going to vote for this bill. You had a chance, if you wanted to, to stand on this floor and deny whatever appeared in the newspapers. I learned from a reliable source, and it was so stated on the floor of this Senate today, that the lobbyists determined the course of the other side and that no votes would be forthcoming from the other side for this bill. If you put two and two together, you can only come to one conclusion and that is that the gentleman on the other side, especially the three who were named and never denied that they were the ones who were going to give us the votes, were also influenced by the lobbyists who marched on Harrisburg over the week end. I saw a few of them down at the Penn-Harris Hotel, myself—

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I have the floor? The gentleman is not being responsive to the interrogation.

The PRESIDENT. Does the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, wish the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Yosko, to proceed in answering the questions?

Mr. BERGER. I thank the gentleman. I appreciate the fact that his additions of two and two usually come up to an odd number. Thank you.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would ask the gentleman whether at any of the conferences, at which he and I were both present, did I at any time say that I would furnish a vote for the manufacturers' excise tax?

Mr. DENT. A man would have to be wiser than Solomon to answer that question.

Mr. BERGER. Thank you, Senator.

Mr. President, I ask the Senator whether or not I did say that I believed the specter of the sales tax should be removed before he asked me or any other Republican Senator to commit a vote for the manufacturers' excise tax.

Mr. DENT. Yes, that is true. I will say, in behalf of Senator Berger, without any restriction whatsoever, that he was forthright in his position in the matter. He said—and if he will allow me, I would like to quote what he said and if I am wrong, he can correct me.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I trust that the gentleman is not reading from a newspaper.

Mr. DENT. Having only attended the eighth grade, I have an awful time reading reading, let alone reading writing. However, if the gentleman will permit me, I will say this.

Senator Berger stated in our conference, in a very emphatic manner, that so long as the entire tax picture was muddled up by the undetermined result of a vote on the sales tax, he believed it best, in the interest of trying to reach a compromise, that the House ought to vote on the sales tax before we come to a final determination on this particular bill. Am I right or wrong?

Mr. BERGER. I thank the gentleman for an accurate statement.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to inject myself, but I would like to just make a few short remarks at this time.

Mr. MAHANY. I thought we were going to take a recess.

RECESS

Mr. DENT. All right. I move, then, with the cooperation of the other side, that the Senate recess for a period of five minutes to at least give the girl a finger break.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I second the motion.,

The motion was agreed to.

ARTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, it would be an understatement for me to say that I was amazed when I read in this morning's Philadelphia Inquirer the statement that a railroad representative had been successful in "killing this tax measure." As the elected Senatorial representative of the largest railroad area in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I should like at this time not only to refute that statement with all the sincerity in my power to generate, but also to make my position on this measure clear, once and for all.

In the first place. Mr. President, when this bill first was proposed, I was among those who failed to understand completely all its varied meanings and applications at a tax on industry. I, therefore, joined with other Republicans in a request for a public hearing at which scores of representatives of business, both large and small, appeared to testify against this measure. Let me say further, Mr. President, that after all the public testimony was in and after all the more than one hundred administration amendments were placed in the bill as it now stands, I confess that I still cannot understand the full impact of this tax program.

Yet, Mr. President, as the elected Senatorial representative of the largest railroad area in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I was bound to do more. I was charged by the people who elected me to find out, if I could, just what affect this bill would have on my people back home, the shopmen and railroaders, on their incomes, their livelihood and, in fact, their jobs.

This attitude, Mr. President, was in line with the general thinking that has prevailed on the Republican side in this dispute throughout the past three weeks; the thinking that we in Pennsylvania are, in truth, faced with a financial crisis; that we do have before us a bill to end that crisis and that, perhaps, we could consider that bill and amend it to guard against its inequities and, finally, pass it and go home. Parenthetically, I wish to state that I was elected at the same time that Governor Earle was elected. If my memory serves me right, I voted for most of the tax measures that were proposed to operate the State Government at that time.

It was with those things in mind, then, that I personally went to Mr. William Reiter and asked his opinion, as a railroad man, on what affect this manufacturers' excise tax bill would have upon the operation of the railroad and its affect upon those people who work for the railroad. What I found out was not good.

Let me say at the outset, Mr. President, that at no time did Mr. Reiter ask me to vote to kill this measure. I do not know what he may have said to anyone else, but I do know that at no time—I repeat—did he ask me to vote to kill the manufacturers' excise tax bill. Mr. Reiter did ask, however, that an amendment be inserted to protect the jobs of the nearly 13,000 railroad workers now employed in Altoona and vicinity, plus the thousands of other railroaders employed not only by the Pennsylvania Railroad, but by all other railroads throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, I asked Mr. Reiter to prepare for my sponsorship an amendment to this bill which would exempt materials and machinery used in railroad repair and in the construction of new railroad cars and locomotives. The same amendment, I understand, also was presented to the gentlemen on the other side of the aisle and it fell on deaf ears.

Railroads, Mr. President, are subject to the regulations of both the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Public Utility Commission. The basic duties to shippers and receivers of freight, which are now enjoined upon railroads by the Interstate Commerce Act, have come down almost unchanged from the original Act to regulate commerce which became law in 1887. These include, principally, the obligation to charge no more than a reasonable rate on fares and the duty not to discriminate in rates as between shippers, and the more general rule of equality which forbids undue prejudice and preference as between persons and localities.

Mr. President, as everyone in this room should know, it sometimes takes months and sometimes it takes years before a change in rate or a change in fares can be acted upon finally by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

There are employed in the Altoona shops, as of today, 9,300 workers with a monthly payroll of more than $4,000,000. That was the payroll of the shopmen for the month of November. In addition, Mr. President, there are on the Pennsylvania Railroad's Altoona payroll, as of today, an additional 3,500 operating employees, with a monthly payroll of more than $1,250,000. That was the payroll for the month of November. Totaling these figures, Mr. President, we have a total annual payroll from the Pennsylvania Railroad, alone, in the Altoona area of more than $51,000,000 now being distributed among 12,800 workers.

It is my considered opinion, Mr. President, that passage of this manufacturers' excise tax bill would place in jeopardy the jobs of these 12,800 railroad employees because of the simple fact that a tax on materials and machinery, going into the repair or manufacturing of new railroad cars or locomotives, could not be passed on. They are the ultimate consumer. The company manufacturers its own cars. As I stated, their rates are fixed so that it would certainly work a great hardship on the railroad shopmen and railroaders in my Senatorial District.

It is my further considered opinion, Mr. President, that passage of this tax program would make a railroad ghost town of Altoona and scores of other railroad centers throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We all know, by past experience, that when the railroad shops are down, merchants and all other lines of business are hard hit and the entire local economy of my Senatorial District would be drastically impaired.

Mr. President, it is my final opinion that passage of this tax program would return the payless pay days, about which Senator Dent referred to yesterday, to thousands of railroad workers in my Senatorial District, as well as to workers in all sorts of industrial endeavors in my Senatorial District.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, if there are other Republican Senators who desire to get up and disclaim undue influence on the part of their own personal lobbyist, I will be glad to yield. If not, I would like to make a brief statement of my own point of view on this tax measure. It is inevitable that one who is so junior should have to sit and wait until some of his elders have had their say. I have been sitting here long enough, I think, to have written a speech as long as that which Senator Wade delivered. I have not, however, and I think I can present my point of view very briefly.

Mr. President, I was impressed and intrigued by the point made by the Senator from Lancaster, when he spoke of a tendency to go out on a special type of fantasy peculiar to this Hill and seldom to look out and take a look at the realities which lie all around us. I believe that is true. As I take an occasional peek outside, I have seen some realities which have impressed me very strongly.

First of all, I have seen thousands of indigent patients in the Commonwealth who are depending on free services from the hospitals. I have seen hospital staffs and administrators who are trying to meet their budgets and who cannot do it unless they get the compensation they are entitled to from the Commonwealth. I have seen thousands of mentally ill people who will not be given an opportunity for treatment unless the appropriation can be passed to make that program possible. I know there are thousands of retarded children. I belong to an organization which has in mind the improvement of their lot. I know that they will not be able to receive the attention they need unless money is forthcoming in appropriations and in taxes to take care of them. I know there are millions of school children, and I know there are thousands of parents, who want to see those school children continue in school without a break, due to the closing of schools because of lack of finances. There are thousands of teachers who are worrying about their next pay check. I know there are thousands of administrators and board members of those school districts in the Commonwealth who are worrying at this time about having sufficient money to carry on their school programs.

Mr. President, all these realities that I have seen impress me very strongly. Other realities may impress other gentlemen. However, these impressed me. I know it is a reality, also, that in order to accomplish this, in order to take care of these needs, a tax program must be passed. Certainly this tax program that we are voting on is not the only one which can supply the money. However, earlier in the Session, we had another tax bill. I will be quite frank. That tax bill appealed to me more than this one. This is certainly a second choice as far as I am concerned. I think so far as the Democratic Party is concerned, it is not a first choice. Perhaps it is not a first choice of the gentlemen across the aisle. I think, however, that perhaps we must all recognize that the time for first choices is past. We have reached an impasse where we can no longer expect other gentlemen in this Senate to yield to their own particular whims. Therefore, we have a tax program here, as a practical matter before us, which will help to raise the money necessary to take care of these needs.

I oppose the cutting of appropriations in the figure of $131,000,000, or any other large figure, which will make it impossible to carry out these needed programs. That has been suggested by Members from the other side. I am opposed to it, and I shall continue to be opposed to it. I voted for one appropriation bill and as soon as I get an opportunity, I will vote for the appropriation bills that came from the House and which contain the program necessary to take care of these cases.

Therefore, Mr. President, I feel I have an obligation to vote for a tax program. I have already voted for one. I am ready to vote for this one. I want it to be very clear that I do not want the responsibility for seeing mental institutions unable to carry on, for seeing hospitals unable to carry on indigent care, for seeing the retarded children program fall and for seeing schools closed. I do not want that responsibility. If other gentlemen care to take it, that, of course, is up to them.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I realize that the hour is getting late and quite a number of us want to have our dinner. However, we are at a crucial point here today. None of us like taxes, but we must face realities. I know that anything I might say here today is not going to change one vote. However, I have listened to the other side in their explanations here today and I hear one Member on the Republican side say that he believes this is an anti-job piece of legislation. I heard another Member say that it is going to cause pyramiding. I heard another Member say that it is going to drive industry out of Pennsylvania, because industry cannot absorb this tax. To make a long story short, I believe that the Republican Party, on the other side, have arrived at a decision and that decision is to kill off this tax program.

Senator Dent named a few pallbearers, and I would say that we have some speakers on the other side who are going to do the embalming as far as this bill is concerned. Particularly does this apply to Senator Wade, when he shed those crocodile tears. As a matter of fact, it almost moved me to tears when Senator Wade was talking about the plight of the poor wage earner. I am wondering if he took that same position when we had a sales tax before us. You all talk about being for a sales tax. I am wondering whether if a sales tax comes over here, just how many on the other side would vote for it. Probably, as Senator Dent has said, you are going to vote for a sales tax whereby everyone is exempted except the people. If that is the case, we are penalizing ourselves.

When we look at this thing from what I would say an over-all point of view, we must pass some sort of revenue. It is up to us, as Members of the Senate, to do the job. It was mentioned here that we were elected by the people. Thank God that we are. I am glad to face my electorate any time on this tax program. Frankly, I cannot see too much wrong with it. I would say, first, that it could be enforced. I would say, too, Mr. President, that we could probably enforce this program more than we can our tax on cigarettes or the sales tax, if you pleas. Senator Dent mentioned a little while ago about one of the most vociferous members of the opposition, Sun Ship Building. They owe the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania around $400,000 as far as the sales tax is concerned.

Mr. President, they come here in poor grace to oppose this type of legislation, because they have not paid their obligations to the Commonwealth. Yet, they come up here and lobby against this legislation. I do not know what we are going to do, but I can tell you this. The activities of yesterday are not enhancing any of us in the eyes of all the people. We passed this legislation borrowing another $110,000,000 and, of course, we are going to be stuck with the interest, too. I think it has been recommended by the Chairman of the Republican Caucus that probably the sales tax problem should be eliminated over in the House. I think that perhaps that would be the thing to do. However, what are we going to do in the meantime? Are we going to leave here? After you gentlemen defeat this bill, are you going to adjourn us or recess us until January 16th and during that time just loaf? Then, we will come back and be deeper in debt.

I, for one, have arrived at the definite conclusion that I am not going to put myself on the spot any more. I am not going to ask our House Members to go on the spot until they receive a definite commitment from the Majority Party as to what they are going to do in regard to a tax program. I think it is definitely unfair, as far as the rules of politics go, for you gentlemen on the other side to take the position you are taking. I was under the impression, frankly and honestly, as of a couple of days ago, that we were going to pass this tax bill. I was under that impression because I read it in the newspapers. It was imparted to us on the floor of the Senate. I was told it down in the lobby of the hotel. I was told it in our Caucus; I heard the rumors. Here we are today; I think you fellows have twenty-six votes against it. We do not have the votes and, therefore, we cannot pass it. I heard the argument on the other side, "Well, back in 1951 and 1953, you fellows did not vote for our taxes." You know, gentlemen, you did not need our votes because we were very much in the minority. If you will check the record, you will find that I voted for every tax program outside of the sales tax.

Mr. President, I am going to tell you here today that if a sales tax comes over to the Senate of Pennsylvania, I will not be able, in good conscience, to vote for it. If ever there was legislation which penalizes the small man, it is the sales tax. Even at one per cent, he was penalized. I happened to serve on the Tax Study Committee, with Members on the other side. If you look through the reports, you will find that even the Department of Labor in Washington, D. C., set forth that a sales tax penalized the small income earner because of the fact that he made the largest purchases. I know you talk about excluding food, and you talk about excluding clothing and all that sort of thing. At the same time, a three per cent sales tax is going to take a terrific hunk out of the pocket of the ordinary individual who works for a living.

I want you gentlemen to know that I receive a lot of support from people from labor. I am happy to receive that support. I feel that I receive the support of the small businessmen, because I have had the good fortune to be elected and re-elected time and time again. I feel the people of my Senatorial District have confidence in my integrity. I know that my people do not want a sales tax.

Mr. President, all this arguing about this three and one-half per cent excise tax putting business out of Pennsylvania, to my way of thinking, is a lot of tommyrot. I think that you fellows on the other side of the aisle are thinking on the other side of the street. You are probably figuring on the dividends which might be earned, due to investments. That is all true and I think of those things, too, but at the same time we have to think of the common good and what is best for the most people in this great State of ours.

Mr. President, I am not going to take up any more time because I know I am wasting my breath. It has often been said that no one reads the Legislative Journal, and I am inclined to agree. However, I want you to know that you have not sold me a bill of goods when you take this floor and one of you says that this tax is going to drive industry out as they cannot absorb it and another of you bleeds for the common man because he is going to have to pay some costs which are going to be pyramided. This just is not so. I was thinking, while one of the Members was talking, in the event industry would happen to increase wages, that, too, would cause pyramiding. In the event that the Federal Government would increase our income taxes, that would cause pyramiding too, would it not? Did you ever stop to think about competition?

You know, Mr. President, we have a Nation of free enterprise and we all want to thank God for that. Competition would take care of pyramiding, and your excuse in opposition does not hold water. As someone said before, your actions today are going to work a hardship on a lot of people.

Mr. President, I wonder how many Members on the other side ever visited Polk State School. How many Members on the other side have visited some of our overcrowded mental institutions? I wonder how many have visited some of our State hospitals. I know that those of you who have are going to sort of not sleep too well tonight. We are going to have to raise this money whether you like it or not. Your action today is going to work a hardship on the school teachers. Even though you pass this bill, which we passed yesterday, it is not going to help too much for Christmas for a lot of school teachers because lots of them are not going to have any Christmas pay.

Mr. President, who is to blame? Surely you cannot blame our side, because this is the second tax program we have placed before you. The school teachers are not doing to have any Christmas pay because there are schools in western Pennsylvania that will not be able to borrow sufficient money to pay all their teachers. They are supposed to be public servants, these school teachers, and we are supposed to respect them. As a matter of fact, we all agree that they should have an increase, but at the same time we do not have the intestinal fortitude to stand up here and actually vote our convictions.

Mr. President and gentlemen of this Senate, in my humble opinion there is nothing wrong with this tax program that a few rules and regulations will not straighten out. I do not say that it is perfect; no, it could not be. However, in my humble opinion there is not too much wrong with it. I think if we were to pass it, we would be doing a good job for the people as a whole and I think all of us could probably spend a happy holiday. I know that when we leave here, I am going to be rather concerned because when I go back home I am going to be confronted with trustees from different hospitals, I am going to be confronted with a number of school teachers, I am going to be confronted with organizations that are interested in cerebral palsy children, and I am going to be confronted with people who have tried to get their children in Polk State School for the past five years, and what am I going to say? I will tell you what I am going to say. I am going to tell them that the Republican Party in Pennsylvania has not recognized the fact there was an election last year and that the Democrats won the election. When we won the election, do you not think, too, since it was in our platform that we would abolish the sales tax, that it is a mandate of the people? After all, the Republican Party in Pennsylvania had almost, I believe, a 1,000,000 majority and we won the election.

While I am on the floor, let me remind you of one thing. Remember in 1953, and I know most of you gentlemen remember this, when the sales tax was over in the House and a very able Republican leader from the Blue Bell district opposed it. That man I think was Fred Peters, who is a County Commissioner in Montgomery County and I believe he still holds that position; I am not sure. I always respected Fred Peters as an able politician because he used to bring a huge majority in his area for your party. At that time, he said that he would not be a party to the liquidation of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania by allowing his delegation to vote for a sales tax. If you will recall, it was his delegation in the House that held that bill up for quite some time.

Fred Peters spoke the truth. He had the foresight to see what could happen. Someone talked about the State of Maryland and their sales tax. Let me tell you gentlemen something. That sales tax happened to be the cause of the defeat of a relative of mine who was Governor of Maryland. He passed that sales tax and he was retired to private life. Remember that, when all you gentlemen on the other side argue about this sales tax feature, the political repercussions are going to be terrific.

Mr. President, I have only spoken a short time but I am going to close, and I hope that my plea has not fallen on deaf ears. However, I suppose it has. No one will read the Journal and probably the newspapers will distort my speech to suit their thinking, which they generally always do. I might as well be frank about the situation, but I have this to say. If you do not vote for this bill, you will have a tough time getting a sales tax.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. YOSKO. Senator Berger, during the course of my remarks, based on newspaper accounts which used your name, may I ask you now whether you had made a statement to any newspaperman or to any Member of this Senate or to any person outside the Senate that would lead the newspapers to use your name as one of the three persons who would give a vote for this tax in order to make it possible to pass it?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I believe my statement to the newspapers was that I had understood that such a rumor was current, and I suggested that they permit it to remain a rumor. Otherwise, Mr. President, I did not make such a public statement.

REMARKS EXPUNGED FROM RECORD

Mr. YOSKO. If you did not make such a statement and your name was used in the newspapers incorrectly, and because I respect you and everybody else in this Senate, I ask that my reference to you as one of the three be stricken from the record.

(Prior remarks of the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. YOSKO, were accordingly withdrawn from the record.)

Mr. BERGER. Does that complete the interrogation, Mr. President?

Mr. YOSKO. Yes, sir.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I say this, that any remarks I might make publicly, or any statements I make publicly, have no bearing upon any statements I might have made privately and they are not the subject of interrogation.

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, my statement, however, still applies to those who publicly permitted their names to be used or otherwise as providing the votes and changed their minds.

While I am on my feet, Mr. President, I just want to say this about lobbyistst.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President—

Mr. YOSKO. It will just take me one second, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President—

Mr. YOSKO. It has something to do with the bill. It is about time, Mr. President, that we adopt some rules on the liberties of lobbyists in this Chamber. There are many of them here who do good work and are here in the interest of good legislation. However, there are two in particular who take the liberty of the same privileges that we Senators are—

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, will state his point of order.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, this certainly has nothing to do with the bill. Next Monday, under Petitions and Remonstrances if the Senator wants to talk about any lobbyists or anything else that he has in mind, we will be glad to hear him, but the hour is growing late and we have several others who want to talk about this bill.

Therefore, I rise to the point of order that the gentleman is out of order as he is not talking on the bill.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, how many times may a Member of the Senate talk on a bill?

The PRESIDENT. The rule provides that two times will be the limit, although many, many times in this Senate I have seen that rule broken by many, many Members.

Mr. MAHANY. I just wanted to call it to the Senator's attention.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. YOSKO. Mr. President, I just want to state one sentence which has to do with the bill.

A lobbyist made a bet of a quart of whiskey that the excise tax bill would not get one vote from the other side and would be defeated. Anytime a lobbyist can make that kind of a bet, you can bet all the tea in China that he had his fingers in it and he knew exactly what was going to happen because he helped to influence the final outcome.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I do not have a prepared speech, and I will not ask to talk a second time but I would ask the privilege of maybe getting a little off from the subject of this bill, which I know is not just according to Hoyle. I also made a bet today. I bet on "Mrs. G. R." and she is out of the money, so I was informed.

Mr. President, I have been quoted on House Bill No. 1879, Printer's No. 1228, as being for this bill and also against it. I would like to say to the gentleman of the Senate that I have been against this bill from its very inception. From the first day when I spent five hours at my home reading the bill, I have been against it. Senator Pechan very reluctantly does not like to go along with a fellow who did not have a complete high school education. I am like Senator Dent. I went to the first year in high school and then I wound up in the steel mills. I have no college education, but I read this bill for five hours and when I got through with it, I knew just as much as when I had started. I did not know whether my own company would be subject to taxation under this bill. I realized that if this bill passed, I would have to call the Secretary of Revenue and ask him whether the Blue Line Transfer Company, Incorporated, came under this tax program. That, certainly, I would do reluctantly. This bill, in my opinion, is a bill that no one could vote for under its present wording. It is unreadable, and how in the world any person even with a one year high school education could vote for it, I would not know.

Mr. President, I find that this bill was drafted by people who do have college educations and certainly I am not opposed to people who have them, but I like them to display their learning so that we laymen can read the bills.

Mr. President and gentleman of the Senate, I feel as though we will be here very probably in April, May, June and July. I have a suggestion to make which, with your permission, I will make. I suggest that Senator Dent, Senator Lane and some of his other chosen leaders over there sit down with Senator Taylor, Senator Mahany,

Senator Berger and Senator Pechan and draft a bill which someone can understand and which the Members of this Senate can vote for.

Certainly, Mr. President, I feel that my county must have money for its hospitals, it must have money for its institutions and I will vote for this money when I can vote for a bill which I can read.

We are all Republicans in Delaware County, and I am very happy of that fact, just as Senator Dent's county of Westmoreland is all Democratic. It looks like it would take an avalanche out there to move him out, and it looks like it would take the same avalanche to move us out of control in my county. God knows, I always hope there will be a two party system. I always hope there will only be a Democratic Party and a Republican Party, and maybe I should say the Republican Party first.

Mr. President, we can never expect people who are conscientious to vote for this type of legislation. I have listened to a lot of oratory here today and much of it was very well phrased. I enjoyed Senator Wade's speech, even though Senator Yosko did not enjoy it. I read his speech before he made it. He might have stumbled on a word or two, but what difference is that to me? He is a college graduate.

I feel as though we have wasted the time of this Senate and perhaps I may be wasting it. Senator Watson felt that I should not talk on the bill and said to me, "Sit down, you will get nowhere anyway." Certainly, Mr. President, we know what is going to happen to this bill when we vote. We know the answer over here on the Republican side and the Democrats know it, too.

Mr. President, what I am about to say may be a little removed from the merits of the bill, but I ask your permission to go along with me. I heard a relative of mine abused. Bill Reiter is a forty-second cousin and do not ask me to explain that. As far as I am concerned, the Pennsylvania Railroad has been in the hair of the Blue Line Transfer Company since 1930. I have had to defend myself in the Superior Court of the State of Pennsylvania on several occasions. I had to borrow money to pay the lawyers. If I voted for this bill, Mr. President, I again would have to borrow money to pay the lawyers to explain to me what is in it.

Bill Reiter has never influenced me and he will never influence me as to how to vote. I respect him and I like him as a relative and as a gentleman. I have never found him to be anything other than a gentleman. It certainly is unfair to spend the time of this Senate talking about Bill Reiter influencing this delegation of twenty-six Republican over here and telling them how to vote. Yes, I will eat his food whenever he wants to buy it and I have taken food from other lobbyists, but I did not vote for their bills. What is wrong with that? I have bought dinners for him, too. I very possibly spent more on him than he ever spent on me, because he has been a little slow in picking up the check a couple of times.

Mr. President, I did not mean to be funny, but it is the truth. When my good friend, Senator Dent—and God knows I respect him for I will never go against a man who does not have a college education. I respect the things he says about his father because I loved my father, too, and he had a lot of wisdom. The things which my father taught me were good, and I remember them today even though I am getting down the road, but not too far down the road.

I can say this, Mr. President, when he spoke of the Sun Ship Building and Dry Dock Company, I do not think he did it with malice in his heart, but I think Senator Yosko did for he always speaks with malice. He always speaks with the attitude that he wants to cut somebody apart, but I do not think Senator Dent did. Senator Dent—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Holland, will state his point of order.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, the gentleman's comments are getting very personal and he is making personal attacks.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the bill before the Senate.

Mr. WATKINS. Certainly, Mr. President, you will give me the privilege of answering Senator Dent if I refrain from talking about Senator Yosko and some of his oratory, which you permitted. Do I have that privilege, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, Senator Dent spoke of the Sun Ship Building and Dry Dock Company in the city of Chester, which is in my Senatorial District. I say to you that the County of Delaware is the finest. We have the finest manufacturers in Delaware County, that supply employment to the people of Delaware County, and we want to keep them there. I say to you that the Sun Ship Building and Dry Dock Company has been in the red for years. I understand that at the present time they are employing approximately 4,000 people. Why they employ them, I do not know. If the Watkins money had to run the Sun Ship Building yards, they would have been closed years ago because I cannot operate without a profit. They have operated at a loss for a number of years, to my knowledge, and I was informed of this by one of the stockholders of my company, a man by the name of John D. Baer, Jr., who is also a stockholder of the Sun Ship Building and Dry Dock Company and I was never informed by Harry Princeton Davis.

Mr. President, I say to you that the Sun Ship Building and Dry Dock Company would be in a bad position if House Bill No. 1879 were passed. Right across the river in Camden, New Jersey, is the Camden Ship Building and Dry Dock Company. If they can repair ships at three and one-half per cent less than the Sun Ship Building Company can repair them, then it will be their job. Today, Mr. President, maybe it would be interesting to the gentlemen of the Senate to know that in all of the whole world, as of October the 31st, there were 1879 ships under construction; ocean-going vessels. In America, how many would you guess we have? You could not guess, I know. We are building twelve of those 1879 vessels. The Sun Ship Building and Dry Dock Company, operating at a loss, did only repair work and maybe a few little paltry contracts which they can bid on, and lose money to operate, and keep people working.

Mr. President, I say to you that it would be unfair and unjust, and I have in my desk amendments to this bill which I would insist on being adopted to take the Sun Ship Building and Dry Dock Company out if this bill were ever brought up for passage and I thought it was going to pass. I say to you, Mr. President, that it was most unfair to criticize the Sun Ship Building and Dry Dock Company because they are a credit to Pennsylvania, and to my county, by employing people which is so necessary if the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is to continue to thrive and to be the great Commonwealth that it is.

The good Senator, and God knows I love him, John Dent; I listened to him talk. He will always be a friend of mine and I do not care what he says about me when I get through. It will not make any difference and I will not even answer him. However, the great Senator is noted for pulling figures out of the sky. He has a wealth of figures at his fingertip at all times. I do not intend to question whether the Sun Ship Building and Dry Dock Company owes $400,000 to the State of Pennsylvania. I have no figures to argue about, and I say to the Senator that maybe it is more. If I know the Secretary of Revenue, he will charge them interest on every dollar that they owe. I can say this to the Senator, God knows I wish they owed that amount of money to me. The Commonwealth will get every dollar that is coming to them, provided it is legal and right. With their attorneys, if it is not legal and right, I can say to you that they very probably will not get five cents. I do not think Senator Dent would want them to pay the money if it was not legal and right. They certainly are good people and if they owe the money to the State, they will pay it.

Mr. President, I would like to go back and talk about Harry Davis. I will tell you how much he controls me. I called my office today to find out how much business I had done with the Sun Oil Company. I found that I have spent $69,000 with the Sun Oil Company up to this date, and they have given me $357 worth of business.

I say to you, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, I am going to talk to Harry Davis or I am going to talk to President Dunlop to know what is going on. Otherwise, there is going to be a new gas company for Blue Line. Harry Davis has never in his life told me how to vote and I just hope that he never dares to ever tell me how I should vote on a bill. He can talk to me and say that he would like me to do this or that and that he hopes I will do it, but Harry Davis has never told me how to vote and I hope he never dares to make that step. When he tells me what I must do, that will be the end of a great friendship between a Texan, whom I enjoy being with and respect, and myself. I shall continue to enjoy that friendship until he makes the fatal mistake.

Mr. President, I ask the gentleman on this side to vote "no" on this bill and I ask the Democrats, and my friends who I hope will always be my friends, to also join in and vote "no" and I further hope that Senator Taylor, Senator Mahany, Senator Dent, Senator Lane, Senator Haluska and your leadership soon meets to give us a bill that we can vote for.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LANE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MALLERY. I have already asked Senator Lane this question when he was up at my seat, in order for him to have time to get the answer.

Senator LANE, is there any prohibition in this bill against any intermediaries, such as the distributor or the manufacturer, passing on the three per cent excise tax on the manufactured price, as I understand it, to the ultimate consumer?

Mr. LANE. No, there is not, Senator Mallery. That should satisfy you because then it would be a sales tax.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I think that all of the denunciation of the sales tax is simply a hoax. The arguments have been made that they are protecting the little man. Evidently, the little man is going to pay three and one-half per cent of the cost of manufacturing on whatever he buys. Let us be frank and honest and state that while I know that every Senator here today is concerned about the poor man, however, it comes out at this late time that the poor man will have to pay the three and one-half per cent tax on the cost of manufacturing.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Senator Mallery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Mallery, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mallery, in your statement on the floor today, I believe that you predicated your statement by saying that in view of the number of railroaders employed in the Pennsylvania Railroad shops at Altoona, you felt forced to vote against this legislation. Is that correct?

Mr. MALLERY. That is correct.

Mr. LANE. If I am not mistaken, I believe you also inferred that there was going to be a terrific tax placed upon the Pennsylvania Railroad. Is that correct?

Mr. MALLERY. As I understand the bill, and I do not pretend to understand it thoroughly, I understand that there will be a tax on every article that goes into the manufacturing of a car, whether it is a boxcar or any kind of a car, pullman car or locomotive, which the company manufactures.

Mr. LANE. Senator Mallery, under the sales tax was the Pennsylvania Railroad forced to pay a tax on the product?

Mr. MALLERY. I do not know that.

Mr. LANE. I wish to thank the gentleman.

I talked with my lawyer here, Senator Dent, who did not graduate from high school as someone has inferred on the other side, and he advises me that there will not be any tax upon the Pennsylvania Railroad; it is not a manufacturer, it is a service. I wish to also advise Senator Mallery that when you place a three per cent sales tax upon the retail price of a product, you will find that you are taking into consideration the markup of the middle man, the markup of the retailer. That would be, in most cases, around thirty or thirty-five per cent. Therefore, the three per cent sales tax would be paid upon the retail price and not the manufactured price.

Mr. PROPERT. Mr. President, I certainly did not intend to get into this discussion about House Bill No. 1879. However, my good friend, Senator Lane, from Washington County, did mention the name of a highly respected citizen from Montgomery County. I refer to Fred C. Peters.

I think if Senator Lane will check the record, he will find that the remarks which he attributed to Mr. Peters were made in reference to a State income tax and not a sales tax. For the information of Senator Lane, I would like to inform him that a majority of the House delegation and myself, as State Senator from Montgomery County, voted for the sales tax in 1953.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am going to try to confine my remarks to the interrogation by Senator Dent and some remarks that have been made by others.

First of all, Mr. President, while it is clear in my mind, I would like to inform Senator Lane that the Pennsylvania Railroad is a manufacturer. They have car shops, as you know, in Altoona and I read in the Philadelphia newspaper yesterday where in Hollidaysburg they are opening the largest plant in the world to make freight cars, I believe. They manufacture them. Under the old sales tax, we did collect one per cent from all manufacturers for buildings, for their machinery. I think Senator Dent knows that, because as I remarked a little while ago, on Friday, July 10, 1953, Senator Dent made an impassioned plea that we exempt machinery. I do not want to read his quotes, but he knows. He is familiar with it. It is the very same thing that I want to do. However, I want to inform Senator Lane all manufacturers in Pennsylvania paid the one per cent sales tax.

Mr. President, machinery is exempted in Ohio, but the buildings that house these machines are not exempt. They are taxable at the rate of three per cent. Pennsylvania industry did not complain too much because of the one per cent tax that they had to pay on everything in Pennsylvania, whereas in Ohio, they had to pay three per cent on the buildings but were exempt for the machinery.

Senator Dent says that Senator Pechan has changed. I want to go into the history of where Pechan said he was going to vote for this bill, whether we do it jokingly or whether we do it seriously.

I was a patient in the hospital and had a lot of time on my hands. I read the newspapers and read where Senator Dent and the Democratic Party were about to come out with a bill that sounded, according to press reports, very, very favorable to me. I thought that it was a hidden sales tax. If the gentlemen on the other side of the aisle will admit it, there was a bill prepared over that week end. It was printed on Sunday and discarded and a new bill was prepared. House Bill No. 1878 was the bill which was never presented. However, it was all drawn up and thrown away. Then, House Bill No. 1879 came out Monday. As you will recall, I was not here. I believed in the principle of the bill, as I told Senator Dent. I know and am deeply conscious—not because I am part of the so-called team, the leadership over here—that before the Democratic administration can get a tax measure passed, they must have at least three Republican votes. I am willing and ready, as I was then, to furnish one of those votes. As I understand since yesterday, they do not now only need three but they need five. However, that is beside the point. It is not Pechan who has changed; it is the bill that has changed.

Now the Pittsburgh Press has quoted me as saying something the night before last. That was before Senator Dent offered his amendments. I gave Senator Dent a lot of amendments and had they been accepted, I could have been one of the gentlemen who would have voted for this bill. They were not accepted and, consequently, I cannot vote for the bill.

Senator Dent also made a remark about the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce. I do not have the privilege of belonging to the Chamber of Commerce and I receive the same literature that Senator Dent gets. I want to say this, however. The Chambers of Commerce of Ohio, West Virginia, New Jersey and Delaware are doing a mighty swell job of lobbying over on that side, because this is the type of bill they want so that they can take Pennsylvania industry out of Pennsylvania and woo it into the other States.

Another thing, Mr. President, Senator Lane and others have mentioned something about this tax. We do not realize that if this excise tax were passed, it is part of a package. It still does not provide the money that they want. They are going to come up, as I understand it, with an income tax. We are going to get our brains beat out again because we do not go for it. I have said time and time again that I will not vote for an income tax. I would not vote for an income tax under John Fine, and I am sure not going to vote for it under Governor George Leader.

Also I want to say something that has been said time and time again. One of the reasons, the most important reason that we have Governor Leader as our Governor today is because he went out and told the people of Pennsylvania that he was going to cut down on spending, that there would be no sales tax, that there would be no income tax. He just fooled the people. Now, the picture has changed. In my county, when we campaign, we campaigned on the premise—this is another thing that I want to bring up—that we are going to need at least $100,000,000 more than we had during the last biennium because other Legislatures had mandated it. We might as well be honest and tell the people right now that come the next biennium, they are going to need 132,000,000 more dollars than mandated and more than was spent during this last biennium, mind you; not any new appropriations but mandated.

Yesterday, an argument was brought up about the Republicans because of Senate Bill No. 899, where we are trying to give the schoolteachers their just dues and the school districts their subsidies. The argument was advanced that we, because of our tactics over here, are forcing the State to pay $1,500,000 in interest. Just stop to think what you gentlemen on the other side have done. We had the machinery all set up for the sales tax. All of the people are still working and the sales tax has been out since September. Since September, October, November and December, at the rate of one per cent—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I do not think the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, understand the bill. I am sure of that because of his actions within the last few days. Will he confine his remarks to the bill that we are debating tonight and not make a speech on what happened in Armstrong County last November? We just do not care.

Mr. PECHAN. I am not saying what happened in Armstrong County, Senator Barr. I am trying to say that yesterday you were accusing us of costing, in interest rates, $1,500,000. I am today accusing you people of not collecting $7,000,000 from the sales tax. We wanted to extend it until such time as we could resolve our tax differences. No, you people said, "No, no, no, no." At one per cent, on $7,000,000 a month, you would have had $28,000,000.

It is not our fault. Eventually, we are going to sit down and work out a compromise.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I wish the gentleman from Armstrong, Senator Pechan, if he does not understand the bill, would either sit down or confine his remarks to the bill.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman's point of order is well taken. The gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Pechan, will confine his remarks to the bill.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I will admit that I do not understand the bill and I do not think the other forty-eight Senators do either. There are at least twenty errors in this bill. However, that is beside the point.

Another thing Senator Dent talked about was shoes; the poor fellow. I want to say that when the sales tax comes over here, I may vote for it at the rate of three per cent, but I am going to see that the little fellow, for whom I fought two years ago—that clothing, shoes and food were exempt. I am going to see that they are exempt again before I vote for a sales tax. I never said that I would vote for a three per cent sales tax without these exemptions.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I persist in my point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, if the gentleman does not understand the bill about which he is talking, he should sit down. I will be happy to get up and explain House Bill No. 1879 to him. He has taken so many positions that I am positive he has never read the bill.

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, I have.

Mr. BARR. If he has read the bill, please tell us your objections to the bill. We are not tonight debating the sales tax.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Armstrong will confine his remarks to the bill before the Senate.

Mr. PECHAN. Well, let us make it very brief. I have stated two or three times my objections to the bill. They have not been removed. Pechan has not changed, but the bill has. Amen.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I just do not want to leave Senator Lane under any cloud in this Senate. Just as I would protect any other Members of the Senate, I would protect Senator Lane.

When Senator Lane made the remark about Fred Peters, he was quoting from a newspaper. I happened to be present at one of the conferences, and I think that it is proper for all the people to know this. Fred Peters, on the first go-round on the sales tax, did say that he was not going to be present at the liquilation of the Republican Party and that he would not support a sales tax. The record will show that the entire delegation from Montgomery County voted "no" on the first vote in the House of Representatives on the sales tax.

I am not one to say that something happened between then and the next time they voted that convinced Fred Peters to go along. I have known Fred Peters since our early days in the House of Representatives together. I have had a great deal of respect for Fred, his word and his judgment. To prove that his judgment was right, in the following election, the Republican Party was liquidated at the polls.

Mr. President, I do not want Senator Proport to get excited over the situation, and he knows that I do not. I think he honestly believes that it was in reference to the income tax that Fred Peters made that statement. However, we happen to have in the archives the newspaper reports. If it becomes necessary, I will be glad to present them to the Senate and read the dates and the datelines. However, I do not think that is important at this point.

I want to leave now because I think most of us are tired. We know how the vote is going to go. Senator Mahany has not yet earned his fee as the Majority Leader, and he will have to get up and make some statements. However, little Senator Pechan, whom I like very much as a person, and off of the floor I think we are very close friends, has done a nice job of getting in and out. He should do that. As far as his remarks about how he has told me this and told me that, I think Senator Pechan knows, and most of the people in Pennsylvania know by now, that when they read what he says from now on, they are going to wait and see tomorrow's issue.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am not going to take up very much time. Senator Dent said that I should say something because, after all, I am the Majority Leader over here and I probably should earn my fee.

Mr. President, we have been arguing for a long time about this bill and perhaps anything that I might say may be repetitious. There has been a lot said here that perhaps was not germane to the issue before us. I would like to try to keep on the track.

One time an old lawyer told a young lawyer, who was about to try his first case and he asked the old lawyer what he should do. He said, "Well, I will give you advice on every case you ever try. If you have the law on your side, you pound like the Devil on the law. If you have the facts on your side, you pound like the Devil on the facts. If you do not have either the law or the facts on your side, you pound like the Devil on the table." That probably is what has been happening here pretty much all afternoon.

I still have not seen any of the speakers hold up the bill and say very much about the bill, itself. I do want to go to that point because I believe that there are very few of us who have actually read the bill. The bill has changed considerably since it was first introduced in the House back on November 21st. You will notice that by looking at all the previous printer's numbers on it. I think it has gone through about five changes since it was first introduced.

Over in the House it was given hurried treatment. I think it was in print before it was even introduced. It was introduced on November 21st and passed finally on November 23rd. Then it came over to the Senate, and Senator Kessler held a hearing. Senator Kessler and his committee held a public hearing on it. At least, we saw many, many persons from all over the State appear against this bill. Before the hearing was held, Governor Leader called upon various groups to appear before this hearing in support of the bill. Governor Leader said, "Unless this bill is passed, various groups throughout the State are going to be the next targets for subsequent legislation." He, therefore, called upon the various people interested, I presume the pop manufacturers and others, to come here and appear for this bill. However, as I remember it, there were only two people in all of Pennsylvania who came to this hearing on behalf of this bill. One was the Governor's brother and assistant, Henry Leader. He made a very nice appearance here, too, Mr. President. I want to compliment Henry. I never thought he had so much intelligence, poise and all the rest of the things that go with a proper presentation of an argument. I remember reading in John Cummings' column, in the Philadelphia Inquirer, a very complimentary editorial about Mr. Leader's appearance before this committee. The other person who appeared before the committee was Senator Dent. Of course, we all know Senator Dent and we all know that he always makes a very fine presentation and when he appeared before this Committee, he, I believe, was at his best. However, he did not talk very much about the bill. I think he took a great deal of time to lambast those people who came here against it. I think we should welcome people, throughout the State, who come here either for or against legislation. It is the only way we have of knowing, other than by their letters and communications, what they want us to do.

Now, as against those two people, we have this great number of persons representing industry, representing labor. There was a president of a C.I.O. labor union here before this committee. There were various people representing merchants, representing Chambers of Commerce and so forth. You cannot look down your nose at Chambers of Commerce. I have been a member of my local Chamber of Commerce for years, and I have been on the board and various retailers are members. Why do they belong to it? They belong because they feel the Chamber of Commerce will give them more business in their communities and in that way they will be able to do a better business in their stores and so forth.

However, Mr. President, to get to this bill, it is very ambiguous. I think if we would all go down to the University of Pennsylvania Law School and go into that center rotunda, and look up on the wall we would find engraved in stone, I believe, a statement which was made by Lord Coke. I suppose tomorrow, someone will tell me it was made by someone else. However, as I remember it, it was Lord Coke. I still remember that engraving up there which said, "The known certainty of the law is the safety of all." I believe that statement is as true today as it was when the gentleman made it. We should try, at all times, to pass laws which are not ambiguous. Let us find out, for instance, whether or not this law is ambiguous.

Also, in connection with that, Mr. President, I want to state that Adam Smith, in his monumental work in connection with system of taxation, which is called "The Wealth of Nations," said, "The tax which each individual is bound to pay ought to be certain and not arbitrary. The time of payment, the manner of payment, the quantity to be paid should all be clear and plain to the contributor and to every other person."

If you gentlemen will get out your bill—it is House Bill No. 1879—and turn to page 9 of the bill, line 7, you will find that it says:

"Upon the use within the Commonwealth of all manufactured tangible personal property purchased or otherwise acquired by the taxpayer after the effective date of this Act payable by the person who uses such property at the time of his first use of such property within the Commonwealth after the effective date of this Act except where a tax imposed under this Act and computed on a basis other than rental value has been paid with respect to such property and credit has not been determined pursuant to Section Two Hundred Three (D)"

That was under subsection (A) of Section 201, which is titled, "Imposition of Tax." In order to find out what Section 203 (D) is, we have to turn to page 20, line 6, where we find section 203 (D): so let us turn over to page 20, line 6, and we find under (D)

"Actual credit in filing the return required by section four hundred twenty (b) a licensee shall be allowed the credit provided for in sections (A) and/or (B) of this section"

Therefore, in order to find out what those are, Section (A) and/or (B) of this section, we have to turn to page 17, line 10. When we turn to that place we find under (a):

"Allowance of credit there shall be allowed to a licensee a credit equal to the tax paid under subsection two hundred three (A) of this act with respect to manufactured tangible personal property"

Evidently, they do not mean "two hundred three (A)", because that has nothing to do with the subject and it must be a misprint. What they do mean is subsection two hundred and one (A), which appears back on page 8. Now when we turn to page 8, lo and behold, we have made the circuit and we are right back where we started from, under "Section 201 Imposition of Tax (A)." We have gone on the merry-go-round, and I defy any lawyer in Pennsylvania to tell me what that means.

Mr. President, it has also been stated here that this bill would be a blow against the industrial growth of our state. I can show you hundreds and hundreds of telegrams and communications which bear witness to that. Mr. President, I hold up here a box containing the communications received on this one bill alone. I presume there are a couple thousand communications in this box and every one of them is against this bill. I will just take time to read one, which is typical of the number that I have received. The letter is from the C. H. Wheeler Manufacturing Company, of Philadelphia, addressed to myself and states:

"Sir:

"The proposed manufacturers' excise tax will work a hardship on us and other medium sized manufacturers.

"Over the next five years we had planned expenditures of $1,600,000 to cover new equipment and plant improvements to meet the growing market to our steam electric generating customers.

"The amount contemplated is almost twice the value of our present plant. If the proposed tax is enacted we will be compelled to review our plans and to consider relocation across State lines."

Mr. President, we do not want to do anything that will injure Pennsylvania industry. We do not take this stand because we happen to love Pennsylvania industry for itself. It has been alleged that we are captives of Pennsylvania manufacturers and so forth, and the Democrats are for the little fellow and we, on this side, are for the big fellows. That does not follow at all and I believe the Democrats know that. Both the manufacturers and the people have to prosper in order for this State to prosper. You must have a healthy atmosphere for industry, in which they may hire individuals to work there and if you have a healthy atmosphere for industry, then labor is going to prosper and progress.

Without industry in Pennsylvania, we all know we would not need all these schools and hospitals which we are so worried about. Certainly, if industry moves out, then you might as well close these places because they will be ghost towns. I do not say that idly; I say that because I feel it myself and this type of legislation would be very detrimental to the industrial growth of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I think that if all had been fair here, we would have saved all of this time. When this bill was called up, I believe Senator Dent should have gotten up and said, "Senator Mahany, I am sorry; we are not able to keep our part of the bargain. I agreed that we would deliver twenty-three votes and we are not able to do so." From the papers, I understand that Senator Bane, in a very rough Democratic caucus yesterday, stated that he could not be fore the bill and that he was either invited out of the Caucus or left voluntarily and went home. They could not deliver their end of it in the final analysis, so there was no use of going further in connection with this thing and they could have very well obviated the necessity for all of this debate. We could have just called the roll and that would have been it.

However, Mr. President, I am glad that we did go into the details about this piece of legislation, because I believe that when the people understand what this type of legislation will do, they will be very thankful to the Republican and Democratic Senators who saw fit to vote against it. I want to say also, in that connection, that we probably are giving the nicest Christmas gift to Governor Leader that he has ever received in his life by not passing this piece of legislation. I believe that it would come to haunt him in years to come.

When I was home a couple of weeks ago, I had occasion to talk to one of my friends who runs a stationery store. He said to me, "What about that manufacturers' tax?" He seemed to be more or less for it at the time. He said, "That will be very nice for me because the manufacturers will pay the tax and I will not have to worry about it, like I did the sales tax." "Well," I said, "now just wait a minute. They only pay the tax on the manufactured items which you buy from Pennsylvania manufacturers. What about the manufacturers in the other States that you buy directly from, who do not pay this tax, and when it comes to settle in your store, if it has not been paid before it gets there, you will have to make a separate inventory of all those items and then you will have to make a return to the State on all the items which you receive from out-of-State manufacturers and remit to the State on each of those items, and keep them all separate so that the State will know which have been paid on and which have not been paid on?" When I told him that, he threw up his hands. I do not believe that many merchants understand they would have to do that.

I think it would be impossible to police this. I do not understand, no matter how many employees you might have, how they could go into these various stores and tell what items the tax has been paid on and what items it had not been paid on.

For those reasons, Senator Yosko and others, I feel that I cannot support this tax. Now it is true, and I want to be honest with you, that since this bill came from the House, there have been those who have tried to get the Republican Caucus to give three votes for this tax, not because the bill was good but because it was not good. They felt that if we saddled Governor Leader with this tax program, the Democrats would never again get into office. For that reason, they were thinking a little bit political and you cannot blame them because after all, the Republicans are out now and they would kind of like to get back in. They feel the only way they will get back in is by some mistakes which the Democrats are making. They felt that if we gave Governor Leader this tax and come January the 1st, if it became effective, under the terms of this bill every manufactured item and every store in Pennsylvania would be subject to the tax so that when Mrs. Jones, in Titusville, went into the five and ten cent store like she used to, after January 1st, and the clerk would sell her an item, he would say, "One cent tax, please." She would say, "Why, Governor Leader told me in his campaign when I voted for him, and in his inaugural address, that I would not have to pay a sales tax anymore." She, therefore, I can imagine, would be very astounded when the clerk would say, "One cent tax, please," when she bought this merchandise.

Therefore, it was thought that the people would rise up against the man who, after he said he would not put a sales tax on them, had really done so and it was a Democratic bill. There was a temptation to do that, and we knew there would have to be three in our Republican Caucus who would have to vote for this bill. My original statement was that I thought perhaps we could go along with this, but at that time I had not seen the bill and I thought that out-of-State manufacturers could be licensed so that they would have to pay it no matter whether the thing was manufactured in California, Ohio or Pennsylvania. However, I found that this could not be done. I then stated that if the Republican Caucus decided they should give three votes for this particular measure, I would offer myself as one of those who could be called upon to give the vote. I more or less felt it was my obligation to do that, being that I was in a position of leadership. I felt that when a captain says, "Charge," he should be the first one over the trench and so I was number one. It was all, however, contingent, first, upon the fact that it would not imperil industry in Pennsylvania, that it would not pyramid the tax to the consumer and that the Republican Caucus would see fit to give three votes for this tax.

Mr. President, since I made that position known, I have received many complaints and many communications from the people who sent me down here and they said, "We did not send you down to be just a tool of the Republican Caucus; we sent you down there because we thought you knew right from wrong. We feel that you know that this bill is wrong and regardless of who instructs you to be for it, why we want you to be against it." Those are the people who, after all, we have to listen to.

I am glad that Senator Yosko did not remove my name from those he is going to mention on his radio program as being two lambs. I guess we are down to two instead of three; he has now eliminated Senator Berger. He is going to say, as I understand, next Sunday that I changed my position because I was scared or was instructed to do so by the wolves of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Mr. Reiter, and the Sun Oil Company representative, Mr. Davis. I want to advise him right now that if he makes that statement on his radio program Sunday night, the radio station and he will have a law suit on their hands come the next day, because I hope to be able to establish that that certainly is not true. I believe it would be libelous and unless he can prove it, I hope that he either has a pretty good insurance policy to cover him on his statements over the radio or that he has dug up sufficient money that he will be able to pay me off on whatever verdict I may be able to obtain in his court down there.

Mr. President, I am finished with what I have to say about this bill. I believe I have shown that the bill is not good for Pennsylvania industry; it is not desired. Certainly we need money and I am the first to admit that Pennsylvania definitely needs money. I said it also last year when those who were running for office on the other ticket said that we did not need money. I am saying now that we do need money, but this is not the type of tax program to give the people of Pennsylvania to raise that money. I hope that sometime soon the Governor and his advisors, and the Members of the House who have charge of originating tax programs, will send over to the Senate a tax program which will be good for the people of Pennsylvania. I assure them then that I will be happy to vote for it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not intend to take any more time this evening trying to justify the position of the Democratic contingent here in the Senate. I just want to state that I understand from the remarks of the gentleman on the other side, Senator Mahany, that he has some inside information which I am not aware of and I would like to ask a few questions.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Mahany, I understood from your remarks that you mentioned the name of Senator Bane. Will you tell us now that you had a definite assurance that Senator Bane was going to vote with the Republicans?

Mr. MAHANY. I did not say that, Senator. I read in this morning's Pittsburgh Post-Gazette the following:

"Bane told the Caucus that he could not favor the excise tax because it would be injurious to the industrial health of the Uniontown-Connellsville area. Particularly affected, it was testified at public hearings on the tax, would be an Anchor Hocking Glass expansion plan in Connellsville. Minority Leader Dent, hotly angry because the Republicans have pulled the rug from under his tax hopes, said tonight that he will not offer anymore amendments to the excise tax in the hope of winning G.O.P. aid in passage."

I took it from that, Senator, that whoever wrote the article, and it was a man by the name of Frank M. Matthews, knew what he was talking about. In looking over there, I do not see Senator Bane here so evidently you do not expect him to show up before the roll call and, therefore, you would not have twenty-three Democratic votes over there.

Mr. DENT. Do you believe what you read in the Post-Gazette?

Mr. MAHANY. Well, some of the time.

Mr. DENT. Is this one of the times you believe it?

Mr. MAHANY. I have no reason to doubt it.

Mr. DENT. Will you consult with Senator Pechan and find out when you believe what they say and when you do not believe what they say?

Mr. MAHANY. Do you expect Senator Bane to be here and vote on this measure?

Mr. DENT. I am going to make a motion right now that we postpone the vote on this bill until Senator Bane can get here. That is how much I believe what I am talking about. I am going to make a motion, when I get through talking to you, that we postpone the vote on this bill until Senator Bane can get here. Will your three votes still be here?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the motion is not before us.

Mr. DENT. I will make the motion, but I am interrogating you, sir. Will the three Republican votes be here when we want them?

Mr. MAHANY. I do not know about that, Senator. There certainly are not three here for this bill now.

Mr. DENT. Then, sir, if there are not three Republican votes, what difference does it make how Senator Bane votes?

Mr. MAHANY. It would not have, Senator. I did not say that it would have made any difference. I said that you could have saved us by just stating that you could not deliver what you agreed to.

Mr. DENT. Who said that I cannot deliver?

Mr. MAHANY. Well, up until now, and I do not think it is going to—

MOTION TO POSTPONE VOTE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1879

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that the vote on House Bill No. 1879, Printer's No. 1228, on final passage, be postponed until Monday, December 19, 1955.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask that only those answering to their name shall be counted.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not mind the names of only those answering to their names being recorded. That is perfectly all right. There are a couple of Members of the Senate within the confines of the Capitol and if you would rather that they all be here, we will just recess until we get them.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, if Senator Bane is in good health, is he not bound to be here unless he has a leave of absence to vote on the bill?

The PRESIDENT. There is a quorum present and unless the question would be raised, he is not bound to be present even though he did not ask for a leave of absence.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I have a further question.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state his question.

Mr. BARR. I yield to my floor leader.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, Senator McMenamin is ill and he has a very serious eye injury. I consulted with the Republican Leader and he told me there would be no votes on their side and so in deference to Senator McMenamin's health, I called him and said, "You do not have to come down." As we all know, and I think I can honestly say, Senator Derk and Senator McMenamin would vote with the Democratic group if they were here. I think Senator Mahany will approve that statement.

The question seems to be as to whether Senator Bane has told the Republicans something that he has not told us. If Senator Bane has advised the Republicans that he is against this bill and is going to vote against it, then Senator Bane ought to be present here to vote that way.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, as I understand it, we have no way of getting Senator Bane here either now or next Monday.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, he will be here on Monday. Do you want to postpone it? He will be here on Monday.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, we have been here a long time and I think the Members are now ready to vote on this bill, Senator.

Mr. DENT. Will you state to this Senate that you had no knowledge whatsoever that Senator Bane was going to vote with the Republican Party?

Mr. MAHANY. I had no knowledge that he was going to vote with the Republican Party.

Mr. DENT. Thank you very kindly.

Mr. President, I think it is an injustice to Senator Bane, after being rewarded for his participation as a Democrat over the years by being elected as a Member of the House of Representatives, by being elected as a Member of the State Senate, as a Member of the Democratic Party, and being elected a judge as a Member of the Democratic Party, that any aspersions whatsoever should be cast upon him that he would leave the friends of long standing, the party in which he has believed in principle and has voted for, and because he is not here tonight that he would vote other than the way he has voted over the years. I do not believe it is fair to Senator Bane, in any way or any manner, to cast aspersions upon his character as a politician, as a statesman and as an American, because you belong to a political party because of the things you believe and feel in. I do not believe that Senator Bane has left the Democratic Party. If anybody questions that, I would be glad to put my motion to a test and allow Senator Bane the opportunity of returning here.

The last word I had with Senator Bane was that he was entering into a new field, a field on the side of law which was different than the field of legislative law; it was in the judicial field, and he felt that he needed as much time as he could have before he took office to be a good judge. He said to me, "Senator, are we or are we not going to vote upon this bill?" The last word I had from the Republican leadership was that the vote was not going to be moved up yesterday, and that we would not vote finally this week. I said to Senator Bane, "Well, as far as I know, you may leave."

That is the only remark I have heard from him, and until he, himself, stands on this Senate floor, which right he has both as a Senator and as an American to vote anyway that he desires, I do not believe that we ought to insinuate that he has voluntarily or in any other method left the Democratic Party at this stage of a vote on a serious measure. Therefore, Senator Mahany, I am awfully sorry that you brought up the subject. It seems to me that he should be respected for whatever position he takes. None of us ought to say whether he would vote "yes" or "no." I do not know how any man is going to vote in here, particularly, until they vote on the floor. To Senator Mahany I will say that unless he agrees on this floor that Senator Bane has made no commitment to the Republican Party to vote with them, I am going to insist that this vote be held up tonight until Senator Bane can be brought back to vote.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, in the first place, the Senator knows that what he has just said is untrue because yesterday, on interrogation, he asked me when we were going to vote on this bill and I told him then that we would vote on it today. I told him that right on the floor of this Senate yesterday when he asked me about the vote. He certainly is following the advice which the older lawyer gave to the young fellow, "If you have neither the facts nor the law on your side, you pound like the Devil on the table," and I think that is what he is doing now.

Mr. President, I did not, at any time, say that Senator Bane was going to vote with the Republicans. All I said was that I understood Senator Bane was not going to be here and vote with the Democrats, and I got that information from the Pittsburgh papers. I see it here in the Evening News which is a Harrisburg paper, and just about every paper I pick up shows it. There is a very nice editorial, I understand, in the Pittsburgh Press, commending Senator Bane for putting the welfare of his State above party politics. I do not know where they got the information, but it is one of those very fine editorials.

Senator Dent, you and I have been talking back and forth, we have talked privately at times, but at no time have I ever divulged on this floor anything that you ever stated to me in private. Let us not go off the deep end here. Let us keep our heads and after this long debate, let us put this bill to a vote and vote it according to the way we said we would before.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, it is true that Senator Mahany, under interrogation, said that they would vote today. It is also true that Senator Mahany advised me, to the best of his knowledge, yesterday afternoon that there would be no Republican votes. However, if he will remember, Senator Bane left before this Session started. Inasmuch as he advised me that there would be no Republican votes, I did not feel that I should inconvenience Senator Bane to come back to the Senate to vote. However, if the Pittsburgh Press wrote a nice editorial about Senator Bane, I just want to advise all of you here now, I probably have received more lines of condemnation in the Pittsburgh Press than any man since Abraham Lincoln. I am sure that if tonight I were to stand on this floor and say or even insinuate that I was willing to kick my benefactors in the face, the Democratic people whom I have known over the years, they would write a beautiful epitaph for me, too. I am sure that I could receive very fine lines.

I remember a man by the name of General "Iron Pants" Johnson, who was the head of the original N.R.A., the Blue Eagle. During the days that "Iron Pants" Johnson was the head of that organization, he received more Devil and more criticism than any man in the same length of time in America. After he left the N.R.A. and started to condemn the N.R.A., he suddenly became the finest American that you ever knew. So, I say to Senator Mahany, do not read too many newspapers because if I believed the newspapers, I would believe that you and Senator Pechan were going to vote for the bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

MOTION TO POSTPONE VOTE ON HOUSE BILL No. 1879 WITHDRAWN

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order to expedite matters, since I realize that no showdown will be had, I would like to withdraw my motion and let the Republicans completely destroy their Party.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I wish to withdraw my second to the motion.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—21

Barr,	Hays,	McMenamin,	Seyler,
Camiel,	Holland,	Miller,	Silver,

RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, December 13, 1955.

Whereas, President Eisenhower, in recently congratulating the first convention of the merged AFL and CIO, said, "labor relations will be managed best when worked out in honest negotiation between employees and unions, without Government's unwarranted interference," and

Whereas, the President said labor "in your new national organization, as well as in your many constituent organizations, you have a great opportunity of making your meetings the world's most effective exhibit of democratic processes," and

Whereas, James P. Mitchell, Secretary of Labor, stated that "the merger of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations is a high moment in American history," and "will be a great force for good in the land," and

Whereas, Secretary Mitchell also said, "I congratulate all America which will benefit from the statesmanship of George Meany and Walter Reuther and the others who made the dream of unity come alive," and

Whereas, Pennsylvania is a great industrial state which has prospered fabulously in bygone decades from its industries, its mining and its commerce, and

Whereas, the more than 4,000,000 persons employed in non-farm pursuits have contributed mightily to this prosperity and this industrial growth, and

Whereas, the AFL and CIO have been in the forefront in attaining the common goal of better wages, better working conditions and protection of the security of working men and women, and

Whereas, the merger of these two great labor organizations will enhance their opportunities to help the public correct the faulty, fortify the good, build stoutly for the future and reinforce the most cherished freedoms of each individual citizen,

Therefore be it resolved That the House of Representatives congratulate the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor and the Pennsylvania Council of Industrial Organizations, their officers and their members, for their part in this great forward step in the American labor movement.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. POLEN requested permission for the Committee on Appropriations to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I just heard you announce a meeting of the Appropriations Committee. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Polen, I realize you are having a committee meeting for an express purpose, to get out a bill which we feel should be passed before we recess.

The thought has occurred to me that today there was referred to the Committee on Appropriations Senate Bill 899, Printer's No. 418, which has been greatly publicized in the newspapers as a quick way for taking care of the desperate situation in our schools. As you know, that bill provides that the state can issue, if necessary, $110 million worth of tax anticipation notes so that the schools can be paid approximately $95 million in subsidy payments and $14 million transportation payments.

My question is, Mr. Polen, realizing the fact that we may have only a two-day session next week, would you mind in your brief meeting bringing this bill up for consideration with the possibility of its being reported to the floor so that we Members will have a chance to look it over and possibly vote on it next week?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the question of the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, I would say that we have not yet received the bill in the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, would it not be possible for the gentleman to go downstairs, sign the book and get the bill, it having been referred to the Appropriations Committee within the last 15 or 20 minutes from the desk?

Mr. POLEN. If the bill is there, I presume we could do that, but I think for a matter as important as this will be, we should have the full membership of the Committee present and I also feel that we should have some expression from the Department of Public Instruction and the other departments affected so we would know whether this would be the proper thing to do.

I personally have not read the bill, all I know is what I have seen in the newspapers.

Mr. JOHNSON. Do you know how many days' session is contemplated for next week?

Mr. POLEN. I believe the Majority Leader stated that we would have a two-day session.

Mr. JOHNSON. If consideration is not given to that bill today, it could not possibly pass the House and be placed on the Governor's desk. Then we will go out of session until the 16th of January and nothing will be done for our schools until the 16th of January or later, isn't that true?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I believe we are subject to recall by the Speaker at any time, and furthermore the bill could be properly considered on Monday, given first reading, passed on Tuesday and even at a session after midnight Tuesday it could be passed.

The mechanics of it are such that I do not think the funds would be immediately available in any event, it takes a considerable period of time.

So far as I am personally concerned, I want to see the schools get their money as soon as they can, but I believe this is a new departure in legislation by making piecemeal appropriations and I think that is a phase that should be given some consideration.

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes, but don't you think, Mr. Polen, in view of the tax impasse that both Republicans and Democrats should put aside any past traditions? If a piecemeal appropriation bill is necessary for education, don't you think that it ought to be passed right now and put on the Governor's desk so that the schools can at least have a token payment on their appropriations?

Mr. POLEN. If the legislation is good, I think it should be placed on the Governor's desk as soon as possible.

Mr. JOHNSON. For your information, the bill I believe is only a page and a half long and it merely says that there is appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction approximately $90 million for school subsidies that are due and then approximately $14 million for transportation payments. Then it goes on to say if the state does not have the money they can proceed and issue, I believe, temporary tax anticipation notes.

Personally it seems to me it is a very salutary piece of legislation right now, particularly in view of the fact that on our calendar a Department of Public Assistance stopgap appropriation of $15 million is going to be passed today, which must be passed in order to keep that function going. Don't you think that this afternoon you should get that bill out of there, look it over and make a call to the Department of Public Instruction, or maybe the Governor's office, and report that bill out on the floor today, so if you want to pass it we can pass it by next Tuesday.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would say in connection with the bill the gentleman is discussing that in my opinion one of the important things that should be paid, and should have been included in this bill, is not in it.

The oldest appropriation due, as I understand it, is the reimbursement for the municipal authorities and the Public School Building Authority. The reimbursements that go to the school districts for those purposes are the oldest amounts that are due, and the districts are required to pay on or before December 31st those payments.

It would seem to me that the financial stability of the bonds which have been issued is important and that is one of the things I wanted to go into more fully so that, if that is correct, as I understand it to be, the bill could be amended to include those amounts which certainly reflect upon the credit of the districts.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Polen, cannot you report the bill out and read it for the first time today and you can have those amendments ready to put in second reading on Monday, if necessary. Could you not do that?

Mr. POLEN. Well, I believe, as I stated in the beginning, that a bill of this importance should have the full membership and all the information available for the members of the Committee when it is being considered. I read in the papers of the discussion in the Senate. It would seem to me that there are some questions raised over there that certainly we should have answered before we act hastily on it.

Mr. JOHNSON. Does the gentleman realize, Mr. Speaker, that if this appropriation bill passes, whether the money be readily available or not, that the school district would be able to go to a bank and borrow money on that appropriation, even though the school district might have exceeded their present borrowing capacity, at a local bank, or the ceiling on their borrowing capacity?

Mr. POLEN. It is my understanding that that is contained in the bill.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Polen, I didn't get your answer.

Mr. POLEN. I say it is my understanding that that is in the bill.

Mr. JOHNSON. Yes, if that's true, if this $110 million appropriation bill passes next Tuesday and even though the state will not have the money to pay the school boards they will be able to go out and borrow money on this anticipated appropriation, so that the school teachers will get their salaries now for Christmas. Isn't that right?

Mr. POLEN. I do not believe that that would be correct.

Mr. JOHNSON. Does the gentleman mean to say that a school board could not borrow on an appropriation made, to which they are entitled, but they haven't yet received it and give an assignment of it, and send the assignment down here to the Department of Public Instruction to be honored?

Mr. POLEN. I again would say that I am not an attorney and I could not answer whether that could be done. I would say, however, that if the legal borrowing power of the district has not been used up that they could at any time borrow.

Mr. JOHNSON. Supposing, Mr. Speaker, that a tax bill was passed this week or next week, and you know it takes time for the machinery of taxation to get rolling, and you believe there wouldn't be any money coming in to the state treasury much before March or April, no matter what kind of a tax bill we passed. Isn't that true?

Mr. POLEN. Not necessarily so, I wouldn't say the amount could come in, but I would say this, Mr. Speaker, that if we had our tax program passed the faith and credit of the Commonwealth would be such with the proper tax program we could sell tax anticipation notes at a much more favorable interest rate than we could under the present conditions. I think that it would be the real solution to the problem of financing the schools and the governmental expenditures of the Commonwealth. I think the first thing we should do is pass the tax program.

Mr. JOHNSON. Then, Mr. Speaker, is that the reason why the gentleman was reluctant to take this bill up and report it to the floor today, because it is Democratic policy that a tax program must pass before we can consider any appropriation to our schools?

Mr. POLEN. No, that is not correct, Mr. Speaker. I was just simply expressing my own thought as to the importance of having a tax program, which I think would alleviate the situation that we are now faced with.

Mr. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, two weeks ago I took the microphone and reiterated the fact that there will be over $900 million in taxes coming into this state of ours whether we pass a tax program or not.

I have pointed out repeatedly the plight of our schools. I have pointed out how we have suggested the way in which we could give money to our schools. We could have given it to them at 12:01 midnight on October 15th when Senate Bill 785 was before us. But no, for some reason word came to the other side, load that bill down with amendments so it will have to go back to the Senate. They are out of session, they won't be able to concur on amendments."

So here we are, Senate 785 has not become a law and the schools have not gotten their money.

There has been referred to Appropriations Committee this morning Senate Bill 899, which would not do the big job that Senate Bill 785 will do, but it would at least appropriate $110 million immediately and provide a certain amount of money within the next month or so so that the schools could be paid.

I say we should do it. We must do it. We should not go out of here next week without passing that bill and putting it on the Governor's desk. I think that we are creating a chaotic situation in our educational system. I want to repeat that we Republicans have been ready and willing to go along on these bills, we have been insisting on them and pleading with you to do it.

We pick up the newspapers day after day and see where word is coming out of departments on Capitol Hill that if it were not for the Republicans the schools would be paid. I say that is a falsehood. We feel that Senate Bill 785 should have been passed on October 15th. We feel that this morning Senate Bill 899 should be released from Committee so that we can vote for it next Tuesday, if necessary.

I think we are creating a false impression amongst our schools that the state is facing virtual bankruptcy, which is a lot of baloney. This is a rich state and we have vast, untouched resources that can be tapped. It is just a matter of agreeing on a tax program. This state is not broke and it never will be broke. We have the greatest natural resources, the greatest manufacturing plants and great systems of transportation. There is nothing wrong with Pennsylvania, it is just that we have not been able to get together on a program. You can still pass this stopgap appropriation for the schools next Tuesday, so that we will give some hope, and faith, and comfort to the school teachers, the school boards and the members of the P.T.A. throughout Pennsylvania.

I think you are playing with a very dangerous thing and you should report that bill to the floor and then give the schools their money. Goodness knows when a tax program will be passed. I know that as for you, you feel the more chaotic it becomes the better off you will be. I say that is not true, because we are making a record here that we have been ready to put the appropriation on the Governor's desk so that the schools, if they cannot have all their money, can have a token payment.

The State Treasury could sell $44 million, or a portion, of the U. S. Government securities that they have. $15 million of those securities would go a long way to relieve the situation between now and the time we can pass another appropriation bill or get a tax program.

That is all I have to say, Mr. Speaker. I plead with you to get that bill out of committee today so that it will be in shape for us to at least look it over on the calendar next week and make up our minds what should be done.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, since interrogation by Mr. Johnson I have secured a copy of Senate Bill 899 and I took from his remarks, and I agreed that it was probably correct, because I had not read the bill, he stated that if this bill was passed the school districts could assign their appropriations and borrow money on them and be able to pay their teachers and other expenses.

After reading the bill I find there is no such provision in the bill and I would again say that if we had passed House Bill 1599 or the Senate had concurred in the amendments to 785, those appropriations would be available to the districts to borrow. This bill does not give them any authority to do that as I see it. There is no specific provision in it to that effect. However, if that is what we are looking for, for appropriations against which the school districts could borrow, that problem could long ago have been solved. We sent 1599 over to the Senate in September, September 15th or 16th, I believe, and we sent over 785 as amended. If those bills had been passed by the Senate the appropriations would have been on the books and it would establish credit to the school districts where they could have gone to the banks and borrowed money. But there is nothing in this bill that gives them any authority to assign their appropriations and secure funds through the banks. They would have the right on open credit if they had the borrowing power to do that and no doubt some of them have.

The gentleman also stated that if 785 would have been passed by this House on the 14th of November and placed on the Governor's desk, the funds would have been available and the schools would have received their money.

Now, Mr. Speaker, that is not correct. It would not have happened. They might have been able by liquidating the short term investments that the gentleman speaks of, which I understand would take possibly up to 30 days, possibly it would have been possible to have made token payments. But it seems to me that if we are going to resort to piecemeal legislation, such as 785 did, and then this bill Senate Bill 899, printer's No. 418, it even further goes into piecemeal, it takes out the instruction and transportation and makes an appropriation for only a part of the fiscal year. As a matter of fact, it only makes it for part of the school year. So I believe that that is a very inadequate way to pass appropriation bills.

Now, I certainly don't subscribe to what the gentleman said that we have,—he didn't use the word conspiracy, but, in effect I believe that is what he meant—we have any conspiracy or any desire to hold up appropriations to make the situation worse. I think that the shoe is on the other foot as far as that is concerned. What we need is a tax program, a tax program that will pay these bills, a tax program that will give us the borrowing power that is necessary to borrow funds. It would seem to me we have borrowed $60 million against a possible $90 million. I understand the first $60 million will be due in May and we are not solving the situation or solving the crisis, we are only postponing it until the time comes when it will be so acute that such a chaotic financial situation is created that it will not be readily solved.

Every day that goes by without a tax program means there are less funds that can be raised in the biennium. I think everyone knows the amount of time that has gone by. It seems to me instead of we on this side, wanting to delay the question of taxes and the question of payments to the districts and to other functions of government that will be made from the taxes, we are not delaying them, we want them. It would seem to me that the shoe is on the other foot, and it is the intention of someone—and this is only my personal opinion—to try and create such a condition. Whether or not it is the intention of anyone, that in effect is what is happening.

Every day we postpone action on a tax program we are laying the seed for a financial crisis.

I agree that Pennsylvania is a great and powerful state with all its vast resources, but you do not pay your bills to the schools and to others out of the natural resources or any other resources of the Commonwealth, you pay them out of tax funds.

I think what we need here in Pennsylvania is a solution of the tax problem. We sent two tax programs over to the Senate, one was rejected and, according to the newspapers, the other one will be. Perhaps we will try another program. In fact, we will have to. What it will be, I do not know. So far as I personally am concerned, I feel that the thing we need more than anything else, more than borrowing however, is to put a tax program on the books of this Commonwealth which will provide the funds to pay for the school appropriations that are due now and for those that will become due.

Mr. JOHNSON. I just want to make a short reply, I believe I am right, Mr. Speaker, that the right to borrow money on appropriations is in the School Code and would not necessarily have to be in this particular bill. It is a standard provision in the School Code and unless this bill would specifically deny the right of the school board to borrow against the anticipated appropriation it would be my opinion that they could borrow on this appropriation if it were made.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the Committee on Appropriations to meet during the session of the House? Is there objection? The Chair hears none, and consent is granted.

RESOLUTION SERIAL NO. 152

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 15 of today's calendar, House Resolution, Serial No. 152.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

House Serial No. 152:

In the House of Representatives, December 7, 1955.

The history of St. Nicholas Parish, Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, dates back one hundred years ago when the parish was first organized in 1855 under the administration of Reverend Fathers Schneider and Sommer, of Ponesdale, Pennsylvania. In 1858 Reverend Peter C. Nagle was appointed the first resident pastor.

The first church structure was located at the corner of South Washington and East South Streets, Wilkes-Barre. The parochial school was built in 1868 on East South Street and in 1873 Mother Pauline and the Christian Charity Sisters came to Wilkes-Barre at the request of Father Nagle and established their Motherhouse at the present St. Ann's Academy while teaching at the school and which they continue to do at the present.

Meanwhile it became evident that the first church building was not large enough and in 1882 the present church was erected in Gothic architecture, of red sandstone, measuring 67 feet by 265 feet, with a steeple rising 90 feet and a seating capacity of 1200. For the building and drive, Father Nagle appealed to each parishioner or a contribution of $1.50 per month for fifty months and at the end of the drive contributions varied from $75.00 to $1,000, with Father Nagle contributing the first $1,000. On May 8, 1883 the corner stone was laid.

After 53 years of priesthood, Monsignor Peter C. Nagle passed away on March 12, 1911.

Reverend Charles J. Goeckel was appointed the second pastor on April 1, 1911 and his first assignment was the erection of the present school building which was dedicated by Bishop Hoban on January 2, 1916. On September 10, 1928 St. Nicholas High School was opened, while the present parish hall was completed on July 12, 1931.

Monsignor Charles J. Gieckel, while on a cruise on the Mediterranean Sea to regain his health, passed away on March 11, 1935.

The present pastor, Reverend Father Cyriac A. Staib was appointed immediately and he has faithfully, diligently and untiringly carried on the tremendous progress of the parish in cooperation with the parishioners for the past twenty years. During his tenure as pastor the parish has purchased some 35 acres of land for a cemetery at havertown, Pennsylvania, repainted and redecorated the church, made major improvements to the rectory and the Sisters convent and raised the standards of education at St. Nicholas school comparable to the best in the State.

The one hundred years of history of St. Nicholas parish was rightfully and proudly celebrated by a Centennial Celebration held from October 15 to the 30th and climaxed by a parish banquet attended by 550 parishioners; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives congratulate Reverend Father Cyriac A. Staib, his predecessors, and all the parishioners of St. Nicholas parish on their One Hundredth Anniversary and for their charitable, industrious, faithful, tireless actions and deeds in fulfilling their obligations as servants of God, and be it further Resolved, That a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to Reverend Father Cyriac A. Staib, pastor of St. Nicholas parish.

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL NO. 145

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 16 of today's calendar, Senate Resolution No. 145.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

Serial No. 145.

In the Senate, September 12, 1955.

Whereas, the laws affecting domestic relations are many and varied, and

Whereas, No one court has jurisdiction to hear and determine the causes arising under such laws; but the parties involved are required to submit to the jurisdiction of several courts, and

Whereas, Such divided jurisdiction in matters of the family relationship leads to delay, expense, multiplicity of actions and confusion; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate.

The jurisdiction of the several courts of the Commonwealth concerning and arising out of the family relationship; and

The feasibility of establishing a Court of Domestic Relations in each judicial district with jurisdiction to hear and determine all such causes, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL NO. 155

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 16 of today's calendar, Senate Resolution Serial No. 155.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

Serial No. 155.

In the Senate, October 24, 1955.

Whereas, Millions of tons of silt deposits have been removed from the Schuylkill River since the Schuylkill River Desilting Project was initiated in 1945, and

Whereas, Silt impounding basins were constructed to facilitate continuous desilting, and

Whereas, The legislation which established the Schuylkill River Desilting Project provides for a return on the cost of the project through the sale of recovered materials; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to ascertain the volume and value of marketable anthracite coal and other marketable materials recovered from the operations of the Schuylkill River Desilting Project; the amount realized by the Commonwealth from the sale of recovered materials; and the circumstances surrounding the sale of such recovered materials.

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL NO. 156

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 16 of today's calendar, Senate Resolution Serial No. 156.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

Serial No. 156

In the Senate, November 14, 1955.

Whereas, August 30 to September 8, 1956, marks the 20th anniversary of the expedition led by Pennsylvania's own Colonel John Armstrong starting at Fort Shirley, Shirleysburg, Huntingdon County, and culminating in the attack and destruction of the Indian town at Kittanning, Armstrong County, and

Whereas, this expedition was the first organized retaliation of the Pennsylvania provincial forces against the French and Indians following General Braddock's disastrous defeat at the Monongahela crossings and gave new hope and protection to the harassed Pennsylvania frontier by inflicting a serious blow upon the hostile Indians, and

Whereas, this expedition was organized and conducted on Pennsylvania soil and was made up of Pennsylvania forces and was led by a noted Pennsylvania commander and constituted a decisive engagement in the French and Indian War which finally determined the fate of Anglo-Saxon civilization in North America; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly congratulates the Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies and the historical societies of Huntingdon, Blair, Cambria, Indiana, and Armstrong counties upon the initiative taken in plans to commemorate this important anniversary in Pennsylvania's great history; and respectfully requests the Governor of the Commonwealth, The Honorable George M. Leader, to prepare and issue a suitable proclamation designating August 30 and September 8, 1956, as Armstrong Expedition Days and calling upon the public parochial, and private schools, and the civic, patriotic, and historical bodies of the Commonwealth to observe with suitable ceremonies and pageants the 200th anniversary of this decisive event in Pennsylvania's heroic past.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

Whereas, The nursing profession plays a vital role in the health care of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and

Whereas, A continued renewal and extension of its ranks through the attraction of young people to the profession is of the first importance to the Commonwealth's future health and welfare; and

Whereas, There are many problems facing the nursing profession which can only be solved through the aid of an informed and sympathetic public; and

Whereas, It is proper and fitting that public attention and recognition should be focused on the great contributions, past and present, that the nursing profession in all its branches has made to Pennsylvania's welfare and security; therefore, be it

Resolved (The House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly designate the week of May 12 in each year as Pennsylvania Nurse Week, in honor of the nurses of the state and in recognition of the vitally important service they have faithfully rendered in the promotion of health and welfare. The Governor is authorized and requested to issue annually a proclama-

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

RESOLUTION No. 13

In the House of Representatives, December 14, 1955.

A grim Christmas and a sad New Year is in prospect for some 2,692 families in the Delaware Valley area, which includes a great number of Philadelphians. The wage earners of those families are going to be fired, many of them before the holidays arrive. The Federal Government is dismissing all these people—U.S. Civilian employees.

ployes—in the name of economy. And before it is too late, before the bad effects of these needless and untimely layoffs spread, it is hoped that the Federal agencies concerned will take swift steps to halt this planned layoff or unemployment.

The firing program lines up as follows: 600 to be dismissed at the Naval Air Materiel Center, 476 at the Naval Shipyard, 1500 affected by plans to move the Army clothing manufacturing plant to the south, and 116 handed dismissal notices at the Philadelphia Ordnance District.

These mass firings would come at a time when employment in this area has lagged. On the basis of latest available figures, unemployment in this area is approximately 6 percent of the total available labor force as compared with the national average of about 3.5 percent. This situation is partially attributable to previous cuts in defense activity in this area which have been far out of proportion to the nation-wide reduction. Thus, there can only be a harmful effect on the Delaware Valley, and, in turn, on the Nation. Loss of income to these families, loss of purchasing power to the region—both will set a grave pattern and a worse precedent.

This is not real Federal economy. As the Chamber of Commerce of Great Philadelphia points out, we all support efforts at real economy, halting needless expenditures, wasteful practices and unnecessary jobs. But many workers affected here have been on the job for thirty years and their work has been considered of major value up to now. What's more, hasty efforts to find jobs for these fired Federal employees elsewhere in the area overlook the fact that many of them may find that by sticking with the Federal Government over the years they are now too old to get the kind of jobs for which their skill and experience qualify them.

Firing or laying off of these workers, who are defense workers, would not only aggravate unemployment in critical areas but also would adversely affect the national defense effort. As an example the Naval Air Materiel Center is engaged in research, designs, manufacture, etc. of naval aviation equipment. It has been earned that private industry has expressed no desire to perform the type of work performed, because of its experimental nature and the small manufacturing quantities involved. Layoffs thus will result in the failure to meet military time schedules, delay in important projects, increase costs and inefficiency; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States, and more specifically members of the Congress representing the Delaware Valley, U. S. A., to take such steps as are necessary to cancel these firings or layoffs, and to reinstate those employees affected thereby or the better of the Delaware Valley and for the United States of America, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States, to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania and New Jersey in the Congress of the United States and to Secretary of Defense, Charles E. Wilson.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. RUBIN and SIGMAN.

RESOLUTION No. 140.

In the House of Representatives, December 13, 1955.

Whereas, 6,000 employes of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation of Lester, Philadelphia, who are members of Local 107, United Electric Workers, Independent, have been idle and out of work for many weeks, and

Whereas, Officers of Local 107, United Electric Workers, have claimed that their members are idle because of a "lockout," and

Whereas, Congressman William Green of Philadelphia, who is Democratic City Chairman, and four other Democratic Congressmen of Philadelphia, have publicly stated their belief that the 6,000 Westinghouse workers have been "locked-out" from their jobs, and

Whereas, Pennsylvania's Unemployment Compensation Law provides for the payment of benefits to workers who have become idle through no fault of their own, including "lock-outs" in labor disputes, and

Whereas, the families of these 6,000 Westinghouse workers have been suffering because the bread winners have been unemployed for a long period,

Therefore be it

Resolved, That this House of Representatives request that John Torquato, Secretary of Labor and Industry, determine at once whether or not it is a fact that these Westinghouse workers are the victims of a "lock-out," and if he finds that they are, immediately declare them eligible for unemployment compensation benefits as the law provides.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 145

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY AND INVESTIGATE LAWS AFFECTING DOMESTIC RELATIONS

In the Senate, September 12, 1955.

Whereas, the laws affecting domestic relations are many and varied, and

Whereas, No one court has jurisdiction to hear and determine the causes arising under such laws; but the parties involved are required to submit to the jurisdiction of several courts, and

Whereas, Such divided jurisdiction in matters of the family relationship leads to delay, expense, multiplicity of actions and confusion; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concerning), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate

The jurisdiction of the several courts of the Commonwealth concerning and arising out of the family relationship; and

The feasibility of establishing a Court of Domestic Relations in each judicial district with jurisdiction to hear and determine all such causes, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 156

Whereas, Millions of tons of silt deposits have been removed from the Schuylkill River since the Schuylkill River Desilting Project was initiated in 1945, and

Whereas, Silt impounding basins were constructed to facilitate continuous desilting, and

Whereas, The legislation which established the Schuylkill River Desilting Project provides for a return on the cost of the project through the sale of recovered materials; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to ascertain the volume and value of marketable anthracite coal and other marketable materials recovered from the operations of the Schuylkill River Desilting Project; the amount realized by the Commonwealth from the sale of recovered materials; and the circumstances surrounding the sale of such recovered materials.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT
RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 157

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

THE ARMSTRONG EXPEDITION AND CON-
GRATULATING THE PENNSYLVANIA FED-ERATION OF HISTORICAL SOCIETIES AND CERTAIN COUNTY HISTORICAL SO-CITIES

In the Senate, November 14, 1955.

Whereas, August 30 to September 8, 1956, marks the 200th anniversary of the expedition led by Pennsylvania's own Colonel John Armstrong starting at Fort Shirley, Shirleysburg, Huntingdon County, and culminating in the attack and destruction of the Indian town at Kittanning, Armstrong County, and

Whereas, this expedition was the first organized retaliation of the Pennsylvania provincial forces against the French and Indians following General Braddock's disastrous defeat at the Monongahela crossings and gave new hope and protection to the harassed Pennsylvania frontier by inflicting a serious blow upon the hostile Indians, and

Whereas, this expedition was organized and conducted on Pennsylvania soil and was made up of Pennsylvania forces and was led by a noted Pennsylvania commander and constituted a decisive engagement in the French and Indian War which finally determined the fate of Anglo-Saxon civilization in North America; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representative concurring), That the General Assembly congratulates the Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies and the historical societies of Huntingdon, Blair, Cambria, Indiana, and Armstrong counties upon the initiative taken in plans to commemorate this important anniversary in Pennsylvania's great history; and respectfully requests the Governor of the Commonwealth, The Honorable George M. HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE CONCURRENT

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

DESIGNATING THE WEEK OF MAY 12 AS PENNSYLVANIA NURSE WEEK

In the Senate, November 21, 1955.

Whereas, The nursing profession plays a vital role in the health care of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and

Whereas, A continued renewal and extension of its ranks through the attraction of young people to the profession is of the first importance to the Commonwealth's future health and welfare; and

Whereas, There are many problems facing the nursing profession which can only be solved through the aid of an informed and sympathetic public; and

Whereas, It is proper and fitting that public attention and recognition should be focused on the great contributions, past and present, that the nursing profession in all its branches has made to Pennsylvania's welfare and security; therefore, be it

Resolved (The House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly designate the week of May 12 in each year as Pennsylvania Nurse Week, in honor of the nurses of the state and in recognition of the vitally important service they have faithfully rendered in the promotion of health and welfare. #### COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 723, PRINTER'S No. 266, RETURNED WITHOUT APPROVAL

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, December 15, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 723, Printer's No. 266, entitled "An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled 'An act relating to the public school system including certain provisions applicable as well to private and parochial schools amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto' authorizing joint school committees to manage designated functions of joint schools or departments."

This bill would amend Section 1707 of the School Code of 1949, the Act of March 10, 1949, P. L. 30, by further providing that the management of a joint school may be done by several joint committees instead of one such committee to perform the functions specifically delegated to it.

The addition of this provision could divest the existing joint committee of control over the several various functions and place such control in one of several joint committees. This would result in a complete lack of uniformity as to the circumstances under which certain functions would be delegated.

The fundamental policy of the Constitution of Pennsylvania and the Public School system is to obtain as much uniformity as is feasible for the government and conduct of the schools to obtain education for the children.

It might also prove to be an opening wedge to demands of some school directors to create separate committees because of an existing grievance or disagreement.

In such delegation of functions there is always the circumstance of overlapping of jurisdiction without a clear line of demarcation on the firing activities which could only result in confusion and defeat the object to be attained.

I do not believe that the amendment proposed by this bill affords a solution to benefit the existing system. Furthermore, the possible abuses that may result may far outweigh any advantage that may be gained by the amendment proposed in this bill.

For these reasons, the bill is not approved.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

He also presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, Pa., December 19, 1955.
To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I am compelled by conscience to address you about an obligation you and I share as representatives of the people who elected us. This obligation is the most excruciating issue in Pennsylvania today.

The decision is ours, and it is upon us. We must provide for the care and the treatment of the most helpless of our fellow human beings—the mentally ill and the feeble-minded citizens of Pennsylvania.

You and I represent the people. To do so is our duty and also our opportunity. In our hearts we know that this duty and opportunity carry with them a heavy responsibility. We must not permit petty partisan politics to stand in the way of discharging this responsibility.

Some things, as we all know, are above and beyond politicking. The wretched plight of fifty thousand of our fellow citizens is certainly one of these things. I feel we must think about this matter together.

Our decision—yours and mine—about taxes and appropriations and budgets and allocations will shape the life of all our people now locked up in mental institutions. We will either solve their situation or we will block solution to the mounting crisis in our mental hospitals.

I have submitted a mental health program and a request for funds. Yours is the decision to create a future for fifty thousand people who are patients in the Commonwealth's mental hospitals.

No group of citizens is so directly and intimately affected by your actions as this group, whose sorry situation makes them the complete responsibility and the wards of the State of Pennsylvania.

Because I believe this with all my heart, I am here to plead their case. In a most particular sense, I ask that all of you take unto yourself this special constituency. Unless you do so, few voices will speak in their behalf.

Most of our citizens speak for themselves. Labor and management have voices you hear in this very Chamber. Spokesmen appear before your committees. Legislative decisions usually follow whenever these voices accent their purposes to you. Social agencies and organizations are articulate for their own goals. The educational groups of Pennsylvania present their recommendations for laws which they think will make life more worth-while.

All this is to the good. A people's government must respond to the sentiments of the people it serves. But there is one group which needs special advocates. It does not send from among its own members any spokesmen to this Chamber. These people do not walk in the cloakrooms and halls. They have never buttonholed a single one of you in their own behalf. They have no effective voice. They do not constitute an organized vote. They have no votes. They are no bloc. Their own actions are used to condemn them. They are counted among their own enemies. They are the speedily ignored and casually dismissed. They are the dispossessed in the forums of public action. They are the unaided and neglected—if you won't help them.

Most of us have a horror of mental illness. It is irrational. We cannot understand it. Almost always we take the easy way out. We shrug uneasily, and we say "There but for the grace of God, go I." Then we turn and look the other way.

For too long authorities have accepted an apparent hopelessness about mental illness. No matter how fast

State hospitals have been built or how many attendants and doctors have been sought, it seems the waiting list of patients never gets any shorter. What is more, mental hospitals actually are put out in the country. Physically, they are removed from the society of rational men. They are rejected; they are even despised. Out of sight, out of mind—the problems of mental illness are simply ignored.

Mental illness is no personal responsibility for which a human being must be ashamed. It is society's responsibility—and in most cases society's utter shame.

As I have said, intensive treatment which will cure our mentally ill is not a political issue for Pennsylvania. I ask you today to lift your sights to those people locked behind institutional walls. Pledge them the support they deserve. Specifically, I ask you to avoid any impulsive curtailment in the $26,000,000 additional allocation I have asked this year for the Welfare Department to carry out its program. These funds are desperately required to get help for people who need it—for more doctors more nurses, more attendants, more therapy and drugs. With this help, some of our mentally ill may walk again as human beings among their fellows.

The passage of House Bill No. 670 by the General Assembly demonstrated your interest in this non-political objective. You have said, "yes" to the reorganization of our system in dealing with the mentally ill. Now, you cannot hamstring what you have accomplished by withholding the funds to put the flesh of accomplishment upon the framework of purpose. Mental illness is the number one health problem of the United States. It is also the number one health problem of Pennsylvania. In the Nation and in this State we are not making much progress in abating insanity and in taking care of our fellow citizens who are afflicted.

This afternoon, seven hundred thousand Americans are in mental hospitals. They occupy 54% of all available hospital beds in the entire Nation.

In 1934 the chance of being hospitalized for mental illness was one in twenty. Today it is one in ten.

About one in every four families now living in the United States will know some time during this generation the shattering effects of mental illness.

Although recent improvements in drugs have brought about remarkable advances in treating patients, the problems of mental illness persist in getting larger. They do not diminish. A recent report of the Model Reporting Area disclosed that mental hospital populations are growing at the rate of 15.2% every six years. While the total population of our country jumped only 20% in the last ten years, the number of mental patients in our hospitals leaped 44%.

Translated into concrete terms for Pennsylvania, this means that 5% of the current population will need psychiatric service and some kind of institutional care one day before they die.

What do you and I have to do about Pennsylvania's mentally ill?

We must anticipate, during our generation, a potential case-load of half a million mental patients. We must face up to the fact that eight thousand retarded children, who now need institutional care, will not get it because institutions are disgracefully overcrowded and meagre professional staffs are unreasonably overworked. If we continue only to give custody without treatment, the Commonwealth will have to build additional hospital beds that cost anywhere from five thousand to twenty thousand dollars each.

This is the reason we must embark upon an intensive curative program. Pennsylvania must work not only to overcome overcrowding, but to prevent it.

Today our mental hospitals handle fifty thousand patients in twenty-two institutions. This is only one-tenth of the potential population we may have to handle in the near future. Yet, today institutions are obsolete, overcrowded, overstrained in facilities, and undermanned with professional staff. The Commonwealth will most certainly need more mental hospitals in another ten years; but if we continue to handle patients just as sub-human creatures who have to be locked up, the demand will be unmeetable.

We must not delude ourselves that there is salvation from this responsibility in private institutions. Of the seven hundred thousand human beings who now live in the hideous twilight world of mental derangement, 96% are in public hospitals supported by the taxpayer. And 90% of all mental patients are in State institutions.

To maintain this colossal program of custody, the 48 states spend more than a billion dollars every year. Pennsylvania allocated one penny out of every tax dime during the last biennium to mental health—just as a holding proposition.

For every patient who does not leave the institution during the early stages of his illness, the average hospital stay becomes not a matter of a few days, but a horrifying twenty-six years. The average patient during the lifetime of hospitalization costs the State of Pennsylvania $28,000.00. Suppose for a moment that the maximum patient population in our institutions were to stabilize at our present figure of fifty thousand, that would mean that the Commonwealth would spend for a program of mere stagnant custody at least one billion four hundred million dollars during the lifetime of this group alone.

These facts are not pleasant. They are grim and they are disturbing. But they are the basic argument for the appropriations the Welfare Department is asking. The money sought is a sound investment to prevent greater taxation in years to come. More money now means less taxes then. Only when the necessary funds are expended now for increased professional staff, can be avoid the inevitable conclusions that hospitals will grow and grow in patient census. Only when patients are intensively treated—immediately upon admission—can we hope to decrease the forlorn cargo of human beings confined to a lifetime of hopelessness.

Every state that has embarked on such a program has soon acknowledged that the best treatment turns out to be the cheapest. The initial cost is offset by a soaring rate of patient discharge.

But statistics aren't really the point. I came to understand this more than ever when last month, I toured the mental institutions in Pennsylvania. Then I learned, firsthand, the quandry of our superintendents who have to tell distraught parents that their retarded child cannot be taken into an institution because, under present conditions, it will take twenty years just to exhaust the waiting list.

I saw collapsing auditoriums, corroded beams, and buckled kitchen floors. I looked at parts of overcrowded institutions abandoned because repairs couldn't be paid for. I learned unpasteurized milk was given children. I learned that in one institution, orange juice is so precious that it is literally spooned out only to those children who need it most.

I am not asking you today to make the comfortable more comfortable. I am not asking for extravagance. I plead for justice. There is no possibility of extravagance when the daily cost of a patient's full maintenance is less than $3.00. There is no fancy meals, when food is budgeted at fifty cents a day.

In Pennsylvania there are institutions for the mentally ill in which there are no psychiatrists. There are wards in one of our institutions built for 118 patients, now housing a motley crowd of 260. There are cots in the corridors and alcoves and in dayrooms—just to provide a place to lie down. There are deficiencies in staff. The American Psychiatric Association allots one physician to every ninety-five patients. In one institution I visited, there was one physician for 290 patients; and in another, there was no psychiatrist for 1400 patients.

Human dignity is not for sale. But the things that permit human dignity are for sale if the funds are at hand. I have seen overcrowding, understaffing, obsolescence, and unimaginative custodial care.

I now believe that if the facts are known, the people of Pennsylvania will demand improvement. I believe, further, that if the funds are not provided to carry out a reasonable program for our mentally ill, the people of Pennsylvania will vote out of office any public official who shirks this cause.

What I have seen, what the committee leaders who traveled with me saw, is what you will now see. I am submitting as part of my message to you a documentary film that was taken when I made this tour. It will show you, I hope, what Pennsylvania can do and should do and must do if we are to give to our citizens who have lost touch with reality some element of care and cure. Somehow, we must restore to them some aspect of the worth they as human beings have in the eyes of God and deserve in the eyes of their fellowman.

GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. This communication will be spread upon the Legislative Journal.

INTERROGATION

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Senator Haluska.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HALUSKA. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Haluska, in a column which you write for the Johnstown Observer, under the date of December 15, 1955, you were quoted as saying, relative to the sales tax, the following:

"One can readily understand why the Republican Party and big business is definitely insisting upon a sales tax. Their past experience under Fine's administration has proven to them that such a program is money in the bank for big business.

"This was proven when big department and dime stores were charging 1% on every sale over a dime which on small items mounted as high as 8c on a dollar which is collected by them and they in turn file a complete report of their gross business and reported 1c on a dollar or made a clear profit of 7c on collecting the sales tax.

"Now, under this new proposal, if a sales tax was adopted, it would have to be at the rate of 4c and on the same basis of collection, big business would make 32c on a dollar sale if purchased in small lots and they would turn in the 4c rather than the 32c."

Is that a correct version of what you had in your column?

Mr. HALUSKA. That is what I wrote, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Would you mind telling us how, even under a four per cent tax, they would be able to collect thirty-two cents on a dollar sale?

Mr. HALUSKA. On the same basis as now, when they collect eight cents on a one cent sales tax. I stated in my column that I knew of merchants who were collecting a cent on every sale over ten cents. So far as the mercantile taxes were concerned, they reported their returns on the basis of one dollar.

Mr. MAHANY. Legally, they were not supposed to do that. For the purpose of argument, let us take for example that on a twelve cent sale, they collected a one cent tax. If you had eight twelve-cent sales in a dollar, they practically would have collected eight cents on a dollar. For the purpose of argument, let us say that you are going to have a four per cent sales tax and you had a twelve-cent sale. How much tax would you collect on a twelve-cent sale?

Mr. HALUSKA. On a twelve-cent sale?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, at a four per cent tax.

Mr. HALUSKA. Four cents on each twelve cent sale.

Mr. MAHANY. Are you sure that four per cent of twelve cents is four cents?

Mr. HALUSKA. Eight cents on each twelve cent sale, at four per cent, would be thirty-two cents.

Mr. MAHANY. On a twelve-cent sale, at a four per cent sales tax, how much would the merchant collect from you?

Mr. HALUSKA. How much would he collect?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes.

Mr. HALUSKA. Sixteen cents.

Mr. MAHANY. On a twelve-cent sale?

Mr. HALUSKA. On a twelve-cent sale.

Mr. MAHANY. How much tax would you pay at four per cent? In other words, would you please tell us how much four per cent of twelve cents is?

Mr. HALUSKA. I based my story on the same basis that you had in your sales tax; a one cent sales tax on every twelve cents sold.

Mr. MAHANY. If you collected four cents on a twelve cent sale, that would be about a thirty-three and one-third per cent tax, would it not?

Mr. HALUSKA. I said thirty-two cents. If you want to break it down to a percentage basis, you might be right, yes.

Mr. MAHANY. Is not four percent of twelve cents even less than one cent?

Mr. HALUSKA. Four per cent?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, four per cent of twelve cents would be less than a half a cent, would it not?

Mr. HALUSKA. I was not discussing it on a percentage basis. I was discussing it in my column by actual dollars and cents. If you read it all over again, on the same basis, they could collect thirty-two cents on eight separate sales.

Mr. MAHANY. Then, you would have a thirty-two per cent sales tax instead of a four per cent sales tax. Is that correct?

Mr. HALUSKA. I say they could collect thirty-two cents.

Mr. MAHANY. If they had a four per cent sales tax, Senator Haluska, and you bought an item for twelve cents, how much tax would you expect to pay the merchant on that twelve cent item, at four per cent?

Mr. HALUSKA. At four per cent?

Mr. MAHANY. Four per cent of twelve cents is how much?

Mr. HALUSKA. About one cent.

Mr. MAHANY. It is less than one cent.

Mr. HALUSKA. About a half of a cent.

Mr. MAHANY. Inasmuch as we do not have any coins which are less than a cent, you would probably pay one cent then on a twelve-cent item. Is that right?

Mr. HALUSKA. That is right.

Mr. MAHANY. If you had eight purchases of twelve cents, which would amount to less than a dollar, you would multiply that penny, then, by eight, would you not? You would pay eight cents then on eight twelve-cent sales.

Mr. HALUSKA. So what?

Mr. MAHANY. Is that right?

Mr. HALUSKA. I am asking you. I do not know what you are driving at.

Mr. MAHANY. If you paid one cent on a twelve-cent sale or purchase, eight twelve-cent sales would be eight times one cent or eight cents. Is that right?

Mr. HALUSKA. That is right.

Mr. MAHANY. Then, Senator, you were wrong in saying that thirty-two cents was going to be collected on a dollar.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, will the gentleman yield for just a moment?

The PRESIDENT. Which gentleman?

Mr. LANE. Both of them.

Mr. President, I think this is a rather silly argument. In the first place, we have not passed a four per cent sales tax. We do not know how it is going to work. We do not know whether there is going to be a four cent tax on every eleven-cent item. We do not know whether there is going to be a one cent tax. As a matter of fact, we do not know anything as far as the Majority Party is concerned.

I think, Mr. President, that both of these gentlemen are taking up the time of the Senate at a time when we have much more important business before us. I think we have a lot more important business than standing here listening to a couple of fellows arguing about something that is actually nonexistent today.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order is very well taken, considering the time of the evening.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I think it is very important that any items which are written in newspapers, by Senators, and which are clearly erroneous in arithmetic, should be pointed out to the Senator that he made an error so that he would have a chance to correct it.

I say that Senator Haluska's arithmetic is a little bad when he figures that a four per cent tax on eight twelve-cent purchases would amount to thirty-two cents. It would not amount to thirty-two cents even at four per cent. It would only amount to eight cents on eight twelve-cent purchases. When he says in his column that it would amount to thirty-two cents, then he is certainly in error. Thirty-two cents on a dollar sale would make it a thirty-two per cent sales tax, and not a four per cent sales tax.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am not too free to admit that I made a mistake. I have no knowledge as to what basis may be used in collection if we have a sales tax. However, if I made a mistake, it is only because I read so much in the Pittsburgh newspapers about myself all year that I am confused as much as they are.

You cannot be here in the Senate and go back home and read about yourself and be confused and do otherwise. If I am confused, it is because of the Pittsburgh newspapers.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I think that all of use were impressed today by the Governor's speech and, also, the movies which were shown over there. We are now on the verge of going home and, most of us anyway, worshiping the birth of our Saviour. I think, too, that probably we should be charitable. I think we should take into consideration what we have seen today and that we should make one New Year's resolution. I think that when we come back here, we should resolve to try to discontinue this political bickering and get down to the business of taking care of these unfortunate children who are in Polk and these unfortunate persons who have lost their reasoning and who are in our State institutions.

After viewing that movie today, Mr. President, I was moved to the point of tears because I thought of the deplorable situation that exists in Polk. I am particularly interested in that, Mr. President, because in our county of Washington, we have a number of cerebral palsy cases. We have tried, throughout the years, to place these children in a proper institution. Our county has placed the small children up in St. Joseph's, in Scranton, until such time as they are three years of age. After they are three years of age, gentlemen of the Majority side, I want you to know that St. Joseph's demands that they be removed from that institution. They are then taken back home. Then, we try again to get the children into Polk.

If we ever do anything in our terms of office, as Members of the Senate, I think the thing to do would be to appropriate the proper money so that we can do something to help these unfortunates. At least, I think we should do something to help these poor unfortunate kids. I have been informed that if these children receive the proper medical attention in their youthful years, they might be rehabilitated.

Therefore, Mr. President, I say to the Members of the Senate that we should remember what we saw today. When we come back here, let us try to do a job, at least for the unfortunate who are in our mental institutions.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I heartily agree with the Senator when he says that we should do something for Polk or have another school such as Polk in the western part of the State of Pennsylvania. I know about this situation at Firsthand because I have visited the Polk State School on numerous occasions, and I know of the overcrowded conditions there. I know that every Senator in the western part of Pennsylvania has experienced difficulty in obtaining admission for youngsters who really need to go to Polk State School.

Mr. President, I personally, and I believe I can speak for every Republican Senator on this side, am willing to do two things before this Session adjourns sine die; first, that we are willing to increase the amount of the ceiling for the General State Authority in sufficient amount to take care of another school such as Polk, to be located in the western part of the State and also a sufficient increase to take care of equipping that school; and, secondly, that we are in favor of appropriating sufficient funds so that that school or institution may be conducted in the western part of the State. I think everyone of us over here are one hundred per cent for that program.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I wish to thank the Majority Leader for his statements. I hope that he is pledging the Members of the Republican Senate to go along with his program.

Mr. President, I would also suggest to the Majority Leader that he make a New Year's resolution to make up his mind to vote for a tax program when we come back after the first of the year.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I have to disagree with the Majority Leader. I believe we passed a resolution calling for the construction of an institution, such as Polk, in central Pennsylvania. We have Polk in the western part of the State and Pennhurst in the eastern part of the State. I, therefore, think we should have another institution and locate it in the central part of the State where it would be much more accessible than Polk.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, just to keep the record straight for now and for the future, I would like to state how I feel about the decision made by the Chair. The gentleman from Crawford rose in place to question me about one of my articles wherein I had mentioned his name. He had a perfect right to interrogate me because his name was mentioned in my column, and I had a perfect right to answer him. I resent deeply the remarks made by the gentleman from Washington County when he rose in place and stated that we were out of order, because there was more important business at hand. I recent the decision of the Chair in agreeing with the gentleman from Washington County.

I feel that if my name is mentioned in a newspaper, I have a perfect right to interrogate the gentleman who may have mentioned my name. Senator Mahany had a perfect right to question me about my column.

Mr. President, I know your action was not meant to insult anybody, but I think that in the future I shall insist that I be heard if I want to be heard.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to get into this private feud, but I just want to say to Senator Mallery that Senator Mahany has made his reservations and has been working very diligently for many years and now that he is an active member of the G.S.A., his efforts have been on behalf of a new institution in western Pennsylvania. However, I am sure that out where we come from, Senator Mallery, we consider everything west of the Susquehanna as west, and your District is pretty much west in what we are thinking about.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would like to reply to the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, that in agreeing with the gentleman from Washington, the Chair recognizes the right of a Member to speak or to interrogate or to be interrogated at any time. However, the Senator from Crawford did not ask for unanimous consent or a question of personal privilege, and that is the reason the Chair ruled as he did and also because it is getting rather late.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do no proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 499, entitled:

The House met at 3:00 p. m.

PRAYER

The Chaplin, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, York, offered the following prayer:

O God, our Father, grant that as we enter the gateway of this Christmastide we shall experience a new thrill and joy because in Thy coming in Christ we see the breaking of the Divine into human history.

Teach us, Thou Gentle Christ, who art all compassion, pure unbounded love to look at humanity with new eyes of wonder and reverence. Take from us impatience, disdain, contempt, so that we do not look at our fellow-men through the eyes of criticism and see only drabness, mediocrity, commonplaceness and irritating stupidity. Open our eyes that we may see the hidden heroisms of Thy children.

Now do Thou make our Christmas truly blessed and happy. Give Thyself unto us without measure, and help us to give ourselves to Thee in complete surrender, and to our fellow men in unselfish devotion and charity. We ask it for Thy name's sake. Amen.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I take pleasure in presenting His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, Honorable George M. Leader.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Members of the General Assembly, I have the honor and privilege of presenting His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, Honorable George M. Leader.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR GEORGE M. LEADER

Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I am compelled by conscience to address you about an obligation you and I share as representatives of the people who elected us. This obligation is the most excruciating issue in Pennsylvania today.

The decision is ours, and it is upon us. We must provide for the care and the treatment of the most helpless of our fellow human beings—the mentally ill and the feeble-minded citizens of Pennsylvania.

You and I represent the people. To do so is our duty and also our opportunity. In our hearts we know that this duty and opportunity carry with them a heavy responsibility. We must not permit petty partisan politics to stand in the way of discharging this responsibility.

Some things, as we all know, are above and beyond politicking. The wretched plight of fifty thousand of our fellow citizens is certainly one of these things. I feel we must think about this matter together.

Our decision—yours and mine—about taxes and appropriations and budgets and allocations will shape the life of all our people now locked up in mental institutions. We will either solve their situation or we will block solution to the mounting crisis in our mental hospitals.

I have submitted a mental health program and a request for funds. Yours is the decision to create a future for fifty thousand people who are patients in the Commonwealth's mental hospitals.

No group of citizens is so directly and intimately affected by your actions as this group, whose sorry situation makes them the complete responsibility and the wards of the State of Pennsylvania.

Because I believe this with all my heart, I am here to plead their case. In a most particular sense, I ask that all of you take unto yourselves this special constituency. Unless you do so, few voices will speak in their behalf.

Most of our citizens speak for themselves. Labor and management have voices you hear in this very Chamber. Spokesmen appear before your committees. Legislative decisions usually follow whenever these voices accent their purposes to you. Social agencies and organizations are articulate for their own goals. The educational groups of Pennsylvania present their recommendations for laws which they think will make life more worth-while.

All this is to the good. A people's government must respond to the sentiments of the people it serves. But there is one group which needs special advocates. It does not send from among its own members any spokesmen to this Chamber. These people do not walk in the cloak-rooms and halls. They have never buttonholed one of you in their own behalf. They have no effective voice. They do not constitute an organized vote. They have no votes. They are no bloc. Their own actions are used to condemn them. They are counted among their own enemies. They are the speedily ignored and casually dismissed. They are the dispossessed in the forums of public action. They are the unaided and neglected—if you won't help them.

Most of you have a horror of mental illness. It is irrational. We cannot understand it. Almost always we take the easy way out. We shrug uneasily, and we say "There but for the grace of God, go I." Then we turn and look the other way.

For too long authorities have accepted an apparent hopelessness about mental illness. No matter how fast State hospitals have been built or how many attendants and doctors have been sought, it seems the waiting list of patients never gets any shorter. What is more, mental hospitals actually are put out in the country. Physically, they are removed from the society of rational men. They are rejected; they are even despised. Out of sight, out of mind—the problems of mental illness are simply ignored.

Mental illness is no personal responsibility for which a human being must be ashamed. It is society's responsibility—and in most cases society's utter shame.

As I have said, intensive treatment which will cure our mentally ill is not a political issue for Pennsylvania. I ask you today to lift your sights to those people locked behind institutional walls. Pledge them the support they deserve. Specifically, I ask you to avoid any impulsive curtailment in the $26,000,000 additional allocation I have asked this year for the Welfare Department to carry out its program. These funds are desperately required to get help for people who need it—for more doctors, more nurses, more attendants, more therapy and drugs. With this help, some of our mentally ill may walk again as human beings among their fellows.

The passage of House Bill No. 670 by the General Assembly demonstrated your interest in this non-political objective. You have said, "yes" to the reorganization of our system in dealing with the mentally ill. Now, you cannot hamstring what you have accomplished by withholding the funds to put the flesh of accomplishment upon the framework of purpose. Mental illness is the number one health problem of the United States. It is also the number one health problem of Pennsylvania. In the Nation and in this State we are not making much progress in abating insanity and in taking care of our fellow citizens who are afflicted.

This afternoon, seven hundred thousand Americans are in mental hospitals. They occupy 54% of all available hospital beds in the entire Nation.

In 1934 the chance of being hospitalized for mental illness was one in twenty. Today is it one in ten.

About one in every four families now living in the United States will know some time during this generation the shattering effects of mental illness.

Although recent improvements in drugs have brought about remarkable advances in treating patients, the problems of mental illness persist in getting larger. They do not diminish. A recent report of the Model Reporting Area disclosed that mental hospital populations are growing at the rate of 15.2% every six years. While the total population of our country jumped only 20% in the last ten years, the number of mental patients in our hospitals leaped 44%.

Translated into concrete terms for Pennsylvania, this means that 5% of the current population will need psychiatric service and some kind of institutional care one day before they die.

What do you and I have to do about Pennsylvania's mentally ill?

We must anticipate, during our generation, a potential case-load of half a million mental patients. We must face up to the fact that eight thousand retarded children, who now need institutional care, will not get it because institutions are disgracefully overcrowded and meagre professional staffs are unreasonably overworked. If we continue only to give custody without treatment, the Commonwealth will have to build additional hospital beds that cost anywhere from five thousand to twenty thousand dollars each.

This is the reason we must embark upon an intensive curative program. Pennsylvania must work not only to overcome overcrowding but to prevent it.

Today our mental hospitals handle fifty thousand patients in twenty-two institutions. This is only one-tenth of the potential population we may have to handle in the near future. Yet, today institutions are obsolete, overcrowded, overstrained in facilities, and undermanned with professional staff. The Commonwealth will most certainly need more mental hospitals in another ten years; but if we continue to handle patients just as sub-human creatures who have to be locked up, the demand will be unmeetable.

We must not delude ourselves that there is salvation from this responsibility in private institutions. Of the seven hundred thousand human beings who now live in the hideous twilight world of mental derangement, 96% are in public hospitals supported by the taxpayer. And 90% of all mental patients are in State institutions.

To maintain this colossal program of custody, the 48 states spend more than a billion dollars every year. Pennsylvania allocated one penny out of every tax dime during the last biennium to mental health—just as a holding proposition.

For every patient who does not leave the institution during the early stages of his illness, the average hospital stay becomes not a matter of a few days, but a horrifying twenty-six years. The average patient during the lifetime of hospitalization costs the State of Pennsylvania $28,000.00. Suppose for a moment that the maximum patient population in our institutions were to stabilize at our present figure of fifty thousand, that would mean that the Commonwealth would spend for a program of mere stagnant custody at least one billion four hundred million dollars during the lifetime of this group alone.

These facts are not pleasant. They are grim and they are disturbing. But they are the basic argument for the appropriations the Welfare Department is asking. The money sought is a sound investment to prevent greater taxation in years to come. More money now means less taxes then. Only when the necessary funds are expended now for increased professional staff, can we avoid the inevitable conclusion that hospitals will grow and grow in patient census. Only when patients are intensively treated—immediately upon admission—can we hope to decrease the furlorn cargo of human beings confined to a lifetime of hopelessness.

Every state that has embarked on such a program has soon acknowledged that the best treatment turns out to be the cheapest. The initial cost is offset by a soaring rate of patient discharge.

But statistics aren't really the point. I came to understand this more than ever when, last month, I toured the mental institutions in Pennsylvania. Then I learned, first-hand, the quandry of our superintendents who have to tell distraught parents that their retarded child cannot be taken into an institution because, under present conditions, it will take twenty years just to exhaust the waiting list.

I saw collapsing auditoriums, corroded beams, and buckled kitchen floors. I looked at parts of overcrowded institutions abandoned because repairs couldn't be paid for. I learned unpasteurized milk was given children. I learned that in one institution, orange juice is so precious that it is literally spooned out only to those children who need it most.

I am not asking you today to make the comfortable more comfortable. I am not asking for extravagance. I plead for justice. There is no possibility of extravagance when the daily cost of a patient's full maintenance is less than $3.00. There are no fancy meals, when food is budgeted at fifty cents a day.

In Pennsylvania there are institutions for the mentally ill in which there are no psychiatrists. There are wards in one of our institutions built for 118 patients, now housing a motley crowd of 260. There are cots in the corridors and alcoves and in dayrooms—just to provide a place to lie down. There are deficiencies in staff. The American Psychiatric Association allots one physician to every ninety-five patients. In one institution I visited, there was one physician for 290 patients; and in another, there was no psychiatrist for 1400 patients.

Human dignity is not for sale. But the things that permit human dignity are for sale if the funds are at hand. I have seen overcrowding, understaffing, obsolescence, and unimaginative custodial care.

I now believe that if the facts are known, the people of Pennsylvania will demand improvement. I believe, further, that if the funds are not provided to carry out a reasonable program for our mentally ill, the people of Pennsylvania will vote out of office any public official who shirks this cause.

What I have seen, what the committee leaders who traveled with me saw, is what you will now see. I am submitting as part of my message to you a documentary film that was taken when I made this tour. It will show you, I hope, what Pennsylvania can do and should do and must do if we are to give to our citizens who have lost touch with reality some element of care and cure. Somehow, we must restore to them some aspect of the worth they as human being have in the eyes of God and deserve in the eyes of their fellowman.

Documentary pictures depicting conditions in the Mental Hospitals in Pennsylvania shown to the Joint Assembly.

The LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR. Governor Leader, on behalf of the Members of the General Assembly I want to thank you for your message today and assure you it will receive most careful consideration.

The Committee on the part of the Senate and the House will now escort His Excellency, the Governor, to his Chambers.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 323 has been sponsored by Dr. Sarraf and Mr. Kamyk of Allegheny County.

I have not had an opportunity to discuss with them whether they intend to speak on the bill, but I do want the House to be aware of the fact that this is a piece of legislation which is designed to give some greater measure of control over the use of so-called B-B guns.

As all of us know, there have been many, many accidents over the years where one child carelessly sometimes maliciously, used one of these guns and injured another child, especially when the missile hit the eye.

There have been bills introduced from session to session which would have outlawed completely the use of B-B guns. This bill does not do that. It sets up a method by which youngsters can be kept under control, it allows them to use these guns at ranges which are authorized by local municipalities. While I am not too familiar with all of the details, I understand it is modeled after a plan which is in use in Detroit, Michigan, and which apparently has worked out very well.

I think the time has long since passed when we should be passing a bill of this kind. I know several sessions ago I was co-sponsor with one of our blind Members from the coal regions, Mr. Wachhaus, and I believe the bill at that time would have outlawed the use of these guns entirely, and it consequently did not pass.

I do hope the Members of the House today can see fit to vote for this bill, because it does not unnecessarily curb the activity of the children, it does not stop the use of these guns for target practice to teach children the use of this type of weapon. It does not do anybody any harm, but it can do our children a great deal of good, so I hope the Members will support the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 5 of today's calendar, bills on final passage, House Bill 1750.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1750, as follows:

An Act amending the act of August 9, 1955 (P. L. — Act No. 130) entitled "An act relating to counties of the third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" providing for appeals to courts of common pleas from the decisions of salary board

Section 1 Section 1625 act of August 9, 1955 (P. L. Act No. 130) known as "The County Code" is amended to read

Section 1625 Procedure and Act of Board (a) Except as herein otherwise provided whenever the board shall consider the number or salaries of the deputies or other employees of any county officer or agency such officer or the executive head of such agency shall sit as a member of the board as long as any matter affecting his office or agency is under consideration and no longer

(b) Whenever the board shall consider the number or salaries of the court criers or tipstaves or other court employees the president judge of the court shall sit as a member of the board as long as any matter affecting the court criers tipstaves or employees of his court is under consideration and no longer

(c) Whenever the board shall consider the number or salaries of the officers or employees appointed by any judge of any court such judge shall sit as a member of the board as long as any matter affecting any of his appointees is under consideration and no longer

(d) The decision of a majority shall govern Each board shall keep a correct minute book of its proceedings in all cases heard and determined by it Such minute book shall be a public record

(e) Any member of the board aggrieved by the action of the board in any case heard and determined by it shall have the right to appeal the same to the court of common pleas Provided That no appeal shall be granted by the court unless the court finds as a fact that the salary board acted arbitrarily and that to refuse the appeal would prevent the proper functioning of the office of the aggrieved member and provided further that in any appeal taken from the action of the board by a judge of said county the matter shall be heard and determined by a judge of the court of common pleas of another county

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LAWYER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a brief statement about this bill.

The provisions of House Bill 1750 are very simple and I feel that the legislation here is necessary because of certain judicial opinions that now exist. This bill was not presented as part of the County Code because it was thought that it might delay the passage of that larger document, and that is why it is on the calendar as a separate bill.

Under the present law, no matter on what factual basis the Salary Board may make a decision there is no right to appeal to the courts. It was felt to protect all the parties who are members of the Salary Board from the arbitrary action of a majority on the Board, that there should be some specific provision in the law to allow an appeal by an aggrieved member of the Salary Board in the event, and only in the event, that the court finds as a fact that the Salary Board acted arbitrarily, and that to allow the Salary Board's decision to stand would be to hamper the conduct of the office in question.

After the Bill was originally introduced it was also felt that it should be spelled out specifically, in the event that the aggrieved party was a member of the judiciary from the county, that there should be a proviso that the judge from another county should sit in determining the appeal. That also was added as an amendment.

As the bill now stands, if there is an appeal by a member of the judiciary from the county the appeal would be heard by a judge of the common pleas court of another county, so that even though there were an appeal by the judge of the orphans' court of the particular county, a judge of the common pleas court of that county would not hear it, but it would be heard by a common pleas judge of another county.

I feel this legislation is necessary under the present law, and I ask all the Members to support the bill in its present form.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Lawyer.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Lawyer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LAWYER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman stated that where a judge's salary is involved a judge from another county would hear that appeal. Is that right?

Mr. LAWYER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, since when do the County Salary Boards fix the salaries of judges? I thought we fixed them.

Mr. LAWYER. Mr. Speaker, this is not a question of the judge himself, it is a question of the judge's employees whose salary is now fixed by the Salary Board. If a judge felt aggrieved, if the Salary Board acted arbitrarily towards one of his employees, there is no place to appeal.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, does the present bill then provide that if any employee of the judge is involved a different judge will hear that appeal?

Mr. LAWYER. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The SPEAKER. A quorum is present.

(Following the calling of the roll and before the result was announced.)

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. While the Clerk is tabulating the roll, the Chair desires to read a portion of the Rules:

"Those for whom no sufficient excuse is made, may by order of a majority of those present, be sent for and taken into custody wherever they may be found, by the Sergeant-at-Arms and his assistants appointed for that purpose, and brought before the bar of the House, where unless excused by a majority of the Members present, they shall be reproved by the Speaker for neglect of duty."

In the opinion of the Chair when there is a call of the House and absent Members summoned to appear, the only adequate reasons for non-appearance is death in the family or a doctor's certificate of illness.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry. The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, if there happens to be an epidemic in the metropolitan areas, will it be necessary to quarantine the House and keep us poor farmers here?

The SPEAKER. If the gentleman does not tackle any obstreperous steers, the Speaker does not think he need fear any trouble.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. McCORMACK. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, is it in order for any Member of the House to move that further proceedings under the call of the House be dispensed with?

The SPEAKER. Not at this time.

Mr. McCORMACK. At what particular time will it be in order, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will recognize the Majority Leader at the appropriate time.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, it was stated by the Chair that it was the opinion of the Chair that the only valid excuse would be death in the family or a doctor's certificate.

The SPEAKER. The Chair stated that was the opinion of the Chair. That is not as yet the opinion of the House.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, does the name of Mr. Stephens appear on the list of absentees. May I be informed whether his name is on that list?

The SPEAKER. His name is on the list of absentees.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the House to take cognizance of the fact that the gentleman is here? I ask that his name be stricken from the list of absentees.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will be marked as being present

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. BAZIN. I arrived late this afternoon and I was instructed last night to ask for leave of absence for Mr. Rosen from Philadelphia, because of illness.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if that leave of absence has been requested for today's session or any other time?

Mr. BAZIN. I imagine it would be for the week. The gentleman told me he was sick. I am asking for leave of absence for him for the remainder of the week, I imagine.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia have personal knowledge whether his colleague is sick?

Mr. BAZIN. The Member called me at my home. I could not see him through my phone. All I know is that he called me at home, told me he was sick, and I should request leave of absence for him.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I suggest that the request for leave of absence be restricted to today's session, and that the gentleman renew his request again tomorrow if he deems it proper?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, suggests that leave of absence be granted to the gentleman from Philadelphia for today's session only, and that the request be renewed at tomorrow's session. Without objection leave is granted for today. The Chair hears none.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the record show that Representative Ashton, Breisch and Kline on the Republican side were present in the Hall of the House today, and for good reasons had to leave to go to their homes, but will be back at tomorrow's session.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. RIGBY. I would like to request a leave of absence for my colleague, Mr. Vaughan, who is out of the state, due to very serious illness in his family.

The SPEAKER. What is the pleasure of the Majority Leader?

Mr. READINGER. I certainly think the House should grant such a request, Mr. Speaker.

ABSENT MEMBERS TO BE NOTIFIED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Chief Clerk of the House be instructed to notify the Members who are absent without leave to be present in the House when the session convenes on Tuesday, December 20th at 11:00 a. m. and to have the absent Members present or have them state the reason for their absence.

The motion was agreed to.

INTERROGATION

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen. I see he is leaving the Hall of the House, but I would like to interrogate the gentleman if I may.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, you just requested that car license 941 be removed by 7:00 o'clock. I am going to have to hurry to do that now. I could return in a few minutes.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well, it will only take a moment.

Mr. Speaker further continuing my interrogation of the gentleman on last Wednesday, does the gentleman intend to hold a meeting of the Committee on Appropriations today with a view of having released from committee Senate Bill 899, which makes an emergency appropriation to our schools in the amount of $110 million?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is our intention to have a meeting of the Committee on Appropriations tomorrow to consider this bill.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well, does the gentleman feel then that this bill could pass this House and be put on the Governor's desk before Christmas if there is a meeting tomorrow?

Mr. POLEN. If we had a meeting today it couldn't be placed in the Governor's desk by Christmas, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well, I understand we could read it for the first time today, and we are going to have a token session on Wednesday when it could pass the House and be put on the Governor's desk. The Senate will still be in session.

Mr. POLEN. The bill will be amended, and therefore, could not be given first reading in the House today.

Mr. JOHNSON. In other words you intend to—

Mr. POLEN. I also understand, Mr. Speaker, that there has been no decision to have a session on Wednesday. I understand we were called for Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well, I believe that the House will have to be in session for the Speaker to sign the emergency appropriation bill for the Department of Public Assistance in the presence of the House on Wednesday.

Does the gentleman intend that the bill will come out of Committee and be weighted down with amendments just like Senate Bill 785, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, we are certainly going to consider amendments that are necessary to make this bill workable, and also necessary to give certain rights to the Executive. As the bill now reads, it is a shallow bill and it may not be necessary to borrow the money under this bill, but we are going to pass a bill that will enable the Governor and the State Treasurer and the Auditor General to do that. It is our intentions to amend it along those lines.

I might say to the gentleman from McKean that even if the bill were passed it will be at least five weeks beyond the time the Governor signs it before the money would be available, and we are working on a plan which I think will enable us to get money to the schools many, many weeks before that.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I hope that applause comes true because it sounded rather empty and shallow to me.

The gentleman had the bill over the weekend and he could have had amendments drawn and had his Committee meeting today, could he not, to get that bill out of committee?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, first I will answer his question. I received the bill this morning and we immediately started working on the amendments. I would say to the gentleman from McKean that one of the amendments has not yet been received.

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe that is all, Mr. Speaker. I have the gentleman's answer and we will let the record stand upon what I have said and upon the gentleman has said.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, in order to keep the record straight, I will say that I had hoped to hold a meeting today, and to make a statement on our position on the school subsidies that are overdue. However, certain things have not as yet been settled, and tomorrow I hope to be in a position to make a full disclosure of the means we will use not to give promises or borrowing power, but to give money to the school districts of Pennsylvania.

SENATE

TUESDAY, December 20, 1955.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. L. J. KAUFMAN, Pastor of Fayetteville Lutheran Parish, Fayetteville, offered the following prayer:

Our Father and our God, as we humbly pause for a few moments before Thee in prayer, may we give Thee the thanks and the praise for all the accomplishments attained. May each one feel that the power of faith, life and hope in dealing with the problems and decisions we make is not our will but Thine to be done.

May Thy continued blessing abide with all those absent because of illness, and may their return to their place of duty be soon realized.

Give us the courage to change our minds when it is needed; help us to be tolerant of the thoughts of others, and move each one with the sway of what is truth, right, and justice and that united we are ever for the principles of liberty, freedom and American democracy, and that by Thy power we cannot do anything but that which Thou wouldst have us do. We pray for the evidence of what is said and done here; that Thou has permitted a vote and that men yielded to Thee.

May each one enjoy Christmas season with the blessings of "Peace on earth and good will unto all mankind," as a brotherhood of men under the Fatherhood of God. For the New Year, new hopes, new life, and the endeavor with liberty and democracy justified unto all mankind. Unto Thee, O Lord, is all our praise and prayer for the continued guidance in the new year to our honorable President of the United States and all his servants; to our Honorable Governor of our great Commonwealth and all his servants.

Finally, Dear Father, for this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, her state and Nation, ever to abide in Thee, Amen.

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That State Highway Route No. 36 between the Borough of Pleasantville in Venango County and the City of Altoona in Blair County, be dedicated as a memorial to Colonel Edwin L. Drake and that this portion of the highway be known as the "Colonel Drake Highway" and be it further

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I know that there are not many in the Senate and whatever I say will probably not impress anybody. However, last night before I retired, I happened to have before me the New York Times and I read an article which disturbed me all through the night. I had little or no sleep because of this article I read, and what it means to the people of this great Nation and how it affects what is happening here in Pennsylvania.

Not to delay the Session any longer, since I know that this is the Holy Season of Christmas and all of us would like to get home to our families and try to exemplify, at least in our homesteads, a little more of the brotherly love which we ought to show here upon the floor of the Senate, and a little more regard for those who are less fortunate than we are, but I should like to read this article from the New York Times dated this morning, Tuesday:

"Washington, Dec. 19—

"The Association of Interstate Commerce Commission practitioners has given its members a blueprint on how to lobby against a governmental reform urged by the Hoover Commission.

"Lawyers and others doing business with the I.C.C., make up the membership of this group. They were urged to organize a flood of mail directed at members of the House and Senate Judiciary Committees. These committees are handling measures proposing a uniform 'administrative code,' which would affect the I.C.C.

"Veteran Washington lobbyists expressed surprise at the way the group specified its lobbying instructions.

"'Do not be content with the activity of your own group in this important matter,' the instructions said. 'There must be traffic, transportation and shipper groups, chambers of commerce, trade associations and other groups in your local area who will adopt appropriate resolutions'" against this legislation.

"The group argues that the new proposed code of uniform procedures" would change the practices now enjoyed by the lawyers who practice before the I.C.C.

I want to make this a part of the record. Mr. President, as I said, I was disturbed and I am today disturbed. Never in all of the years that I have served in this body, nor within the memory of anyone whom I have talked to who has been on this Hill for a great number of years, has the lobbying activity taken such a terrible toll of the time of this Session and the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth.

Mr. President, I have said, and I am going to say now publicly, that unless this Senate does something about it, we are helping to destroy the foundation of representative government. I am not opposed to the individual lobbyist as such, who comes down here to represent any of the many worth-while businesses and activities in this Commonwealth, but I am against the organization of the lobbyists into a group to thwart the will of the people and to destroy the reputation of this Administration and the economy of this State.

I do not believe that any man in this room will honestly get up and say that the lobbyist influence has not been the influence which has destroyed both tax programs. Before the Governor's industrial conference had even reached its climax, I was told by two lobbyists that there is no need of a meeting with the Governor because he will not get anywhere anyhow. What are we running? I hate to admit, but I discuss many problems with lobbyists and they have been very helpful over the years to me on legislation pertaining to their specific industries or their specific activities. Those who interpret this as an attack upon those who represent industry in Pennsylvania, or business, are reading into my remarks something that I do not intend to be contained in them. Those who read into my remarks, however, a fight against a disorganized lobby to destroy the Leader Administration and to, in some devious manner, believe that they are helping a political party of their own choosing—if you think that that is why I am fighting on this floor, you are right.

I do not put politics above the welfare of the people of this State. I have willingly sat down time and time again, spent many hours in conference both in the Governor's Office and with the Members of the Republican Senate. I want to say here and now that I have yet to find one who can say in any of the conferences that he can speak with any authority. I find that there is absolutely no use, no earthly use whatsoever, for me to waste any more of the peoples' time meeting in these conferences unless the Republican Caucus will name enough men to come to these conferences and give them the power to act.

Mr. President, what has happened to us in Pennsylvania is that sitting upon the shoulders of the Senate are sinister groups not interested in the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth, but more particularly interested in the welfare of their own little private dunghill.

I think that the time has come when the men of this Senate, and the people of the United States, had better realize that the problems which come up here belong to all the people and that a well organized, well oiled, small group of lobbyists can stalemate a State like Pennsylvania for twelve months and it is time we take cognizance of the fact. There are denials to the contrary, but I know what happened on the excise tax and I know what happened on the classified income tax and I know what happened after the Governor's conference yesterday afternoon and I know what will happen to any tax program advanced by the Leader Administration.

Mr. President, I have accused the Republicans and I say again that willingly or unwillingly you are the victims of an organized plot to keep this Session in until April. I understand that the House of Representatives has taken cognizance of this, and of other incidents which have occurred, and they are going to ask that they come back next week, and the next week and the next week. If need be, they will work six days a week to try to resolve this matter.

Mr. President, I think that the people who purport to represent big industry in this State must realize that this is a partnership; that you cannot place $456,000,000 upon the shoulders of the little people; that the burden is too great; that the need for these moneys has not been created solely by the little peoples; that all of the benefits to be derived from the spending of this revenue will not redound only to the little peoples of Pennsylvania, and that it is a load which ought to be equitably shared. Every person who has met with me in conference has had to say, and will have to say, that I have been willing to stand up for a program which would put the burden equally, or as near equally as we can, upon both the shoulders of industry and business and the shoulders of the little peoples.

Mr. President, let us take for an illustration a perfect example of how industry has a stake in government. The people of Bucks County were going along very nicely with the lowest possible tax rates, living their lives and achieving their ambitions with sufficient revenue to meet their needs as to schooling, water, transportation and the other needs of a civic community. All of a sudden prosperity hit Bucks County and a big industry moved in, and another industry, and today the taxes are higher than they ever have been upon the people. Their schools are crowded; their roads are inadequate. I ask you a simple and honest question. Does the industry which moved in have sort of a responsibility to those who live there to keep them from being overburdened with taxes? Industry, yes, is a great provider of jobs, but the men who work and sweat and toil in industry are even more important than industry itself.

Andrew Carnegie, who has been held up as a shining example of industrial strength, when asked a question as to which was the most valuable to him, his plants and his tools of production or the men who worked in his plants, said, "My plants may burn down tomorrow and if I have my men we can rebuild them, but if my men should suddenly all die tomorrow, I cannot man my plants."

Mr. President, certainly civilization costs money, but any industry that takes the position through their foolish, misguided lobbyists here on the floor that they have no responsibility to the government of this State, and to the health and welfare of the people of this State, is distinctly misguided or are morally and mentally dishonest.

I was not at the Governor's conference, but I read in the papers, which seemed to have had some representatives at the conference, and I asked the Governor if he had said anything to any of the papers. He said, "No, I thought, in the interest of trying to reach an agreement here in Pennsylvania, that it would be best not to talk." Somebody talked and I learned from the newspapermen that there is even more disagreement about your beloved sales tax than about any other tax form that has yet been proposed. The House Committee on Ways and Means has attempted to bring out the sales tax. I cannot give you the net result of the vote but for your own curiosity, would you mind talking to the members of that committee for your own personal information to find out the sentiment?

Mr. President, that is why I did not sleep all night, because of the instructions which go out to the Members of the Senate and House and have them read these fake propaganda circulars, read as an authentic, authoritative view of the people. Listen to this, "Do not be content," it say here, "with the activity of your own group in this important matter. There must be traffic, transportation, shipper groups, chambers of commerce, trade associations and other groups in your local area who will adopt appropriate resolutions."

Can you not see how the will of the people is being thwarted by minority groups, well organized, well oiled? I am not shedding a tear for the classified income tax. I am not shedding a tear for the excise tax. I believe we should let dead things stay dead, if that is what you want to do, but move from the pivot that you are standing on. Do not stand and call us stubborn and obstinate. We have advanced two tax programs and we proposed another yesterday, and before the tax program could even take life it died because five Republican Senators rang the death knell.

You say that we are stubborn, that the Governor is obstinate, but you are still hanging onto that thread called the sales tax and no other tax. It has been proposed that you revive the excise tax and make it into a sales tax. Well, of course, that is political strategy. The people are not fooled by strategy. I know who want it done that way, and I think the people ought to know. Your House Leader over there has openly said that he would never vote for a sales tax, and he wants to run for Auditor General so he wants the Senate to pull his potpie out for him. He wants the Senate to convert a bill already passed, which he did not have to vote for, into some form of a sales tax, and then you boys will have pulled his chestnuts out. He thinks he can go unscathed.

I know I am not a smart politician but I admit to being some sort of a politician. I think that I can read in the cards, especially when the cards are dealt half-way up on the board.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, this is a very serious matter. I think that we will have to delve into the activities to find out if there is a conspiracy here. It used to be that a man came down here representing the railroads and he represented the railroads and a man representing the trucking industry, represented the trucking industry and a man representing the manufacturers, represented the manufactures. That is not true anymore. They now represent each other. They have formed an amalgamation which says that an injury to one is an injury to all. So, you cannot get tax legislation through because it is impossible to pass any tax bill of $464,000,000 without affecting one of these parties. I know we had an agreement on the excise tax and as we kept moving along, trying to appease and trying to meet the criticisms and trying to work out a solution, cutting down from $420,000,000 to $320,000,000, we found that as we lopped one off, he gathered himself another section on the tail of the kite that had gone up over the horizon already. Pretty soon, we had so much tail on the kite, that the kite would not leave the ground.

So, I say to all of you in this Senate today, this is a serious matter. The people of this State expect and deserve more than what they are getting. We are not wedded to any type of a tax program. However, the only suggestion we get from you is a sales tax.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, in justice to the people of this Commonwealth, and in simple justice to the thousands of unfortunates who are incarcerated in our mental institutions, in justice to the boards of trustees of our local hospitals which are searching every day for whatever ends that they can find to meet the daily bills of the local hospitals, in justice to the schools, the educators of this great Commonwealth of ours who are finding it difficult to meet not only payrolls of the teachers, but the obligations of their school building programs and in justice to the Constitutions of this great Commonwealth, itself, and what it portends to hold for the people of this State, I offer the following resolution and ask for its immediate adoption.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE LOBBYING ACTIVITIES

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, December 20, 1955.

Whereas, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania finds itself engaged in a crucial debate concerning its fiscal problems, and

Whereas, there have been many activities on and off the floor of the Senate by persons not entitled to a vote in the Senate, and

Whereas, such activities are the main cause of the present stalemate, and

Whereas, this stalemate is causing the breakdown of the state's economic, welfare and educational well being, and

Whereas, it is a well-planned, well-designed, and boldly calculated program of propaganda, misinformation, abuse and deliberate distortions, designed to destroy the faith and confidence of the people in this Administration as well as to put the added burden of 464 Million Dollars of admittedly needed new revenue squarely upon the shoulders of the ordinary citizens on a personal basis, and

Whereas, this drive to remove taxation from those best able to pay is threatening the economic and future growth of this Commonwealth and poses a direct threat to our health, welfare and educational institutions, therefore be it

Resolved, that this Senate immediately name a committee of six (6) members, three (3) from each political party, to ascertain the extent of lobbying activities in relationship to the tax program advanced by the Administration, and further be it

Resolved, that this committee establish to the best of their ability the amounts of monies expended by any and all lobbyists who have openly and otherwise used their positions to destroy the fiscal program of this Commonwealth, and be it further

Resolved, that this committee determine to the best of their ability, the real motives, agencies, persons or groups for this deliberate attempt to throw this government of Pennsylvania into a chaotic, unsound, and bankrupt condition, and be it further

Resolved, that this committee make a report to the Senate not later than January 16, 1956.

MOTION TO ADOPT RESOLUTION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that the resolution just read by the Clerk be adopted.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, this resolution is worded so that if we were to adopt it, we would have to admit that all of the allegations as set forth in the resolution are true. As far as the committee is concerned, at any time the Senator would like to have a committee named to investigate illegal lobbying activities, I will be happy to go along with him. Perhaps, we may use the Rules Committee which is composed of both Republicans and Democrats to do this job. Right now, however, I am not prepared to say that all of these things which have been alleged in this resolution are true.

I would say that the Senator who makes the allegation is doing it without any proof of any kind, and now he wants a committee to more or less back up what he has to say in the other part of his resolution. I want to say again that if there is any illegal lobbying going on around here, I certainly would be the first to say that we should regulate lobbying. We should certainly not allow any illegal activity of any kind to go on around here which would have the effect of illegally influencing legislation.

Mr. President, I feel that this is a resolution which we should not act on right now, inasmuch as many Members are off of the floor and, therefore, Mr. President, I object to the immediate consideration of the resolution and ask that it be referred to the proper committee.

The PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion to adopt the resolution. It was moved by the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, and seconded by the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, that the resolution be adopted. The question is on that motion.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, will state his point of order.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, can this resolution be considered right now, without having unanimous consent to consider it?

The PRESIDENT. If the Senate would give unanimous consent, it could be considered. However, the Senator, in offering the resolution, made a motion to consider it and if unanimous consent is not given, the defeat of the motion will bring about the same result.

Mr. MAHANY. No, Mr. President, I do not think it would. I think that this resolution, along with other resolutions, with the exception of those such as congratulating people on birthdays and congratulating basketball teams on winning victories, should have the study of a committee. Perhaps the committee may be able to amend the resolution so that we can adopt it. At no time have I had the opportunity of objecting to immediate consideration of this resolution. That is what I want to do right now.

The PRESIDENT. In reply to the Senator from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, had the sponsor of this resolution asked unanimous consent and it had been given, he would have been perfectly right in making his motion. Therefore, the Chair thinks we are getting the same result either way. We work it either by unanimous consent or by the motion.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am sorry I cannot agree with you. It might very well be that I want to vote for this resolution. However, I would want a committee to study it and have it reported out. In voting against the resolution, it does not give me the same right that I would have to have this resolution referred to a committee. I understand that I have a right, unless there is unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution, to have it go to a committee. What happened to my rights that I have been having here?

The PRESIDENT. If the motion were defeated, then the resolution would be referred to a committee.

Mr. MAHANY. Is the motion to adopt the resolution or is his motion for immediate consideration?

The PRESIDENT. The motion was made to adopt the resolution that was read by the Clerk.

Mr. MAHANY. Do we not always have a chance to object to the immediate consideration of a resolution under our rules?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to seem to be agreeing with the gentleman or disagreeing with the Chair or anything of that nature. However, I believe that Rule No. 39 states that a resolution cannot be considered unless unanimous consent is given. If Senator Mahany's objection is to immediate consideration, even if my motion was made, which constitutes consideration, I imagine that he would be right under Rule No. 39.

However, Mr. President, I want to inform him that I propose to make a motion that we set aside Rule No. 39. Therefore, you may as well let the vote roll as it is.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I think we should take these in chronological order. If Senator Dent wants to make some subsequent motion, that is up to him. However, right now I am objecting to the immediate consideration of this resolution under Rule No. 39 and ask that it be referred to the proper committee.

MOTION THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that Rule No. 39 of the Senate, adopted at the Session of 1955, be suspended in order that immediate consideration may be given to the resolution.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to have the vote cast before they have the necessary delay to send to the far most corners to dig up their Members. With the advantage now being held, we would like to take advantage of it.

The PRESIDENT. We have one motion before the Senate which is your original motion to adopt the resolution.

Mr. DENT. I understood that that was set aside by Rule No. 39. If the President says we have a motion, I move the previous question.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am confronted with the necessity of obeying the advice which a mother gave her daughter one night. She said, "When you go out and staying out late is inevitable, relax and enjoy it." I am staying out late.

I understand that the forces have been gathered. The boys who do the calling went out to the far corners and brought enough votes in so that we have no chance of achieving our aim of getting immediate consideration.

MOTION TO ADOPT RESOLUTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. DENT. Therefore, Mr. President, I withdraw my motion to adopt this resolution.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I reluctantly withdraw my second to this motion. However, I want to point out to the Membership of the Senate, and to the people who are here today, that we are operating under the same old Republican Juggernaut. I think it is due proof that they are a little bit afraid to adopt this resolution because the Republicans know that quite a few people might be embarrassed.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 39 WITHDRAWN

Mr. DENT. I also wish to withdraw my motion to suspend Rule 39.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I also desire to withdraw my second to the motion.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, first, I want to object to the immediate consideration of this resolution for the reasons that I gave before. This is a resolution that should be studied by a committee and if they feel that it is a good resolution and it should deserve the attention of this body, then that committee may report it out at some future date.

I deeply resent the remarks made by my colleague, Senator Dent, and also joined in by Senator Lane. We are operating here, as all legislative bodies should, under certain rules. We have adopted these Senate Rules and we have tried to conform to them up until now, anyway. I do not understand why Senator Dent wants to now admit that he wanted to take advantage of some temporary absence from the Senate Chamber of some of the men who happened to be out eating lunch. I do not feel that Senator Dent meant to infer that, but that is what he said. I feel that if this resolution has merit, the proper committee will report it back to the floor and we can then vote on it.

However, Mr. President, as long as I am here, I do not care how much we are bombasted and how much, we might say, hot air emanates from the other side about how bad we are. As far as I am concerned, as long as I am a Member of this Senate, I am going to try to conform with the Senate Rules which this body has adopted.

For that reason, Mr. President, I object to the immediate consideration of this resolution.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might state to the gentleman that rules are laid down—both the rules that are printed in the books and the rules that come from the conscience and the hearts of men. Senator Mahany may think what I say is hot air; he may call it bombast; he may ridicule it because he does not want to hear it, but, nevertheless, in my humble opinion it carries the weight of truth with it. If it did not carry the weight of truth, then there would have been no denial of consideration. If it had nothing behind it except hot air and bombast, there would have been nothing to fear from an investigation.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, rules are sometimes made to be broken. I would say that here today a rule has been used to thwart the people of Pennsylvania. Maybe, too, Mr. President, the Majority Leader is a little bit disturbed that some Members on his side of the aisle might vote for this resolution.

I might also say, Mr. President, that the Majority Leader made a case against this resolution as soon as Senator Dent introduced it because he said, and I believe I am quoting him correctly, that the Senator was trying to have the committee approve his allegations in the resolution. I would say that the smart thing, in this particular case, for the Majority Party to do here in the Senate would be to adopt the resolution and then try to disprove or embarrass us for making these allegations. In that way, they would be on sounder ground. The way it is now, they do not want to vote for an investigation of lobbying right here in this Senate chamber.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly would not have any objection to part of the resolution because if there is any man in this body who can say he is not controlled by any lobbyist, it would be myself. I certainly would object to a resolution, if I heard it read correctly, which said we were admitting to a need of $464,000,000 in new revenue.

Mr. President, I would not vote for such a resolution. I do not think we need $464,000,000. I intend to never vote for that much more money for this Administration. I know the purposes for which this money will be used and I think possibly that would be one of the big reasons why most of the Members on this side of the house would not vote for that resolution.

I think Senator Mahany's proposition that it be sent to committee and if lobbyists and lobbying need to be investigated, let them be investigated. Maybe we should investigate the people who were out lobbying for the passage of it, as well as those who were lobbying against the passage of it. I have no objection. I have nothing to hide and I do not think any person in this Senate has anything to hide. Certainly, when we are confronted with a resolution that carries in it, and embodies in it, the fact that we admit that George Leader needs $464,000,000 more of new revenue, then we have abdicated our position in which we are insisting on economy and none of us on this side of the house could in any way, manner, shape or form vote for such a resolution.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I might say to the gentleman from Allegheny County that they have the votes on the other side, and what they can do is amend the resolution and let us know what they admit we actually need. If they disprove the $464,000,000 they can then, by their own vote, amend the resolution and set forth in the resolution just how much they feel the Leader Administration actually needs.

I would say that that excuse, as far as I am concerned, is not too valid because they have the votes to amend the resolution to suit the occasion. What they should do, if they are sincere, is to go ahead and amend the resolution and let us vote on it.

The PRESIDENT. The question before the Senate is that of unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution offered by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent. Let us dispose of this question first.

The Chair has heard objection to suspending Rule 39 and granting unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of this resolution.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the appropriation bills have been with us for sometime, stating the figure which the Administration believes is necessary to give a program which will satisfy the needs of the Commonwealth. As I understand it, the gentleman has said that he does not believe that that figure is correct. I would like to now ask him to tell us, in his considered judgment, what figure should be given as the correct figure for the needs of the Commonwealth.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I certainly do not have the figures right in front of me. I think George Leader's budget can be cut and I do not think there is any question about that. I would say to you, Senator Seyler, that I call on your colleague from York County to make good on those promises, the premise on which he was elected Governor of Pennsylvania; that he would effect economies in government; that he would not need any broad base tax; that he would need neither the sales tax nor the wage tax because, by those well known Democratic economies, he was going to run this Commonwealth in such a manner that we could get along without any new taxes. Yet, we have seen the greatest reversal of form we have ever seen and he comes with the biggest, the most spendthrift budget that was ever presented.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator, secondly, whether he still holds to his former opinion that this total budget can be cut by ten per cent. I believe that the Senator at one time advanced that figure, and I would like to know if he still feels that figure is the correct one.

Mr. FLEMING. I do not believe that I advanced that figure. I believe I said the number of persons on the payroll could be cut by ten per cent.

I was most happy, if I may add this, when one of his brain-trusters, either Doctor Ferguson or Mr. Ferguson, agreed with me and in front of Senator Yosko's committee suggested that.

You are all acquainted with the act which went on down in the News Room when "brain-truster number one," Mr. Charlesworth, went down and said, "Gentlemen, you cannot print this." Of course, that spread it all over the newspapers of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would further like to ask the gentleman whether he would name specifically some of the items which he thinks could be cut. In view of the length of time we have had the appropriation bills here and the amount of consideration that he undoubtedly, as one who is vitally interested in reducing the figure, has given them, if he feels that he cannot give us a total figure on how much this budget should be cut, can he name in what areas he would do the cutting? Would it be in the area of the Welfare Department appropriations or the Department of Public Instruction appropriations? I would be interested in having a more specific statement.

Mr. FLEMING. I think both of those could be cut. That is correct; yes, sir. I certainly think that the entire appropriation for industrial redevelopment can be cut at $27,000,000. I can defend that anytime, Senator Seyler.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, we have heard all through this Session, ever since the budget was announced, the type of, what seems to me to be, irresponsible statements about cutting this budget but we have never had, and this morning is no exception, any attempt to give us a detailed and specified account of just where it should be cut. I think the people of the Commonwealth, and particularly those people who are interested in the programs which were advanced, would be interested to have that information.

If the gentleman believes that a cut of $30,000,000, which was earlier recommended for the welfare program, should be made, which would make impossible the sort of program outlined by the Governor in his speech yesterday on mental health, does he feel that the cut should be made in the appropriations for Public Instruction or some other appropriation? I think we are entitled to have a more specific answer. I think this business of jumping up continually and saying that the figure is too high, and that we do not need this much money, but refusing to tell us just where these cuts should be made, leaves in suspense a lot of the people in the Commonwealth who are honestly interested in the good program which has been outlined by the Leader Administration for mental health, for schools, for public health, for retarded children and so on. I think it is doing a disservice to those people to continually say, "We think this figure is too high," but refuse to give us any sort of itemized account of just how much it should be.

I have heard the figure of $131,000,000 and I have read the figures given out by the Majority Leader in the past which said $30,000,000 should be cut from Welfare, $20,000,000 from education and so on. I am taking the place, in a sense, of Senator Yosko, who I am sure if he were here today would be raising this same point upon hearing a remark like that. We have yet to hear, in spite of repeated challenges by Senator Yosko, any sort of itemized account on just where these cuts should be made.

Mr. President, I do not believe that cuts can be made to the extents mentioned by the Members of the Majority side without endangering the mental health program, the schools and all these other great needs which must be taken care of by this Administration. I am still waiting to hear just where these cuts will be made.

The PRESIDENT. There being objection to the immediate consideration of this resolution, the resolution is referred to the Committee on State Government.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

REQUESTING DOCTOR GAYLE K. LAWRENCE TO APPEAR BEFORE THE SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE TO TESTIFY REGARDING THE ELIMINATION OF EMPLOYEES FROM THE STATE PAYROLL

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am offering this resolution on behalf of Senator Mahany and myself, and I might extend the invitation to the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler, to join with us in this resolution, if he chooses to do so after the resolution has been read. We invite him to join us in the sponsorship of this resolution.

Messrs. WADE and MAHANY offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, December 20, 1955.

It was testified by Dr. Gayle K. Lawrence, Personnel Secretary in the Office of the Governor, before the special committee named by the Minority Leader of the Senate to hold public hearings on the budget during the legislative recess of August 8 to 26, that 5000 to 10,000 jobs could be eliminated from the State payroll, but without indicating the manner in which this could be accomplished nor the agencies from which the cut-back in jobs could be made. If it is possible to do away with this number of jobs it is important to know how it can be done and what agencies will be affected; therefore be it Resolved, That Dr. Gayle K. Lawrence be requested to appear before the Senate Finance Committee at a time and place designated by the committee and testify further as to how 5000 to 10,000 jobs can be eliminated from the State payroll and in what agencies of the State government the cut-back in jobs could be made; and that in the event Dr. Lawrence refuses to appear or to testify as requested, a Senate subpoena be issued under the hand of the President pro tempore commanding Dr. Lawrence to appear and to explain fully his statements made before the special committee.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, if it is in order, I would like to repeat my invitation to Senator Seyler, of York, to join with Senator Mahany and I in sponsoring this resolution before it is referred to committee.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman if he can give me the complete payroll figures as of this date or any date relatively close to this in the immediate past.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I do not have those figures before me, but I can easily get them for the Senator.

Mr. SEYLER. Can the gentleman give me the complete payroll as of a year ago, both as to number of employees and total salary?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I would be very glad to furnish the gentleman with those figures after I have had time to prepare them. I certainly would not want to quote figures which were not exactly correct, and I cannot do that from memory.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

Mr. President, in replying to the gentleman's kind invitation, I would like to say that it is my distinct impression that at this moment on the State payroll, both from the standpoint of number of employees and from the standpoint of total salary payroll, the figures are significantly different in favor of the present Administration as over the last Administration. That being the case, I really see no need for the type of resolution the gentleman from Cumberland has offered. I am convinced that the process which he apparently desires, judging by his resolution, is already underway.

I have no idea as to the number of the members of the Republican party who are still employed on the State payroll, but I understand that that figure is quite high. In fact, it is considerably higher than the number of Democrats on the State payroll, let us say, a year ago. That, of course, is a matter of politics and probably should not be injected into a discussion which has the high, and I am sure, nonpartisan ideals that the Senator from Cumberland had in mind, but I just throw that in as an answer.

Mr. President, until the Senator from Cumberland is able to give me figures which indicate that the case is otherwise, as I have stated, namely, that the payroll has declined both in number and total amount, I could not avail myself of his very kind and generous offer to join he and Senator Mahany in this resolution.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on State Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, first I want to say to Senator Seyler that the fact that we may have fewer employees and it costs us less now than it did a year ago, certainly may be very well explained by the fact that we do not have the sales tax on the books at the present time. I understand that it did cost us considerable money to collect the sales tax and also that it did take a considerable number of employees. Inasmuch as the sales tax has now expired and we are not getting this money, many of those employees should have been discharged by this time and we would have saved, in that one particular bureau, a good many thousands of dollars. There may be other instances of a similar vein.

I did not have the opportunity of answering Senator Dent in his comments previous to the time that he introduced his resolution relative to lobbyists, but I want to say to Senator Dent, and also to the other Members of this Senate, that in my contact with various representatives of business and labor, although they may from time to time voice their opinion on certain legislation. I do not vote absolutely according to any instructions given to me by them. I listen to their particular views in connection with the legislation and if it is legislation in which they are interested and concerned, then I perhaps argue the point with them if I see differently on the legislation than they do and if they are not able to convince me of their particular arguments relative to the legislation, then I come on the floor and vote against it.

I feel that every Senator in this body does the same thing when he votes for legislation. I think if there are any lobbyists whom we really listen to with intent, they are the lobbyists who send us down here from back home. Those lobbyists are the people who are what we call our constituents. They are the taxpayers. When I go back home, Mr. President, I seem to get an entirely different viewpoint from the people who sent me down here than what I get from Senator Dent on the other side.

Mr. President, I was back home just this past week and I ran into an awful lot of people on the streets, in their homes and in the various gathering places where you find your friends and almost without exception they told me that they thought the tax programs, as presented by Governor Leader so far, were not the right kind and they congratulated me for opposing them. When I came back to Harrisburg, I find out from Senator Dent that I have some kind of horns on my head for having opposed this vicious tax program.

I want to tell Senator Dent that if I had it to do all over again, I would do the same thing as I did in the past. The tax program which was sent over here the end of July or the first part of August, which was termed the Leader classified income tax, was debated at length upon this floor and I do not intend to repeat the debate that we had at that time. I remember at the time, though, that Senator Dent got a lot of shoe boxes out and tried to show us that the shoes were taxed under the sales tax when, in fact, they were not taxed under the sales tax.

Mr. President, I want to say to the Senator that that tax program, at that time, was pretty much opposed by the people, generally, in the State of Pennsylvania. We, who come down here to the Senate and try to represent our constituents, opposed it. If we did wrong and any of us come up for re-election, then, Senator, you can go out in our Districts and show that we did the wrong thing and I have no doubt that that is what you and Governor Leader and others will try to do on television, radio and through the medium of your propaganda experts. You will try to show that the Republicans were lax in their duty and did not listen to the voice of the people and did not give you the tax program which you thought we should give you. If you are successful in that, then you can defeat us. However, if the people feel that we did the right thing, then I feel sure that they will return the Senators who stood for what they thought should be stood for and they will return us to this Chamber.

As far as the one that we defeated last week, Mr. President, that also was a vicious piece of legislation. It was not just us who were against it. You had one of your own Senators over there who made certain statements relative to it and the effect that it would have on industry. I have no doubt that there were many people who tried to convince him otherwise. However, he was not so convinced and in the public press, he got accolades for his stand and I also understand that Senator Bane has personally stated that he has, since he took this stand, received many many telegrams and letters backing him up for his statesmanlike stand in relation to this legislation.

You also charged that Senator Derk had a heart attack due to the great flood of telegrams that were put on his desk. However, you did not say anything about the thing which I found out afterwards and that is that Senator Derk was in a disturbed frame of mind over whether he should resign from the Senate or whether he should have to vote for this program. It was perhaps due to the great mental anguish and great mental pressure that he was under that caused him, perhaps, to suffer this nervous breakdown or heart attack.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, unless the gentleman from Crawford was told by Doctor Derk that these things which he now says about Doctor Derk—unless he can testify on this floor that these statements are true of his own knowledge, I suggest that they be stricken from the record.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I admit that I do not know from my own knowledge that Senator Derk was in the office of the Governor. From statements that were made, I understood that he was. Therefore, as far as I am concerned, if that is grounds for expunging my statements from the record, I will so agree to it. However, I do know that the Senator was under great mental anguish at the time and he was in tears out here. I saw him in tears and I understood him to say that he did not know what he was going to do; one thing, he was not going to stay for the Session that day and he was trying to find a way to go home. He told me that he did not feel that he was going to vote for the bill. Other than that, I have no firsthand information.

The only information that I have is what I read in the newspapers and certain statements from other Senators. I am willing to have that part expunged from the record because I do not have firsthand information.

The PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, wish to have a part of his statement expunged from the record?

REMARKS EXPUNGED FROM RECORD

Mr. MAHANY. I will agree to have the part expunged relative to Senator Derk's visit to the Governor's Office and about his being kept up at night by his colleagues. I will try to find out between now and when we meet again, from his wife or perhaps somebody who knows. Maybe I can talk to Senator Derk about it and later I can make my allegations.

The PRESIDENT. Is the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent satisfied with the agreement?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is the gentleman finished? Is the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany, finished talking?

Mr. MAHANY. Do you mean as far as the record is concerned?

Mr. DENT. Yes, I have a few remarks to make if you are finished.

Mr. MAHANY. All right, I am finished, as far as the record is concerned.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. Mahany. Mr. President, I do want to say again to Senator Dent that here we try to vote according to the way our people would like to have us vote. If that is wrong, then we are wrong. As long as I am down here, I expect to continue to do that.

I also expect to use what legal training I have in relation to reading bills and being able to interpret them in the light of what I feel is constitutionality. I expect to continue to do just that. As long as the Governor insists on sending over, from the House, tax measures which I feel are unfair, inequitable and perhaps of doubtful constitutionality, I shall expect to oppose them.

INTERROGATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. I have asked this question before. However, maybe I can get an answer. Will you tell us, so that I can carry to the Governor your answer, what you think is fair, equitable and constitutional in the manner of taxes to raise the necessary moneys for the Commonwealth?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I have before me a chart of many States of the Union showing where they are picking up their money to balance their budgets. I find that most of them are using the sales tax for that purpose. For instance, the State of Ohio, which has a Democratic Governor, and an outstanding one I might add, gets fifty-four per cent of its revenue from the sales tax as of 1954. I feel, first, that I would be happy to vote for a sales tax if and when it reaches the Senate, along the lines of the Ohio sales tax.

As far as a constitutional tax is concerned, there is no question about the fact that an income tax might be constitutional. However, whether one could be adopted which would be fair under our Constitution is a problem that I do not want to discuss at the present time. If a tax program such as that is sent over to the Senate, we can discuss it at that time. There are other taxes which we have on the books now that I feel are constitutional and equitable. The Pennsylvania Economy League gave us a list of potential tax sources, but most of those are small ones, other than the broad base taxes. I do not feel they would be sufficient to raise the amount of money needed.

For the gentleman's information, at the present time I feel about as far as I can go is to tell you that I feel what we should have in the State of Pennsylvania is a sales tax similar to the Ohio plan.

Mr. DENT. Will you tell the Senate what the budget of the State of Ohio is and what fifty-four per cent represents?

Mr. MAHANY. I understand that the State of Ohio gets around $200,000,000 a year from its sales tax. I do not know what its over-all budget is. However, if it receives fifty-four per cent from a sales tax, its budget would be approximately $400,000,000 or $380,000,000 a year.

Mr. DENT. Do you know how much the State of Pennsylvania has in its budget for school purposes alone?

Mr. MAHANY. I understand it is around $600,000,000 or something like that.

Mr. DENT. If we had the Ohio sales tax, as you suggest that we pass, how much money do you think it would raise in the State of Pennsylvania and what percentage of the budget would it be?

Mr. MAHANY. It would, of course, depend upon the amount of percentage that you would have. At three per cent, it should raise about $500,000,000 or $600,000,000 a biennium. I understand, with the sixteen months that it still would have to go, if we adopted it and had it started about February 1st, we could figure on over $300,000,000.

Mr. DENT. Would you say that is sufficient to meet the needs of the Commonwealth for the biennium.

Mr. MAHANY. For the new needs, I understand that the Governor says he needs $465,000,000. There have been other estimates as to how much he needed. You can go anywhere from $350,000,000 in new money to $465,000,000. I would say that if we could settle for somewhere around $375,000,000 to $400,000,000, that would be a pretty good compromise.

Mr. DENT. Thank you, Mr. President, and thank you, Senator.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. Preseident, I wonder, when all of the talk is being put out over Pennsylvania about this great panacea that is contained for the fiscal problems of the Commonwealth in the passage of the Ohio tax plan, whether the people of Pennsylvania are not being lulled to sleep by the voices of those who are either ignorant of the truth or unwilling to tell the truth.

The Ohio sales tax, as we understand it, raises approximately $359,000,000 a biennium. Of this amount, $36,000,000 is required for the collection of the tax. We, in Pennsylvania, taxing on the same basis, could hope to get approximately twenty-three per cent more money than what is gathered in the State of Ohio. So, if my figures are anywhere near right, we would have a net at the end of a biennium, with the Ohio tax plan, of about $360,000,000. It may interest the Republican Members of this Senate to know that the Governor of Ohio, who has been praised by the Republican leader, has been publicly stating that the Ohio tax plan is not sound. Upon every occasion, when the tax experts and consultants of the seventeen States that have sales taxes meet, they have rejected unanimously the Ohio tax plan. A Member of the House introduced what was purported to be the Ohio tax plan. It was drawn after the Ohio tax plan because a copy of the Ohio tax plan was used as a pattern. However, when the Member of the House introduced that plan, then the lobbyist, about whom I have talked, immediately started handing in amendments. Now, over in the Committee on Ways and Means is the so-called Ohio tax plan, amended to meet the opposition demands of the lobbyists in Pennsylvania and we find that any similarity between the Ohio tax plan and the so-called Pennsylvania-Ohio tax plan is purely accidental.

We also find, Mr. President, that we only have fifteen months of this biennium for collections. We also find, Mr. President, that the people of this Commonwealth, whether knowingly or unknowingly, whether willingly or unwillingly, at a free election, elected Governor Leader and a Democratic House of Representatives. There was a great deal of indecision as to whether or not it had not elected an equal number of Democratic Senators. On the first count, we won. A year later, Mr. President, after the so-called obnoxious classified income tax had been aired by the well organized propaganda methods, adhered to this morning by the New York Times and by myself on many occasions, and had given the people a great, great ballyhoo about the unconstitutionality of the act and about its viciousness and that we had already introduced to the people our thoughts on a second tax program, the people in a vast majority of the counties decided that somehow or other, unwillingly or willingly or unknowingly or knowingly, decided to vote to uphold the hand of the Governor. Incidentally, Mr. President, I can say to this Senate that, as peculiar as it may seem and for the information of the Republican Majority Leader, we won county control in counties that we had not had control of since Andrew Jackson was President of the United States.

The question of Senator Bane deserves a chapter of its own. I am happy to note, for the record, that the Republican Floor Leader is in constant touch with Senator Bane. Those of us who have served in these bodies know that sometimes things happen between an election and a few weeks afterwards, especially when a man has been successful in an election and finds himself with ten full years of security, given to him by the support of the people and the Democratic Party. Whatever Senator Bane's thoughts are, they are his own. Whatever he wants to do is his own business. However, I learned a long time ago that men do not live by bread alone.

So, Mr. President, if the Republican Party gets a great deal of comfort out of Senator Bane's position, that is entirely up to them. I stated on this floor that I sat back of Senator Derk's desk and I watched him open hundreds upon hundreds of envelopes, each of them containing nothing except a small printed form which came out of a daily newspaper in which people only had to sign their names, or whose ever names they decided to sign, propagandizing this man to do what they said was the voice of the people and what the voice of the people demanded that he do. I asked, in a resolution, to interrogate and find out who paid for that and I find that my resolution is not wanted. I have hundreds upon hundreds of form letters in my possession and I want to know who paid for them.

My memory goes back to 1936 when a Congressman from Pennsylvania took the trouble to compare the signatures upon thousands and thousands of telegrams that he received in Washington, purportedly coming from the people in his District, urging him to vote against the Holding Company Act, under the first Roosevelt Administration. It was discovered, upon examination, that row after row of names were copied right out of the telephone book. That, my dear friends, was supposed to be the voice of the people. The voice of the people rests in the Senate of Pennsylvania when it comes to legislative matters. Advice, yes, we receive it; counsel, yes, we take it. However, Mr. President, this all-out fight contained in the propaganda, which is aimed particularly at a Member when a word gets out to certain interested parties that this Member is wavering, the fight that is made to swing him over to the opposition, is something that is terrible to behold in a Democracy. I have gone through it; I know. I have had telephone calls, keeping me awake until the small hours of the morning, telling me how vicious this tax bill or that tax bill is. That is not the strength of the argument here today. The defection of Senator Bane is not the strength of the argument. The argument before the people of Pennsylvania is this, whether or not the Leader Administration is going to give the people the kind of government it believes it was elected to give, or whether twenty-six Republican Senators are going to force the Governor of this State to bow to their will and to pass only the legislation that they dictate shall be passed. Never in the history of this Commonwealth has there been such a complete disregard of democratic principles.

Mr. President, this is not an attack on Senator Mahany or any other Senator in particular. It is no more of an attack upon Senator Mahany than their statements are attacks upon Governor Leader. I refuse to believe that it has degraded into a personal attack. I want not to believe that it is the outside pressure that is causing this situation, but when we find ourselves faced with a situation that we are able to predict and have predicted occasion upon occasion and time and again, and our predictions come out to the letter, then it is time that we investigate.

I have said before, and I will say now, that I claim no powers of clairvoyancy. I cannot read the future, but when I am told by certain individuals that certain things are going to happen and they happen, I have a right to be suspicious. I have been told that there is no need for the Governor or the Democratic Administration to, as they call it, "cook up" another tax program because they have already said it is unconstitutional. As I have said, who is the best judge of the Constitution except the courts of this land?

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, this is far more serious than some of us are taking it. Some say, "Why do you have to come back next week?" You have to come back next week because this Senate has refused to pass an appropriation bill for school purposes. Although we have the money available, although we have sufficient money to take care of all the fourth class school districts in this Commonwealth, we cannot give it to them because we have failed to lift from the table Senate Bill No. 785 and name a conference committee, and because we have failed to pass a previously passed House Bill which has been laying in committee for nigh onto five months. Unless you make this appropriation, there is not much you can do. The appropriation which you passed the other day, tying strings to it, would not have performed the job you wanted performed because you cannot get money under that bill for at least thirty to sixty days and after you do get the money, you subscribed it to such a small field of usage that it can only be spent for salaries in school teaching units and for transportation. You did not take into consideration the very serious economic shortage on the local school fronts by those school districts which have school bonds and require the money at this time to meet their school bond requirements.

Therefore, Mr. President, the situation is compelling us to again come back or to stay here until we do decide just what we can or cannot do relative to relieving the situation in the fourth class districts.

The Governor could probably issue a proclamation advising all hospitals that they should not spend any moneys whatsoever if they are contemplating State-aid, because a budget of $375,000,000 will not allow one red cent of non-preferred appropriations. I think the people ought to know that.

Mr. President, I am not one to say what the tax program will be except that I fight for what I think is right, the same as Senator Mahany, but I refuse to say, like Senator Mahany, that I will only consider one tax plan if it is sent over. I, and the rest of the Democrats, will consider any tax plan which comes from the House of Representatives and try to do justice by the people in doing it.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Blair, Mr. Mallery, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, on December 9th I received the following letter:

"Let me introduce myself. I am the Reverend George E. Nein, Jr., pastor of the Petersburg Lutheran Parish, Petersburg, Pennsylvania. I am writing to you concerning a situation which has arisen in our locality that is of great concern to all our people. I am hopeful that you will be able to help solve our problem."

Mr. President, I am reading this letter particularly because I do not know how to solve his problem, and maybe someone else here can solve it.

"Petersburg is a small town of some 600 people located about twelve miles west of Huntingdon and about three miles from Alexandria, another small community. Last December the Robinson Clay Products Company, a brick works located just outside of Alexandria, closed down. The closing of this factory affected many families in both Petersburg and Alexandria. Even now, a year later, many men have not as yet found other employment.

"Just this week word was received that the Pennsylv-vania Electric Power Plant, located below Petersburg on the Little Juniata River, would at the first of the year cut its personnel by almost fifty per cent. This means more unemployment, especially for the town of Petersburg.

"These two industries, Robinson Clay Products and Pennsylvania Electric, are two of the major sources of employment for this area.

"I realize that there must be many other cases across the State similar to this, but as a pastor of my people I feel that I must make our situation known to you. The majority of our people want to work for a livelihood rather than accept charity and they are moving from our communities to secure employment. I can safely say that eighty per cent of our young people leave our communities."

Mr. President, I have not answered this letter which I received on December 9th, because up to this time, while I have given serious consideration to the letter, I have not been able to come up with the answer. The only contribution that I have been able to make in providing employment for many people who are out of employment in Blair County is to make a contribution to our industrial drive. With the funds derived from that drive, two industries have been obtained to come into Blair County. When the excise tax bill was introduced, I received a communication from the head of the largest industry that was contemplating coming into Blair County, stating that in the opinion of the officials of that company it would be a mistake for them to come in to Blair.

We have serious unemployment in Mount Union. Mount Union, up until several years ago, had three refractories which were working full time and almost everyone in the borough was employed. As I understand, other means of making refractory brick have been discovered. A type of sand, I think in Bucks County, is being used in the making of bricks and one of the factories has closed down.

Mr. President, I cannot help but contemplate the fact, and I have never risen in this Senate to say anything unkind about anyone and I never expect to, that there is a great difference in the philosophy between the thinking of Republicans and my Democratic friends. Sitting over here, so often I get the impression, which I do not believe is intended by my Democratic friends to cause the people to think as I think they think, that industry is the worst think we have in our State.

There is one program which our Governor has that I am one hundred per cent in accord with, and that is his program to bring industry into Pennsylvania. I never operated an industry and I do not know anything about it. In order to have industry, however, articles must be manufactured that people want to buy. It takes ingenuity and money in order to establish an industry. Therefore, I think that we here in Pennsylvania should be as cooperative as possible in making overtures of inducement for industry to come into our State.

Mr. President, it has been mentioned, and I recall it with regret, that the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company located a $30,000,000 plant just over the border, that General Electric moved to Kentucky and I do not know how many other industries in Pennsylvania have moved to the South because the people down there are anxious to have industry and they are making every inducement to have them locate in the South.

We have a wonderful State and I think we all agree that there is no finer State in the United States. We want to live here and we want the young people who are growing up to stay in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, my thought is to take heed of these businessmen who came here to attend the meeting of the Finance Committee. I think those men are citizens to be respected. They are honest men who are engaged in industry, and I think they know what they are talking about.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman for reading that letter. However, I cannot find anything in the letter which says that the excise tax or the classified income tax drove this refractory out of Mount Union. I find that it went out because of the fact that they found a better place because of local conditions, because of the raw materials and probably because of markets. That is why they moved. If we took all of the tax from that particular industry and put it all on the people, as some of the Members of this Senate want to do, the minute you would do that and they found better sand in Bucks County, they would still move. That has just been shown in my own community where a local brewery, which had two plants, closed the one in my town because they expanded the facilities of the other one.

Mr. President, you just cannot fail to recognize that although we are not, as some would have the people believe, enemies of industry, by the same token we are not opposed to human beings. Again another thing that Andrew Carnegie said should be recognized by the Members of this Senate: "That prosperity and economic well-being are built on three pillars, capital, machinery and people, and to shake any of the pillars destroys the balance." You cannot take it all off of machinery and all off of capital and put it all on the people, regardless of how much you desire to do so. We can all agree that the Federal Government probably takes too much out of the income sources of this Commonwealth and other Commonwealths. However, that still does not take away from machinery or production, which will become an increasingly greater problem as the years go by.

I, for one, would like to live to see the day when automation places its full power into use in this Commonwealth and where one man does the job of 500 or 600 and still put the taxes, as some would suggest, upon the people. Somewhere along the line the energy that replaces human energy must be taxed, whether it is now in my lifetime or in the lifetime to come. If you do not, you will have the destruction of the only thing that industry is good for. Industry is only good to bring prosperity, but that prosperity must go to people or it is not worth bringing.

If you wish, I will read the record of American finance in the last ten months of this year. I want it compared with the finances of any individual in the earning classes of peoples of this great State and Nation for the last ten months. You must maintain the balance. You cannot remove machinery from local taxation and place a twenty-five per cent greater burden upon the individuals who own homes in those communities, and then stand here and try to pass $460,000,000 of taxation without placing any of it upon machinery and excusing them from some of the taxes they are now paying and maintain the balance. Certainly, we want prosperity. However, the finest factory in the world, with the greatest bank account ever achieved, paying the highest dividends in the history of man, is worthless if the people are milling around the gate and seeking relief to feed their families.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I think I missed making my point. I thought perhaps I could get some suggestion as to how we could get some industry into Petersburg and other sections in my Senatorial District.

I also want to state that I think it is sound and better for everyone to pay some tax and have a job in order to support himself and family rather than have no job, no money to pay a tax and no money to support his family.

INTERROGATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Senator Mallery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Blair permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Mallery, do you believe that if this Legislature passes legislation removing all taxes from any conceivable type of business and industry in this Commonwealth and places it all upon the people, as you say, that you will bring back the refractory to Mount Union or any industries that have left you in the last sixteen years?

Mr. MALLERY. I made no such statement, Senator Dent. I will say, however, that it is my understanding that Pennsylvania, under Republican rule, has levied a higher tax on industry than any other State in the United States except Massachusetts. I do not think that is good policy under Republican Administrations or under Democratic Administrations.

Mr. DENT. Thank you, Senator Mallery. However, I just do not want you living under that misconception of Pennsylvania's tax picture. I think it is by statements like that, wherever you have gained that information and those who gave it to you, which is causing industries not to come into Pennsylvania and it has built a psychological barrier against this Commonwealth.

Any person who says that this is the worst State in the Union for industry, outside of the State of Massachusetts, is doing an injustice to Pennsylvania. That is not true. If you take into consideration the local taxes paid in Ohio by industry and take the per dollar per capital invested dollar in the State of Ohio, I will sit down and prove to you that this is still a healthier climate for industry to be in than Ohio ever was or ever will be.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

By authority vested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955, Act No. 8, I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1955. This transfers from the Department of Revenue to the Department of State the State Athletic Commission together with its powers, functions and duties.

This Plan is submitted for the following reasons: (1) functions of the State Athletic Commission have only an incidental relation to the Department of Revenue; (2) the transfer will relieve one of our large and expanding departments of a minor task and enable it to focus attention and resources upon primary responsibilities; (3) improved management and economy can be expected from grouping miscellaneous agencies and functions in one department—the Department of State.

Dated: December 20, 1955.

Transmitted to the General Assembly, on December 20, 1955.

Section 3. The functions, powers and duties of the Secretary of Revenue, under section 427 of The Administrative Code of 1929, and its amendments, are transferred to and shall be exercised by the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Section 5. The following acts and parts of acts are suspended as particularly set forth:

Sections 202 and 2503, act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and their amendments, in so far as they affect the location of the

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

By authority vested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955, Act No. 8, I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 7 of 1955. The principal purpose of this plan is to transfer responsibility for replanting strip mining areas from the Department of Mines to the Department of Forests and Waters.

This change is desirable because: (1) The Department of Forests and Waters is already engaged extensively in work of a similar nature; (2) The Department of Forests and Waters grows the nursery stock and is better equipped with professional and technical personnel to promote and accomplish this important task; (3) Efficiency and economy of administration will be encouraged. For these reasons I recommend approval by the General Assembly.

The House met at 11:00 a. m.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, York, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, who hast declared Thy love for all mankind in the birth of Thy Holy Child, we thank Thee, O God, for the return of the wondrous spell of this Christmas season that brings its own sweet joy and peace.

O God, we would hear the herald angel's message of good tidings, like the shepherds of old and hasten to the manger where we find a Saviour. We hear the whisperings of God in the cry of the Babe of Bethlehem. Heaven bends to earth. Deep speaks unto deep—the deep of heaven's love to the deep of human needs. O guide our wondering foot steps to the place where He lies. May all our fellowships be hallowed and all our reunions made brighter this Christmas time. May our night have its guiding star and our day its guiding voice. Let the beauty of Christmas Day descend upon us and the blessing of it remain with us. In His name. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mrs. REIBMAN, Messrs. SHERMAN and LOPRESTI
(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 141.

In the House of Representatives, December 19, 1955.

Municipalities and townships have in the past acquired by grants, deeds, devises and dedications, real property to be used for public purposes.

It is to the best interest of communities that civic-minded citizens continue to give real property to municipalities and townships for public purposes.

In order to encourage this type of philanthropic activity, appropriate legislation is necessary to fix and determine the rights, powers and duties of municipalities and townships with respect to real property given to them for public purposes; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study the statutory laws and court decisions concerning the dedication of real property for public purposes, the acquisition of real property by municipalities and townships for public use and the powers, rights, and duties with respect thereto where continued ownership or control in the municipality or township is no longer to the best interest of the community, and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. FARABAUGH, LOPRESTI and ROVANSEK.
RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

The birthplace of this noted explorer is not only located in Cambria County, Pennsylvania, but the Commonwealth already has located and maintains an historical park and shrine dedicated to the memory of Robert Edwin Peary at Cresson.

Rear Admiral Peary was not only the discoverer of the North Pole but also a contributor to world geographical science and knowledge and a pioneer in the development of American aviation and the study of its relationship to our national welfare and defense; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby calls upon the Governor of the Commonwealth, The Honorable George M. Leader, to issue a suitable proclamation honoring the birthday of this noted Pennsylvanian and calling upon the Department of Public Instruction and the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to urge the schools and all patriotic, civic, and historical societies to undertake suitable exercises, ceremonies, and educational activities designed to recall the heroic exploits and significant services of this great explorer, geographer, and promoter of aviation.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. WILLIAMS. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, there have been many inquiries concerning the small hemlocks that we placed on the desks. I have been in the Christmas tree business now for about ten years, and of course, we don't handle anything except Pennsylvania trees. We have the hemlocks, we have the scotch pine, white pine, and the firs.

I swore in 1951 that if we were ever going to be in session again until Christmas, that we would at least do something here to make it a little Christmasy. I have some good friends up in Indiana County, of course that is Earl Hewitt's County, and they are pretty good fellows. I think they are swell. The only thing I have against them up here is that they are all Republicans.

Nevertheless, I have a friend up there by the name of Eddie Fyock, who was a former employe of this House in the Post Office, and he has a friend by the name of Walter Schroth, who has a large nursery in Indiana County. I called him on the telephone last week and ordered 208 Christmas trees six or eight inches tall so that we could put them in pots. Of course they brought another former politician into the act. They did not know what to get; they did not know whether to mix them or to get one kind, so they got hold of Bill McMullen, who was a former Member of this House and he suggested to them that they send down the hemlocks because that is our state tree. That is the reason we have the hemlock. It is our Pennsylvania tree.

I offer this in sort of a spirit of good will at this particular time, and I wish each and every Member of this House a Merry Christmas.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank Mr. Williams for bringing these trees down to decorate our desks, for the reason that Pennsylvania leads in reforestation in the nation and Indiana County leads in Pennsylvania. Therefore, it is the greatest reforestation county in the nation. Naturally we are very proud of that.

I think it was very appropriate for Mr. Williams to bring hemlocks, they grow very slowly, much slower than the pines, and I think by the time we get out of here they will be large enough to be trimmed.

The SPEAKER. If the Members of the House will just guard that little hemlock in the pot until the time comes to set it out, and you tend it carefully for the next eighty years, you will begin to have something that resembles a tree. If all of those hemlock are planted by the time this session is over, you will all be lost in an impenetrable hemlock forest.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the bill which I have just reported, Senate Bill No. 899, is the bill that the gentleman from McKean on last Wednesday asked me to consider in the Appropriations Committee.

A that time I told the gentleman the bill would not be considered and I gave him some reasons for it. I think the gentleman well knew at the time he made the request that there were not enough Members in this House, if they have all been Members of the Appropriations Committee, to hold a meeting and have a quorum. However, the Appropriations Committee meeting was called. I regret to state that the only member that showed up was the Chairman. So I could not very well consider the bill.

Furthermore, I did not have the bill and though after Mr. Johnson's request that I consider it, I used every means possible to try to get the bill into my possession.

Since that time we have received the bill. We have discussed the bill with the different departments and we have found that Senate Bill 899, which makes an appropriation, I would say a piece meal appropriation, for certain items in the Department of Public Instruction is, in my opinion, a very unsatisfactory bill.

The gentlemen who introduced this bill in the Senate are men of high standing and I believe that what they were attempting to do was to probably alleviate the situation. But I do not think that this bill does it in the form that it came to us from the Senate.

So in Committee today I offered amendments which entirely eliminate the appropriation and we amended the bill in connection with Section 2, which is now Section 1, as amended, so that it would include the amount of all the appropriations that are past due. Instead of making it mandatory to borrow this money and sell tax anticipation notes, we changed the bill to read from "shall" to "may" so if it were not necessary, we would not have to do it.

At the same time if this bill passes this House and goes to the Senate and they concur in the amendments, it will place borrowing power with the Commonwealth and the bill will then be an act which can be used if necessary.

One of the reasons why we increased the amount was it made no provisions for tuition, vocational education, and particularly that it overlooked the rentals due the school districts for the State Public School Building Authority and the Municipal Authorities. Those rentals are long over due; they are the oldest item in Public Instruction's appropriation that has not been paid.

Now the gentleman from McKean on numerous occasions has insisted that we pass certain Senate bills in connection with the Department of Public Instruction. I am going to review as briefly as I can what we have done in this House in connection with appropriations to the Department of Public Instruction.

On September 14 we passed the general appropriation bill for Public Instruction and sent it to the Senate. It has been in Committee over there since the 19th day of September. They have not acted upon it.

Then in October they introduced Senate Bill 785, which made a piece-meal appropriation for certain functions of the Department of Public Instruction. At that time when we amended the bill so it is the same as 1599, I pointed out that the important item to the fourth class districts was transportation of over 14 million. The vocational education, the rentals and so on, had not been included in that Senate Bill.

So we sent the bill back to the Senate as amended and the bill has rested in the Senate. They voted to non-concur in the House amendments. It came back to the House and we insisted upon our amendments. I am very happy that the Republican Members supported us in that position in this House.

Now that bill, 785 has been back in the Senate since the 6th day of December. As yet no committee on conference has been appointed by the Senate—it is a Senate bill and we cannot appoint a Committee in the House until the Senate has acted.

Now, realizing that we must have an appropriation on the books to pay these school districts, I contacted the Majority Leader of the Senate yesterday, and I tried to explain to him the urgency of the situation and what we were attempting to do. I believe he agreed with me. In fact, he told me that he thought the committee has been appointed and if they were not appointed they would be appointed that day.

I also contacted the Minority Leader of the Senate and discussed the urgent situation with him. He advised me that he had been assured that the committee would be appointed.

The difference between the houses as given me by the Senators, were so small that I said without hesitation that we would accept them here. It was my understanding that the committee would be appointed in the Senate yesterday, we were to appoint a committee in the House and possibly even yesterday or early today we could get a conference report and get this bill to the Governor.

The gentleman from McKean mentioned that the districts lack borrowing power because we did not have an appropriation on the books. That is correct, Mr. Speaker. If we would do what I have suggested, or if the Senate would go along with us on it, we would have this bill enacted into law and it would give borrowing power to the districts.

However, that is not the solution to our problem. I stated yesterday that I would make a statement today on the floor of this House, and I would give our plans for meeting the immediate financial crisis of the fourth class school districts as well as the others.

Our plan was this. If the Senate, and I regret they have not appointed the conference committee and we have not met and agreed on this bill, but if they had done so the Governor would have immediately signed that bill and it would have been law. We could have then have converted the temporary investments held in the State Treasury in the amount of $44,749,000 which would have enabled us to immediately start the checks rolling to the fourth class districts of Pennsylvania.

The Department of Public Instruction has advised me that they have everything ready if the bill were signed and this money was made available, that within a period of possibly five or six days, the school districts of the fourth class would be in possession of this $43 odd million dollars.

The greatest distress is in the fourth class districts which are the small rural districts. I think we must do first things first and that is who we should take care of.

We further had planned if the Senate would concur and the House amended 785 and put it on the books that we would be able to borrow $30 million in tax anticipation notes under existing law. With that amount and the increased amounts that we expect to receive during January we could probably pay the amount due the first, second and third class school districts.

The gentleman from McKean said we could at least make token payments. Mr. Speaker, I have discussed that with the Department of Public Instruction, and they tell me that it would take a considerable period of time to recompute the amount that can be paid and it would not solve their problems. In other words, we must get this substantial sum to them, and we have to do it by having an appropriation bill signed by the Governor to do so. As I said before that would also give them buying power.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I regret very much that the question of financing the schools has been embroiled in political argument. I think my record speaks for itself. I never injected politics into the question of school finances. I tried to handle the entire matter of all of these appropriations on a strictly non-partisan basis. But when I read in the paper and school superintendents, supervising principals, board members and county superintendents call be my phone, write me letters and tell me that the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, says there is plenty of money, that these bills can be paid, I believe speaking for myself and for this administration, that those facts are not so.

He intimated we were attempting to create a crisis by delaying these school payments. Mr. Speaker, that is not so, and I again speak for the administration in that respect. I would say that it is of deep concern to the Governor and everyone in authority, that we get the money to these school districts as soon as we can. But, where is the blame? I am very happy it is not in this House. It is not on either the Democratic nor the Republican side, because they did support these bills, they did support our position on 785 and I cannot understand why the gentleman from McKean always wants to overlook what we have constructively done, what we have carried out, and then says we should take these piece-meal appropriations to the Senate in order to get the schools some money. I cannot agree with that. I congratulate the Republican Members who supported our position. I think financing these schools is everybody's business, it is important and we have a plan as I explained here which will get cash to them, not promises. This bill will give it to them promptly and I regret very much, Mr. Speaker, that the conference committee on 785 was not appointed in the Senate and we were not able to meet as we anticipated and agreed upon this bill.

I do not want to take up much more time of the House, but I want to say this, that we on this side stand ready now, as we have stood at all times, to negotiate on 785 or on 1599, which will do the job, which will get cash to the school districts of Pennsylvania, and this administration is vitally concerned and interested that this be done as soon as possible.

I want to say to the gentleman from McKean if he has any influence, he should contact the Senators concerned and see if we cannot get that conference committee appointed, whether we cannot get together, get an agreement and get the bill on the Governor's desk and have it signed. I assure him and the people of Pennsylvania that the mechanics will be set in motion to get the checks to these school districts within a week.

Mr. JOHNSON. I would like permission to interrogate Mr. Polen, the gentleman from Washington.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman to explain again how he has amended Senate Bill 899?

I might first explain to the House that Senate Bill 899 came over from the Senate with an emergency appropriation of $110 million in the bill for school subsidies with a recitation that if there was not money enough in the State Treasury to pay this sum the Commonwealth shall borrow on tax anticipation notes to make that sum available to the school districts.

Now, Mr. Speaker, am I correct in saying that the $110 million appropriation has been taken out of the bill?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. That is correct. Then what is left in the bill, as amended?

Mr. POLEN. The bill, as amended, would give the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer, in the event there is not sufficient money in the State Treasury to pay in full immediately the past due appropriations with a limitation not exceeding the amount of $132,200,066.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, is there any appropriation at all in the bill as amended?

Mr. POLEN. There is not, Mr. Speaker, and I think very properly so.

Mr. JOHNSON. It is merely a borrowing bill, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Then, as I understand the tenor of the gentleman's remarks, the appropriation for the schools is that contained in Senate Bill 785, which the gentleman hopes to have accomplished through a conference report?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have been at this microphone almost continually since the 12th of October when Senate Bill 785 came over here with approximately $421 million in it for school subsidies, plus the $31 million raise for the teachers.

I said then and I still say that bill should have been put on the Governor's desk then in the way it came over from the Senate. For some unexplained reason, and I would say that it was a message from the front office, you loaded that particular bill down with amendments on that day deliberately so that the bill could not pass and be put on the Governor's desk.

You say you do not believe in token or piece-meal appropriations for education. You believe in it for every other department on this Hill. We passed a $15 million piece-meal appropriation for the Department of Public Assistance here the other day.

Let me say that if the bill as weighted down with amendments totalling over $550 million had been put on the Governor's desk back in October without a tax program, I am just wondering whether the Governor could sign such a large amount as that. Of course, he would have the liberty to tear it down under his right to scale down appropriations, but that then would be just a piece-meal job.

I say in October, when Senate Bill 785 was here for action and we were all here ready to go, you could have just as well put that on the Governor's desk and then the schools could have had at least their subsidy payments and we would not have the perilous situation that exists in our schools today.

The plan that you have given us here today has whiskers on it. It is old as the hills. We have been preaching this plan to you for the last six weeks. We said that you had $30 million left in anticipation notes you could borrow, and recently when the gentleman from Washington said there was only $15 million in the State Treasury, we found that there was $44 million in government bonds that could be sold, that was pointed out in an additional press release so that the people would know there was practically $60 million of cash and presently available to do this job. So, therefore, your plan is not new and it is what we have been pointing out to you for the last six weeks.

What should be done here today is, instead of worrying about a conference report, and you know there cannot be a conference report at this late date, the bill should be sent back to us from the Senate. We should recede from our amendments right now, this morning, send the bill over to the Governor with $421 million in it and with the $31 million in it for the teachers. That is the way to get the bill on the Governor's desk.

If the Department of Public Instruction says they do not see how they can make piece-meal checks, or token payments to the school districts, it is just a matter of mechanics. If the schools are entitled to $50 million and we are only going to pay, say fifteen per cent, they can multiply $50 million by fifteen per cent and send out a check for that amount of money. I think it is as simple as ABC.

If we have not got the money through the $30 million tax anticipation notes and the $45 million in government bonds, you can borrow from the Motor License Fund until June 30, 1956. Right now there is over $50 million in the Motor License Fund as compared to $6 million in the fund this time last year. There would be that money which could be borrowed under the Administrative Code, so that the teachers could be paid and the schools receive their subsidies.

I would say today, let us get the Senate to send Senate Bill 785 back here. I then would like to make a motion that the House recede from its amendments and we then can vote, send Senate 785 to the Governor and he can sign it before Christmas. If we can do that, it will create joy in the heart of every teacher in this state. It will certainly bring comfort to every school director in Pennsylvania, and I am sure they know that we have been dilly-dallying here with appropriations which could have been put on the Governor's desk very, very easily.

We are toying with a perilous situation, and I think it is about time that we woke up and sent the Governor a bill that he could in all conscience sign in view of the revenue.

I want to repeat there are $900 million in taxes that will come in this biennium whether we pass a tax program or not. I think the Governor's original estimate is $837 million, which is based on exactly what was brought in during Governor Fine's administration in the last biennium. Since that time there has been an estimate that $65 million more money is coming in from existing taxes because of the prosperity at the present time. I also have an estimate that there is $20 million in tax money coming in every month from these existing taxes.

So today let us go over to the Senate and have them send Senate Bill 785 back here. Let us recede from our amendments and put that bill on the Governor's desk. That is the only way we are going to do it. I say to everyone in this House, we are going to be out until January 16th, and whether you are a Democrat or a Republican you are not going to be able to walk up and down the streets of your communities unless we do something for the schools before we leave here today.

I am giving you this admonition, I want you to listen to it. Get in a huddle over there and we can get that bill back from the Senate, we can recede from our amendments we can pass it today and the schools will get their money in very short order.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman again is pleading to pass Senate bills which do not do the job, and wants to ignore the fact that this House has performed its duty and sent proper bills over to the Senate.

I do not understand why he takes that position and I am not going to go into that matter further, but I am going to answer him on some of the other things he said.

He said we passed a piece-meal appropriation for Public Assistance the other day. We certainly did. And why? Months and months ago we sent a bill for the full appropriation for the Department of Public Instruction over to the Senate and it is still in Committee over there. So rather than see the people who are unfortunate enough to be on relief go hungry, we had to put in another stopgap bill, because the money will run out about January 10th. I think it was proper that we passed piece-meal legislation since the Senate has refused to pass the Public Assistance appropriation bill which has been in Committee over there for months.

He also said he doubted whether the Governor could sign Senate Bill 785 if it was passed. I say he can sign it, because taxes, the gentleman himself admits, are on the books in the amount of $907 million. We have not passed that amount of appropriations, so he could sign it.

Getting back to Senate Bill 785, for which he pleads. What were the reasons why we amended it here? Beyond the fact that it was piece-meal legislation, one of the reasons was that it did not provide enough money to take care of the reimbursement from which teachers' salaries are paid. That was one of the primary reasons, we put it back to the figure it should be, because it did not do that.

The other reason which I believe the gentlemen in the Senate have recognized, and I called attention to it, it did not provide anything for the payment of transportation which was due in September of this year. Now they have changed their thinking on it, because in this 899 they have included the transportation. So that would indicate to me that the decision of this House was right. I think our position has always been sound. It would be impossible to pass this bill so that it could be signed immediately, we do not have the days in which to do it, even if it could have been considered last week, when we did not even have the bill.

We do have a situation where we can get legislation on the books, 785, if the Senate would appoint a conference committee and we could get together. I held myself in readiness all day. If we made an agreement to strike out the Board of Censors they would concur, that is the way it was told to me. They would even have it printed so it could be expedited. Maybe he is the chief apologist here for the Senate, I don't know, but I am going to stand on the record that we have made in this House that we have passed two tax programs which would have solved all of these problems we are now talking about.

I regret that Mr. Johnson and his associates did not go along with us on it, but at least we can say this House has passed two tax programs. I do not know whether he liked them or not, but at least we had a program and we passed it, and it met the fate in the Senate which you all know.

He is now appealing to us to have a huddle on this side of the House. I am going to say to him that we have had many huddles. We would like to see them have a huddle over in the Senate. Maybe he can use his influence to see the Majority Leader over there and perhaps we can still get a conference committee appointed so we can get together. If the only difference is what the gentleman told me and what he told Senator Dent, I assure him it will be very, very easy for us to eliminate the Board of Censors in order to give money to the schools of Pennsylvania.

He says this plan is not new and it is what he has been hollering for all this time. I might say we know we can borrow money from the Motor License Fund for eight months, we have considered it, we have the figures. That is one of the reasons we do not want this Senate Bill 899 to be a shelved bill. Maybe the gentleman does not know, but the bankers of Pennsylvania take a very, very bleak look with no taxes on the books. We have been told by fiscal experts the rate will be much, much higher than it was in the past on tax anticipation notes. Why? Because we do not have a tax program.

So if we can do this by limiting our borrowing on tax anticipation notes to the lowest possible amount we can borrow from the Motor License Fund, as the gentleman has suggested. We long ago discussed that possibility, and I might say it is one of the ways in which we hoped to solve this financial situation, if we can get an appropriation bill on the books to do it.

We are talking about piece-meal legislation. I introduced a bill yesterday for $50 million more stopgap. That is the only way we can operate. We don't want to do it, but we are having to do it, we are being forced to do it.

I would appeal to the gentleman from McKean to use his influence with the Senate and their leadership to appoint a committee on conference. I am sure the Speaker of this House will promptly appoint a committee after the Senate has acted on it. The gentleman understands it is a Senate bill and we cannot act here in the House until such time as the Senate has appointed a committee.

I assure him we are ready and willing to act. We do not need any more huddles. We have been burning the midnight oil. Instead of just talking about it, we tried to do something about it. I do not care if the plan is old, or what it is, it will work, but it cannot work until we get the appropriation on the books.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further answer the gentleman.

I would like to again refer to Senate Bill 785. If a conference committee were appointed and they were to agree on the bill which would total approximately $550 million, let us see what would happen to the bill when it reached the Governor's desk.

The Governor would have to sit down with his Budget Secretary, with the other members of his brain-trust over there, and they would have to weigh that $550 million appropriation against the $900 million in taxes which are presently on the books. He would have to weigh that appropriation against all the other appropriation bills which are part of his program and which are "must" appropriation bills which will have to be passed finally throughout this session.

What will the Governor then have to do with the bill? He will not be able to sign it for $550 million, he will have to pare it down to the point it will be in a relative position as other bills are with the available money as indicated to him by the Budget Secretary, based on presently existing taxes.

What will we have then? We will have a token appropriation bill for our schools. Therefore, we say that 785, totaling $421 million, plus $31 million for the teachers, was about as much an appropriation bill as could have been sent to the Governor at that time, and even at this time, for him to sign within the framework of existing taxes.

I am wondering whether he would not have to veto out of the $550 million the $31 million that is presently in there for the school teachers by reason of no apparent funds available for that purpose.

You are talking about transportation payments being due last September. I think you will find that transportation payments were generally paid in January or early February. I think that has been the custom for quite a number of years. I do not think the school districts are hollering about the transportation payments. What they want right now is the school subsidy to pay the teachers.

We again repeat that we have had piece-meal appropriations this entire session, piece-meal for Public Assistance. This $50 million stopgap appropriation you just moved out of Committee, as you say, I believe totals $150 million in piece-meal appropriations for all the other departments and for payrolls. Why not a piece-meal appropriation for our schools right now until this entire picture is settled; until our Budget Secretary, the Governor and the Appropriations Committee can sit down when a tax program is finally passed, and through a conference committee on the entire appropriation send an appropriation bill to the Governor which will embody all the appropriations within the framework of money available and within the framework of the needs of the Commonwealth as decided upon by the combined Appropriation Committees in the House and Senate. That is the way to do the job.

I say if you put $550 million on the Governor's desk today he will have to use his right to veto and cut a good bit of it out of the bill, so you will end up with a token appropriation bill anyhow.

I therefore repeat, the way to do it is go to the Senate and have Senate Bill 785 sent back here. We can recede from our amendments. We can put that bill on the Governor's desk today, and we can all leave here knowing that the schools are going to get some money before we get back here in January.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to assure the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, as to the question he has raised about whether or not the Governor can sign the bill. I can answer him now and say he can.

We have explored the situation which he has suggested. We are not waiting to talk here and then get a clearance on it. We know what the situation is, we know he can sign it.

He refers to the $31 million, Mr. Speaker. That bill carried a clause that it is not effective unless we pass legislation authorizing an increase in the teachers' salaries. So he does not need to be concerned about that.

I am only going to say only one thing more and that is, he wants to do it the hard way.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I was very much interested in the discussion between the respective leaders, but I would call the attention of the House to the fact that many weeks ago I inquired as to why the Governor had not appointed a permanent Superintendent of Public Instruction. It will be one year on January 17 that the Department of Education, which exhausts one-half of our general budget, does not have anything a stop-gap head. I am wondering whether or not this is because the Superintendent of Public Instruction is an executive officer and cannot be removed by the Governor.

I am also wondering whether or not the purpose of the reorganization bill transferring many departments, to the Secretary of State, was for the purpose of placing those boards under the head of a political officer. We are all agreed that we must have a Superintendent of Public Instruction; we are all agreed that there are many capable men who would like to work under the aegis of Governor Leader in carrying on education for the benefit of everybody.

Is it not time that we get a permanent Superintendent of Public Instruction in this state?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BANKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have no desire to go into the political aspects of this question, but rather to talk about what the people back home are thinking of this.

I have an item here taken from the Sunday Patriot-News, which gives a few of these ideas. I am going to read our own county's statement. Mr. Homer W. Dell, Huntingdon County, Assistant Superintendent, said:

"We are in bad shape, our districts are borrowing money and most have borrowed right up to the limit. So far as this office knows, all teachers were paid for services in November. December is a question. Some teachers are facing payless Christmases and some of the districts already have borrowed against state funds which have not been appropriated yet."

That is Huntingdon County's situation—not good.

Regardless of what has been said and done by the administration to convince the people of Pennsylvania that the Republican legislators have been and are the cause of the present financial crisis in our school affairs, it is still the opinion of my people back in Huntingdon County that we have not been at fault in our course of action thus far. I have been besieged by these people to do something, do anything that will provide some immediate relief for our distressed school districts.

Mr. Johnson has very ably pointed out the way to expedite this crisis in language very plain and convincing. In behalf of those people in Huntingdon County, I ask the Majority side of this House to go along with the gentleman's request and withdraw from our present position and thereby eliminate this crisis in one fell swoop, and let these people have at least a half decent Christmas.

Mr. STONER. It is of immediate importance.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman.

Mr. STONER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if the custodian of the House would check the drafts on this side of the Hall. It is very cold, the temperature is just about 68 degrees there and I have been in bed for several days with a cold. Could we do that during our absence in the recess.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is informed by the Parliamentarian that that situation has been checked, the heat will be turned on. If there is further complaint, the Chair would request the gentleman to inform the Chair.

Mr. STONER. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REORGANIZATION PLANS No. 6 and 7

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, Pa.

To the General Assembly of the
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

By authority vested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955, Act No. 8, I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1955. This transfers from the Department of Revenue to the Department of State the State Athletic Commission together with its powers, functions and duties.

This Plan is submitted for the following reasons: (1) functions of the State Athletic Commission have only an incidental relation to the Department of Revenue; (2) the transfer will relieve one of our large and expanding departments of a minor task and enable it to focus attention and resources upon primary responsibilities; (3) improved management and economy can be expected from grouping miscellaneous agencies and functions in one department—the Department of State.

GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

Dated: 12-20-55.

Transmitted to the General Assembly,
December 20, 1955.

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 6 OF 1955

Section 1. The State Athletic Commission, together with its powers, functions and duties, is transferred from the Department of Revenue, where it has been a departmental administrative commission, to the Department of State, where it shall be a departmental administrative commission, with the same status under the Act of April 9, 1929, (P. L. 177), known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, as that of departmental administrative commissions.

Section 2. There are hereby transferred to the Department of State, to be used, employed and expended in connection with the functions, powers and duties transferred by section 1 of this Reorganization Plan, the files, records, property, contract obligations, personnel, and the unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations and other funds available or to be made available for use in connection with such functions, powers and duties.

Section 3. The functions, powers and duties of the Secretary of Revenue, under section 427 of The Administrative Code of 1929, and its amendments, are transferred to and shall be exercised by the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Section 4. The functions of the Department of Revenue, under subsections (c) and (d) of section 318, act of August 31, 1955 (Act No. 131), known as the "Pennsylvania Athletic Code," are transferred to and shall be exercised by the Department of State.

Section 5. The following acts and parts of acts are suspended as particularly set forth:

Sections 202 and 2503, act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and their amendments, in so far as they affect the location of the State Athletic Commission in the Department of Revenue.

Section 427, act of April 9, 1929, (P. L. 177) known as "The Administrative Code of 1929," and its amendments, in so far as it imposes functions, powers and duties on the Secretary of Revenue.

Subsections (c) and (d) of section 318, act of August 31, 1955 (Act No. 131), known as the "Pennsylvania Athletic Code," in so far as they are in conflict with this Reorganization Plan.

In the House of Representatives, December 20, 1955.

RESOLUTION

Resolved, That Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of December 20, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be approved.

In the House of Representatives, December 20, 1955.

RESOLUTION

Resolved, That Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of December 20, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be disapproved.

To the General Assembly of the
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

By authority vested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955, Act No. 8, I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 7 of 1955. The principal purpose of this plan is to transfer responsibility for replanting strip mining areas from the Department of Mines to the Department of Forests and Waters.

This change is desirable because: (1) The Department of Forests and Waters is already engaged extensively in work of a similar nature; (2) The Department of Forests and Waters grows the nursery stock and is better equipped with professional and technical personnel to promote and accomplished this important task; (3) Efficiency and economy of administration will be encouraged. For these reasons I recommend approval by the General Assembly.

GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

Transmitted to the General Assembly on

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 7 OF 1955

Section 1. The functions, powers and duties of the Secretary of Mines set forth in sections 11, 12, 13, 14 and 18 of the act of May 31, 1945 (P. L. 1198), known as the "Bituminous Coal Open Pit Mining Conservation Act," amended August 19, 1953 (P. L. 1115), and in sections 14, 16 and 19 of the act of June 27, 1947 (P. L. 1095), known as the "Anthracite Strip Mining Law," amended August 19, 1953 (P. L. 1112), are transferred to the Secretary of Forests and Waters.

Section 2. There are hereby transferred to the Department of Forests and Waters to be used, employed and expended in connection with the functions, powers and duties transferred by Section 1 of this Reorganization Plan, all property, supplies, equipment, records, files and contract obligations now being used or held in connection with such functions, powers and duties, and all personnel engaged solely in the performance of such functions, powers and duties, and the unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations and other funds available or to be made available for use in connection with such functions, powers and duties.

Section 3. The following acts and parts of acts are suspended in so far as they confer functions, powers and duties on the Secretary of Mines:

Sections 11, 12, 13, 14 and 18, act of May 31, 1945 (P. L. 1198), known as the "Bituminous Coal Open Pit Mining Conservation Act," and their amendments.

Sections 14, 16 and 19, act of June 27, 1947 (P. L. 1095), known as the "Anthracite Strip Mining Law," and their amendments.

In the House of Representatives, December 20, 1955.

Resolved, That Reorganization Plan No. 7 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of December 20, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be approved.

In the House of Representatives, December 20, 1955.

Resolved, That Reorganization Plan No. 7 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of December 20, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be disapproved.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, December 20, 1955.

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Wednesday, December 28, 1955, at 3:30 o'clock p.m., EST and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Wednesday, December 28, 1955, at 3:30 p.m., EST.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, before the Members vote on this Resolution, I would like to advise them while they are still all here that next Wednesday's session will be a consent session. We do not expect the Members to be here next Wednesday unless something should develop which would make it imperative that we call you back.

If such a decision is made you will be notified by letter or telegram in plenty of time. But we felt that it was more prudent to adjourn until next Wednesday, rather than until January 16th, subject to being recalled.

That is the reason this Resolution is now before you.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE MESSAGE

APPOINTMENT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON SENATE BILL No. 785

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate insists on its nonconcurrence in the amendments made and insisted upon by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill No. 785, entitled:

An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Department of Public Instruction for two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred fifty-five and making appropriations to the Department of Public Instruction for reimbursements to school districts.

And has appointed Messrs. Wagner, Kessler and Seyler a committee of conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives (if the House of Representatives shall appoint such committee) on the subject of the difference existing between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate to Senate Bill No. 785 and that a Committee of Conference be appointed.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, now that the Majority Leader has insisted that the House insist on its amendments inserted in Senate Bill 785 and that we do not recede from our position, there is nothing much we can do.

We made the suggestion on this side of the House to save, as we thought, the teachers of Pennsylvania. The gentlemen on that side do not agree with us, but, that is beside the point, it is water over the dam and they have the votes.

But there are some things that I would like to say about Senate Bill 785 at this point. A Committee of Conference has now been appointed and will meet or meet very shortly. Now let's stop hiding behind little excuses.

Mr. Polen stood on the floor of the House today and made a lot of excuses about this and that and tried to place the blame. But I think we are beyond the point of placing the blame at this point. Let us agree immediately on this Conference Committee and settle this thing once and for all.

I think I am correct in this statement, and I stand corrected if I am wrong, that we have exactly to the dollar the same amount of money available today as we had last October. So we could have settled it last October. We put it off. I believe if I am right that we have the same method of financing today that we had last October. So we could have settled it then.

Now, it is beside the point whether the Senate failed in this or whether the Senate failed in that. That is all water over the dam. We pledge to you and we pledge to the people of Pennsylvania that we on this Republican side will sit here with a skeleton force, if necessary this entire week, until this Conference Committee comes to an agreement.

We want the teachers to be paid and we are willing to stay here. I don't want to be here any more than anybody else does. But we will keep a force in operation in this House until this Conference Committee reaches some agreement so that the teachers can be paid.

Another thing I think the Majority is insisting on, and again I think it is beside the point, does not make a whole lot of difference to me and I say me, and it doesn't make a whole lot of difference to you, if the whole Department of Public Instruction isn't paid. I don't care.

It does not make any difference how much money is in the bill for the Department of Public Education, that is bunk. I don't care if they are not paid for a month but we do care if the teachers of Pennsylvania are not paid. That is the point that you people are arguing about, about the Department having enough money. Well, that is baloney in my estimation. I don't care if they are paid and you honestly in your hearts don't care if they are paid either.

Let us get the teachers paid, let us get them paid soon. We pledge at this point, and I pledge personally, to stay here for the entire week and the beginning of next week, we will keep a skeleton force in operation so your Conference Committee may come to an agreement so that these teachers can be paid. Blame is beside the point. Let us get them paid. That is the important thing.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I know that this Conference Committee is going to meet today and spend as much time as they can on this problem. This side is willing to stay here in skeleton session also, as long as there is any reasonable hope that some solution can be achieved by this conference group.

I agree with the gentleman that we should not be trying to blame each other for something, we should be trying to solve it, and we are trying to do just that.

He says he doesn't think we care whether the employees of the Department of Public Instruction are paid or not. I believe if he would reconsider he would not make that statement again. I think what he means is that it is not as important that they get paid as it is that our teachers in greater numbers get paid. But none of us want to see anybody go payless when he should be paid.

We hope nobody is going to go without pay but if it has to happen it won't be for a very long period.

I assure him that he is going to get all the cooperation on this side in getting this problem solved quickly.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL No. 785

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Committee of Conference on the part of the House, Messrs. POLEN, McCANN and JOHNSON.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, for presiding.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

The SPEAKER. The Chair will now return to the order of business of leaves of absence.

Yesterday this House instructed the Chief Clerk to ascertain why Members were absent, to ascertain the validity of their absence, the reasons, and to use such means as are in his power, which would include the use of the investigatory forces of the Commonwealth, to find out where those absent Members were if he was unable to ascertain by the ordinary means of inquiry.

The Chair will now take leaves of absence and will request the Chief Clerk to inform the Chair in each instance whether he is satisfied with the validity of the reasons why the Member is absent.

We know that various Members of this House are ill, so seriously ill that it would endanger their health if they were required to attend. In a number of instances we know that. There are, perhaps, other instances in which we have only hearsay information that Members are ill, and it may be that there are Members with whom it has been impossible for the Chief Clerk to communicate up to the present time.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I have some leaves of absence to request. I do not know if you want them from me or from the Chief Clerk, who I understand also has some. I have just given them to him.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that the gentleman from Philadelphia ask for leaves of absence for such members as he desires, and that he notify the Chief Clerk, who will inform the Chair whether his investigations lead him to know that the leaves are justified.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I ask for leaves of absence because of sickness for Mr. Greenwood from Wyoming.

Mr. Kline from Schuylkill.

Mr. Young from Mercer.

Mr. Gibson from Warren.

Mr. Down from Mercer.

Mr. Erb has just left the floor of the House. He received word that his son has been in an automobile accident and is in serious condition in the hospital in Altoona. They are the only leaves of absence we have for sickness.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would request the Chief Clerk to inform the Chair as to what he suggests with reference to these particular leaves of absence.

The SPEAKER. (The Chief Clerk conferred with the Speaker). If there are no objections, leave will be granted to Messrs. Kline, Greenwood, Young, Gibson, Down and Erb. The Chair hears no objection and leave is granted.

Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave of absence for Mrs. Mary Varallo, who is ill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Kolankiewicz, whether he has knowledge of the situation, has he conferred either with Mrs. Varallo or with other persons, so that he can say and suggest to the House that leave be granted.

Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ. Mr. Speaker, last evening Mrs. Varallo came down to me and told me she was suffering from ptomaine poisoning. She had been treated downstairs by the nurse and she asked me to ask for leave of absence for her for today.

The SPEAKER. The chairman of the Philadelphia delegation suggests and recommends that leave be granted?

Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection and leave is granted.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, I ask for leave of absence for Mr. Schuster, who was advised to go home by Dr. Sarraf.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest to the House, recognizing his well-known sense of humor, that nevertheless the question we are considering is not humorous in any degree.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, I did not mean that to be humorous. Mr. Schuster was ill and I was there when Dr. Sarraf examined him. That is why I am asking for a leave of absence for him.

The SPEAKER. Leave of absence is requested for the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schuster.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate Dr. Sarraf?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Dr. Sarraf, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SARRAF. Maybe the gentleman would like to direct his remarks to "Dr." Verona.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman, I simply desire to inquire whether he knows that Mr. Schuster is ill or not?

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Verona is partially correct. Mr. Schuster early this morning was ill, but the advice to go home I did not give Mr. Schuster. The fact that he is ill is true.

The SPEAKER. What is the pleasure of the Majority Leader regarding the request for leave of absence for the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schuster?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that Dr. Sarraf stated that Mr. Schuster is ill, I would have no objection to leave being granted.

The SPEAKER. There being no objection, leave is granted.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask leave of absence for Mr. Walsh, who is definitely ill. We have contacted his doctor in McKeesport.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Dr. Sarraf, asks leave of absence for his colleague, Mr. Walsh, of Allegheny on account of illness.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Olsen, who is not present, is in Harrisburg and we are attempting to contact him. He is not ill.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections leave will be granted to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Walsh.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, in order to keep the record straight, may I inquire whether leaves of absence were granted for this week's session to Mr. McKeever, Mr. Needham and Mr. Reidenbach?

The SPEAKER. Leaves of absence were granted to Messrs. McKeever, Needham and Reidenbach for the week's session.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire whether Mr. Mills is present today?

The SPEAKER. Is Mr. Mills present in the Hall of the House?

(No response)

Mr. READINGER. May I further inquire whether the Chief Clerk has any information concerning Mr. Mills?

The SPEAKER. The Chief Clerk informs the Chair as follows:

His secretary says she has not seen him all day and has no idea where he might be. There is no answer to his phone at home.

This would seem to the Chair to be one of those instances in which the Chief Clerk should use the investigatory arm of the Commonwealth.

What is the pleasure of the Majority Leader concerning leave of absence for the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Mills?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, nobody has asked for a leave of absence for the gentleman. He is simply absent. So I think the matter should be deferred to a later date for a decision by this House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would ask the Chief Clerk to inform him whether efforts have been made to locate Mr. Mills?

(The Chief Clerk conferred with the Speaker).

The Chair suggests that the matter go over and that the Chief Clerk take whatever steps may be necessary to ascertain the reasons for the absence of the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Mills, and report to this House at a later date.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Helm, to again preside.

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

My dear Mr. Speaker:

In accordance with our discussion in your office this morning, I am enclosing my official letter of resignation as a Member of the General Assembly.

Before making my departure from Harrisburg to day I now wish to go on record to express to you my sincere appreciation for the many courtesies you so kindly extended to me as Speaker of the House and in your former capacity as Democratic Floor Leader as well as fellow member.

It has been a rich experience to have had the opportunity and privilege of serving the people of the Fourteenth Legislative District of Philadelphia with such distinguished and outstanding leaders in the General Assembly, and I shall keep these memories while serving in my new capacity as a Councilman in the City of Philadelphia.

When you visit the City of Brotherly Love know that my office door is always open to you. Know also that any time I can be of service to you or your friends, I shall consider it a pleasure and a privilege.

The Season's Greetings.

Sincerely,

RESIGNATION

The SPEAKER laid before the House a resignation which was read by the Clerk as follows:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Harrisburg, Pa.

December 31, 1955

Honorable H. G. Andrews
Speaker House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Speaker:

The people of the Eighth Councilmanic District in the City of Philadelphia very kindly elected me as their representative in City Council at the General Election on November 8th, 1955.

By virtue of the above and in accordance with the Act of the General Assembly and the Philadelphia Home Rule Charter, I hereby tender my resignation as Representative in the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania representing the Fourteenth District of Philadelphia, to be effective December 31, 1955 at midnight.

Very truly yours,

(signed) WILBUR H. HAMILTON

REMARKS BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair was not aware that the letter of the gentleman from Philadelphia would be read in full before the House and, therefore, was not in a position to reply.

I want to say if they must needs have Republican Councilmen in Philadelphia, we will favor men of the type who has announced that he must retire from this chamber.

After one has rubbed shoulders, been on opposite sides of this aisle and differed politically with a man, it is something to say that never once were you the victim of a discourtesy at his hands, never once were you deceived regarding his intentions.

We will have lost a real force for good government in this House when Wilbur Hamilton leaves us. What is our loss will be Philadelphia's gain.

I have only to say to the Republicans that if they want to come back to power in Philadelphia, they should start in and as a matter of policy elect officers of the type of Wilbur Hamilton.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, and recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Hamilton.

Mr. WILBUR H. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to say farewell to the finest group of statesmen with whom I have ever been associated.

I sincerely appreciate the words expressed by the present Speaker, the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews. It is true we have had occasion from time to time to discuss and debate legislation, and nobody knows better than the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews, that I was never involved in any legislation that was highly controversial. It was always non-partisan, non-political and bipartisan for the benefit of all the people in the city of Philadelphia. I favored every kind of a reform movement, never bowed to the wishes of any political leaders and never was too partisan in my viewpoint, but always interested in the Republican and the Democratic parties.

It was a great honor to have the privilege of discussing legislation with my fellow colleagues, not only from Philadelphia but from all over Pennsylvania.

I suppose it was due to the fact that I was never interested in controversial legislation that the people of the Eighth Councilmanic District gave me a majority of the votes last November to represent them in the city council of our great city, Philadelphia.

One of the leaders in the Councilmanic District is the present Republican Floor Leader, former Speaker, former Majority Leader, former Majority Whip and a leader in Philadelphia, the Honorable Charles C. Smith, who made a great contribution to the victory that proved to be the only one for the Republican Party in the city of Philadelphia. Together with the people we wish to express our appreciation to the people of the Eighth Councilmanic District.

Again I want to say it was a great privilege to have served here. It is hard to say goodbye at this moment, but I will be back from time to time to be with you.

I wish to express the same remarks to every Member that I addressed to the Speaker. To every Member, in the days that lie ahead if I can be of any service to you or your friends in Philadelphia, I wish you would write to me. If you pay a visit to the city of Philadelphia, I will have an office in City Hall and the mat on the outside says "Welcome" to all of you.

Good Luck and in the words of Tiny Tim: "God bless you everyone".

Provided That no bond shall be for an amount less than [three thousand dollars ($3000)] six thousand dollars ($6000). Liability under the bond shall be for the duration of strip mining at each operation and for a period of five years thereafter unless released prior thereto in the manner hereinafter provided by this act

Such bond shall be signed by the operator and a corporate surety licensed to do business in the Commonwealth. No license fee shall be charged for a renewal permit and the fee for [an additional] a renewal permit shall be calculated at the rate of [twenty-five dollars ($25)] fifty dollars ($50) per acre for the number of new acres which the operator estimates will be the area of land affected during the following year. All such moneys received by the department shall be deposited in a special fund with the State Treasurer and shall be expended by the Department of Mines in payment of the cost of administering the provisions of this act. Each application for a permit shall be accompanied by a bond as herein provided] of land actually affected exceed the estimate made by the operator at the time of the application for the permit the operator shall file an additional bond at the rate of [three hundred dollars ($300)] six hundred dollars ($600) per acre of the area affected over and above his estimate [Provided That an additional bond need not be filed where the number of acres of land actually affected multiplied by three hundred dollars ($300) does not exceed the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000)] If the work contemplated by the permit and bond be not completed but the area of land actually affected by strip mining during the year is less than the estimate the Secretary shall issue a release of the excess of the bond or deposit upon which liability has not been charged as aforesaid Provided That in no case shall any bond or deposit be released or reduced to an amount less than [three thousand dollars ($3,000)] six thousand dollars ($6,000)

The permit shall also specify the distance to which the bottom of the spoil banks made by the strip mining operation may approach any stream of water having a well defined channel Such distances shall be fixed by the department at such number of feet as the judgment of the department after consultation with the Water and Power Resources Board taking into consideration the character of the overburden is necessary to protect the channel of the stream

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

Senate Bill No. 758, Printer's No. 277, was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BANKER. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. BANKER. How can you take a vote on a bill and then finding it is defeated decide that it is an argumentative bill?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will repeat his question.

Mr. BANKER. How can you take a vote on a bill and after the decision has been announced decide that it is a controversial bill and should not be brought up?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For the information of the gentleman, the Chair agreed with a Member of the Ways and Means Committee that there would be no controversial bills considered during the time the Committee was meeting.

Mr. BANKER. Then why shouldn't it be announced before the bill is voted on that it is controversial??

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I don't know which bill the gentleman is referring to. I don't remember the Chair having made any decision on a vote which was later withdrawn because some of the Members are not here. If he was referring to the previous bill—

Mr. BANKER. I am referring to 758.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, there was no roll call vote taken on that bill. I believe the question of the bill being controversial was raised when the Members were in the process of voting but there was no count made.

Mr. BANKER. Well, there were about 10 or 12 nays who stood up.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, if we had followed through and completed it; the bill would have passed But we decided to withdraw it at the time so that the Members who are in a committee meeting would have an opportunity to be here to vote.

Mr. BANKER. I would agree with that. I voted against the bill and would be satisfied if it were passed but I don't see how you can take the bill out of action.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. By unanimous consent. For the information of the gentleman, the Chair expects to return to that bill.

Mr. BANKER. It was not unanimous consent. I don't agree with it.

CONCURRENCE HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 116

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 11 of today's calendar, House Resolution No. 116.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, September 26, 1955.

Large areas in northwestern Pennsylvania continue undeveloped generally marked by low population and a feeble struggling economy In many localities their economies are limited to fishing hunting and vacation-land activities.

Nevertheless there exist in this northwestern region vast potentialities for commercial and industrial growth a growth that is increasingly needed if this Commonwealth is to regain some of the dynamic quality of earlier expansion.

Such expansion is keyed to main-line low-rated transportation service and implicit in the coming operation of the St. Lawrence Waterway system lies the means for bringing main-line low-rated transportation to northwestern Pennsylvania.

The upper reaches of the Allegheny River flow close to the Great Lakes system a system destined to become an American freshwater Mediterranean Clearly more than one of Lake Erie's ports will progress to the stature of trans-oceanic steamship terminals.

Logically then to link the far-flung and industrially advanced inland waterway of the Allegheny and its connecting waters with the coming Lake Erie coastal expansion would add immeasurably to the welfare of both Nation and Commonwealth Precedents all through history indicate that the resulting heavy flow of water-borne traffic would bring mounting industrial and commercial growth to the Upper Allegheny and its watershed therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact into legislation the measures necessary to connect Lake Erie with the Upper Allegheny River by canal and to extend the existing lock system along the Allegheny to the river terminus of the canal and be it further

Resolved That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I object to this procedure of calling up bills for concurrence in Senate amendments without Members having a chance to get the bill in time to know what is going to be called up to see whether we want to vote for it or not.

I was informed by the Parliamentarian there would be no more after the first one. Now, here came another one and we did not have time to look these amendments up to know whether or not we wanted to vote for them, and we were not informed ahead of time that they were going to be called.

Section 1 Section 4 act of May 31, 1945 (P. L. 1198) known as the "Bituminous Coal Open Pit Mining Conservation" amended May 23, 1949 (P. L. 1730) is amended to read

Section 4 Before any operator shall hereafter engage in open pit mining of bituminous coal within the Commonwealth he shall [register] first apply for registration with the Department of Mines of this Commonwealth by filing [a certificate] on a form to be provided by the department [and giving information sufficient to identify the operator and an] giving the following information (1) Name or number of the operation (2) Location of the operation as to county and township and with reference to the nearest public road (3) A description of the tract or tracts by metes and bounds (4) The name and address of the landowner or his duly authorized representative and (5) An estimate of the number of acres of land in each mine inspection district that the operator will affect by open pit mining during one year immediately following the date of filing As a part of the application for registration the operator shall furnish in duplicate a map or plan on a scale of not less than four hundred feet to the inch in a manner satisfactory to the Secretary of Mines showing the location and the acreage of both the tract of land and the area to be effected by the operation contemplated If an operator continues to operate beyond one year the mine inspector shall be furnished with a new map at the end of each year of operation on which is outlined the area affected and restored from the date started to the date the map is furnished the inspector When the requirements of this act are met and no claims are outstanding under this act against the operator or in the case of any corporation against any officer or director a registration certificate shall issue Contemporaneously with and as a part of said registration the operator shall file with the Department of Mines a bond on a form to be prescribed and furnished by the department payable to the Commonwealth and conditioned that the operator shall faithfully perform all of the requirements of this act The bond shall be in the amount of [three hundred dollars ($300.00)] four hundred dollars ($400.00) per acre based upon the number of acres of land in each mine inspection district which the operator estimates that will be affected by open pit mining during one year immediately thereafter Provided That no bond shall be filed for less than [three thousand dollars ($3000.00)] four thousand dollars ($4000.00) Liability under such bond shall be for the duration of open pit mining at each operation and for a period of five years thereafter unless released prior thereto as hereinafter provided Such bond shall be executed by the operator and a corporate surety licensed to do business in the Commonwealth Provided however That the operator may elect to deposit cash or negotiable bonds of the United States Government or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission the General State Authority the State Public School Building Authority or any municipality within the Commonwealth with the department in lieu of a corporate surety The cash deposit or market value of such securities shall be equal to the sum of the bond The Secretary of Mines shall upon receipt of any such deposit of cash or securities immediately place the same with the State Treasurer whose duty it shall be to receive and hold the same in the name of the Commonwealth in trust for the purposes for which such deposit is made The State Treasurer shall at all times be responsible for the custody and safekeeping of such deposits The operator making the deposit shall be entitled from time to time to demand and receive from the State Treasurer on the written order of the Secretary of Mines the whole or any portion of any securities so deposited upon depositing with him in lieu thereof other negotiable securities of the classes herein specified having a market value at least equal to the sum of the bond and also to demand receive and recover the interest and income from said securities as the same becomes due and payable Provided however That where securities deposited as aforesaid mature or are called the State Treasurer at the request of the operator shall convert such securities into such other negotiable securities of the classes herein specified as may be designated by the operator Contemporaneous with the filing of said registration certificate and any renewal thereof the operator shall pay to the department a filing fee of one hundred dollars ($100.00) Should the area of land affected in each mine inspection district by open pit mining within the registration year exceed the estimate made in the registration certificate the operator shall within thirty (30) days [thereafter] if the area of land affected in each mine inspection district exceeds the estimate made file an amended registration certificate and additional bond but no filing fee shall be required in connection with the filing of such amendment

Section 2 The act is amended by adding after section 4 three new sections to read

Section 4.1 On or before the third day of each month every operator of a coal stripping operation shall furnish the mine inspector in whose district the operation is located on a form provided by the Department of Mines an accurate monthly report of coal produced number of employes and days worked and also a report of all fatal and nonfatal accidents for the previous month An annual report shall be furnished to the Secretary of Mines on forms provided for that purpose not later than the twenty-fifth day of January each year for the preceeding year

Section 4.2 All coal stripping operations coming within the provisions of this act shall be under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Department of Mines and shall be conducted in compliance with such reasonable rules and regulations as may be deemed necessary by the Secretary of Mines for the health and safety of those persons engaged in the work The Secretary of Mines through the mine inspectors shall have the authority and power to enforce the provisions of this act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder by him the terms of the registration certificate A mine inspector shall have the authority to order the halting of mine operations in any case where safety regulations are being violated where stripping operations exceed the acreage registered or where the bond may be inadequate to cover the acreage of the operation

Section 3 Section 5 of the act amended August 19, 1953 (P. L. 1175) is amended to read

Section 5 [Operation Report and Backfilling Within thirty (30) days after starting the removal of overburden at each operation for the removal of coal by open pit mining the operator shall file an operation report with the Department of Mines on a form to be prescribed and furnished by the secretary giving the following information (a) Name or number of the operation (b) Location of the operation as to county and township and with reference to the nearest public road (c) A description of the tract or tracts by metes and bounds and (d) The name and address of the landowner or his duly authorized representative]

The operator shall backfill the operation made by the open pit mining operation to a distance of [fifteen (15)] seventy-five feet beyond the boundary line of the right of way of any public highway and to a distance of two hundred feet from the property line of any dwelling house public building school church and community or institutional building The backfilling shall be done in such a manner as to insure lateral support [of a public highway] and to provide a slope having an angle not exceeding forty (40) degrees The Department of Mines may specify the time within which it shall be completed in order to protect the public safety [and may require such backfilling to be done in part before the completion of the open pit mining operation]

Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to prohibit the relocation of any public road in the manner provided by law

Section 8 Upon receipt of said completion report or annual report the Secretary of Mines shall charge the land affected in each mine inspection district by open pit mining against the bond filed by the operator at the time of registration at the rate of [three hundred dollars ($300.00)] four hundred dollars ($400.00) per acre Should the land actually affected in each mine inspection district by open pit mining within the year exceed the estimate made at the time of registration the operator shall within thirty (30) days thereafter file an amended certificate and additional bond If the land actually affected in each mine inspection district by open pit mining during the registration year is less than the estimate made by the operator in the registration certificate the secretary shall at the end of the registration year release the surplus of the bond and collateral upon which liability has not been charged as aforesaid Provided That no bond or collateral shall be released below [three thousand dollars ($3000.00)] four thousand dollars ($4000.00) in the absence of complete compliance with the requirements of this act and should there be a failure of complete compliance with the requirements of this act then regardless of the number of acres remaining to be backfilled the entire bond shall be forfeited as provided in this act

Section 9 If the operator continues to engage in open pit mining of bituminous coal beyond the period for which a certificate has been filed the operator shall reregister with the Department of Mines as hereinbefore provided in the case of the original registration [Provided however That the operator may with the consent of the Secretary of Mines and the surety if any apply the surplus of the bond filed for the preceding year upon bond requirement for the year for which he is reregistering in lieu of a release of the surplus as provided in section eight (8)] an angle not to exceed forty-five (45) degrees except where open pit mining cuts into active worked out or abandoned deep mine workings the] The angle shall not exceed forty-five (45) degrees from the top of the high wall to the bottom thereof and the peaks and ridges of spoilbanks shall be leveled and rounded off to such an extent as will permit the planting of trees grasses or shrubs Provided however That if the operator or other person desires to conduct drift mining upon the premises the operator may designate drift locations at which places it will not be necessary to so place overburden over the face of the coal Placing of overburden shall be postponed and the strip mine operator or the drift mine operator shall deposit with the Department of Mines a bond equal to the actual acreage reserved for drift mining at the rate of four hundred dollars ($400.00) per acre which shall be released to the depositor after the drift mine operation has been abandoned and the area backfilled and planted as required by law Such drift location shall be described in the completion report and designated on the map attached thereto Provided also That if the operator desires to use the open cut as a haulageway for the removal of coal from other operations the Secretary of Mines may postpone the covering of the exposed face of the unmined coal for the duration of such use

Section 5 Section 16 of the act is amended to read

Section 16 Any operator who proceeds to mine bituminous coal by the open pit mining method without having [registered] received a registration certificate as herein provided or who proceeds to mine bituminous coal by the open pit mining method without securing an amended registration certificate or who fails to register and secure a new registration certificate as herein provided or who proceeds to mine bituminous coal by the open pit mining method without having furnished the proper bond as herein provided or who has filed false information in the application for a registration certificate shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars ($5000.-00) [The fine shall be payable to the county in which the violation occurs] and further each day of a violation as herein set out shall constitute a separate and distinct violation The fines so collected shall be paid into and held by the State Treasurer in a special fund separate and apart from all other moneys in the State Treasury to be known as the "Bituminous Coal Open Pit Mining Reclamation Fund" and shall be used by the Secretary of Mines for the sole purpose of foresting or reclaiming land affected by open pit mining of bituminous coal upon lands situated in the county in which the violation occurred

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I asked to have this bill held over until the next time we meet. It is now up for consideration, is it not?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has been so informed.

Mr. HEWITT. I have tried to make myself plain to the people about the nature of this bill and said about all I can say about it. It is a piece of legislation that will do a great lot of harm to the stripping industry in the bituminous area. I would not be doing my duty if I did not get up and say something against the bill.

I have told a lot of the people about it and I think some of them are convinced and perhaps some are not. If you will not hold it over until we come back the next time, you will have to run it. That is all I can say.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if the House is not too busy at this time, and we don't seem to be, I would like to make a few suggestions, if it meets with the approval of the Chair.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Charles C. Smith, for the purpose of making a statement.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, the last few weeks we have heard a lot pro and con on the sales tax. We have heard from a lot of people who want to be for a sales tax and a lot of people who do not want to be for a sales tax. All of us seem to be getting nowhere.

It just struck me that we are going to have a holiday for about fifteen days and that something might be worked out.

The Ways and Means Committee met and I hear by the grapevine that sales tax bills were tabled.

Let us once and for all, some of us, decide to take the bull by the horns and at least do something for the people of Pennsylvania, at least give them a break over Christmas. We don't know where we stand, you don't know where you stand, we think we know where the Governor stands, but minds have been changed so often that sometimes I think it might be advisable to clear it once and for all.

We have had meetings with the Governor, and when we do have meetings there seem to be misunderstandings arising after the meetings, the Republicans say this and the Democrats say that. I have been accused by some individuals of being for or being against the sales tax. It depends where you stand at the time.

I do not think that I or anyone in this House can be for any tax unless we have a right to vote on it. I do not think we can discuss taxes as long as the Governor takes a stand where he says he will veto it. He doesn't say he will veto a one per cent, he doesn't say he will veto a two per cent, or he doesn't say he will veto a three per cent tax.

I would like, if it meets with the approval of the Chair, and I see the Speaker himself is not too busy, to recess this House immediately and let the Speaker of the House pick a committee on his side of two members, including himself, I would like to be given the same opportunity of picking a committee on this side of the House of two Members—or three Members including myself,—three with the Speaker. I would like the Press among themselves to pick their own committee of three members.

Let us go over to the Governor right now and ask the Governor what he is going to do. If he will ever consider a sales tax, what kind of a sales he will consider, or if he will not consider any sales tax? I want the Press in on this thing so it is given to the public in the right way.

MOTION TO RECESS

Mr CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speakekr, I move to immediately recess this House for a few minutes so the committees picked by the Speaker, my committee and the Press can go to the Governor and settle this question this year. Let's get this thing over with.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

The SPEAKER. (Mr. Andrews), asked and received unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the suggestion made by the Minority Leader is unacceptable. We presume the Minority Leader can read, and we would remind him that when a Governor of a great Commonwealth says repeatedly that he will not accept a sales tax that that is what he means, and it is an insult to question his integrity.

The gentleman has said that nobody knows where anybody is. We know where at least 98 of the Democratic Members of this House are and we do not have the faintest notion what the sentiments regarding a sales tax are on the other side of the aisle.

The Democratic caucus stands at the present time at least 98 votes against a sales tax and we would remind the Minority Leader that notwithstanding all of the knowledge of parliamentary law he possesses, or the record he has had, that he can change his mind, because since the beginning of this session he has changed his mind on various matters. He has always said he would never vote to discharge a Committee, but he might find himself with 90 panting Republicans that want to vote for a sales tax, and even though he has said that never, no, never, will he vote to discharge a Committee, since his devotion to the sales tax is so intense, so driving, we might suggest that he lay aside his parliamentary prejudices and just tell the people of this Commonwealth, and tell the Governor of the Commonwealth how many votes he has to override a veto, and tell us how many votes he has. He might see, he might see, a development, who knows where? Over here miracles happen. To 97 Republican votes to override a veto there might be a lot of Democrats. Who knows? But, at least, since the gentleman desires to ascertain the facts, let him convene his caucus instead of sending a delegation to see the Governor. Let him convene his caucus and come back and tell the Members of this House and tell the people in the Commonwealth how many votes he has for a sales tax.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I take it now that the gentleman, the Speaker of the House, is taking the prerogative of definitely speaking for the Governor. If that be so, that is fine. That is what I want to know, I want to pinpoint who is doing the speaking for whom around here.

In the second place, if the gentleman is right when he says the Governor will definitely veto a sales tax and that we tread on his integrity, again there is no use of even attempting to discharge a Committee.

Perhaps for the gentleman's information he had better get correct in his mathematics. He is offering us 90 votes, which means 16 votes they will give. I wonder if the gentleman knows it takes a two-thirds vote to override a veto? Will they supply the balance of votes? If they are going to override a veto, their party is going to have to be part of it. Don't throw your figures around so loosely, Mr. Speaker.

And speaking of changing one's mind, perhaps the Governor might change his mind. I thought perhaps he did want to work out a fiscal situation. For the gentleman's information, I have stood on the floor of this House and said I would never vote for a three per cent sales tax to pull the Governor out of a hole when he left the other one expire, so don't try to tag me with being a sales tax individual.

We will support a sales tax probably if the Governor would say that he would sign it, but now the gentleman has definitely quoted the Governor, said he would not sign a sales tax under any condition and has not come along and said they would supply votes to override his veto.

I think then, Mr. Speaker, we ought to agree on one thing with the gentlemen on the other side of the House, we will do it with them if it meets with their approval, we will forget sales tax. We will not even mention it. There would be no use of bringing up the question of discharging a Committee.

I will stand on my record, and I think the Republican majority, when we were in the majority, the gentleman remembers, never voted to discharge a Committee. We will not vote to discharge any Committee on any bill, regardless of the sales tax, and the gentleman knows it. We will be consistent in our thinking.

Now we have cleared the air. We definitely heard from the spokesman for the Governor, and he speaks with the authority I know him to have, that he will definitely veto a sales tax. Let the gentleman forget about discharging Committees, let the gentleman forget about talking sales tax, and let the Ways and Means Committee keep it buried where it now is, evidently that is the way they feel, and let us during the interim try to work out an equitable tax program for the people of this Commonwealth.

If the gentleman feels that is going to be the basis, that perhaps the Governor might change his mind, because he plainly says that I do, and I have that prerogative—I think any man's mind should be flexible enough to change—if I have changed mine, perhaps the Governor might change his.

So I would suggest to you to put your own sales tax bill in and supply the votes and see how many of us on the minority side will come through with votes to help you out.

Mr. ANDREWS. I desire to reply forcefully to the gentleman from Philadelphia. The gentleman says "let's forget the sales tax." We would like to know for whom he speaks. How far his authority goes. Sales tax agitation has not proceeded from this side of the House. Sales tax agitation has not proceeded from any prominent Democratic leader that I know anything about. I would like to know for whom the gentleman from Philadelphia speaks.

Talking about an agreement about conferences and all that sort of thing, will the gentleman who is well acquainted with processes in another place please tell us with what authorized agents this House can deal, can talk to or confer with, with any certainty that the conclusions arrived, at as a result of man to man conferences today, will be kept tomorrow?

What this House needs and what those who function in another place need is, what facility can we create that would enable a responsible committee of this House to confer with a responsible committee that serves in another place, to thrash out some of these things at the legislative level. I shall agree with that. But up to the present time, there has been no one among those who serve in another place with whom we can confer with any assurance that the conclusions arrived at will hold. We are dealing so far, in so far as they who serve in another place are concerned, with a leaderless corp.

Now, the thing to do is to establish some semblance of parliamentary responsibility. We know where we stand. The gentleman says he does not know how strong the sales tax, is running. We know how strong it is running, one way or another, over on this side. The only mystery is how many folks they have over there for the baby that the gentleman says has now been definitely abandoned. But there is no weeping on this side of the aisle.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Just as a reminder to the Speaker, when the gentleman wants to know on what authority I speak on the sales tax, I now speak and will speak in the future on the authority of the Speaker of this House.

He has assured us again and again tonight that the Governor will not sign a sales tax. I speak on his authority at this point, and I also say, and I do not do this to shift any responsibility, if he is speaking for the Governor and he is actually quoting the Governor, and I believe his integrity would not permit him to make those statements if he were not on sure ground, I then say that we will forget the sales tax. Let them stop making a political football of it and let us get to work and solve this problem, regardless of who is saying what.

We have a problem in Pennsylvania. You know it, I know it and the people know it. Now, if that be true, and I think we all recognize that the Speaker has ruled out the sales tax without any doubt here at this time, who would be foolish enough to even consider a sales tax or to talk about it? Let us honestly be practical, and let us all be honest with the people of Pennsylvania. The Speaker ruled it out so come up with another tax program and maybe we can get together.

And keep one other thing in mind. When the Governor so avidly goes around speaking of what we the terrible Republicans do, there was never a Republican considered when the excise tax was brought up. I plead with you people on the other side of the House. You knew you had a hot potato and you got rid of it, smartly political for yourself, but you were told, and I don't like to be a fellow who said, "I told you so," you knew what you had and your own Democratic Senators couldn't hold up under it. I told you at the beginning of this session that the Governor talks bipartisanship out of one side of his mouth and then tries to knock our brains out on the other side. Let him for goodness sake sit down, if he really wants to solve a tax program, and try to give us a tax program. Let us rule the sales tax out if they are the Speaker's words and the Governor's words, let us both forget about it, but let us come up with something that is going to do the job and get this Legislature out of here and solve the financial crisis which we hear so often from the other side, which they evidently seem to want to continue, because now we can start on the firm basis of letting them tell us what they want and perhaps we can go along or supply some votes at some point of the game.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would inquire of the gentleman from Philadelphia if he insists upon his motion or withdraws it.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I would like to take a vote on the motion, Mr. Speaker, yes.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, before the motion is put on the question, may I interrogate the Minority Floor Leader?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Minority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the gentleman whether he said in his remarks that the proposal he made was brought about by the grapevine or the grape wine?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I believe, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman knowing that I do not drink, smoke or look at the girls; it could not be grape wine.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

May I suggest, Mr. Speaker, that it would be rather useless to put this motion, in view of the fact that the motion was, as I understand it, that the Speaker should appoint a committee, a certain number of people, including members of the Press, the Speaker has already stated that he would not appoint such a committee. So I wish the gentleman would withdraw his motion.

MOTION WITHDRAWN

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. In fairness to the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, I must say that I probably should withdraw the motion. I did not let him know about it. There may be a count of noses and I don't want him to think that we are taking advantage of him because we may have more members on this side of the House than he has. If the gentleman and the Speaker both desire that this motion be withdrawn, I will withdraw it but still think it was a mighty good idea to work out something.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman for withdrawing the motion.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

May I say for the benefit of the Minority Leader and his colleagues that he can be very sure that the matter of taxes is being considered daily by the membership on this side, and there is not going to be any cessation of meetings in consideration of another tax program, now that the Senate has killed our last one.

If he is concerned about the fact that the Ways and Means Committee has met and has decided to table the sales tax bills, if he is concerned and thinks that no other tax bills will be considered he is greatly mistaken. We said a long time ago and have repeatedly said that we recognize our responsibility of financing this Commonwealth and we are going to carry it out. It might be very distasteful to continue to conceive and try to enact one tax program after another, which his party is killing, but it is our job to do it in the House, and we are going to do it. There is not going to be any delay.

INTERROGATION

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker, rise?

Mr. AUKER. I would like to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Speaker, if I may.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the Majority Floor Leader if he made the statement that if a motion passed this House authorizing the Speaker to appoint a committee that the Speaker would refuse to do it?

Mr. READINGER. No, I didn't make that statement. I said the Speaker has indicated that he did not want to appoint such a committee and, therefore, I asked the gentleman to withdraw his motion and not compel the Speaker to appoint such a committee. But I suppose if this House passed a motion that the Speaker should do something within the realm of his jurisdiction he would have no choice. He would have to do it.

Mr. AUKER. That is all, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I hesitate about prolonging discussion at this late hour but I do think there is another word, or suggestion, that if the Majority Leader is sincere in saying that they and the Governor are trying to work out a tax program, I sincerely hope the Governor will consider that he does have a Republican majority in the Senate, and that it might be advisable for him to sit down with the Republican majority and work out a tax program before they try to stick it down our throats like they did the last one. And, perhaps, if he is honest and sincere in his efforts, and I mean that honestly, in his efforts, perhaps a tax program can be worked out right after the first of the year.

Mr. READINGER. May I remind the Minority Leader that some months ago a sincere effort was made to sit down with the Republican leadership in the Senate by the Governor and by the leadership on this side of the House. He attended some of the meetings and he knows what they were.

As I recall, the House said we won't pass any appropriation bills until you give us a tax program, and the Senate said we won't pass any tax bill until you give us an appropriation program. So there has been more than one attempt made to sit down and work this thing out with no success to date.

That doesn't mean we should not keep on trying. In my opinion the Governor and the leadership on this side of the House will certainly consult with the Republican leadership in the Senate. Because we have seen two of our tax bills die and we certainly have no desire to see another one go the same way.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 5 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, House Bill 926.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 926, as follows:

An Act amending the act of April 28, 1937 (P. BILLS PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If there is no objection, all other bills on the calendar will be passed over. The Chair hears none.

CONCURRENT HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 124

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 11 of today's calendar House Resolution No. 124.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, November 21, 1955.

During the past several years, riots and disturbances have occurred in many of the prisons and correctional institutions of this Commonwealth

Charges and accusations of an unfavorable nature have more recently been levelled against certain of the Juvenile Correctional and Mental Institutions of this Commonwealth

The riots and disturbances become a useless unwarranted and additional expense to the Commonwealth in the destruction of property jeopardy to health limb and life and a threat to the peace and security of the community

The charges and accusations are detrimental to the health and welfare program of this Commonwealth in making it difficult to retain present personnel to procure new and additional personnel required for the efficient and proper operation and administration of our institutions and in creating extremely disturbing conditions among and with the population of the institutions

It appears that the conditions and circumstances which induced the riots disturbances charges and accusations could have been avoided by a closer and more constant inspection of these institutions therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That a permanent committee of six members of the General Assembly be created three from the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker and three from the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore whose duty it shall be from time to time to make unannounced visits to and inspections of all Commonwealth-owned and Commonwealth-aided institutions and to make periodic reports thereof to the House of Representatives and Senate when in session and to the Governor the Speaker of the House and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate when the General Assembly is in recess

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL NO. 154

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 11 of today's calendar, Senate Resolution Serial No. 154.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

SENATE SERIAL No. 154.

In the Senate, October 11, 1955.

The Commonwealth through its General State Authority is constructing an important flood control dam on the First Fork of the Sinnemahoning Creek in Grove Township, Cameron County, at a location originally selected by the United States Army Engineers. The dam when completed and put into operation at full capacity will form a lake of 1485 acres in area in Cameron and Potter Counties.

Because of his untiring efforts in securing effective flood control for the West Branch of the Susquehanna River and his active interest and assistance in furthering the construction of the First Fork Sinnemahoning Dam, it is fitting that the Honorable George B. Stevenson, Senator from the Twenty-sixth Senatorial District, be honored in connection therewith; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the flood control dam on the First Fork of the Sinnemahoning Creek in Grove Township, Cameron County, be designated as the George B. Stevenson Dam; and be it further Resolved, That the Department of Forests and Waters erect suitable tablets or markers on the dam to perpetuate this resolution.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

RECESS

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I request that when the business of the moment is finished, the Speaker declare a recess until 10 p. m. tonight.

I am informed that the conferees who were considering Senate Bill 785 have reached an agreement and that the conference report will be in print and ready for adoption by that time.

Since that has occurred, it is unnecessary to have any session tomorrow, and when we finish tonight we shall not be required to come back until next Wednesday, and not even then unless the Members are so notified.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a recess until 10:00 p. m. The Chair hears none and a recess is declared.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. DAVIS, FLINT, RENWICK and JOHNSON.
(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 142.

In the House of Representatives, December 20, 1955.

The withdrawal of locally owned land from local taxation by Federal and State government acquisition poses a generations-old problem in Pennsylvania.

In the past there have been attempts by statutes to compensate governments at the local levels for the ensuing losses of taxing potentials. However, these efforts have been of a fragmentary nature. The problem has never enjoyed a broad-gauge study wherein all aspects have been studied, weighed and made the subject of a recommended, fully-integrated program.

For the lack of a soundly rooted and well considered program, four counties have suffered serious losses of State moneys in lieu of taxes from Federal and State owned lands beginning in 1953. These counties are Elk, Forest, McKean and Warren. At best, and only until the end of 1956 will these four counties have their lost revenues restored if pending legislation be enacted.

Clearly, a thorough study and the formulation of an equitable, realistic and long range policy is needed; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring) That the Joint State Government Commission is directed to make a complete study, including (1) losses to local government units in Pennsylvania caused by Federal and State government ownership of local lands, (2) the efforts which the Federal government is making to compensate for local tax losses involved in withdrawal of lands to Federal ownership, (3) the involvements and obligations of Commonwealth departments and agencies, (4) the various proved systems by which local units could be compensated by Federal and State governments; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations, with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, December 28, 1955.

The Senate met at 3:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. J. B. Williams, Pastor of Second Baptist Church, Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Gracious Creator, our need of Thee becomes more manifest hour by hour as we progress along life's way. Some heedless and foolish ones believe they can rely upon their own strength and comfort. We seek Thy guidance because we have become assured of the uselessness of depending upon ourselves and have learned that all things are possible through Thee.

We shall learn, through Thy gracious help, to trust Thee in all things, knowing that our portion is to tell Thee of our need, and trust Thee to fulfill our petitions in Thine own wisdom. Help us to understand the need for faith and trust in Thee, not only in momentous matters but in all matters, since most important matters are the outgrowth of small things. In Jesus' name we ask it, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MAHANY and Mr. DIEHM, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

THE PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. At this time, the Chair invites the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (George N. Wade) in the Chair.

INTERROGATION

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Wagner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WAGNER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman about a statement, apparently made by him, which I read in the newspaper today that was shown to me to the effect that the gentleman had said that Senate Bill No. 769, which is the bill dealing with the establishment of regional service areas, was dead. I have great respect for newspaper reporting and I am sure the gentleman must have said that, but I would just like a little clarification. I would like to ask the gentleman first of all whether he expressed this as a firm intention, as Chairman of the Education Committee, or as a prediction in light of his long experience as a Senator or just as an informal personal opinion.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I would like to assure one of the co-sponsors of the bill that so far as I can recollect, I never said that the bill was dead because bills do not die in my committee until the committee has passed on them or the Session has come to an end.

The only recollection I have of a statement on the bill, for the benefit of the Senator from York, was that in the light of the controversy which seems to exist among various members of the school fraternity who are immediately affected, I thought the bill should be left undistributed for a seasoning period so that we might hear and evaluate the reactions to it. That, in my book, does not constitute embalming or funeral rites which may or may not be held at some future date, Senator.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman very much for that answer and I am very much relieved to hear that he was not entirely correctly reported. I felt at the time that it was not the sort of statement I anticipated from the gentleman from Schuylkill.

I would also like to ask the Senator another question. I realize that, as he so well put it, in a certain area of our educational fraternity there is objection to the bill and I think he and I would agree that it is understandable on the part of that particular group. I realize also that this has been very controversial, but as the gentleman knows, some efforts are presently being made to work out amendments which might make the bill more palatable to many of the people who have objection and I would ask him whether, in his opinion, the friends and advocates of this bill should just give up those efforts and forget about the bill for the rest of the Session or whether he believes that the bill is still alive, at least enough to be worth the consideration of amendments which would improve the bill. I am asking now for his opinion, as a seasoned statesman and one who is particularly interested in education.

Mr. WAGNER. Will the Chair allow me a moment to enjoy the description of my labors here?

I would suggest, Mr. President, for the benefit of the Senator from York and any other interested parties who may be within the sound of our voices, that those who are interested in this particular bill, which is a bit revolutionary, ought to, as soon as they can, let their wishes and suggestions be registered with either the chairman of the committee or any member of the committee because it seems to me, and I say this very deliberately, that the proposal is important enough to have committee consideration, whatever their determinations might be, Senator.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I certainly agree with the gentleman from Schuylkill about the importance of this bill. In fact, I would say to him that there are many people in the Commonwealth, people whose opinions are worth respecting because of their many years in the field of education administration, who feel that this bill is probably the most important educational bill which will be considered at this Session because its implications for the future, of course, are tremendous.

I may say that this bill, as it stands, represents a long period of study and conferences on the part of many educators. I do not think I would subscribe to the word "revolutionary," but certainly the gentleman's import of the word is correct in that it would be a strong and very important change. I would be very loath to have those people feel that the door has been slammed in their faces in an effort to make this change in our education administration in Pennsylvania, which they feel is so urgently needed. I am greatly relieved to have the gentleman's clarification of the situation.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up the resolution (not printed) on page 14 of today's calendar.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, December 12, 1955.

One of baseball's greatest figures for more than half a century has passed on. John Peter (Honus) Wagner, idol of Pittsburgh fans and a prime favorite elsewhere, died in his sleep at his home in nearby Carnegie, Pennsylvania at the age of 81. At his bedside was his wife, Bessie Wagner.

Despite the fact that several great players played short-stop, Wagner was the greatest of them all. As a fielder, hitter and base-stealer, the Flying Dutchman, as Pittsburgh fans called Honus, was the best of all. Many old timers considered him the most outstanding player of all time.

During his spectacular career, Wagner stole 720 bases, paced the National League in extra base hits seven years, led in triples five years and was first in doubles eight seasons. He played in 2,785 games, posted a .329 life-time batting average, made 4,320 putouts and 5,664 assists. He had only 612 errors for a .943 fielding average during his 21 year major league career. He was elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame in 1934 in the first group.

No player covered a greater space of ground than the Flying Dutchman. He "killed" what seemingly were hits over second with an ease that made the plays look ordinary. Yet to any other shortstop they would have been most difficult to field. He filled in when occasions required in other infield positions. Wagner was a modest player. All baseball honors accredited to him were accepted with a rather offhand acknowledgement.

The death of Wagner was mourned throughout the baseball world and has brought forth many expressions of sorrow and sympathy from its leaders; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives joins with the baseball world in expressing its deepest sorrow and sympathy in the loss of Honus Wagner, a great competitor, an outstanding credit to the game and to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and a great inspiration to the American youth, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of the resolution be transmitted to his wife, Bessie Wagner.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. If there is no objection, all resolutions will be passed over. The Chair hears none.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in the "mausoleum" of the Rules Committee there is Resolution No. 53. I would like to ask the Majority Leader if he would give it some consideration.

Very recently we read in the paper where Senator Dent had suggested a cut of $25 million in the ceiling of the Unemployment Compensation Fund. Whether it can afford a cut, or whether it should be cut, or whether it should not be cut, is beside the point.

We put this Resolution in for one reason. If you will remember, when the unemployment compensation bill passed the House we were told by the Governor that the increase in the cost because of the changes in the bill would only be about $30 million. Industry at that time claimed it would be over $100 million.

This resolution would do one thing. It would afford an independent and an impartial study so that we Members of the House when we vote on this legislation would know what we are doing. Certainly it is not our duty to go to the Chamber of Commerce or to go to any group outside the Legislature and ask them for their figures. We have the Joint State Government Commission which could make an honest and an unbiased study of what any change would mean.

This resolution, and I would like to quote, says:

"Joint State Government Commission be directed, to make a continuing study of the effect of the amendments to the Unemployment Compensation Act of 1936, contained in House Bill 120, as well as other factors bearing on the future stability of the Unemployment Compensation Fund, and make a preliminary report to the House of Representatives before the end of this regular session, and a final report to the next session of the General Assembly."

I do believe if the "mausoleum" would report that Resolution out the Joint State Government Commission could make a study and, if there should be any changes in the future while we are in session in regard to the ceiling, we in the House and the Senate would know what we are doing when voting either for or against it.

At this time I do not believe there is one man in this House who can honestly and definitely say he knew what he was doing when he voted for it in view of the fact that we did not know whether it was going to cost the employers $30 million or $130 million, and there is too big a discrepancy in these figures.

I certainly wish, Mr. Speaker, that the Resolution would be given every consideration, particularly in view of Senator Dent's statement on reducing the ceiling.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is most persuasive. In speaking for the occupants of the "mausoleum," may I tell him that this Resolution introduced by him and Mr. Johnson on March 30th will be given due consideration by the Rules Committee, together with many other Resolutions which are now in Rules Committee and which direct the Joint State Government Commission to make certain studies.

I know this Resolution requests a study and an interim report to be made during the session, but I doubt that it would have been done if we had acted on it some-time ago.

However, before the end of the session there will be a meeting and a full discussion with personnel from the Joint State Government Commission concerning the scope and breadth of the studies the Commission will make.

I assure the gentleman this one will be considered just as carefully and as thoroughly as any other Resolution which may be referred to the Committee.

From what the gentleman says, and from a hurried reading of this Resolution, it seems to have some merit. We certainly do not want to legislate in the dark when we can have some light thrown on it by the Commission.

Not having the other members of the "Mausoleum Committee" present at the moment, I cannot poll them to give a more definite answer than that, but I assure him it will not be overlooked.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I hope the members of the "Mausoleum Committee" are on hand tomorrow to report a bill out in which the Majority Leader seems to be very interested.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman. I shall take steps to see that they are here.

SYMPATHY EXTENDED TO SPEAKER

Mr. Speaker, I know that all of us regretted learning of the Speaker's illness and his inability to be with us this week. I therefore move that the Chief Clerk of the House be instructed to forward some flowers to the Speaker at his home in Johnstown, together with the sympathy of the membership of this House.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I certainly agree with the Majority Leader that something should be done, although knowing that the aesthetic taste of the Speaker is not as deep as his taste for the soil, perhaps we could take that $50 and put it into some farm implements. He might appreciate it more and get better sooner.

The motion was unanimously agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, today I introduced in the House a bill which is part of a contemplated tax program, namely, a 2 per cent personal net income tax bill. It has been referred to the Rules Committee and it is my hope that the Rules Committee will be able to meet tomorrow morning and report the bill from Committee. It will by that time be in print.

At that time I am going to request the House allow the bill to be read for the first time because it is our present plan not to meet again after tomorrow until January 16th. The Farm Show will be in progress during the week of the 9th and it will be practically impossible to ask or expect any Members to come to Harrisburg and stay over night during that week.

At the present time, and I hope continuing, there will be meetings scheduled between the leaders of the two parties and the Senate, and it is my hope, my fervent hope, that some definite agreement or understanding may be reached prior to the 16th of January.

Following these plans this particular bill should be on second reading and in a position for action by the House by the week of the 16th, if any agreement can be reached on this matter of taxes. We are not planning to have any meetings, even token sessions, during the week of January 9th.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, as long as the Majority Leader has divulged his plans for the week on the income tax bill, ordinarily we probably would have objected to the bill being read for the first time tomorrow. We would have done it on the same basis that we did it on the excise tax bill, because we did not want any tax bills steam-rolled through this House before the general public had a knowledge of the bill. But with the gentleman's assurance that this bill will be on the calendar and will not pass second reading until the week of the 16th, it will certainly give the general public at least two weeks, will give the Press at least two weeks to review the bill and to report to the public and we will not object to the bill's being read for the first time tomorrow.

Since the gentleman has assured us of that, and I think that is very important, because we do want the public and the Press to at least know what is in this bill—we on this side of the House have not seen the bill, we have not been talked to in any way, there has been no discussion whatsoever on this side of the House, in view of that fact, we would like to have at least a two week's period before we make any decisions in regard to this bill that is now being introduced.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 16, 1956.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

For many years our Commonwealth has enjoyed the benefits of a vigorous and progressive farm community which has contributed to our prosperity and has won for us National acclaim.

Today our Pennsylvania farmers, along with the farmers of the Nation are caught in a vise of rising costs for the things they buy and declining prices for their crops. As a result, the cash income of Pennsylvania farmers has fallen off more than ten per cent in the past three years.

Although the agricultural economy is basically a National problem, there are areas in which you, as legislators, and I, as Governor, can act to assist this vital segment of our population.

I ask that both Houses review the status of legislation affecting agriculture and that such legislation be given prompt attention.

A number of bills have been introduced in the Legislature to make certain that the farmer gets what he pays for when he purchases feeds, fertilizers or seeds. House Bill 1560 which is now in the Senate is a new commercial feed bill codifying and modernizing our basic law dealing with the manufacture and sale of livestock and poultry feeds. It requires a disclosure of basic elements which make up the feed itself and provides for a fee not exceeding five cents a ton to establish a fund which will make its enforcement self-supporting.

Similarly, a bill protecting the farmer from misrepresentation with regard to the chemical content of fertilizers and codifying our law pertaining to fertilizers has been introduced into the House. It provides for new products such as liquid fertilizer, requiring a full disclosure of its contents be made to the purchaser. The bill also makes provision for licensing fees which will make its enforcement financially self-supporting.

Two minor but important bills protect the farmer against misrepresentation when purchasing seeds or plants. These bills, House Bill 1048 and House Bill 1277, are now pending in the Senate.

Research which will help the farmer eradicate disease, improve production and help develop new markets is the purpose of House Bill 1584 now in the Senate. It appropriates $500,000 for research at Pennsylvania State University. Its basic purpose is to promote research in animal husbandry, dairy sciences and poultry husbandry from which Pennsylvania farmers derive 78 per cent of their cash income.

Recent financial failure of certain dealers has again high-lighted the necessity for an adequate licensing and bonding law in our Commonwealth. I urge that bonding legislation which will protect our Pennsylvania farmers against losses arising out of financial failure of those to whom they have sold their crops be enacted at this session. Many of our farmers cannot survive the impact of such losses of their limited cash income.

Of course, the prompt enactment of an appropriation bill to finance the Department of Agriculture itself is vital. Included in the Department's budget is an item which contemplates a more aggressive program to promote Pennsylvania farm products. Unfortunately, agricultural products have not had the benefit of an intensive publicity campaign which will allow them to compete successfully with many competitive products. To name just one, I would suggest that the use of milk as a beverage distributed through vending machines has scarcely been explored. It is my hope that the Department would be furnished an adequate budget which would permit the establishment of an intensive promotion program to encourage the use of such farm products.

It is my hope that the Senate will give serious consideration to House Bill 730 now pending on its calendar which allows technicians to draw blood under pullorum disease testing programs. As the law now stands, only licensed veterinarians are authorized to take such blood samples and in many areas veterinarians are carrying work loads that make it difficult for them to perform this important service for our farmers.

For a number of years our livestock farmers have urged our Commonwealth to establish an open livestock show. Such a show can be operated economically by the modest addition of 50 thousand dollars to the budget of the Department. Senate Bill 791, which has bipartisan sponsorship, contemplates such a program and I would ask that this legislation be given favorable consideration by both Houses.

Favorable consideration should be given to House Bill 861 now in the Senate which removes the $12,000 per year limit which counties may allocate for agricultural and home economics extension work. The vital importance of this work to our farm community is familiar to you and need not be detailed here. Similarly, House Bill 1295 which appropriates $30,000 for the holding of six regional and one State-wide Junior Dairy Shows should be acted upon favorably. It is on these members of the 4-H and Future Farmers of America Clubs that the future of Pennsylvania agriculture depends.

There is another area of legislation administered by our Department of Agriculture which is important to our consumers as well as to our farm community. I refer to legislation guaranteeing the purity of foods and beverages and the accuracy of representation regarding such products. An entirely new General Food Bill is being introduced in the House which will safeguard the health and the pocketbook of our consumers and at the same time protect food processors and farmers against competition from sub-standard food products.

The Bill represents the cooperative effort of the Public Health Law Research Project of the University of Pittsburgh; Dr. Joseph W. E. Harrison and Dr. R. Adams Dutcher, of Pennsylvania State University; Wm. William J. Schiller of Pittsburgh, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture; and other authorities on the subject. It has been drafted by the Department of Justice at my request.

The new General Food Bill now being introduced substantially follows the provisions of the Uniform State Food, Drug and Cosmetics Act which was drafted by the Association of Food and Drug Officials of the United States, but is limited to those provisions dealing with food. (It does not incorporate provisions dealing with drugs and cosmetics).

You may be surprised to know that the new Bill represents the first revision of our General Food Law since 1909.

This modern version has been strengthened and made more specific where necessary to bring it into conformity with present-day food standards.

It provides broader definitions of adulteration and misbranding and the additional feature of making it unlawful to advertise falsely.

Recognizing that certain food items require the addition of substances which are deleterious to health, the Bill provides for establishment of tolerances for such substances. It also provides for the dissemination of information regarding food by the Secretary of Agriculture when such information will protect public health and safeguard the consumer against fraud.

The proposed Act authorizes the Department of Agriculture to consult with food processor and farmer to establish standards and to draft necessary regulations.

Twenty-nine other states have enacted legislation patterned after the Uniform Food Law.

Two bills have been introduced dealing with our beverage laws. The one, House Bill 1527 revises our carbonated beverage law in accordance with recent decisions of our Supreme Court. It protects the public against unproved artificial sweeteners which might endanger the public health and provides regulations for the use of automatic or manual disposing equipment. A second bill requires that all chocolate milk should contain a butter fat content of not less than 3.25 per cent by weight. This bill would protect the public against the use of inferior grades of milk for the preparation of chocolate milk and assure the farmer that such milk products use a minimum quantity of butter fat.

Finally, our farm people are human beings who turn to recreation to rekindle their minds and their spirits. I would urge that legislation be enacted which will allow our farm families to fish in farm ponds and which will at the same time not jeopardize the effective enforcement of our Fish Laws. I would urge the Fish Commission to cooperate with the Legislature in drafting such legislation.

If Pennsylvania is to remain in the forefront as a progressive agricultural State, it is essential that we join together in creating the best possible climate for farming in our Commonwealth. All of the bills which I have discussed have an immediate and helpful impact upon our farm economy. Only by attacking on every front the problems which confront our farmers can we assure a thriving farm community in Pennsylvania in the years ahead.

GEORGE M. LEADER, Governor.

The PRESIDENT. This communication will be printed in the Legislative Journal.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 116 REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented extract from Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations:

CANAL TO CONNECT LAKE ERIE WITH THE UPPER ALLEGHENY RIVER

In the House of Representatives, September 27, 1955.

Large areas in northwestern Pennsylvania continue undeveloped, generally marked by low population and a feeble, struggling economy. In many localities, their economics are limited to fishing, hunting and vacation-land activities.

Nevertheless, there exist in this northwestern region vast potentialities for commercial and industrial growth; a growth that is increasingly needed if this Commonwealth is to regain some of the dynamic quality of earlier expansion.

Such expansion is keyed to main-line, low-rated transportation service; and implicit in the coming operation of the St. Lawrence Waterway system, lies the means for bringing main-line, low-rated transportation to northwestern Pennsylvania.

The upper reaches of the Allegheny River flow close to the Great Lakes system, a system destined to become an American fresh-water Mediterranean. Clearly, more than one of Lake Erie's ports will progress to the stature of trans-oceanic steamship terminals.

Logically then, to link the far-flung and industrially advanced inland waterway of the Allegheny and its connecting waters with the coming Lake Erie coastal expansion would add immeasurably to the welfare of both Nation and Commonwealth. Precedents all through history indicate that the resulting heavy flow of water-borne traffic would bring mounting industrial and commercial growth to the Upper Allegheny and its watershed; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact into legislation the measures necessary to connect Lake Erie with the Upper Allegheny River by canal, and to extend the existing lock system along the Allegheny to the river terminus of the canal; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 124 REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented extract from Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Rules:

JOINT COMMITTEE TO MAKE UNANNOUNCED VISITS TO STATE-OWNED INSTITUTIONS

In the House of Representatives, November 21, 1955.

During the past several years, riots and disturbances have occurred in many of the prisons and correctional institutions of this Commonwealth.

Charges and accusations of an unfavorable nature have more recently been levelled against certain of the Juvenile Correctional and Mental Institutions of this Commonwealth.

The riots and disturbances become a useless, unwarranted and additional expense to the Commonwealth in the destruction of property, jeopardy to health, limb and life, and a threat to the peace and security of the community.

The charges and accusations are detrimental to the health and welfare program of this Commonwealth, in making it difficult to retain present personnel, to procure new and additional personnel required for the efficient and proper operation and administration of our institutions, and in creating extremely disturbing conditions among and with the population of the institutions.

It appears that the conditions and circumstances which induced the riots, disturbances, charges and accusations could have been avoided by a closer and more constant inspection of these institutions; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a permanent committee of six members of the General Assembly be created; three from the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker, and three from the Senate to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore, whose duty it will be from time to time to make unannounced visits to and inspections of all Commonwealth-owned, and Commonwealth-aided institutions, and to make periodic reports thereof to the House of Representatives and Senate when in session, and to the Governor, the Speaker of the House, and the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, when the General Assembly is in recess.

HOUSE INSISTS UPON ITS NON-CONCURRENCE IN AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL No. 1104, AND APPOINTS COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

He also informed the Senate that the House insists on its non-concurrence in Senate amendments to House Bill No. 1104, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 21, 1949 (P. L. 665), entitled "First Class City Home Rule Act," providing for the revision of home rule charters; providing for the establishment of a charter revision commission for the purpose of making revisions; and imposing duties upon city councils, city officers, boards of election, courts and the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

GENERAL COMMUNICATION

ONE HUNDRED AND FIRST ANNUAL STATEMENT OF THE SAVING FUND SOCIETY OF GERMANTOWN AND ITS VICINITY

The Chair cleared its table and laid before the Senate the following communication which was read by the Clerk:

SAVING FUND SOCIETY OF GERMANTOWN AND ITS VICINITY

5458 Germantown Avenue
Philadelphia 44

January 12, 1956.

Presiding Officer of the Senate,
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:

In accordance with Article 13 of our Charter, we are enclosing a copy of the 101st Annual Statement of the Saving Fund Society of Germantown and Its Vicinity.

Very truly yours,

/s/ MILDRED M. MOORE, Secretary

The PRESIDENT. The One Hundred and First Annual Statement of the Saving Fund Society of Germantown and Its Vicinity will be noted in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. CHAPMAN, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, reported as amended Senate Bill No. 231, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 11, 1921 (P. L. 522) entitled as amended "Dog Law of 1921," regulating and in certain cases prohibiting the impounding and killing of unclaimed dogs and providing that in the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh they shall first be offered for sale to medical schools hospitals laboratories or other scientific or educational institutions.

He also, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as amended House Bill No. 1907, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assembly for the salaries of officers and employees and mileage of members and incidental expenses for the balance of the Legislative Session of 1955.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 107 REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. WEINER, from the Committee on State Government, to which was referred on December 6, 1955, the following resolution from the House of Representatives reported the same without amendments as follows, viz:

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY SURFACE AND GROUND WATER RESOURCES

In the House of Representatives, August 2, 1955.

There is vastly increased use of both surface and ground water for domestic, industrial, agricultural, irrigational, recreational and related purposes. The continued expansion of water use may create shortage of these valuable resources. There is an inevitable relationship between the utilization of waters and the utilization of other mineral resources.

The Act of June 22, 1937, P. L. 1987 has declared the discharge of sewage or industrial waste or any noxious and deleterious substances into the waters of this Commonwealth which is or may become inimical and injurious to the public health or to animal or aquatic life or to the uses of such waters for domestic or industrial consumption or for recreation not to be a reasonable or natural use of such waters and to be a public nuisance and against public policy.

The Commonwealth recognizes a public interest in the quantity, quality and utilization of these waters and a duty upon the General Assembly to insure that such waters are conserved and that their use is allotted in a fair and equitable manner; therefore be it Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be authorized to study the surface and ground water resources in the Commonwealth and the interrelationships between the utilization of water resources and other mineral resources and the urban and industrial development of the Commonwealth and more particularly to determine the adequacy or inadequacy of existing laws and to ascertain what new laws, if any, may be necessary to properly protect these valuable resources. The State Planning Board and the various administrative agencies of the Commonwealth now engaged in studies of these vital problems shall cooperate with the Commission in this study.

The Commission shall report its findings at the next regular session of the General Assembly.

Laid over for one day under the Rules.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. SILVERT (By request) read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 928, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872) entitled "The Penal Code," extending the provision relating to worthless checks and drafts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, in the past months, I might say in the past year, we have done a lot of talking about doing something in regard to the construction of a hospital for retarded children in western Pennsylvania.

Today, Mr. President, I have before me a communication which I received from the Current Events Club of Washington, Pennsylvania, which reads as follows:

"Dear Senator Lane:

"The Current Events Club of Washington, Pennsylvania wishes to express the desire for an institution for retarded children in southwestern Pennsylvania. The need is very great.

"The Polk Institution in northern Pennsylvania is crowded beyond capacity, with a long waiting list.

"Washington County has 66 needy cases and western Pennsylvania has 3000 cases, all waiting. Many hesitate to go on the list as they feel it is hopeless.

"Surely something must be done to fill the dire need.

"We, of The Current Events Club, wish to express our concern, knowing at first hand the real need for an institution."

Mr. President, I want the Membership of the Senate to know that this communication is signed by approximately thirty-eight prominent citizens from Washington County. I think we should take into consideration the fact that an institution for cerebral palsy cases in an absolute necessity so far as southwestern Pennsylvania is concerned. I think that this Senate and the House of Representatives should not adjourn until we have provided the necessary machinery for the construction of such an institution.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I agree with Senator Lane that something should be done for such children. However, I would like to remind him that Senator Ruth, Senator Diehm and I believe one or two other Members of the Senate and myself have introduced a resolution, petitioning an institution similar to Polk and which shall be provided for the central part of the State. We now have only two such institutions, one in the eastern part of the State and one in the western part of the State. That resolution passed unanimously in the Senate and it is over in the House. If it were acted upon and if such an institution were constructed in the central part of the State, then no longer would such children have to go either to the extreme eastern part of the State or the western part of the State.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am very glad to know that Senator Mallery concurs with the statement which I just made and, of course, with the position of this important club in Washington, Pennsylvania. I suggest that we use a bipartisan approach. I would appreciate it if Senator Mallery would talk to the Republican Members of the House of Representatives and I will guarantee you that I will try to do my work with the Democratic Members to get this resolution passed.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I will be very happy to do that.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I have before me, and I believe all of you have found in your mailboxes, a newspaper which is printed out in western Pennsylvania, called the Sun-Telegraph. It sells for five cents. I suppose I owe them some money for the publicity they have been giving me. However, the reason I rise to a question of personal privilege is because I believe that this newspaper has left its field of news-gathering and news dissemination and has gone even beyond the field of editorializing on news and has completely entered the field of coercion in the matter of public law making.

While I was at home a couple weeks ago, Mr. President, I received through the mail, and all in my family who are old enough to vote received in the mail, a double post card ballot, with a three-cent stamp on both sides of the post card. The post card asked a couple of questions. They call it a typical community and, of course, it does not take much thinking to know why they would go into the city of Jeannette, my home town, to sample the people and ask them how they would vote on an excise tax or a sales tax. I accuse this newspaper of not telling the people the truth. I say that if they want to run a poll, they should tell the people exactly what the question is and put it in such a manner that the people who vote would have some knowledge of what they were voting on. They devoted one day to the so-called returns, and I think you should hear them because they seem to be very interesting.

The returns to date show that of those in favor of an excise tax there were 176, of which 146 were Democrats and thirty were Republicans. Opposed to an excise tax were 724, of which 359 were Democrats and 365 were Republicans. In favor of a retail sales tax, there were 756 and opposed there were 268, of which there were 409 for the sales tax and 211 against it. The Republicans numbered 347 for a sales tax and 57 were against it. Of course, the largest number of votes cast was 756 and 268, which would be somewhere near 1,024. That is 1,024 votes out of 7,800 registered voters in the city of Jeannette. The peculiar thing about it is that we are registered in that town about four to one, but the returns on the ballot show that there were 409 Democrats voted and 347 Republicans.

The question which was asked was peculiarly phrased. It was something like the question that is asked by the slick lawyer when he has a witness, and he says to him, "Were you drunk when you beat your wife? Answer the question 'yes' or 'no.'" What the Sun-Telegraph did was say to the people in one block, "Are you in favor of the excise tax, recently defeated by the Senate of Pennsylvania, which would have driven industry out of the State?", or something to that effect. Down below, it asks, "Would you favor a sales tax, which is a tax that is fair to everybody?" Of course, the people, naturally being good citizens in Jeannette and not wanting to be unfair to anybody, said they would go along with that proposition and had to say yes, they were drunk when they beat their wives.

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, it is a difficult job to be in public life at any time. It is a difficult job to stand up here and try to put into words the principles of the party that I represent and the administrative policies of the Administration that I represent upon this floor. It is difficult, as I say, to do this in the normal course of procedure. It becomes increasingly difficult, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, when agencies that disseminate public information use their efforts and devote their time to destroying the trust of the people in the legislative branches of government. Perhaps we are at fault and perhaps we should run for the General Assembly on a platform opposed by this newspaper, and then I should come to Harrisburg and say to the people who elected me, in opposition to this newspaper, "I am going to sell you down the river and vote the way the newspaper wants me to because it makes me look good in print."

The newspapers have deliberately distorted the tax picture in Harrisburg. They have deliberately and knowingly distorted this picture because they have tried to make the people believe that the sales tax, which the Republican Party wants, is a tax upon everybody. However, the very first ones to ask exemptions from that tax were the representatives of the Sun-Telegraph and every other newspaper in the State of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, if they send out to my people a post card saying, "Do you favor a sales tax which we, the newspapers, will not have to pay, which the manufacturers will not have to pay, which business will not have to pay, but which the people will have to pay, or do you favor an excise tax which carries within it a tax upon the price of goods, at the manufacturers' level, without all of the markup of freight and the markup of the retail and wholesale establishments, which includes, if you please, in that markup the millions of dollars that are spent for advertising in newspapers such as this?" If they said to the people of my community, "Do you favor a sales tax which aims to take eighty-two per cent of $400,000,000 out of the pockets of people making less than $7,000 a year and eighteen per cent out of the pockets of people making over $7,000 a year?", I wonder how my people would vote. If they would say to the people in my community, "We, the Sun-Telegraph, proposes tax legislation upon every other person in Pennsylvania except those of us who run newspapers," I wonder how my people would vote.

Mr. President, I do not try to tell the newspapers how to run their business. I believe that they should come down here and sit in on the Sessions of the Legislature and listen to the arguments on both sides, and then vote according to that which is good for Pennsylvania and not good only for the Sun-Telegraph. I do not care whether they run one poll or a million polls in my town. Until they run an honest poll, they will not phase my thinking. Certainly, I am considerate of the people in my community. I am considerate of them because I have lived with them all my life. Whether I am a Member of this Senate or not, I will still, in all probability, live the few remaining years of my life in that community. I do not want the Sun-Telegraph to be putting into the minds of my people false impressions and false statements.

Imagine, Mr. President, in another section of the newspaper they devote a whole day to this. This is the kind of comments they use. Of course, they are not coercive. They are not trying to hurt me. Here is what they say:

"Tell John Dent to be more cooperative to the voters who put him on the velvet carpet."

You know, Mr. President, I always wondered what this floor covering was; so it is velvet carpet.

"I suggest they send the Governor back to his chicken farm!"

Mr. President, these are intelligent statements and are very worthwhile. They say there is a shortage of news print. Well, they could do without it at all if that is the best they can do. Here are a couple good quotations, too. Here is one which is a very intelligent statement. On one of the cards they said, "I do not like taxes!" Who does? Another one says, "Vote the next election and throw out nine-tenths of them." We are for that, Mr. President. If they throw out nine-tenths of the sixteen Republican Senators who are running next year, we will take the situation over and do a good job.

Here is another one. "I'd appreciate any kind of tax which would make it easier on the working man." Certainly, that person might have even voted for a sales tax, because if he reads this newspaper he thinks that it is good for him.

Here is another one. "Tax the rich manufacturers."

Another one. "Tax the rich corporations."

Here is another one. "An income tax is the best and only way, because you get it before the wife gets it."

Another one. "Render unto Leader that which is his. An income tax would collect according to our ability to pay. That is the fairest way to collect taxes and not the way you spend it."

In another one of their arguments, they say that an income tax is bad. This is the newspaper, itself. I think it is by the Editor, if he took time to write something. He says, "The income tax is the worst kind of a tax because they tax it whether you spend it or not and the sales tax is good because they only tax it whether you spend it." Of course, he fails to say that the sales tax taxes whether you earn it or not.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, if it would not be for the serious import of action like this, I would treat it as a basic joke. However, it is very serious. This is why it is serious, Mr. President and Members of the Senate. It is serious because we are finding ourselves in the position where most of the agencies which disseminate news and create opinion are owned by a very small group of men. We find now that many of the newspapers not only own newspapers, but they also own radio stations and television stations. It became increasingly difficult for a minority opinion to be given the proper amount of publicity. It becomes difficult for any popular movement for reform to receive enough publicity so that the people may know what is going on.

I honestly believe that there was a poll taken, and it was a poll of all the people in which both views were aired very publicly. On November 8, 1955, there was an election. That is the only poll that is taken directly at the grass roots of America. In that poll, the people were asked to vote. They were asked to vote for a set of Democratic candidates and a set of Republican candidates. The issue from the very first day until election day was the question of Governor Leader's classified income tax as against the so-called Dave Lawrence's wage tax, as they called it, and the Republican proposal of a sales tax and a sales tax only.

Mr. President, my town carried the biggest majority of any time in its history. The same people who voted in the poll taken by the Sun-Telegraph voted in that poll on November 8th. They overwhelmingly voted for the candidates who represented Governor Leader's Administration. We gathered in county governments in this State, Mr. President, that have not been Democratic since the days of Andrew Jackson. We have control of Indiana County, where we have not had a county commissioner since Andrew Jackson was President. We selected a county sheriff in Somerset County, and I do not believe we ever had one in history. We also elected one in Jefferson County.

You know the people voted a poll that day and it was a poll in which the question was whether or not Leader's Administration was speaking for the people or whether Leader's Administration was ignoring the people. Now I say that there will be another poll taken this coming November. I think it is only fair that at this time I state, for the benefit of all concerned, that we have met with the Republican leaders, the House leaders met with us once, Representative Readinger met with us, our Democratic leaders, and I met with the Republican leaders, and we laid before them a third proposal for taxation in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I think history will record that the Republicans defeated the first proposal offered by this Administration, known as the classified income tax. The second proposal was known as the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Excise Tax; that, too, was defeated in the Senate and so I went before the Republican leaders and asked them if they would not sit down to try to discuss the possibilities of coming out with some kind of a tax program.

Mr. President, all of us are aware of the situation as we find it today in Pennsylvania. We are in a serious, serious situation. A large jointure school, I believe it is in Senator Stevenson's District, has notified the parents of the children in that school that come February 3, they are closing the school. There are many other schools in this State that find themselves in the same predicament. If you say that we are at fault, that is not true. Popular or unpopular, we at least attempted to pass the tax legislation that would have provided the necessary funds to keep these schools open.

When I met with the gentleman, I made a proposal in the name of the Democratic Senate Caucus and the Democratic House leadership. For the benefit of the people, I think that that proposal ought to be known and I want you to take it exactly as I give it in order that there will be no misunderstanding. We proposed a two per cent net personal income tax, based upon our net return as would be computed under Federal Income Tax Laws, which would give to each and every income tax earner in this Commonwealth the right to take advantage of all of the exemptions and the allowances of the Federal Tax Law. Based at two per cent in the fifteen or so months collection, if passed this month, it would collect $210,000,000.

I further proposed that we take the Pennsylvania manufacturers' excise tax of three and one-half per cent, reduce it to two per cent, cut out the word "manufacturer" and place the collection of the tax at the next receiver of goods, completely eliminating the manufacturer in Pennsylvania from any responsibility whatsoever under the excise tax.

I further proposed, in that paritcular package, to remove from taxation, because I could not get the votes any other way, all industrial machinery, all utility purchases, railroad purchases and the Sun Shipbuilding Company. I further went along and proposed that it would be unlawful for any person to advertise any goods sold that were taxable under the excise tax and in any way tend to lead the people to believe that the price of these goods did not take into consideration the so-called excise tax of the State of Pennsylvania.

I further proposed that there would be no restriction in the act to allow any person who had to pay the tax to Pennsylvania from passing the tax onto the next purchaser of goods. However, I also said it would not be mandatory that they do pass it on. That, Mr. President, would raise, in the period of time left in this biennium, $150,000,000.

Then I further proposed, Mr. President, that we enact a one per cent emergency corporate net income tax increase, which would give us $54,000,000 and this tax would be based upon our passing legislation that would take manufacturers out of the capital stock tax, which would save them $65,000,000 a biennium as compared to the $54,000,000 they would be paying under C.N.I. They said that the Chamber of Commerce has gone around and said that this is a bad State to do business in, but in order that we remove the psychological barrier built by the Chamber of Commerce around this State, we, the Democratic Administration, are willing to take the capital stock tax from manufacturing concerns in Pennsylvania that are Pennsylvania corporations.

I further proposed, in this four point program, that we accelerate the payment without any additional tax or increase whatsoever on the capital stock tax remaining, in order that we would have for our uses in this biennium twenty-five additional mililon dollars. That makes up a total of $439,000,000, which represents $408,000,000, as compared to the $528,000,000 that the Governor asked for or a deduction in the budget of $120,000,000, because the additional $31,000,000 to $408,000,000, or $439,000,000, is the $31,000,000 added to the Governor's budget by this State Senate.

We have reduced the Governor's budget, we have acceded to it and we have acceded to every demand that we can receive for economy. We have cut out of this program the entire $20,000,000 for industrial expansion, because we were told by the Republican conferees late in the fall that they would not accept that. We reduced from $26,000,000 to $15,000,000 the amount requested by Senator Shapiro, the head of the Welfare Department, to put into vogue a new and better formula for the inmates of our mental institutions, with the hope that we would be able some day to clean the situation up on the basis of what is happening in the States of Kansas and Ohio and other forward-looking States. We have cut to the bone every other appropriation. We have less people on the payroll in this biennium than we had in any of the last three bienniums. We are trying to do the job that the people have elected us to do.

The Republican Party spokesmen said that they would take it to their Caucus today. However, over the week end, before the Caucus had a chance to act, I think the Caucus action was already predetermined because we read in the papers where Senator Taylor and Senator Mahany and Senator Kessler said that the bill, or the compromise, or the so-called four point program was unacceptable. Nevertheless, they ratified that action today. They met in Caucus and I talked to Senator Mahany and Senator Taylor, and I am informed that the Republican Caucus refuses the four point program offered by the legislative leadership of the Democratic Party, and that they further refuse the Governor's desperation bid for a solution to the problem, the 50-50 plan of the Governor in which he said, "Since we control only half of the General Assembly, we will take half of the responsibility for the tax plan and you Republicans take the other half, and you can pass any kind of tax plan that you want. We don't care what it is and I will sign it."

Mr. President, it takes courage for any man to say that, because he stood before the people of this great Commonwealth and said that he never would vote for or sign a sales tax, but when he is faced with either bankruptcy or blackmail, there is no other alternative for him. He has to accede to the demands of the Republican Senators and go along in order that the schools and the children of the State do not suffer; in order that the hospitals can keep their doors open; that all of the necessary functions of government can operate and, therefore, the Governor is forced into the position, I am sorry to say, of probably having to lie down prostrate before the dictatorial demands of the Senate Republican block.

Mr. President, we have offered in every way that we can to work out a solution. I told them that if they could not agree with us, then it appeared to me, and I have not talked to the House or the Governor, but it appeared to me that the only avenue left if Pennsylvania is to be saved from bankruptcy and financial chaos is for the House of Representatives to report to the floor either one of the two sales taxes the Republicans have sponsored, bring them out and put them up for a vote and it comes to the Senate, I offered this and I put it in writing. The Republican Senators, being twenty-six strong, and this being their bill and their tax program, will naturally be overwhelmed at the opportunity to vote for a sales tax that they have demanded for eleven months, twelve months. However, I was informed that two of their Members were sick and that they could probably only muster twenty-four votes. I said to them, "I will never insist that you endanger the life of any Member of this Senate to bring him in here to vote if he is sick and unable to attend, and that I personally would cast my vote with the Republican Senators for a sales tax to replace any sick Member that you have and that I would go to Senator Barr, the Democratic State Chairman of Pennsylvania, and ask him to cast his vote for any sick Member that you have on the other side."

Victory at the polls, Mr. President, is not as important as this Sun-Telegraph or any other person or group believes it to be. I have tasted both victory and defeat in my time, and I do not know what the future may bring but if I do face the people again and if they defeat me because of what I have stood for, I earned that defeat.

Mr. President, all of us are perhaps confused by the word eternity. There is nothing eternal except time and death. Membership in this Senate is a passing thing. Life itself is only a passing thing. Some of us die at childbirth, some in early childhood, others in their teens and some of us in our young man and womanhood, and others at middle age and some long past the Biblical three score years and ten, so there is no tenure on life, I am not one who believes in predetermination. I believe that we are put here by a Supreme Being and when He decides that our time or our usefulness is past, and maybe for other reasons best known to the Supreme Being, himself, he calls us home. I at this moment want to announce that I am in no particular hurry to go home, but if I am called I hope that I am found ready. I certainly would not have to be ashamed of the positions that I have taken in twenty-two years of public life. If Saint Peter is still up there watching—I do not know whether they changed him since Eisenhower won, but he might have civil service and if he has, he is probably pretty well set up there. However, if I am faced with the prospect of going up to Saint Peter, I might have to confess that sometimes I have not felt too kindly toward my Republican colleagues and I might ask forgiveness and say that that, too, was just a passing thought because I know in the end they are usually pretty good fellows and if they were left alone, they would probably vote with us.

The other night, Mr. President, I could not sleep. It was about four o'clock and I was lying there awake, and there is nothing worse than being in bed awake, and I got up and I knew that by tossing around I was disturbing my wife, who was in the same room, of course. I got up and went into the living room and lit a cigar and made a pot of coffee. I have to admit the truth; I had a couple of eggs, too, and I started writing and having nothing else to do, I wrote a little play called, "In the Middle of the Muddle," and I have not had time to correct it. I said to the girl, "Just write it up the way it is because if I read it, I will throw it away." Anyway, I read it afterwards, but it is a dialogue between Old Harve, the Senate leader, and Governor George, and it runs through this year of our Leader, 1955. I was hoping that we would be able to quit this month so that I would not have to write another play about the second year of our Leader, 1956, and if you want me to get some sleep and not be writing all night, I wish you would agree to disagree on the other side and four of you stand up and say that you believe it is our responsibility and that you would like to see us keep the schools open and you would like to see us defeated at the next election because of the bad taxes we put on and we would be willing to shoulder the responsibility. However, since you do not want to do that, and since you get such unanimous decisions on your side without unit rule, I do not believe that it will do any good for the Governor to appeal to you, for the people to appeal to you or for this humble person to appeal to you and so, therefore, I am going to say to you now that I am sorry we have reached a stage in legislative history where a simple majority in the Senate can dictate to the Governor of the Commonwealth and to the House of Representatives and force this Administration to accept the Republican sponsored fiscal program, and I want to say to you that it is a two-fold program.

When you accepted the responsibility for the taxes in your Caucus action today, it clearly states that you have accepted that responsibility. At the same time, you also accepted the responsibility for the budget. If you pass taxes of $400,000,000, then I will expect you to cut the budget to the $400,000,000 that you give us. I think it is only fair that when you accepted the responsibility for taxes, then you accepted the responsibility for cutting the budget. The Governor's budget is clear; it is an open book. The suggestions of reductions which I have given to your leaders, I will be willing to give to each and every one of you. I will be willing to give to each and every one of you an analysis of the budget which I have made up which will show that we require, if we are to do any of the things which this State ought to do, approximately $465,000,000. However, we are willing to accept $439,000,000, with the idea that perhaps in the next biennium we can make up a known budget deficiency of $25,000,000 because of the twenty-four month collection of the taxes, which now will only be collected for fifteen months.

Mr. President, I believe that the people know that all taxes must be passed by the House of Representatives. I suggest to you that you twenty-four Members who are present today go over to the House and reach your legislative members, and ask them to support your stand in the Senate because it would be a terrible hoax upon the people of this Commonwealth if the Democrats accede to the dictatorial demands of this Senate block, put out the sales tax and then find that the Republican House Members will not vote for it.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not intend to take as long to answer Senator Dent as he took to give his usual Monday afternoon oration. I do want to point out to him, with regard to this article in the Sun-Telegraph, that I feel that he will admit that at least the first sentence is correct when it says, "The people of Jeannette are outspoken." I think if he represents the people of Jeannette, as I know he does, and the people are there as outspoken as he is, then I feel that the people of Jeannette can be said to be outspoken.

Senator, you did give us a four point program, as you called it, and I did submit that four point program to the Caucus, but they looked upon it as some kind of a four-way cold pill which sometimes loses its sense of direction. I think that they generally agreed that whatever was done in this Session of the Legislature, the Republican Members of the Senate were not going to put two broad base taxes upon the people of Pennsylvania. Each Republican feels that that certainly would be inexcusable, and they feel that they will not have any part of such a program as that. They also feel that perhaps we as a party, and speaking politically only, might be far ahead this year in a crucial election if we were to accept the Democratic program and then go out on the highways and byways of the Commonwealth and show how wrong the Governor and his Democratic advisors were in putting both a sales tax and an income tax on the people of Pennsylvania. We might very well profit this year if we took such a position. However, when you ask the individual Members of the Republican Caucus whether or not they will vote for an income tax, each of them says he will not do so. Regardless of how fine a thing it might be politically to go along with putting an income tax on the people of Pennsylvania, I cannot find any Republican Senator in the Republican Caucus who will vote for such a tax. Therefore, Mr. President, I want to tell Senator Dent that as of now there are no votes for an income tax in the Republican Caucus.

Mr. President, so far as this paper, the Sun-Telegraph, is concerned, I do not see why anyone should malign it. Evidently the owners of the Sun-Telegraph and the editors of that paper feel that what is good for Pennsylvania is good for them. They are interested, I have no doubt, in seeing to it that their number of copies of the Sun-Telegraph are maintained and hope that they may be increased. The only way they have of increasing their circulation is by keeping more people at work in the area in which this paper is published, and also keeping in a healthy condition the merchants who advertise in their paper. They wanted, I think, to find out what the people generally wanted. They would not have had to conduct a poll in Jeannette. Perhaps they did that because of the fact that Senator Dent comes from the fine city of Jeannette and sought to spotlight that particular thing, but they could have gone right out, I think within the immediate confines of Pittsburgh and within the city of Pittsburgh, and they would have found the answers the same as they found them under this poll and as I have found the answers when I went around my District of Crawford and Mercer Counties. Going into the stores, not to speak to the merchants but to speak to the customers who were in there, by speaking to the clients who come into my office, by speaking to the members of the lodges to which I belong as I circulate among them, I find that overwhelmingly the desire of the people is to have a sales tax over an income tax.

Mr. President, I come down here trying to represent the wishes of the people who send me down here and I find it kind of difficult at times, because I find that the Senators on the other side are not satisfied with me trying to represent my people. They want me to represent something that the Governor wants instead of representing the people who sent me down here. I want to tell them that not only I, but all the other Republican Senators here are satisfied that we want to represent the wishes of the people who sent us here.

I have no doubt that Senator Dent, the Governor and the rest of the spokesmen are going to go out and try to show the people this year that the Republicans do not properly represent them, and we again will be on the defensive. We will have to show that the sales tax, if we get one through, is better than the income tax which you tried to put down their throats. If you are successful, then you are going to get a sufficient number of people here in the Senate and people in the House who will vote for the income tax which you seem to want.

Mr. President, I notice that Senator Dent is not sleeping well at nights, especially on Sunday nights because he comes down here with plays and various things. I would suggest to him that he take some kind of a pill before he goes to bed and he will not have that trouble. However, you might sometime wake up in the middle of the night and make a play-up on what happened before George Leader became Governor of Pennsylvania.

When the newspaper reporters then asked the candidate for Governor what he would substitute for the sales tax, if there was ever a man who walked on a tightrope, it was George Leader at that particular time. As soon as that question was asked of him, he backed away and made up all kinds of excuses and he said something about substituting good, old-fashioned Democratic economy and thrift and that would make up the difference which would be lost by the sales tax. The people, therefore, never did vote on the issue of an income tax versus a sales tax. They voted on the issue of no tax versus a sales tax and they voted, of course, in favor of the no tax. When the people woke up and found that they would not only have to pay all the taxes which were then on the books but they were asked to pay some more, they found that they had been hoodwinked. I would dislike to read into the record all of the letters which I have received from disgruntled people all over the State of Pennsylvania about how they were fooled, and wish that I would put in some type of legislation which could be a recall of the Governor.

Mr. President, I would like to say to Senator Dent that before the Christmas vacation, I thought we had voted for a sufficient appropriation to keep the schools running. I remember that I did ask the question whether or not, if we voted for this appropriation of over $500,000,000, the Governor would have the money in sight to be able to sign this appropriation bill and I was assured that he would have. He must have had the money because he did sign the bill. Under the law, the Governor cannot sign an appropriation bill unless he has sufficient money on hand and sufficient money in sight to do the job. I found out, after the bill was signed, that they could not do anything about it and they could not send the checks out to the schools because the Governor said he did not have any money on hand.

We appropriated the money; we were told that the money would be in sight and would be on hand for this appropriation and now to wake up and have you tell us that there is no money there and these checks will not be able to go out, certainly is a disillusionment.

We, Senator, have been fair with you. We have told you time and time again that we cannot get any votes on this side of the aisle for an income tax, but that we do have votes for a sales tax. I am hoping that everyone of the Republican Senators here, if, as and when a sales tax comes over from the House will vote for it. I, personally, will assure you, Senator, that I will be one of the Republican votes to vote for a sales tax. I feel that we need at least a three per cent sales tax.

Mr. President, the proposed per cent of tax is no fault of ours. If the Governor had not been so stubborn last July in allowing this sales tax to expire and had kept it on the books at the rate that it then was, until such time as this matter was resolved, perhaps we would not need a three per cent sales tax now but we would be able to get along with a two per cent sales tax. We have lost around $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 every month since this sales tax was allowed to expire, and now we are faced with having to vote for a sales tax at a higher rate. We are willing to do that and hope to put in some exemptions in this tax of three per cent.

I, for one, do not want to see any sales tax on the food that the people have to take home to cook and so forth, which is take-home food, as we call it. I, for one, do not want to see anybody have to pay a tax on the shoes that they buy or on the clothing they have to buy for their children or for themselves. If it were possible to put a tax on mink coats and not on some other kind of coats, I would be for that because I do not want to see that television program again where "Mrs. McGillicutti" wonders why she has to pay a tax on the little cloth she buys to make the kiddies some shirts, while Mrs. "So and So" buys a mink coat and does not have to pay any tax on it. I think that was worn to a frazzle. If it were possible, under the Constitution, not to tax the little people for their clothing and put the tax on the rich people who can afford mink coats, I can be for that sort of thing. I want to eliminate, from the sales tax, the clothing and the take-home food and any other necessities, such as drugs, medicines and so forth which the people must have.

Mr. President, I feel that that, as a base, will help us raise most of the money we need. In addition to that, between the amount that that will raise and the amount that is needed, which we say is $400,000,000 and the Democrats say is $430,000,000, no doubt we will have to get together and work those figures out and come to some kind of a compromise figure. We will try to work with the Democrats in trying to raise a tax from some other sources in order to make up the difference.

Mr. President, we do not want to have the little fellow, as they call it, bear all of this burden nor even the big fellow. We want to have industry bear their share of this burden. I feel that industry is willing to share a part of the burden. At no time have they refused to come in here and share all of the burden that is figured they can possibly share. They certainly do not want to be in a non-competitive position with industries in other States, and I do not feel that any Members of this Senate want to put our industries in a non-competitive position with industries in other States so that they will have to move out of the State of Pennsylvania.

Our big job, if we are thinking about labor, is to keep industry in Pennsylvania so that labor will have a place in which to work and, together, labor and industry will make this State a great State, as it has always been and we hope will continue to be in the future.

Mr. President, as to the mechanics of getting this sales tax over, I tried to suggest, and did suggest to Senator Dent, that we amend this excise tax and try to work up some type of a tax which would, in effect, be a transactions tax, or call it what you may, so that we could raise the money by that vehicle but he says, "No, that is not satisfactory because it bears Mr. Readinger's name and if a sales tax is voted on and he or Senator Barr votes for one, even in place of the sick Members, why they insist that it be some kind of a sales tax which will come over from the House and bear a Republican's name." Personally, I do not believe it makes much difference. The fellow who has to go to the store in my town and pay a sales tax will not know whether the sales tax bill was sponsored by Mr. Readinger or whether it was sponsored by Mr. Waterhouse or sponsored by Mr. Hewitt and will not much care.

Therefore, Senator Dent, if you will not vote for that particular excise tax as amended, perhaps the only thing we can do is to wait until the House gets their tax bill out and passes it and sends it over here. I think we would have been way ahead if we had done this very thing last fall, and that is what I tried to do. I felt that until such time as the sales tax was either voted through or defeated in the House, it was silly for us to talk about any other kind of a tax because the people generally all over the State were besieging us by letter, by telephone by telegraph, by personal contact not to vote for any kind of an income tax as they much preferred the sales tax. For that reason, we are late in finally getting to the place where we should have been last July after the classified income tax was defeated, but at least we are here sooner or later and I hope that it will not be much later until such time that we have an opportunity of voting on a sales tax.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, starting last things first and working toward the beginning, I would say to the Senator that I do not know whether he knows it but the record of the House is filled with statements by your leader in the House, Charlie Smith, in which he notified the Democrats time and time again that he nor the Republican Caucus would vote for a sales tax. I do not know where you get the idea that the reason you have not been able to get a vote on the sales tax lays at the door of the Democrats. Of course, there is an ugly rumor going around, which I myself do not know whether I believe it yet as I have not talked to Harvey about it, that now that Charlie Smith was put on the State ticket, he has made a deal where he will vote for the sales tax. We will find that out this week. I do not know whether he will or not, but he has said that he would not vote for a sales tax time and time again in the House. Of course, I think the thing which held us up all of this Session, for eleven months, was not the fact that we did not give you the tax bill, but you were waiting around to get your slate picked for this year. Now that Duff is assured of being on the ticket, why probably you will go ahead and get together and maybe give us the tax which you think is the best.

Mr. President, I do not know whether or not your letters, and all of these demands which you have been getting from so-called citizens all over Pennsylvania for a sales tax, are any more authoritative than the poll taken by the Sun-Telegraph in my home town. You see, there were about sixteen of those cards which came to my family and out of respect for me they did not even answer them. Therefore, there are sixteen which I think you would be able to count.

If the Republicans will take all of the letters that they have and multiply them by about 100,000, then you will get somewhere near the population of this State. I have a lot of letters, too. Who do I have them from? I have them from bankers, I have them from businessmen, I have them from manufacturers. At one point, you said that manufacturers would pay their share. Will you state on this floor that industry will pay the sales tax; that we are to leave industry in the sales tax; that industrial parts which they buy are going to be taxed the same as the man who buys a furnace for his home or buys a boiler for his house or a refrigerator or a set of beds or chairs to sit on? Will industry pay the same tax, too? From what I understand, you are not going to exempt industry and I will advise the House that that is your desire. I also understand that you are not going to exempt the Sun Shipbuilding Company. That, of course, will ease the burden because if you had not demanded the exemption of them in the excise tax, you would have probably had it passed by now.

Am I to understand, too, that the Republicans feel that if and when they finally get a vote on the sales tax, they will go along with a one per cent increase in the corporate net income tax; that they will go along with the acceleration of the capital stock tax? Your estimate is $400,000,000. I cannot say that you are wrong, because you have written new features into the bill here this afternoon and we will have to re-estimate it upon the basis of what might pass the House and what might pass the Senate. However, am I right in my understanding that the total budget allowance that you are going to allow, in new moneys, will be $400,000,000? If I am right in that, then will you then cut the budget down to the $400,000,000 level in order that you do not give the Governor, as you did, $568,000,000 of school legislation?

You said that the Governor told you there was enough money for schools. Let us look the situation right squarely in the face. There is sufficient money in the revenue measures upon the books of this Commonwealth to meet the appropriation of $568,000,000 for schools, but it means that out of the total of $900,000,000 which is on the books, $800,000,000, if the Governor does it, he would have to shut down other departments of government in order to keep sacred the $568,000,000 which you have allocated for school purposes.

Mr. President, early in this Session the Republicans decided that they would limit the borrowing in this Session, by this Administration, to ten per cent of the revenue bills passed by this General Assembly as against the method which was employed before where we borrowed against appropriations made by the General Assembly. That was done, of course, as I understand it, and I remember somewhat if you go into the record, which you are used to reading. When you are looking for what I said in the record, look and see what Kessler said about it, but I think he said something about the fact that that would tie the hands of the Administration so that they just could not keep borrowing and keep us here forever. Under that bill, you are allowed to borrow something near $90,000,000, of which we have borrowed $60,000,000. I believe that the Governor advised me that there is only $26,000,000 which can be borrowed. Senator Barr says $28,000,000, so I will stand corrected and say it is $28,000,000.

Mr. President, they started the movement immediately and it takes about thirty days to clear this borrowing. We also have something like $20,000,000 which can be made available out of the General Fund and that will give us about $46,000,000. However, the General Fund moneys are on thirty day call notice, too, and we have sent the notices out to recall that money. We also have established the date as somewhere around the third of February, wherein we will send out the checks to all the fourth class districts in the Commonwealth. That is about all that that money will cover.

If you pass the corporate net income tax this week, which the House passed months ago, and if you pass the additional increase on utility in Pennsylvania, then you will add to the revenue and we will then immediately be able to borrow again. If you are going to pass the corporate net income tax bill, I would suggest that you do it this week so that we, at least, have that money as a reserve borrowing power.

Mr. President, I do not believe any of us can kid the people too long, and I am not so sure but what the people who Senator Mahany said want him to recall Governor Leader must be in the minority, because on November the 8th, which was a year after they elected Governor Leader, they had an opportunity at the polling places to have protested this Administration and, in a sense, recall at least the Administration's policies by voting against the Democrats at the polls. However, lo and behold, with ninety-eight per cent of all the newspapers in the State with you and with unlimited sums of money with you, somehow or other you were just not able to confuse the people because they voted overwhelmingly at the polls in favor of the Leader Administration's policies because they were the issue, at least they were in my county, and if you do not believe they were, all you have to do is get the back copies of this paper which is running a poll in my town.

I might ask Mr. Mahany, since you want the sales tax, do I understand then that the newspapers will also pay their share of the sales tax. Are you intending to allow them to pay part of the bill, too, in Pennsylvania along with industry which you have talked about, because if you are that makes it the broad base tax that you are talking about? Is it not the truth, however, Mr. Mahany, that those individuals who came down here to protest the excise tax, upon questioning by Senators Lane and Barr, replied they recognized that Pennsylvania needed money and when asked what type of a tax they believed was the best type of taxation to put on, they unanimously replied "a sales tax?"

I would like to have some interested party go over to the House of Representatives and go to the Chairman of the Finance Committee, who has the original bill on the sales tax as introduced by Representative Hewitt, and the original bill introduced by Representative Waterhouse, and ask Chairman Sarraf of that committee to give them the amendments which have been handed to the chairman and you will find that the people who came to this Senate floor and advocated a sales tax have asked for amendments which would exempt them from the sales tax.

Mr. President, if you pass a sales tax, and you say you want to be fair and if you believe in that principle of taxation which I disagree with, then the only fair thing that you can do is to make it apply equally upon all citizens, all business and all concerns in this Commonwealth. To do less than that is to do a dishonesty to the little peoples of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unaimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, we are on the eve of a great celebration throughout the civilized world. Tomorrow is the Sesqui-bicentennial of the birth of the sage of America, Benjamin Franklin.

While the Senate historian par excellence, Senator C.

Arthur Blass, of Erie, and I are going to introduce a resolution tomorrow, today this is a prelude dealing with one of the phases of Benjamin Franklin's genius; namely, The Junto a Philadelphia, which is the outstanding school of adult education throughout the world; a school which annually gives education to adults in the evening hours and has an attendance of about 15,000.

Mr. President, this resolution pays a tribute to Benjamin Franklin and pays a tribute to The Junto.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING BENJAMIN FRANKLIN'S JUNTO

Messrs. STIEFEL, CHAPMAN and BLASS offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 16, 1956.

This being the historic year of the Sesqui-bicentennial Anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, one of the most distinguished of Pennsylvania's adopted citizens, the attention of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania is attracted to an institution he founded—the theme center whereof is bearing the imprint of his genius which is still serving the People of our Commonwealth.

In 1727, when Franklin had just come of voting age, he gathered together twelve of his Philadelphia friends to form a small club where each could improve the other. They met weekly, after the long working day, to discuss the topics of the times: the politics of the Republic-to-be, the character of the men who were about to make history in the Revolution, the business and industries that were springing up in Philadelphia, the new discoveries of scientists and travelers, the state of the arts and culture in Colonial America.

The name that Franklin gave to his club was "The Junto", derived from the Spanish word for "group" or "get-together". Franklin's Junto lasted for 40 years, as one by one the members passed on.

However, in 1941 there swept over this country a fresh desire among our people for additional knowledge—things that they had no time to study in their public school education—or had no desire to study in these younger years. In Philadelphia a handful of civic-minded men sponsored a mass meeting in the Academy of Music where they invited the public to come and make their wishes known. On that night in 1941, the 3,000 people who jammed into that hall were matched by another 3,000 who overflowed onto the streets outside. So great was the cry for continued education for adults. In giving form and substance to this need, the guiding spirits of this project took Franklin's old name, "The Junto", for the school for adults which became a non-profit educational institution.

Our Commonwealth gave the new Junto a charter and good wishes—nothing more. It was up to this handful of public-spirited men to underwrite the costs of operation until the students' fees could support the movement. In a short time, The Junto proved that people who want education can support a school which gives them what they want. Moreover, in doing this, The Junto's non-profit tuition fees were lower than the national average, while its teachers' honoraria were higher than those paid in the rest of the country.

One of the answers to this minor miracle lay in the dedicated people, who gave their time and talents to guiding the destiny of this unique institution. Among these have been: Dr. Albert A. Owens, Director of Extension Education of the Board of Education Philadelphia, Edward Shippen Morris, Esquire prominent Philadelphia attorney; Dr. J. Frank Jones, renown English teacher; John Frederick Lewis, public-spirited communal leader; George F. Kearney, noted publicist; Daumant Kusma, radio engineer; Dr. Benjamin Barkas, labor education expert; Donald Jenks; the late Arthur Bloch, department store magnate; and Philip Klein, President of Harcum Junior College.

As The Junto is rounding out its 15th year in 1956, it is attracting an average of 15,000 students annually to its three terms of nine weeks each. Its alumni number over 150,000. These are men and women who have discovered that learning must be life-long—that leisure hours can bring untold pleasure if spent in improving the mind and body skills—that learning can be real fun. The Junto has performed an extra-ordinary service for one of our great cities, for our Commonwealth, and for our Nation by offering to our citizens a range of over 200 subjects designed to help everyone from the new American to our senior citizens.

Moreover, The Junto has furnished leadership—in manpower and in sparkling new ideas—to many other educational institutions in our Commonwealth, setting an inspiring example for emulation by others.

Now Be It Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring) that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania congratulates the "Junto" upon its egregious success and commends it for the cultural values it is steadily forging in the City of Brotherly Love, thereby contributing to Philadelphia's Renaissance of the Holy Experiment as well as setting an example for emulation elsewhere in Pennsylvania and in our Land.

And Be It Further Resolved that upon the adoption of the instant Senate Concurrent Resolution by both the Senate and the House of Representatives of the General Assembly, the Secretary of the Senate be and he is hereby directed to forward copies of the instant Resolution to Philip Klein, President of the "Junt" at the "Junto" Building, N. E. Corner, 12th & Walnut Streets, Philadelphia and to Edward Shippen Morris, Esquire, 1136 Fidelity Philadelphia Building, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I want to call the attention of this Senate to something which is going on in my District. As you no doubt know, the Westinghouse plant in Sharon has been on strike along with the other Westinghouse plants throughout the nation, but it seems that in the city of Sharon and vicinity there are certain individuals who are trying to keep those who would like to go back into the plant, to go to work, from going back into the plant. They have had court injunctions in connection with this picketing and they have had various other legal procedures before the court in Mercer County.

I have been receiving letters from individuals in Sharon and vicinity who tell me that their cars have been scratched, that windows in the cars have been broken, that people have been beaten up, that houses have been smeared with paint bombs and the people are generally in fear of their lives and property in the city of Sharon. Before the first of the year, when there was a Republican sheriff in Mercer County, he had asked the Governor of Pennsylvania to send the State Police there to keep down this rioting, but the Governor refused to do so and did send a couple of men to the vicinity so that they might report to him. I do not know what these people reported, but I did see certain pictures showing beatings and other rioting and if these men did not see it, I do not know what is wrong with their eyes.

Mr. President, since January 1st, we have a Mayor in Sharon who, I understand, is one of the members of the striking union and he has decided that things are well in hand. I cannot understand how he comes to that conclusion if all of the things which I have received in these various letters are true. Also, the newspaper in Sharon, The Sharon Herald Daily, has written articles and reports relative to the rioting and acts of violence within the city of Sharon and vicinity.

In order that we might have an opportunity of knowing ourselves whether or not the law is being enforced in the city of Sharon, I have prepared a resolution. I expect to go to Sharon a week from Saturday with the sheriff, so that I may personally see what is going on in the city of Sharon. I have written to the sheriff that, due to a heavy schedule, it was impossible for me to get there sooner. However, in the meantime, I would like to have this resolution adopted by the Senate and by the House.

This is a concenterent resolution, which provides for a committee to be set up to investigate these conditions and gives this committee the power of subpoena. However, due to the fact that I have stood here on numerous occasions and stated that I did not think resolutions, other than certain congratulatory resolutions and historical resolutions, should be acted upon on the day on which they are presented, I am not going to ask for any different treatment on the part of my own resolution. Although time is really of the essence in connection with this resolution, due to the fact that I have gone on record in relation to procedures which I have suggested relative to resolutions presented, I am going to ask that, after this resolution is read, it be referred to the proper committee and hope that the committee to which it is referred will take action on it within the very near future so that we may have this committee of investigation appointed.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

JOINT COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE INDUSTRIAL STRIFE BETWEEN WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CORPORATION AND ITS UNIONS

Mr. MAHANY offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on State Government:

In the Senate, January 16, 1956.

The press and other sources of information have reported that a labor dispute between certain Unions and Westinghouse Electric Corporation has resulted in rioting, personal injury to workers, and malicious destruction of property in Sharon and Greenville, all contrary to law.

If this be true, the existence of such conditions jeopardizes not only persons and property of the citizens of Sharon and Greenville, but also the position of this Commonwealth as a leading industrial state.

Repeated requests by local law enforcement agencies to the executive branch of the Commonwealth for assistance from the Pennsylvania State Police in the suppression of rioting and violence appear to have gone unheeded.

The provisions of Article IV, Section 2 of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania requires that the Governor "shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

A similar duty is imposed on the Governor by the Administrative Code of 1929, Article VII, Section 701, as amended

The Administrative Code of 1929, Article VII, Section 710, as amended, provides, in part, with respect to the State Police, that they are:

"(b) To assist the Governor in the administration and enforcement of the laws of the Commonwealth, in such manner, at such times, and in such places, as the Governor may from time to time request."

and

"(d) Whenever possible, to cooperate with counties and municipalities in the detection of crime, the apprehension of criminals, and the preservation of law and order throughout the State."

therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate and the Speaker of the House appoint three members of the House of Representatives, who together shall constitute a joint legislative committee, whose duties it shall be to make a thorough, impartial and searching investigation of the industrial strife now existing in Pennsylvania because of the labor dispute between Westinghouse Electric Corporation and its unions to determine whether all necessary measures are being taken to protect the lives and property of our citizens, to determine the effect of such violence and lawlessness on the competitive position of Pennsylvania as an industrial state in maintaining industry and attracting new industry in this Commonwealth; to recommend what, if any, remedial legislation is necessary, and to investigate such other matters in connection therewith as may be deemed necessary for the information of the committee and the General Assembly; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall have power to issue subpoenas and subpoenas duces tecum, under the hand and seal of its chairman, requesting and commanding any proper person, corporation, partnership or association to appear before it and to answer such questions touching matters with respect to the matters inquired into by the committee for and on behalf of the General Assembly, and to procure such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas or subpoenas duces tecum may be served upon any proper person, corporation, partnership, or association and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth or by the General Assembly itself. Each member of the committee shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee.

If any person, corporation, partnership or association wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records, or documents subpoenaed by the committee, the committee, or any member thereof, shall file a petition with a court of common pleas having competent jurisdiction over the person, corporation, partnership or association, setting forth the facts. The court of common pleas, or a judge thereof, shall thereupon issue a rule upon the person, corporation, partnership or association, returnable no less than five nor more than seven days from service thereof, commanding the person, corporation, partnership or association to appear before the court and show cause why the subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or similar order of the committee shall not be complied with.

If the person, corporation, partnership or association, upon the return day of said rule to show cause, is or are unable to show legal cause why the subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order of the committee should not be complied with, the court of common pleas shall forthwith enter an order of court directing the person, corporation, partnership or association to comply with the terms of the subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order of the committee. If thereupon, the person, corporation, partnership or association shall refuse or fail to comply with the order of court, the court of common pleas shall forthwith adjudge the person, corporation, partnership or association to be in contempt of court and the person, corporation, partnership or association shall thereupon forthwith be subject to the penalties provided by the Commonwealth in such cases. If any subpoenas, subpoena duces tecum or order of the committee is deemed invalid by the court, the committee is authorized to issue a proper subpoena, subpoena duces tecum or order against such person, corporation, partnership or association; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall make report to the Governor and to the General Assembly of its findings of facts with such recommendation as it deems necessary.

DIRECTING THE CONTINUANCE OF THE SUBCOMMITTEE ON DECEDENT'S ESTATE LAWS OF THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION

Messrs. McPHERSON, JR. and WEINER offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Judiciary General:

In the Senate, January 16, 1956.

Resolved (The House of Representatives concurring), That the Subcommittee on Decedent's Estate Laws of the Joint State Government Commission be continued until the end of the legislative session of 1957 for the purpose of considering necessary and desirable changes in the decedents' estate laws and related statutes developed by the Subcommittee, and to make recommendations to the commission with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO MAKE A STUDY OF THE NEED FOR ADDITIONAL BRIDGES OVER THE SHENANGO AND MAHONING RIVERS AND OTHER WATERWAYS IN LAWRENCE COUNTY

Mr. LANE, on behalf of Mr. MILLER, offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Highways:

In the Senate, January 16, 1956.

Lawrence County is one of the brightest spots on the western boundary of Pennsylvania; and

The City of New Castle with a population of 48,834 people and the Borough of Elwood City are among the advancing population areas which are bringing fame not only to Lawrence County but did well to be among the leading communities of this Commonwealth in the not too distant future; and

There is much travel between many places in Lawrence County and its neighboring City of Youngstown, Ohio, of great renown due to its manifold industries and between various places in Lawrence County and the City of Sharon, a steel center in Mercer County, Pennsylvania; and

The various highways of Lawrence County must provide transportation between various integrated industries in Lawrence County and highly industrialized surrounding areas; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby instructed to make a study of the need for additional bridges over the Shenango and Mahoning Rivers and other waterways in Lawrence County; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways is hereby instructed to make detailed traffic flow studies of the various main highways and other streets and roads in Lawrence County with a view to making necessary improvements and the establishing of new State routes for facilitating necessary vehicular traffic, and that the Highway Department give the results of its studies to the Joint State Government Commission; and be it further

Resolved, That the said Joint State Government Commission report its study and recommendations based upon its study and studies of the Department of Highways to the next regular session of the General Assembly.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

SERIAL NO. 144, TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table Senate Concurrent Resolution, Serial No. 144.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO ASCERTAIN THE STANDARD OF LIVING OF PENNSYLVANIA FAMILIES

In the Senate, August 31, 1955.

During recent sessions of the General Assembly there has been considerable controversy with respect to proposed taxes and their effects upon persons at different income levels; and

Much controversy has been generated by the paucity of reliable data regarding the income position and expenditure pattern of the residents of the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to ascertain for Pennsylvania families the level and sources of income, number of dependents, and major expenditures such as those for food, clothing, durable goods, and federal, state, and local taxes; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report the results of its investigation, together with such other fiscal data as may be pertinent, not later than October 1, 1956.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

SERIAL NO. 144, ADOPTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the resolution just read by the Clerk be adopted.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, before this Senate for the past eleven months, we have been discussing the question of taxes and appropriations and needs for moneys. The information desired by the sponsors of this resolution is available right now in the Joint State Government Commission. We have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in the past twenty years on investigations on tax sources and taxation in the Joint State Government Commission, as well as in special taxation commissions. If you will go over to the Joint State Government Commission offices, you can get right now the answers to every question posed by this resolution without spending an additional moneys or any further delay.

Most of the information that I have given to this General Assembly has been found from reports made by the Joint State Government Commission. I see no need to spend any additional moneys at this time in making an investigation to get information which is available at this time to any Member of the General Assembly. Any question that you want answered, if you will take this resolution over to the Joint State Government Commission, they will provide for you, within a minimum of time, the answers to everyone of the resolves which you have in this resolution.

Therefore, Mr. President, I intend to oppose the passage of this resolution.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if it is as easy as Senator Dent says it is to get this information, then the Joint State Government Commission will not have to spend very much money to carry out the objectives of this resolution. I think the authors of the resolution, Senator Kessler, Senator Wade, Senator Ruth and Senator Dent, evidently wanted to have this all under one cover.

I do not quite understand why Senator Dent would lend his name to such a worthwhile resolution and then take such a dim view of it when it got off the table. Perhaps he has some explanation to that. However, I thought I was helping Senator Dent along when I got his resolution off the table and got it up here so that we might vote on it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, at the time we signed this resolution, it was in August of 1955. At that time, we thought if we put the resolution through, that within thirty days, October 1st, they would be able to give us all the information because they had it. They did not want to take the figures that we were giving them at that time on the number of dependents and so forth, and as to the effect of the collection of sales taxes and the collection of income taxes. They would not accept our figures as valid.

Therefore, Mr. President, I went along with the resolution in order that we would get a copied report from the Joint State Government Commission. That has now lost all its purposes. They have determined that their only tax program is a sales tax, and I do not care what kind of information they get from the Joint State Government Commission. I am of the mind that it will not change their position.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the information, as I understand it, which the Joint State Government Commission has relates to the entire northeastern section of the United States. It does not segregate Pennsylvania at all.

We have gotten into arguments this past year on the various income data on Pennsylvania citizens. That information is available, but it must be dug out and prepared or compiled in useable form. I suppose when we come back here in 1957, we will possibly argue the same type of tax laws that we have been discussing this past year. I think, at the time, we all agreed that we needed some basic information on which we could all agree, so that there would be no difference of opinion between the figures, whether we have so many thousand people in the $10,000 class, the $5,000 class or what it may be in Pennsylvania. That is the information which we were asking the Joint State Government Commission to compile, so that we would all agree on the basic data and not have any argument as to what the figures were from which we were going to work. That is all we were trying to do. It will take a long time to get that and I am afraid, even if we pass this resolution today, the Joint State Government Commission cannot get that information by the end of this year. I doubt it very much.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Kessler.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Kessler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KESSLER. Yes, sir, I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. If we get information from the Joint State Government Commission, will you accept that as correct?

Mr. KESSLER. I will.

Mr. DENT. And if it shows that the tax burden lays heavier upon those under certain income levels, when it is placed on through the medium of a sales tax, will you alter your position on taxation?

Mr. KESSLER. I do not think I will.

Mr. DENT. Then, what is the use of having the information?

Mr. KESSLER. Only for this reason, Senator Dent. Today, we differ on the basic information. Whether the tax burden falls heavier on one group or another is not really the point. It is the fundamental data that we have differed with.

You say that a certain number of people in Pennsylvania are earning $4,000 or $5,000 a year or less. I say that that number which you use may not be right. Let us, at least, get agreement on our basic data. The one fact we cannot get away from is that, as Lincoln said, "God must have loved the common people because he made so many of us." It is the common people who are paying the taxes. You cannot get away from that.

Mr. DENT. Do you believe in the ability to pay as the basis of taxation?

Mr. KESSLER. No, sir; I do not.

Mr. DENT. Then, I am to assume that if the figures from the Joint State Government Commission were to show that the tax plan advanced by Governor Leader was more equitable and that it distributed the tax burden more on the basis of ability to pay, and that your tax plan which you advocated to me last week and to the conferees, placed a heavier burden upon those least able to pay, that that would not alter your position?

Mr. KESSLER. That would not alter my position.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. KESSLER. What is your measure of ability to pay?

Mr. DENT. My measure of ability to pay is based upon the ability of a man who works to the extent of his abilities, in the limitations of his capacities, and limited to the amount that he is paid and how that is related to his station in life. I believe that a man who raises the children who make up the backbone of this Country in its population, the defenders in time of war, the mill hands in time of peace, those who go down into the bowels of the earth to make the rest of us wealthy and to keep our mills and wheels going, then that particular group should be assessed taxation according to their ability to pay, based upon their needs and upon their earnings.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, it seems to me that we are a little confused. I can measure a man's height in inches; I can measure a man's weight in pounds, but how am I going to measure his ability to pay? Are we going to take into consideration the number of children the man has or the type of work in which he is engaged, whether he works eight or ten hours or fifteen hours a day? What is the measure? If we can arrive at a suitable measure of ability to pay, then I am willing to consider a change in my opposition to that. However, until we can get such a measure, I cannot go along with the ability to pay.

Mr. DENT. Senator Kessler, if I work in a shop and I make the average salary of about $4,000 a year and I have six children and you, I believe have told me this, believe that a tax on sales of shoes and clothing for those children, for myself and my wife—that, in your opinion, it is just as equitable that I, with six children, earning $4,000 a year, and you with $100,000 a year and no children, that your ability to pay was no greater than my ability to pay and that it was equitable for me to be taxed on the basis of what I purchase for six children as against your purchases for none. Did you not tell me that? Is that true?

Mr. KESSLER. I did not say that; no, sir.

Mr. DENT. In the committee, did you say that it was not inequitable to tax a man with ten children on shoes, as against a man with no children regardless of income?

Mr. KESSLER. I do not think I said ten children. I think the word "children" was used.

Mr. DENT. I asked a question, I believe. I do not want to say that I have witnesses, but I think Senator Mahany and Senator Taylor and Senator Diehm and Representative Readinger and Representative Smith were there. I do believe, sir, that I asked a question on ten children and equity, and you said it was equitable.

You went further, if you want me to refresh your memory, and you said that the number of children a man had had nothing to do with his ability to pay taxes.

Mr. KESSLER. That is correct.

Mr. DENT. Thank you.

Mr. KESSLER. Is that all you want?

Mr. DENT. That is all I want.

Mr. KESSLER. I will be glad to discuss that further with you, Senator Dent. That is only part of the story.

Mr. DENT. That is true. Thank you very much.

Mr. President, I want it clearly understood that my opposition to this resolution is that it is purely academic at this point of the game. At this stage, it will not help because no matter what information we may get now or in the future, it will not change the position or the opinions of those who do not believe that ability to pay has anything to do nor is it the criteria upon which taxes must be based.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BARR and Mr. SEYLER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—24

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 73 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table House Concurrent Resolution No. 73.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

"COLONEL DRAKE HIGHWAY"

In the House of Representatives, May 10, 1955.

It is tragic that many persons traveling in Pennsylvania are unaware that near Titusville a man drilled the first oil well in the world, thereby opening the door for the development of the oil industry which has played a great part in the progress of this great Commonwealth.

It is fitting and appropriate that legislative recognition be accorded Colonel Edwin L. Drake for his drilling the first oil well, therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That State Highway Route No. 36 between the Borough of Pleasantville in Venango County and the City of Altoona in Blair County, be dedicated as a memorial to Colonel Edwin L. Drake and that this portion of the highway be known as the "Colonel Drake Highway" and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Highways shall erect along the highway suitable tablets and markers and shall carry out suitable landscape development to perpetuate this resolution but shall not replace the officially designated route number of the highway hereby designated as the "Colonel Drake Highway."

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 73 ADOPTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that the resolution just read by the Clerk be adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, York, offered the following prayer:

O God, Who art the same yesterday, today and forever, it is by Thy mercy and long suffering that we are permitted to enter this New Year. Thou hast given to us another year of grace. Thou hast set before each of us an untraveled way, full of mystery, pathos and beauty. Grant us Thy kindly light to lead us on. O Lord, let not the beauty of Thy radiance fade, nor the light to become darkness lest we lose our way. May Thy light and beauty shine down the untrodden days of this New Year. Show us that our little life is great because it has been given by Thee, and because at the end of an unknown way it is to be received by Thee.

O God, lift us out of any dull, cold, peevish temper of mind. Open for us a fountain of joy and praise that is eager, tender and responsive. Hear us, O Lord, and grant us Thy peace of righteousness. In Jesus Name. Amen.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

MESSAGE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 16, 1956.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

For many years our Commonwealth has enjoyed the benefits of a vigorous and progressive farm community which has contributed to our prosperity and has won for us National acclaim.

Today our Pennsylvania farmers, along with the farmers of the Nation are caught in a vise of rising costs for the things they buy and declining prices for their crops. As a result, the cash income of Pennsylvania farmers has fallen off more than ten per cent in the past three years.

Although the agricultural economy is basically a National problem, there are areas in which you, as legislators, and I, as Governor, can act to assist this vital segment of our population.

I ask that both Houses review the status of legislation affecting agriculture and that such legislation be given prompt attention.

A number of bills have been introduced in the Legislature to make certain that the farmer gets what he pays for when he purchases feeds, fertilizers or seeds. House Bill 1560 which is now in the Senate is a new commercial feed bill codifying and modernizing our basic law dealing with the manufacture and sale of livestock and poultry feeds. It requires a disclosure of basic elements which make up the feed itself and provides for a fee not exceeding five cents a ton to establish a fund which will make its enforcement self-supporting.

Similarly, a bill protecting the farmer from misrepresentation with regard to the chemical content of fertilizers and codifying our law pertaining to fertilizers has been introduced into the House. It provides for new products such as liquid fertilizer, requiring a full disclosure of its contents be made to the purchaser. The bill also makes provision for licensing fees which will make its enforcement financially self-supporting.

Two minor but important bills protect the farmer against misrepresentation when purchasing seeds or plants. These bills, House Bill 1048 and House Bill 1277, are now pending in the Senate.

Research which will help the farmer eradicate disease, improve production and help develop new markets is the purpose of House Bill 1584 now in the Senate. It appropriates $500,000 for research at Pennsylvania State University. Its basic purpose is to promote research in animal husbandry, dairy sciences and poultry husbandry from which Pennsylvania farmers derive 78 per cent of their cash income.

Recent financial failure of certain dealers has again high-lighted the necessity for an adequate licensing and bonding law in our Commonwealth. I urge that bonding legislation which will protect our Pennsylvania farmers against losses arising out of financial failure of those to whom they have sold their crops be enacted at this session. Many of our farmers cannot survive the impact of such losses of their limited cash income.

Of course, the prompt enactment of an appropriation bill to finance the Department of Agriculture itself is vital. Included in the Department's budget is an item which contemplates a more aggressive program to promote Pennsylvania farm products. Unfortunately, agricultural products have not had the benefit of an intensive publicity campaign which will allow them to compete successfully with many competitive products. To name just one, I would suggest that the use of milk as a beverage distributed through vending machines has scarcely been explored. It is my hope that the Department would be furnished an adequate budget which would permit the establishment of an intensive promotion program to encourage the use of such farm products.

It is my hope that the Senate will give serious consideration to House Bill 730 now pending on its calendar which allows technicians to draw blood under pullorum disease testing programs. As the law now stands, only licensed veterinarians are authorized to take such blood samples and in many areas veterinarians are carrying work loads that make it difficult for them to perform this important service for our farmers.

For a number of years our livestock farmers have urged our Commonwealth to establish an open livestock show. Such a show can be operated economically by the modest addition of 50 thousand dollars to the budget of the Department. Senate Bill 791, which has bipartisan sponsorship, contemplates such a program and I would ask that this legislation be given favorable consideration by both Houses.

Favorable consideration should be given to House Bill

861 now in the Senate which removes the $12,000 per year limit which counties may allocate for agricultural and home economics extension work. The vital importance of this work to our farm community is familiar to you and need not be detailed here. Similarly, House Bill 1295 which appropriates $30,000 for the holding of six regional and one State-wide Junior Dairy Shows should be acted upon favorably. It is on these members of the 4-H and Future Farmers of America Clubs that the future of Pennsylvania agriculture depends.

There is another area of legislation administered by our Department of Agriculture which is important to our consumers as well as to our farm community. I refer to legislation guaranteeing the purity of foods and beverages and the accuracy of representation regarding such products. An entirely new General Food Bill is being introduced in the House which will safeguard the health and the pocketbook of our consumers and at the same time protect food processors and farmers against competition from sub-standard food products.

The Bill represents the cooperative effort of the Public Health Law Research Project of the University of Pittsburgh; Dr. Joseph W. E. Harrison and Dr. R. Adams Dutcher, of Pennsylvania State University; Dr. William J. Schiller of Pittsburgh, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture; and other authorities on the subject. It has been drafted by the Department of Justice at my request.

The new General Food Bill now being introduced substantially follows the provisions of the Uniform State Food, Drug and Cosmetics Act which was drafted by the Association of Food and Drug Officials of the United States, but is limited to those provisions dealing with food. (It does not incorporate provisions dealing with drugs and cosmetics).

You may be surprised to know that the new Bill represents the first revision of our General Food Law since 1909.

This modern version has been strengthened and made more specific where necessary to bring it into conformity with present-day food standards.

It provides broader definitions of adulteration and misbranding and the additional feature of making it unlawful to advertise falsely.

Recognizing that certain food items require the addition of substances which are deleterious to health, the Bill provides for reestablishment of tolerances for such substances. It also provides for the dissemination of information regarding food by the Secretary of Agriculture when such information will protect public health and safeguard the consumer against fraud.

The proposed Act authorizes the Department of Agriculture to consult with food processor and farmer to establish standards and to draft necessary regulations.

Twenty-nine other states have enacted legislation patterned after the Uniform Food Law.

Two bills have been introduced dealing with our beverage laws. The one, House Bill 1527 revises our carbonated beverage law in accordance with recent decisions of our Supreme Court. It protects the public against unproved artificial sweeteners which might endanger the public health and provides regulations for the use of automatic or manual dispensing equipment. A second bill requires that all chocolate milk should contain a butter fat content of not less than 3.25 per cent by weight. This bill would protect the public against the use of inferior grades of milk for the preparation of chocolate milk and assure the farmer that such milk products use a minimum quantity of butter fat.

Finally, our farm people are human beings who turn to recreation to rekindle their minds and their spirits. I would urge that legislation be enacted which will allow our farm families to fish in farm ponds and which will at the same time not jeopardize the effective enforcement of our Fish Laws. I would urge the Fish Commission to cooperate with the Legislature in drafting such legislation.

If Pennsylvania is to remain in the forefront as a progressive agricultural State, it is essential that we join together in creating the best possible climate for farming in our Commonwealth. All of the bills which I have discussed have an immediate and helpful impact upon our farm economy. Only by attacking on every front the problems which confront our farmers can we assure a thriving farm community in Pennsylvania in the years ahead.

GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor.

BILL PASSED OVER

was passed over at the request of Mr. READINGER.

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 899, entitled:

An Act authorizing temporary loans for the immediate payment of overdue reimbursements to school districts,

The first section was read.

On the question,

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, in regard to this recommittal motion and I also would like the indulgence of the House to permit me to ask questions involving the school appropriation in general because this is tied in with the passage of Senate Bill 785.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection the gentleman is privileged to interrogate.

Mr. JOHNSON. Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

On December 20th we passed Senate Bill 785 which provides some $550 million of appropriations to schools, and at that time this bill was amended, Senate Bill 899, which would permit the Commonwealth to borrow on tax anticipation notes approximately $132 million to reimburse school districts in the event there was not money in the State Treasury. Is that not correct?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. On December 20th did not the gentleman say at his microphone that if we would pass Senate Bill 785 the Department of Public Instruction had machinery in operation so that the checks could go out to the school districts in five or six days? Didn't the gentleman say that?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Now, Mr. Speaker, in connection with recommitting this bill which would make possible borrowing money to pay the schools, may I ask whether in line with the gentleman's statement that the checks would go out in five or six days, which would be around December 26th or 27th, have the school districts received, that is the fourth class districts, the $43 million which the gentleman said they would receive in five or six days?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I understand they have not.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, could the gentleman state why the money wasn't paid out in five or six days according to the information that he had at that time?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the information that I gave this House, was the information that was given to me by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and that was that they had the warrants ready for the fourth class districts and they could be sent to the Auditor General and the State Treasurer and it would be possible that the money was available for the payments to start rolling within five or six days.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, did not the gentleman also on December 20th say in substance that he had a plan whereby the money was available to pay the schools forthwith and the gentleman mentioned three ways of raising the money, one was to convert the temporary investments of the state which they now have in United States Government bonds and securities, totalling $44,749,000. Didn't the gentleman say that in his opinion and on the advice he had they could have been converted into cash?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. And did not the gentleman also say that inasmuch as there was a $30 million leeway as far as tax anticipation notes were concerned, the state could immediately put into operation machinery to borrow $30 million for that purpose?

Mr. POLEN. That is the statement I made, Mr. Speaker, but I later found that the amount that was to be borrowed was approximately $28 million. That is substantially correct though.

Mr. JOHNSON. Then the gentleman amends his statement to $28 million.

Mr. POLEN. I have since been informed, Mr. Speaker, that is the correct amount, though it was roughly given as $30 million.

Mr. JOHNSON. And, Mr. Speaker, did not the gentleman further say that borrowing could be made from the Motor License Fund as one of the ways that he hoped to solve this financial situation?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. Now, in view of these three possibilities of forthwith raising the money, why, again I ask the gentleman was not the money forthcoming in late December for the school districts?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question, I would say that the three alternatives which I advanced were the ones that I felt could be instituted in order to pay the appropriations due the fourth class school districts.

However, I now understand, that at a conference of the fiscal leaders, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer, the Governor and the Budget Secretary, it was decided that the notes should be sold before this amount was borrowed due to the fact that obligations coming due in February might make it necessary to withhold payment temporarily until a time the fiscal situation was such that it would provide the funds necessary for the February payments, in addition to the amount due the fourth class school districts.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that there was remaining a borrowing capacity of $28 million on tax anticipation notes, was machinery put into operation the day after the Governor signed the bill, on or about December 21st or 22nd, so that in early January the $28 million could be borrowed and the checks could go out?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question I would say it was my understanding that the machinery was in operation.

Mr. JOHNSON. When was that machinery put into operation?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have not sat in on those conferences, so I do not know, but it is my understanding that the matter is being handled.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well, in view of the urgency of the situation, was the machinery started the very day that the Governor signed the bill?

Mr. POLEN. Would the gentleman repeat the question?

Mr. JOHNSON. I repeat, in view of the urgency of the situation, does the gentleman know whether the machinery was put into operation the very day the Governor signed the bill?

Mr. POLEN. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHNSON. My next question is in regard to your third plan of borrowing from the Motor License Fund. I believe a statement has been issued that they have $50 or $60 million of money coming in each month, why wasn't a loan made from the Motor License Fund to immediately pay this urgent appropriation?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would say that while we talked of borrowing the money from the Motor License Fund, it is my understanding that the Attorney General has ruled that legislation is necessary in order to do this.

Mr. JOHNSON. Would the gentleman repeat his answer as briefly as possible to that question as to why the money was not borrowed from the Motor License Fund, as indicated on December 20th?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that the Attorney General has ruled that legislation is necessary in order for the funds to be borrowed from the Motor License Fund.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, this is not a question, it is just a statement.

For the gentleman's information I have had a bill prepared, which I intend to introduce today, which would give statutory authority to make such borrowings, because I feel that it is so very urgent that the schools get their money that legislation should be immediately dumped into the hopper, shall I say, to make that possible.

The gist of what the gentleman has said is that despite the fact that the state has $45 million in bonds he says they didn't want to sell them because in February, in the opinion of someone, there were more urgent obligations to be paid than the urgency to pay the school districts, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would say that that is my understanding, that that was the decision arrived at by the fiscal conference which I did not attend, and it is only hearsay as far as I am concerned, but it is nevertheless my understanding.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman conceive of anything more important, more pressing in the Commonwealth at this time than paying our school districts the money that we owe them?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I think that that is one of the most important things that we are faced with. I repeatedly so stated.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well then, actually, Mr. Speaker, the three methods that the gentleman enumerated on December 20th as being available to pay the school districts, as far as he knows, two of them have been ruled as not available, and the third, that is borrowing, the gentleman thinks the machinery is in process to effect borrowing, so that the schools can be paid?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, it is my understanding that a combination of the three methods is being explored, and while I have no official information, it is my further understanding that it will be a combination of them.

Mr. JOHNSON. Does not the gentleman think, Mr. Speaker, that there has been quite a delay from December 20th until the 16th of January before anything tangible has been done in order to solve this problem?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, again I would say to the gentleman that I am not in possession of all of the facts so I could not very well answer that question. I would say, however, that the Legislature has been in recess, except for consent bills during that period, and so far as legislation that would permit the borrowing of money from the Motor License Fund is concerned, it could not be handled before this present date.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well then, when will at least the fourth class districts get their subsidy?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I could not at this time give that exact information, but I understand that it will be very soon. I will, however, try and ascertain a date for the gentleman and give it to him tomorrow.

Mr. JOHNSON. I believe the newspapers have stated that the Governor said it would be around the 10th of February. Does that date bring anything into the gentleman's mind?

Mr. POLEN. I read the newspaper articles to that effect.

Mr. JOHNSON. In other words, from December 20th or 21st until February 10th, that is how long it has taken to sell a few bonds and raise a little money to pay the schools. Is that right?

Mr. POLEN. I think I stated that it took approximately six weeks in order to advertise and sell the bonds and have the money available, and that would tie in very closely to the date the gentleman has given.

Mr. JOHNSON. I want to thank the House for permitting this wide latitude in questioning which I realize was not really under the question of the motion to recommit, but we would have consumed the time later perhaps under another question.

But now on the motion to recommit. What is the reason for recommitting this bill in order to authorize borrowing of $132 million, if necessary?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, at the time the bill was amended, we included all the amounts that were due and past due, and with the machinery we are setting in motion to take care of certain of these funds we feel that the amount that is now in the bill will not be necessary, and for that reason we are recommitting it so that it can be amended when the definite amount is determined.

Mr. JOHNSON. Do I understand then that this is being sent back to committee, not for purposes of burial but to hold it pending advice as to the amount of money needed? Is that the gentleman's answer?

Mr. POLEN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, that would be correct, not only as to the amount of money that was needed, but as to whether or not the bill itself would be needed in light of the possible solution of the tax problem and the financing that will ensue.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well, doesn't the gentleman think, Mr. Speaker, that it would be a good thing for our state government to have that type of permissive legislation on the books, which will permit the Commonwealth in an orderly way to borrow money to keep our schools running on an even keel, so that say, next fall, or next year at this time when there is a lapse in periodic tax collections that it would be a fine thing for the state to have that borrowing capacity so that we would not face another crisis such as we have faced this year?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman's question, I would say that unofficially I have learned that a large borrowing authorization such as this is might have an effect upon the sale of tax anticipation notes that would be not beneficial, because this is in addition to the limitations imposed by existing law, and I understand that some of the bond houses feel that this additional amount, above what is authorized by law, might be detrimental to the sale of bonds at a reasonable rate of interest.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well, Mr. Speaker, would not that argument be true then of the $28 million in tax anticipation notes they are about to market?

Mr. POLEN. No, Mr. Speaker, it would not, because that amount comes within the limitations of the existing law; 10 per cent of the estimated taxes that are now on the books.

Mr. JOHNSON. Well then, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's reason for recommitting this bill is a constitutional reason rather than that it isn't needed. Is that right?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would not say that it is a constitutional reason. I would say that it is a financial reason as to whether or not it is wise to have this large borrowing power in addition—which this bill is—in addition to that now existing.

Mr. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, on the Republican side, as you know, we have been doing everything we can during the last few months to try to get a school appropriation bill passed so that the schools will get their money while a good-faith attempt is being made between both parties to pass a fair and equitable tax program.

Personally I cannot see anything wrong with passing this bill today to give the state the authority to make temporary loans in order to pay subsidies to school districts. I cannot see how this bill authorizing tax anticipation notes stands in any other category than the present authority we have given the state to borrow on tax anticipation notes.

We feel it is almost a "must" bill to have on our statute books so that machinery can be set up immediately to borrow money to pay the schools, because if we do pass a tax program we all know the money will not be forthcoming at once from a tax program. It will take time to put the new tax program into effect, to get the forms printed and, if you pass an income tax, to get the first installments paid into the treasury. The state is going to need this borrowing power because the schools must have this money.

One of the things this crisis in our schools has pointed out is the almost complete dependence of our school districts on the subsidies from the state. It is true that even in October and November, after our school districts have had their local tax money paid to them that is, real estate and per capita tax, and so forth, they come to Harrisburg and say, "We are out of money. We must have our state subsidies." If we have created a situation in this state where the schools depend on the state for their money and not on local taxation, as might be true in some other states, we must have machinery which will make it possible to pay our schools in an orderly way and on time. I say it is much better for the Commonwealth to borrow at one and two per cent interest on tax anticipation notes than for the school districts to go to local banks and borrow at six per cent.

Therefore, I think the motion to recommit is untimely, it is not sound, and I am asking the House to vote against the motion. We ask for a roll call on it.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, one of the things the gentleman mentioned is one of the reasons for the recommitment of this bill, and that is the question of the interest rate. The gentleman mentioned one-and-a-half to two per cent. That would be possible if we had a tax program on the books and the full amount of taxes were known, but under existing conditions the bond buyers have told the fiscal people of the Commonwealth that we are going to have to pay a much higher rate than we did on past borrowings.

I believe the other tax anticipation notes were sold at 1.55, and we know that the best we can obtain now will be considerably in excess of two per cent. If we have a solution of the tax program we will have a borrowing base which will be sound, we will be able to borrow the money at a reasonable rate of interest and save the Commonwealth several millions of dollars.

Due to the fact that we may have a solution of the tax program, we believe it wise that this bill be recommitment so it can be amended if it is necessary, and, if it is not necessary to bring the bill back out, we will have a tax program which will provide the borrowing power under the existing law at a reasonable rate of interest.

I ask the Members to support the motion to recommit.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I want to support the attitude taken by the gentleman from McKean on this motion to recommit. Perhaps the Members of the House are not aware of the real urgency which now faces our fourth class school districts.

I am speaking particularly for my constituency in Bedford County. I have in my hand a letter addressed to the Governor urging immediate action by reason of the fact that the schools of the Bedford Joint School District will be closed very likely after the 24th of January unless reimbursement is forthcoming.

Previous to this communication to the Governor's office, there was a communication addressed by the Hyndman Borough School District calling attention to the same situation, and that is occurring in a great number of the school districts in my county.

I have as the solicitor for a number of school districts been called upon to certify as to the legality of loans placed by the school districts in anticipation of current revenues, or rather in anticipation of appropriations from the state on school subsidies.

Having made such certifications, I am now faced, and was faced today, with making additional certifications for additional loans to keep our schools open and to pay our teachers. We have reached the place now where we can no longer certify with any guarantee to the banks that such loans will be legal. Consequently, the matter is extremely urgent.

I do not believe the assurance we have been given, and the assurance I have given to these school districts and to our public in Bedford County relative to the action of the administration in providing these funds has been followed out. I have heard nothing insofar as the motion to recommit is concerned from the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, which would lead me to believe the motion to recommit has any real, valid, substantial basis when one considers the urgency of the situation which exists.

I ask the Members of the House on both sides to consider very seriously whether or not this bill should be recommitment. Indeed, I believe the time has come for this House to take dynamic action to come to the rescue of our imperiled school districts. I believe if we do not you will find within the next several weeks a number of our schools closed and our children not able to go to school.

Mr. POLEN, I would say, Mr. Speaker, to the gentleman from Bedford that the passage of Senate Bill 785, which put the appropriation on the books, gave the school districts the borrowing power against the appropriation, which would make the loans that he has referred to legal.

Mr. STROUP. I am constrained, Mr. Speaker, to just answer that statement.

It is not only a question of the legality of the loan, it is a question as to whether your local banking institutions have authority to loan to the extent that is now necessary to keep our schools open. That is the issue we are facing.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. JOHNSON, HELM and HOCKER and were as follows:

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1080, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 1, 1929 (P. L. 1005), entitled as amended "An act relating to and regulating tractors and their operation; providing for their registration by the Department of Revenue upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of tractors; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, and townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of tractors; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation; and providing for refunds," providing for the titling of, including liens, encumbrances and legal claims against farm tractors regulating the possession and sale of farm tractors giving the Department of Revenue additional powers to make regulations for the administration of the act and fixing penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMENDED

Mr. SNIDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommended to the Committee on Agriculture and Dairy Industries.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I am for this motion to recommend. We do not want tractor titling in Pennsylvania. I had prepared remarks in opposition to this bill, but since the motion is to recommend instead of a general debate on the bill, I now ask consent of the House to submit these remarks to be entered into the Legislative Journal.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, and Members of this House, I rise to oppose House Bill 1080, Printers Number 1191. House Bill 1080 would require each purchaser of a new tractor to buy a Certificate of title for the tractor, at a cost of $2, and would require a certificate of title for any tractor being sold for the second time after the passage of this bill. This bill would require the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue to do the filing work, the dealers to do the paper work, and the farmer to pay the bill.

I believe that before this bill is voted upon, that the members of this House should understand the background of the bill, and what it will do. A similar bill was introduced two years ago, to cover all tractors and self-propelled machines. The original bill introduced in the House this year carried the same provisions. When no support was forthcoming, the bill was amended to apply only to tractors. Still later, amendments were added to apply the title only to the purchase of new tractors, or on the second sale of any tractor from this day on.

It is important to note, also, that to the best of my knowledge, only one other state, New Jersey, has a Tractor Titling Law, and they also require a license for all tractors moving on or across the highway, even between two farms owned by the operator. The cost of this license fee is $1.00. It is quite possible that this may be the first step to get certificate of title on all farm machinery, in Pennsylvania, as well as a method of raising additional revenue for this Commonwealth by licensing farm tractors and self propelled machinery. In fact the way the first proposals were written would lead us to believe so.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I don't believe that you or I would want to be responsible for legislation which will eventually place another extra financial burden on our farmers.

While the costs of production on farms are continuing to rise, the farmers share of the consumer dollar continues to decline and the farm income continues to decline, and I am not going to be a party to any legislation which will place additional costs of any kind on the farmers. I am not going to be a party to such legislation especially when the legislation will not be of value to agriculture. Here are some of the major reasons why the certificate of title bill for farm tractors is of little value.

1. Ownership can now be recorded by a bill of sale and/or finance papers. Under the new financing regulations proper records are required to show legal entanglements and ownership.

2. It makes little difference to farmers how many owners had the tractor before him. What is of importance is the condition of the tractor, which in most cases is guaranteed by the dealer for a period of time. (30, 60, or 90 days or longer).

3. Why should farmers pay for a financing program for the dealers? Personal property can now be used for collateral for a loan by use of a mortgage. Under the certificate of title system, banks would not loan any more money on a given tractor than they do at percent.

4. Titling requirements will not stop theft of tractors, or price cutting. Although titles are now used for automobiles, theft is still prevalent.

There is no accurate record of the number of tractors stolen, but the Pennsylvania Farm Equipment Dealers Association report that 15 thefts in Pennsylvania in the past 10 to 12 years, and many of these are thefts of tractors from dealers lots.

5. The Census of 1950 reports 125,907 farm tractors in Pennsylvania. Thus, as these tractors are replaced or resold the second time about $251,814 would be drained from the pockets of our farmers.

This is just one more step down the ladder toward depression, for as you have heard many, many, many times, as agriculture goes, so goes the world, so goes the nation, and so goes the national election.

Now, Mr. Speaker, in summary let me say, this bill, House Bill 1080, will only be adding more costs to the farmers of Pennsylvania with little or no benefits for the farmers. I therefore, urge all of the members of this House to vote no on this bill, and let's do something once for the farmer before this session adjourns sine die.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1128, entitled:

An Act to quiet title to real estate and to facilitate the alienation thereof; creating a conclusive presumption of payment, satisfaction or release and making unenforceable any claim for money charged against real estate under any deed, certain mortgages or any decree of any court of record of this Commonwealth and correcting defects in title arising out of unrecorded deeds and breaks in chain of title and making claims thereunder invalid by creating a conclusive presumption of release and satisfaction where the charges and mortgages mature or become due and payable, and decrees or defects of record arise, occur, exist or are dated more than fifty years prior to the time of the institution of any proceeding hereunder to enforce payment, perfect, revive or continue the aforesaid lien charge or encumbrances or to enforce any right arising out of a defect in title, unless an action is instituted to enforce charges, mortgages and decrees as aforesaid against the present owners or action is taken to enforce any right arising out of a defect in title within one year after the effective date of this act.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Flint, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLINT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, since we have not caucused on this bill, I wonder if the gentleman would explain the bill to the Members of the House?

Mr. FLINT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware undoubtedly is familiar with an Act of 1949 and the Supreme Court decision which declared that Act unconstitutional. The Act of 1949 is the pattern of this bill.

Without going into too much technicality and over-refined explanation, it is to be said that the chief difference between the two pieces of legislation is that the Act of 1949 would provide a kind of statute of limitations applicable even to mortgages whose maturity was based upon contingencies not certain to have happened, an uncertain maturity, whereas this bill applies only to those whose maturity is certain and which have not been enforced for a period of fifty years.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, as I read this bill I cannot see any provision in the bill requiring service of notice on the holder of a mortgage either by advertising or personally. Will the gentleman show me where there is anything in the bill which says how the notice should be served?

Mr. FLINT. Mr. Speaker, the device of the bill does not provide for a notice. Of course, the thirty-year statute barring rights of entry does not provide for notice either. It is that kind of a bill.

This does not do away with the remedy by petition to court and having the court determine the method of notice. It is to avoid the expense of proceedings of that kind that this legislation is sought.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Flint, and the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, yield for a moment to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Charles C. Smith?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I thank you, Mr. Speaker.

If it would meet with the approval of the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Flint, in view of the fact that there are about half a dozen bills on the calendar that neither your side nor our side has caucused on, would it be possible to put this bill on the final passage postponed calendar so that both sides can caucus on the bill?

Mr. FLINT. That will be satisfactory, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1349, entitled:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 871, Printer's No. 366 was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

CONDOLENCE

Mr. KRATZ, Mrs. HENZEL, Messrs. WILLAREDT, THOMAS H. W. JONES and BRENNINGER offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1956.

At the age of seventy-five years, Mrs. John A. Lafore, of Penn Valley Farm, Penn Valley, Pennsylvania, the mother of one of our fellow members of the House of Representatives, John A. Lafore, Jr., died recently.

Mrs. Lafore the former Anne Shearer, was married to the late John A. Lafore, a paper manufacturer, and is survived by Robert W. Lefore, of Moylan, Laurence Lafore of Swarthmore, Pennsylvania, a daughter, Mrs. Edward O. Forstall, of Penn Valley and State Representative John A. Lafore, Jr.

A graduate of the Baldwin School and Swarthmore College, she was a former president of the St. Nicholas Day Nursery and the first president of the Penn Valley Garden Club. She was also active in the Children's Aid of Montgomery County, the League of Women Voters, the Emergency Aid and the Red Cross. She was also a member of the New Century Club.

It was through the inspiration and teaching of Mrs. Lafore that her sons have achieved success in business and in public life; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives extend their sympathies to the Honorable John A. Lafore, Jr., and to his brothers and his sister in their hour of loss; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Honorable John A. Lafore, Jr. and to his brothers and sister.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Lafore.

Mr. LAFORE. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of myself and the members of my family, I deeply appreciate the resolution and the sympathy expressed in it and wish to thank my colleagues from Montgomery and all the Members of the House.

RESOLUTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE

Messrs. BAZIN, GELFAND, FRANK, BARNATOVICH, FINEMAN, EILBERG, ROSEN, McCORMACK, MEHOLCHICK, PACCHIOLI, J. J. BRENNAN, FLYNN, RENWICK, and CAPANO offered a resolution which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1956.

Resolved, That House Bill No. 784, entitled "An act providing for a referendum to determine the will of the electorate in regard to horse racing with legal wagering within the State" having been referred to the Committee on Rules on March 29, 1955, and the committee not having reported the same to the House for a period of over ten days, the committee is discharged from further consideration thereof.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the adoption of this resolution. It seeks to remove from the jurisdiction the Committee on Rules, which meets frequently, House Bill 784, which is entitled:

An Act providing for a referendum to determine the will of the electorate in regard to horse racing with legal wagering within the State.

In oppose this resolution mainly on the ground that on March 22nd in the Senate of Pennsylvania an identical bill, so far as I can ascertain, which also provided for a referendum to be submitted to the public on this very question, was defeated by a vote of 26—20.

In my opinion if this bill is brought out of Committee under this resolution and voted on favorably by this House, is will meet the same doom in the Senate as Senate Bill 92 did on March 22nd.

I find myself in a most peculiar position in this respect because for many years I have been prepared not only to vote for a referendum on this question, but to vote to legalize pari-mutuel betting in this state.

Nevertheless, I see no sense in forcing this bill from our Committee for a vote on the floor of this House with almost absolute certainty that if it ever gets to the Senate it will meet the same fate as Senate Bill 92.

I therefore ask the Members to vote against this resolution, and I ask for a roll call.

Mr. BAZIN. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if I may at this time interrogate the Majority Leader?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BAZIN. Mr. Speaker, am I to understand that in the future we will not vote on any bills here in the House because we know the Senate is going to kill them? We voted on bills before which we knew the Senate would kill, and we are going to be voting on bills again that the Senate will kill. I do not think that is a just argument against this particular bill.

Mr. READINGER. Is the gentleman asking me a question? If he is I did not understand it.

Mr. BAZIN. Mr. Speaker, according to the gentleman's statement we do not want to release this bill because he is certain the Senate will kill it. I believe the Committee recently released bills which we were sure the Senate would kill, but they were released for a vote here. Why is this particular bill any different in standing than other bills?

Mr. READINGER. Perhaps, Mr. Speaker, I should say in answer to that this is no different from other bills which have been passed by this House with almost certain knowledge on our part that they would not meet with the approval of the Senate. I think the gentleman, if he looks over those bills, will find they do not deal with social legislation, a method of living and a method of raising money, perhaps, such as is involved in this bill.

It is my position that there is no point in bringing this bill out on the floor of the House for a vote because it can only do one of two things, it can be passed, and I say the defeat of it in the Senate is almost certain, or it can be defeated by this House.

It is my preference not to force the membership of this House to vote on this bill if it does not have to be done.

The gentleman well knows that throughout the Commonwealth there is a great controversy concerning the rightness or wrongness of pari-mutuel wagering on horse races.

I realize the gentleman has every right to introduce this resolution and try to force the membership of the House to vote on this question. I am asking the membership not to force that issue at this time in view of the situation which exists in the Senate.

Mr. BAZIN. Mr. Speaker, we are not trying to force any racing on anybody according to this bill. All this bill does is give the people of Pennsylvania the right to vote yes or no on whether they want to pay some form of tax through horse racing.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I cannot resist starting what I am going to say, by saying that when the Majority Leader says he is in a peculiar position, I agree with him. He is in a peculiar position to resist the discharge of a committee, and after many years of his being in the minority and hearing his very strong "aye" when it came to discharge any committee, I agree that he is in a peculiar position.

We are not going to be placed in a peculiar position on this side of the House as a minority party. We have never believed in the discharge of committees. We have always said that the merits or demerits of a bill were never based on the vote for or against the discharging of committees.

I agree with the Majority Leader that if we are to have any type of organization in our state government we have to abide by the committee system.

On this side of the House I ask all of the Members to be consistent, we have always voted against the discharge of a committee.

Let me remind the gentleman from Philadelphia that the merits do not enter into this. I ask the Members on this side of the House to again be consistent and vote "no" against any discharge resolution.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I may have misunderstood a few of the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, but if he said anything which indicates that in the past, or now, I am opposed in principle to discharging committees from bills, I want to correct that statement. I have never been opposed in principle to discharging a committee from a bill when I thought it was proper to do so.

I am arguing in this case that it is not proper to do so for certain reasons which I have already given. I welcome the support I will probably get from their side in voting against this resolution. I welcome it very much, but I do not want the gentleman to leave me in a position, by inference, of being opposed to the discharge of any committee from a certain bill.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I probably did not phrase my words correctly. I know the gentleman has never been opposed to discharging committees. It has been this side of the House that has been opposed.

I would like also to remind the gentleman that we intend to stay consistent throughout the session no matter how long it lasts, and I say that with dread, but we will not vote to discharge any committee on any bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

On a rising vote, less than one hundred and six Members having voted in the affirmative, the resolution was not agreed to.

RESOLUTION

Miss LEIBY offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, Senate Resolution, Serial No. 158.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOMPKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I think the Members of the House will be vitally interested in what I have to say. It is going to be very brief.

I want to read a list of recent appointments which have been made in our state government which I think is very vital to all of us, as follows:

State Regional Medical Director in the Department of Health appointed on December 1, 1955 at a salary of $11,532, from Hotel Elton, Waterbury, Connecticut.

Regional Supervisor Children's Service, Welfare Department appointed December 1, 1955 at a salary of $6,714, from 1210 Radnor Place, Falls Church, Fairfax, Virginia.

Assistant Director, Bureau of Economic Research in the Commerce Department appointed on December 19, 1955 at a salary of $10,260, from 6304 Lehigh Highway, Arlington 5, Virginia.

A hospital analyst in the Department of Welfare Medical Facilities Survey, appointed on September 26, 1955 at a salary of $6,510, from Hotel Martinque, New York, New York.

Public Health Educator in the Department of Health appointed on October 3, 1955, at a salary of $5,058, from 3535 Staunton Road S. E., Washington, District of Columbia.

Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission at a salary of $12,500. who gives his present address as Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg, but actually is from Georgia.

Chief of Flood Control in the Department of Forests and Waters appointed on October 10, 1955 at a salary of $8,994, from 119½ North Monroe Street, Clinton, Illinois.

Chief Accountant in the Department of Justice, appointed on October 17, 1955 at a salary of $8,352, from York, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, there are ten appointments made in your government of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania within the past three months, and only one of those ten comes from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Have we come to a condition in the state of Pennsylvania where among ten million people we do not have enough qualified people to run our own government?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McINROY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am going to speak on a subject right now that concerns probably more people in the state of Pennsylvania than any other thing. As you go around this state, there are two things that the people of Pennsylvania seem to be talking about more than any other. One is: Is President Eisenhower going to run for a second term, and the second is what is going to be the new tax program in the state of Pennsylvania?

I am not going to say anything on the first question, but I am going to talk about the second one because if you read tonight's paper, and I have it before me. The Evening News, and it would be the same in any other paper in the state of Pennsylvania, you will find most of the headlines are concerned with the tax problem. That is not only true tonight but it will be true tomorrow and it will be true tomorrow night and it has been true all the past year.

As I sit in my seat back here in the back part of the room, humbly listening to what our leaders and certain others were saying during the whole year, as I watched this picture in front, I was thinking to myself, what would some of those great leaders in the past do if they sat in our seats as we have sat this whole year and going into a new year with the tax problem still unsettled? So I have decided to write a few things, and with your kind permission I shall read them to you hurriedly this afternoon, not because I want to make a show of myself but because I think it is timely to call these things to your attention because we are going to decide on these things, I hope, before next election next November.

As this is the beginning of a new year, I rise today to talk for a few minutes about this tax situation. Every where we go we are confronted with this question, what are going to be our new taxes? What about payments due the schools, the state institutions, etc?

When your humble servant was about twelve years of age he was asked to sing a song at a Christmas program and although this happened many years ago, I have never forgotten the words nor the music of that little song. Do not be alarmed, I have no intention of singing that song before this distinguished body of tired legislators. However, I hope that some of you at least might be interested in the words of that song. They went something like this:

Outside a mansion, bright and gay
Upon a Christmas eve,
There stood a ragged, homeless child,
Whose heart began to grieve.
The boy looked in with tear-dimmed eyes
And to himself he said:
'Why can't I have a home like this,
Some place to lay my head?'

Chorus.

The Christmas time is over now,
The poor child's heart is sad.
He thinks of all he saw that night;
It makes him feel so bad.
He wanders on just as before,
His heart is filled with sighs.
He lays his weary head right down
Upon the ground and cries.

Chorus

Now, Mr. Speaker, I would like to talk about the tax problem and use this little song as a comparison as to what has been going on in this great Commonwealth.

The little boy looking in the window is our present Governor. Back of him are standing a host of Democrats and a number of mistaken Republicans. In order to get inside this well-lighted and comfortable home, this group or perhaps more accurately, some leaders in this group, decided to do certain things. This youth, mounted on a white charger, went all over this state of Pennsylvania, promising the voters certain things, among them the greatest "pie in the sky" lie of all in the annals of politics in Pennsylvania, that he could let the sales tax, that terrible dragon of a tax die, and balance the budget by savings by him and his party and still give the people more services than ever before.

Now, you Members of the majority party have been reminded of that great and inexcusable hoax, I hope you get that last word, "inexcusable" hoax on the people until no doubt you do not want to hear it again today, but like elephants, that we are on this side of the House, some of us have long memories and these promises so glibly given will come back to haunt you again and again.

But you say, Mr. Speaker, "I never said those words." Perhaps you did not, Mr. Speaker, or the Speaker who is absent this afternoon, perhaps he did not either and perhaps some of you majority Members did not, but there is an old and true saying that "silence gives consent." All over this great Commonwealth that was the theme song of the now majority party: "Down with that terrible sales tax, and no tax is needed to take its place." You and other good Democrats knew the truth but you kept silent, and by your silence you gave consent.

Now it is hard to beat a Santa Claus. Most everyone loves a Santa Claus, particularly if he brings us what we want and does not charge us a single cent in our own money. The people voted for a Santa Claus but it turned out that he was not a real Santa Claus.

The little song said in the second verse, "The Christmas time is over now, The poor child's heart is sad" etc. Mr. Speaker, the Christmas time is over now, and not only is our Governor sad or should be sad, but you are sad, we are sad, the people are sad, the school boards are sad and I might say angry, and thousands of the voters are sadder and wiser. You fooled a lot of the people some of the time but that time is over now. You were able to get inside that well-lighted home which we call the Capitol building, the Education building and all the rest of the state buildings, get jobs for your fellow workers for the benefit of your party or for the downfall of your party as it may turn out to be.

In your propaganda against the sales tax you tried to make, and succeeded in making a terrible monster out of a timid rabbit of a tax. This terrible monster may turn on you and destroy your dreams before we are finished. By your propaganda and resistance to an income tax in 1951, because you said it was so hard on the common people—and I heard many of you say that on that side of the House, it was so hard on the common people—by your resistance to the other broad base tax, the sales tax, which we proposed and finally passed, not with your help on the other side of the House though, you have the voters tax-conscious in the state of Pennsylvania. Do not fool yourselves. Whatever tax you force through this House and get enough Republican Senators to go along with you, you will find there will now be plenty of resistance from the people who have to pay that tax, and I do not care what kind of a tax you succeed in passing, you will have plenty of opposition from the people themselves and you have yourselves and your leaders to blame for this, to a great extent.

They just had an election over in France and I would like to call your attention to this fact, that over in France in that election they had a whole group, or party, that ran on the same program that you Democrats ran on, the theory of no taxes. The people of France will rue the day that they voted for them and you will rue the day that they voted for your no tax program, too.

You should now begin to see what our leaders tried to point out to you for so many years. It is so easy to criticize but so hard to please everybody.

Mr. Speaker, we heard you say, or rather the man who is absent this afternoon, when you were the Minority Leader in this House, "Members of the Majority party, trot out your program of taxation and if you have 106 votes for it well and good."

Then let it go over to the other House, if you can convince three or four Republican Senators to vote for it, not because they think it is the best tax, but because something has to be done to give the needed revenue to keep the necessary functions of this State going along in high gear, then well and good. We shall then taken your tax to the voters at the next general election as the Democratic tax, while we Republicans shall stand on our record of taxation, the sales tax, with the modifications we would have placed in it this session if we had been returned to this House as the majority party.

It is just as simple as that, Mr. Speaker. We are going to argue this question out, I suppose, starting with tomorrow and I want you to understand this fact, I have read the headlines tonight, I am not speaking for them, I am speaking for myself and certain Members on this side of the House, "Something's gotta give, something's gotta give," you know that song. You trot out your tax and if you can get it through all right and if you can get it through the Senate, all right.

I know what I would do if I were over in the Senate. I know what I would have done the day the classified income tax program went over there. I am going to say this, perhaps it may be that I will be defeated at by next election but I want you to hear this, everyone of you, if I had been over in the Senate and that tax had been given to me, I am afraid I would have voted for your classified income tax, because I think it stinks from beginning to end. I think it was the most unfair tax that has ever been given to the people of Pennsylvania. I would have carried it to the voters in this manner: we had to give the people of Pennsylvania something to run the schools on, we cannot run them on hot air, and I know that we would have won and the Democratic party would have been licked for thirty years on that tax program. We saved you as some of our Senators said over there, we saved your party from destruction, and you ought to thank us. We are now coming up to a new program and I am not going to talk about that this afternoon, because we hope to get a better tax program through than you would have had with either one of those other tax programs that you rammed down our throats over here in the House.

As we look toward the future, let us stick to the truth, the hole truth and nothing but the truth. Let us tell the people honestly: "We have no pie in the sky for you today. The cost of government is high—and I accent that word 'high'—'because of the many services you expect. Taxes will have to remain high to keep the necessary functions of a great state going along as they should.'" Why not say as did that great statesman, Winston Churchill said to the people of England when only that tiny country of Great Britain remained to confront the mighty armies of Germany and Russia, for remember Russia was then allied with Germany, this is what Winston Churchill said, "I can promise you only blood, sweat and tears." This did not dismay the brave people of Great Britain, because Winston Churchill told them the truth and they faced it as brave and freedom-loving people will always face the truth. We have confidence that the voters of Pennsylvania will face it too, if given the chance.

Unfortunately, this is an election year. Let us not think only of election this year, but of getting on with the job and finishing the tasks before us, so that we can get home to our other jobs and permit the people back home to breathe more easily when they know that we have indeed finished our work here, and that the wheels of progress in this great commonwealth will be assured of turning again during the remaining months of this biennium.

I do not need to remind you of this, and I hope all the people of this state get this statement, this is the longest session in the history of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania since our Constitution was formed. Not a record to be proud of on either side of the House. Away with all our political smoke and propaganda, let us profit by your past mistakes, I said, your past mistakes. Let us go home and lick our wounds, that this Commonwealth of the people, by the people and for the people shall not be brought down in bankruptcy. Let us not make the state safe for the Democrats but let us make it good for all of us.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, it is not my intention now to debate the matter of taxes in full, but I do want to answer a few remarks made by the gentleman who just spoke.

He has very thoroughly unburdened himself of many, many thoughts which probably have been piling up in his mind for many months. For that I cannot blame him. However, when we argue the matter of tax philosophy and what is right and what is wrong in our own viewpoints taxwise, we can get into many, many arguments of great length.

I gather from the gentleman's remarks that he thinks the Democratic Party made a terrible mistake in promising to get rid of the sales tax which his party saw fit to enact in 1953, and I gather he is assuming now that whatever we said about the sales tax we are going to be made to swallow in the near future. If he is assuming that, he might be right.

Last week some of the Members of the State Senate and some of the Members of this House had a meeting, at which time a certain proposition was made by the Democratic Representatives as a means of solving this tax problem. I personally requested that the Republican Senators meet today and consider the proposition made and give us an answer on whether they would take it or not.

We have now received the answer, and they will not take the latest proposal which was made, not by the administration, but by some of the Democratic Representatives in this House and in the Senate. We have further been told, in effect, that the only thing the Senate will take to raise enough money to finance this Commonwealth will be a retail sales tax, plus enough business taxes to raise the amount of money which they, the Senate Republicans are going to determine this Commonwealth shall have between now and May 31, 1957.

That is the position we are in at the moment, and I do not think the gentleman who just spoke, or anyone else, is going to have to wait very long before they are given the opportunity they have been asking for ever since the problem arose, and that is the opportunity to vote on a retail sales tax.

Mr. MCINROY. Mr. Speaker, may I just speak briefly in reply to the Majority Leaders statements?

In the first place, I would like to call to the attention of everybody that the Democratic party did not get rid of the sales tax. The sales tax died a natural death. It was put in for two years as an experiment and when the time came it died a natural death in spite of what anyone would say.

Mr. Speaker, I did not say I am for a sales tax, and this side of the House does not say that. You quoted the Senate, but I am not making any statement in regard to the sales tax. It would not surprise me, Mr. Majority Leader, but what things might turn out differently than what you have said this afternoon.

Under the conditions laid down by the Senate, and they will be laid down by Members over here, that we give 100 per cent support for a sales tax and you give just enough votes to pass it, I am going to tell you right now that I am going to take the same position as a certain gentleman did in your party in regard to our tax. I will not vote for a sales tax under those conditions and I know a lot of others over here will not. We are not going to be forced to vote on it in that manner, Mr. Speaker. That is my stand. I don't know whether I will be read out of the party as a certain man said over there, but I know I am speaking for certain Republicans.

What has been laid down in the Senate and what has been laid down here is too high a price, because I can hear you Democrats taking it right out to the people again. I can see you on television, as I saw you last year, bring out some poor lady and saying, "Here she bought a dollar's worth of goods and she had to pay one penny. Oh, what an awful thing that is; what an awful thing." I heard that over and over until I got angry, and I am still angry, because again I repeat that that was a little rabbit of a tax, so timid that it amazed me that it got out of here with the exemptions and everything else in it. It did not hurt anybody, that little one cent tax. How you scared the people and built that great dragon out of it, I don't understand, except that people will buy once or twice what you tell them.

I want to tell you that the people are tax conscious now. I have had a lot of people tell me within the last three or four months, and I presume they have told others, "Give us back that little timed one per cent, we'll be tickled to death to have it in preference to an income tax or anything else."

I want to say this in regard to your leader on the other side and I have a high regard for Mr. Readinger, if you had listened to him months ago, this compromise plan he is now bringing up is a far better tax than either one of those other two taxes that were rammed through this House. It is a far better arrangement. I do not know when it is going through, but I am going to put myself on record as an individual and say to you as I honestly see it, that that two-for-two in my opinion is a better tax program than they tried to ram down your throats over there and now are trying to ram down our throats over here.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to prolong this, but I believe the gentleman interprets my remarks to mean that when a sales tax is laid before this House it will be laid before the House on the basis that if all the Republicans don't vote for it with the exception of the constitutional number they need to pass it, we are going to do so and so.

That is an assumption on his part. I have merely tried to state that it looks very much at the moment as though there will be no alternative but to bring a sales tax before this House and let every Member vote the way he wants to vote. I dare say there will be a lot of Republicans who will not vote for a three per cent sales tax of the kind that will be necessary to raise nearly all the money we are going to need.

I appreciate the gentleman's remarks in indicating that he thinks the proposal about which he has been reading in the paper for a two per cent income and a two per cent sales tax, with a fair number of exemptions, would be a better way to raise the tax. I think so, and I did my level best to persuade the gentlemen in the other branch of this Legislature that it was a better way to raise the money. As I say, We got their answer, and it is "no," and it is a very firm "no." That leaves us in the position where we will have practically no alternative to escape bankruptcy except to bring out an adequate retail sales tax, which they say they will take, and see what happens to it in the House.

If the gentleman over there decides to vote against it, he has every right to do so, as the Members on this side will have the right to do. But if that fails to pass, I do not have the slightest idea of how we are going to raise the money to finance this Commonwealth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DOWN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to place on the record of this House petitions, letters, reports of violence and other matters reflecting the growing fear of people over the threat to life, property and disregard for law and order resulting from the bitter strike of the International Union of Electrical Workers against Westinghouse Electric Corporation plants in Sharon and Greenville, both located in my district.

The petitions, signed by many hundreds of Mercer County citizens from all ranks, demand a legislative investigation into the failure of the Commonwealth to provide the assistance of the State Police in enforcing an order of the Mercer County Court designed to assure peaceful picketing, when it was obvious local authorities could not do so alone.

Other petitions appeal to the Commonwealth to make use of forces at its disposal in the future to maintain law and order and to prevent any further destruction of property, invasion of the citizens' rights and violence which, in past weeks, has frequently taken the form of actual physical attacks upon the persons of individuals.

I also submit a copy of the text of the court's order, photographs of the strike scene, newspaper clippings reporting scores of incidents of violence resulting from the dispute and medical records of persons injured in such acts of violence.

This is a painful duty I perform. Yet, bound as I am by my oath to support the Constitution of this Commonwealth and the federal government, it is one I cannot, in good conscience, ignore.

It is painful because for the past three months I have been watching at close hand a breakdown of the constitutional processes of our government which can only result when the authority of our courts and laws are openly and deliberately flouted. These things are the very basis for peaceful and respectful relationships between people.

It is made even more painful by the knowledge that many of the people directly involved on both sides of this dispute not only are neighbors, but close personal friends as well.

I urge the Members of this House to give sober and earnest consideration to the full implication of these matters which I bring to their attention. May I also urge that they study these documents closely with a view to meeting the questions they raise in future remedial legislation.

Regardless of the issues involved in this dispute and the views which we as individuals may hold on them, the fact remains that if the law gives the workingman the right to strike or not to strike, and management the right to manage, we as the makers of the law have the right and, perhaps even more important, the duty to insist that they be observed and enforced to the fullest by those who have this responsibility.

Only in this way can we be assured that our constitutional government, with its blessed concept of individual rights and individual liberties, will be maintained. Our failure or refusal to recognize the full implications of the situation at hand can only open the way to more tragic and fearful consequences in the future.

I yield to the gentleman from Mercer, Mr. Young.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. YOUNG asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, while my legislative district does not actually encompass the area of the Sharon plant of Westinghouse, many of my constituents are employed there and are affected by the situation existing.

I do not want my remarks or the remarks of Mr. Down to be construed as concerning the issues of the strike; the issues of the strike do not enter into our conversation here today. All we are asking is that the Governor reconsider his decision to withhold State Police assistance and that this Legislature investigate the situation to see why such assistance has been withheld.

I assume that my petitions and enclosures are similar or identical with those referred to by Mr. Down, and I think they are reasonably conclusive.

One of the four freedoms that President Roosevelt guaranteed the people was the freedom from fear. We do not have the privilege of freedom from fear in Mercer County today, lives are being threatened, homes are being destroyed, disfigured by paint bombs, windows are being broken, cars are being upset, windows broken on cars, people are being brutally beaten, the orders of the court are being deliberately flouted, lawlessness is rife in Mercer County and it is time that this Legislature take some action to rectify this situation.

I therefore ask that the leadership of this House in its infinite wisdom, give favorable consideration to these petitions.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The petitions will be filed with the Chief Clerk.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. RENWICK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to ask unanimous consent of the House to place on the records an article pertaining to J. C. week, January 14th to the 21st.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection the remarks will be spread upon the record.

Mr. RENWICK. In celebrating the 36th anniversary of the founding of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Members of this House, The Ridgway Jaycees join with other Chapters throughout the county for one week of organized activities.

The National Jaycee organization has been organized since January 21, 1920 as a result of one Henry Geissenbier who saw a need for a young men's civic group and organized the first Chapter in St. Louis, Missouri, in 1915.

Built on the solid foundation of creating opportunities for leadership training through community betterment projects, the Jaycees today, 200,000 strong, are active in 2900 communities in the United States and are organized in 60 counties, through Junior Chamber International Jaycee week presents an opportunity for Jaycees to pause briefly in their civic efforts for an inventory of their progress and community services. This observance also provides an opportunity to more fully inform the public of the aims and ideals of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

It is customary for the Jaycees to honor a member of their community for an outstanding deed or deeds. In Ridgway this year the honor goes to Joseph Caggese, a truck driver who works out of the Boss-Linco terminal in there. During the terrible bottling Company fire last fall Mr. Caggese showed outstanding courage when he rescued Mrs. Lloyd Thomas and her small daughter who were hopelessly trapped by the fire that later burned their house completely to the ground. For his heroism Mr. Caggese will be given an honorary membership in the Ridgway Junior Chamber of Commerce and be presented with gifts of appreciation from the club at the Jaycee week banquet to be held Thursday, January 19th, at the St. Leos Social Hall in Ridgway.

Certificates of appreciation will be presented to the Ridgway Record, Radio Station WKBI and the Ridgway Television Company for their contributions of time, effort, and facilities that made past Jaycee projects successful. The Speaker for the evening, James Birty, prominent Cleveland sportscaster will provide entertainment on the light side, with his interesting stories of sports personalities and events. This promises to be a bang up night for the people that attend.

During the Jaycee week observance in Ridgway, the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce will recognize the ten outstanding young men of America for 1955, at a banquet in Springfield, Illinois. A past winner of this award, Richard Nixon, Vice President of the United States, will join with Hugh F. McKenna, U. S. Jaycee President, in making the presentations.

The qualities of leadership are an important item in the minds of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. One of the basic drives of this organization is to develop the desire and initiative in its members to assume a responsible role in the community. The Ridgway Junior Chamber of Commerce hopes to do just that.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 129

Mr. AUKEK. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 12 of today's calendar, House Resolution No. 129.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, November 22, 1955.

The issuing of licenses and tags for the hunting and killing of antlerless deer is a matter of great concern to all sportsmen as well as to the general public

The Pennsylvania Game Commission is given considerable power in determining the number of antlerless deer to be killed each year and regulates the number of licenses and tags to be issued

The House of Representatives requires for its use information concerning the equitableness and fairness of the method of issuing licenses and tags for the hunting and killing of antlerless deer therefore be it

Resolved That the Conservation and Wildlife Committee of the House of Representatives be directed to study and investigate

(1) The present method of issuing hunters' licenses and tags for antlerless deer

(2) Restrictions that should be imposed on Commonwealth agents with respect to the issuance of hunters' licenses and tags for antlerless deer to out-of-state residents out-of-county residents and residents of counties wherein the killing of antlerless deer is authorized

(3) The feasibility and advisability of issuing licenses and tags for periods of one two or three years and the assignability of such special licenses and tags when the holder thereof is ineligible to hunt antlerless deer because he has killed a male deer

(4) Methods of issuing hunters' licenses and tags so as to insure equitable and fair distribution thereof among the many resident and non-resident hunters and be it further

Resolved, That the committee report to the Pennsylvania Game Commission its findings and recommendations and be it further

Resolved That if the committee is of the opinion that legislation is necessary to accomplish its recommendations it report to the House of Representatives as soon as possible its findings and recommendations together with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 139

Mr. KOLANKIEWICZ. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 12 of today's calendar, House Resolution No. 139.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, December 14, 1955.

A grim Christmas and a sad New Year is in prospect for some 2,692 families in the Delaware Valley area which includes a great number of Philadelphians. The wage earners of those families are going to be fired many of them before the holidays arrive. The Federal Government is dismissing all these people US Civilian employees in the name of economy. And before it is too late before the bad effects of these needless and untimely layoffs spread it is hoped that the Federal agencies concerned will take swift steps to halt this planned layoff or unemployment.

The firing program lines up as follows 600 to be dismissed at the Naval Air Materiel Center 476 at the Naval Shipyard 1500 affected by plans to move the Army clothing manufacturing plant to the south and 116 handed dismissal notices at the Philadelphia Ordnance District.

These mass firings would come at a time when employment in this area has lagged. On the basis of latest available figures unemployment in this area is approximately 6 percent of the total available labor force as compared with the national average of about 3.5 percent. This situation is partially attributable to previous cuts in defense activity in this area which have been far out of proportion to the nation-wide reduction. Thus there can only be a harmful effect on the Delaware Valley and in turn on the Nation. Loss of income to these families loss of purchasing power to the region both will set a grave pattern and a worse precedent.

This is not real Federal economy. As the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia points out we all support efforts at real economy halting needless expenditures wasteful practices and unnecessary jobs. But many workers affected here have been on the job for thirty years and their work has been considered of major value up to now. What's more hasty efforts to find jobs for those fired Federal employees elsewhere in the area overlook the fact that many of them may find that by sticking with the Federal Government over the years they are now too old to get the kind of jobs for which their skill and experience qualify them.

Firing or laying off of these workers who are defense workers would not only aggravate unemployment in critical areas but also would adversely affect the national defense effort. As an example the Naval Air Materiel Center is engaged in research design manufacture etc of naval aviation equipment. It has been learned that private industry has expressed no desire to perform the type of work performed because of its experimental nature and the small manufacturing quantities involved. Layoffs thus will result in the failure to meet military time schedules delay in important projects increase costs and inefficiency therefor be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States and more specifically members of the Congress representing the Delaware Valley U S A to take such steps as are necessary to cancel these firings or layoffs and to reinstate those employees affected thereby for the better of the Delaware Valley and for the United States of America and be it further

Resolved That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania and New Jersey in the Congress of the United States and to Secretary of Defense Charles E Wilson

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. ROBERT K. HAMILTON from the Committee on Judiciary Special, returned with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, House Bill No. 1040, entitled:

An Act to repeal Section thirty-one of the "Electric Cooperative Corporation Act" approved the twenty-first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1969) entitled "An act relating to non-profit co-operative corporations organized to engage in rural electrification, providing for the organization, consolidation and dissolution of such corporations; ***"

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The bill is re-referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

REORGANIZATION PLAN NO. 7

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 12 of today's Calendar, Reorganization Plan Resolution No. 7B.

The resolution was read as follows:

Resolved that Reorganization Plan No. 7 of 1955 transmitted to the General Assembly under date of December 20, 1955 which is incorporated herein by reference be disapproved

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, this resolution with reference to Reorganization Plan 7, which was transmitted to us on December 20th and intended to transfer certain things to the Department of Forests and Waters, was improperly drawn and does not reflect the intention of those who were sponsoring this particular transfer. For this reason, since the Act seems to require it, we are asking that the Membership disapprove this plan today so that we eliminate it entirely and leave the administration in the position to have one properly drafted and placed before us at a later date.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 17, 1956.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I urge the General Assembly to give favorable consideration to several measures designed to promote the welfare of our children and youth.

Juvenile Delinquency is a problem which properly has engaged the attention and aroused the concern of thoughtful people all over the United States. Because the incidence of delinquency has increased in Pennsylvania, as in all States, the Commonwealth must take firm action and give leadership to local communities in meeting this problem which cripples children, destroys family life and represents a cradle for future inmates of our mental hospitals and adult prisons.

Each year approximately 2,500 children are committed to institutions by the Juvenile Courts of Pennsylvania. These children are not born bad. They get into trouble when family life is weak and religious training is meagre. These children can be saved for productive citizenship. We can and must help them and their families.

I was appalled, as I am sure you will be, to learn that Pennsylvania has more children in public and private institutions committed by Juvenile Courts as delinquents than any other state in the Union. We do not need to send so many of our children to institutions and separate them from their families.

Many could be rehabilitated in their home communities if enough and proper personnel facilities were available.

The advantages of keeping children in their own communities when this can safely be done are apparent. Children and the families to which they will ultimately return can be helped by local services to change the behaviour which brought the child to court. House Bill 1618 which has been passed by the House provides consultation to local communities and courts to aid these children and their families and in planning measures for the prevention of delinquency.

Some delinquents, however, require institutional care. Through House Bill 1618, the training schools to which delinquent children are committed will be assisted to improve their programs. The bill also provides for a better system of reimbursement by these counties to the institutions so that county, state—even federal funds expected to be available—may be used to develop better services for these young people. This entire program is urgently needed. Recent studies completed by the Institute of State and Local Government reveal that Pennsylvania's institutional program falls far below the minimum standards required, if we are to rehabilitate our program children for socially useful lives. Of the 48 states, Pennsylvania is the only one which does not assist its counties in helping disadvantaged children. We cannot be proud of this distinction.

I also submit for your consideration amendments to House Bill 1073, which authorizes the Department of Forests and Waters to establish forestry conservation camps for the development, maintenance and protection of the State forests and State parks, and for the rehabilitation and training for boys between the ages of 15 and 18. These boys will be engaged in developing the State forests and parks for recreation areas. The care, education and training of these boys will be under the supervision of the Departments of Public Instruction, Justice and Welfare, which may operate forestry conservation camps as annexes of existing State-owned institutions. These camps will add to our facilities for education, training and treatment of young men while serving another useful purpose. They represent another means whereby the Commonwealth will assist home communities in helping to rehabilitate otherwise unproductive young people.

Fortunately, only a very small fraction of our troubled young people commit delinquent acts. For these and for all who need help we must provide treatment. Prevention is equally important. Our concern must be for all of our youth. We must provide for recreational opportunities and facilities which will meet the needs of the rural and urban areas and which will serve people in their own home communities. We must provide physical and cultural activities for leisure time. Such programs offer our young people a positive approach to life and serve to keep them from rebellious and destructive behavior.

House Bill No. 1546 establishes a State Department of Recreation which will aid in the development of local recreational programs and facilities. This Department will provide information and technical assistance to local governments and agencies in examining needs for recreational facilities and programs and in their development. At present there is no comprehensive program for recreation in the Commonwealth. What we have is not coordinated. We are not making maximum use of our great natural resources for recreation nor of the cultural opportunities and facilities which exist in many areas of our State. I do not propose that the State Government supplant efforts of local government or private philanthropic groups. House Bill 1546 offers to them assistance, direction and a method for achieving teamwork to make full use of the Commonwealths wonderful natural and cultural resources for recreational purposes.

Only through a full partnership of local government and citizen's groups with the Commonwealth can we help to protect the future of our young, to redirect our rebellious and troubled children and provide proper facilities and services so that all of our youth may grow up to become happy and useful members of society.

GEORGE M. LEADER.
Governor

The PRESIDENT. This communication will be spread upon the Legislative Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

He also presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg.

To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

By authority vested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955 (Act No. 8), I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 8 of 1955. This plan transfers responsibility for handling Federal surplus property from the Department of Public Instruction to the Department of Property and Supplies. The background of this proposal is as follows:

A Federal law passed in 1944 provided that surplus property might be donated for educational and public health purposes either directly to tax supported or non-profit tax exempt institutions, or indirectly to such institutions through "state departments of education or health."

On April 12, 1945, the General Assembly of Pennsylvania passed Act No. 99 (P. L. 220) to take advantage of the Federal offer. This authorized the Commonwealth, or any administrative department, board or commission, acting through the Department of Property and Supplies, to enter into contract with the United States for the purpose of obtaining surplus products.

Because the Federal law specifically stipulated that states receiving Federal property for redistribution should do so through departments of education or health, the Governor, in December, 1945, and by authority of The Administrative Code of 1929, established in the Department of Public Instruction the Division of Surplus Property Disposal.

But Federal law has since changed. Amendments made in 1955 permit donations of surplus property either to state departments of education or health or to other state instrumentalities.

The plan is recommended for your approval for the following reasons:

1. State law (P. L. 220, 1945) first authorized the handling of Federal surplus property through the Department of Property and Supplies and this arrangement was changed only because Federal law made it necessary;

2. Now that Federal law has been changed there is no special reason why donable goods should be handled by the Department of Public Instruction;

3. The Department of Property and Supplies is the State agency which normally handles property procurement and disposal;

4. Improved administration, economy, and efficiency can be expected from grouping similar functions within the Department of Property and Supplies;

5. It is advisable to free the Department of Public Instruction from numerous miscellaneous duties that are not essential to the performance of its primary purpose.

GEORGE M. LEADER
Governor

Dated: January 17, 1956

Transmitted to the General Assembly on
January 17, 1956.

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 8 of 1955

Section 1. The division of Surplus Property Disposal in the Department of Public Instruction where it was established by the head of the department, with the approval of the Executive Board, in the year 1945, pursuant to the provisions of section 212 of the Administrative Code of 1929, is transferred from that department to the Department of Property and Supplies.

Section 2. There are hereby transferred to the Department of Property and Supplies the files, records, property, contract obligations, personnel, supplies and equipment now being used or held by the division of Surplus Property Disposal, and the unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations and other funds available or to be made available for use by the division of Surplus Property Disposal to be used for the payment of salaries, wages, general expenses, supplies, printing and equipment necessary for the work of the department with respect to the acquisition of Federal surplus property and the distribution of such property to schools and other agencies authorized to receive it.

Section 3. The following acts and parts of acts are suspended as particularly set forth:

Section 1, act of April 12, 1945 (P. L. 220), entitled "An act authorizing the Commonwealth and any administrative department, boards, and commissions thereof acting through the Department of Property and Supplies, and political subdivisions of the Commonwealth, including municipal authorities, to enter into contracts with the United States of America, or any agency thereof, for the purchase, lease, or other acquisition of property, real or personal, offered for sale pursuant to the Surplus Property Act of one thousand nine hundred forty-four, without complying with any requirement of existing law as to specifications, advertising, award of contract, and approval of purchases by a State agency receiving competitive bids, or the delivery of property purchased before payment therefor," in so far as it confers any powers upon the Department of Public Instruction.

Section 3, act of December 22, 1955 (Act No. 29A), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Department of Public Instruction for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-five, and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-five, and making appropriations to the Department of Public Instruction for reimbursements to school districts," in so far as it is in conflict with this Reorganization Plan.

"Resolved, that Reorganization Plan No. 7 of 1955 transmitted to the General Assembly under date of December 20, 1955, which is incorporated herein by reference, be disapproved."

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 139 REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations:

CONGRESS MEMORIALIZED TO TAKE NECESSARY STEPS TO STOP FIRINGS IN THE DELAWARE VALLEY AREA

In the House of Representatives, December 24, 1955.

A grim Christmas and a sad New Year is in prospect for some 2,692 families in the Delaware Valley area, which includes a great number of Philadelphians. The wage earners of those families are going to be fired, many of them before the holidays arrive. The Federal Government is dismissing all these people—U. S. Civilian employes—in the name of economy. And before it is too late, before the bad effects of these needless and untimely layoffs spread, it is hoped that the Federal agencies concerned will take swift steps to halt this planned layoff or unemployment.

The firing program lines up as follows: 600 to be dismissed at the Naval Air Materiel Center, 476 at the Naval Shipyard, 1500 affected by plans to move the Army clothing manufacturing plant to the south, and 116 handed dismissal notices at the Philadelphia Ordnance District.

These mass firings would come at a time when employment in this area has lagged. On the basis of latest available figures, unemployment in this area is approximately 6 percent of the total available labor force as compared with the national average of about 3.5 percent. This situation is partially attributable to previous cuts in defense activity in this area which have been far out of proportion to the nationwide reduction. Thus, there can only be a harmful effect on the Delaware Valley, and, in turn, on the Nation. Loss of income to these families, loss of purchasing power to the region—both will set a grave pattern and a worse precedent.

This is not real Federal economy. As the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia points out, we all support efforts at real economy, halting needless expenditures, wasteful practices and unnecessary jobs. But many workers affected here have been on the job for thirty years and their work has been considered of major value up to now. What's more, hasty efforts to find jobs for these fired Federal employes elsewhere in the area overlook the fact that many of them may find that by sticking with the Federal Government over the years they are now too old to get the kind of jobs for which their skills and experience qualify them.

Firing or laying off of these workers, who are defense workers, would not only aggravate unemployment in critical areas but also would adversely affect the national defense effort. As an example, the Naval Air Materiel Center is engaged in research, design, manufacture, etc., of naval aviation equipment. It has been learned that private industry has expressed no desire to perform the type of work performed, because of its experimental nature and the small manufacturing quantities involved. Layoffs thus will result in the failure to meet military time schedules, delay in important projects, increase costs and inefficiency; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States, and more specifically members of the Congress representing the Delaware Valley, U.S.A., to take such steps as are necessary to cancel these firings or layoffs, and to reinstate those employees affected thereby for the better of the Delaware Valley and for the United States of America, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States, to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania and New Jersey in the Congress of the United States and to Secretary of Defense, Charles E. Wilson.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON EXECUTIVE NOMINATIONS

Mr. WOLFE, from the Committee on Executive Nominations, reported with a favorable recommendation the following nominations, made by His Excellency, the Governor:

MEMBERS OF STATE TAX EQUALIZATION BOARD

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, December 19, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, December 28, 1955.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate Ervine N. Branch, 32 Water Street, Warren, Warren County, for appointment as Justice of the Peace in and for the Borough of Warren, Warren County, until the first Monday of January 1958, vice Tracy M. Greenlund, deceased.

GEORGE M. LEADER.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. MAHANY read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 934, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 22, 1931 (P. L. 594), entitled "Rural State Highway Law," adding a new route in Crawford County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 935, entitled:

An Act amending the compact contained in the act of June 5, 1937 (P. L. 1664), entitled "An act to ratify and adopt a compact or agreement negotiated by commissioners designated by the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, . . ." designating the lake area on which motor boats may be operated; limiting the horsepower of the motor boats operated thereon and fixing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, in the beginning of last October, my erudite colleague from Washington County, Senator Lane, and I introduced a bill which dealt with the problem of children's camps in Pennsylvania. This bill was drafted in the light of the disaster that overwhelmed Pennsylvania in August. It brought, both to Senator Lane and myself, plaudits from the parents of the children but also brickbats and carping criticism from many groups. Some of the groups claimed that the provisions of the bill were Draconian in nature, and they would undermine the existence of many camps because the provisions were very oppressive.

We did not want, in any way, to interfere with church groups, civic groups, Boy Scout or Girl Scout Camps but, at the same time, conditions in many camps required the promulgation of a code. I spent considerable time in making research, and I find that this field has been totally neglected, except in the State of California. There is no adequate legislation to cope with the manifold problems and yet it calls for remedial and corrective action.

Mr. President, in order to avoid interference with worthy organizations, and as well as to permit private camps to continue the preparation of their voluntary code, Senator Lane and I have prepared a stopgap bill. The main purpose of this bill is to provide registration of the camps because at the time the disaster struck, the Department of Civil Defense and the Department of Military Affairs did not even know where the camps were located and could not send help to stranded and imperiled children.

The primary purpose of the bill which I am about to introduce is to provide a registration of camps so that when emergencies arise, we will know where to rush help. It is a known fact that last August but for the intervention of the United States helicopters, 595 children would have been drawn in the Delaware where they were stranded on a tiny islet and nobody knew of their whereabouts.

So, to ameliorate conditions, Mr. President, Senator Lane and I are introducing this bill.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Messrs. STIEFEL and LANE read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 936, entitled:

An Act relating to children's camps; requiring the registration of children's day and resident camps; defining powers and duties of the Department of Health with respect thereto; prescribing penalties and imposing duties on the Joint State Government Commission.

Which was committed to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I have a notion, and a very happy notion, that our worthy colleague, Senator Rowland Mahany, intends to speak on this topic because this is a great day in America and the entire civilized world.

Today is the Sesqui-bicentennial of the birth of Benjamin Franklin. So as not to encroach upon Senator Mahany's territory, and I bow before his eminence, I now am limiting myself to the introduction of a resolution, on behalf of Senator Chapman, Senator Blass and myself, leaving the embellishments to Senator Mahany.

SENATE RESOLUTION

TRIBUTE TO BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Messrs. STIEFEL, CHAPMAN and BLASS offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 17, 1956.

Today the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania celebrates the 250th birthday of Benjamin Franklin, one of its greatest citizens, whose name is famous throughout the world as symbol of enlightenment, tolerance, and wisdom.

The genius of Benjamin Franklin ranged through so many fields that it is difficult to list them all. He was statesman, scientist, philosopher, printer, writer, business man, patriot, and philanthropist. His inquiring mind ranged from the invention of an improved heating stove to experiments proving the identity of lightning and electricity, to the foundation of libraries and learned societies, and to improvements in the care and lighting of city streets.

His services to the Province and State of Pennsylvania were manifold. He was a member and clerk of the Pennsylvania Assembly, an influential leader in the political development of colonial Pennsylvania. He represented Pennsylvania and other colonies in London, and was delegate from Pennsylvania to the Second Continental Congress, where he assisted in drawing up the Declaration of Independence. As President of the State Convention of 1776, he largely directed the framing of the first State Constitution, just as in later years he played an important part in the Federal Convention which framed the Constitution of the United States. In his last years, Pennsylvania made him President of the Supreme Executive Council, equivalent to the office of Governor today. In his lifetime Benjamin Franklin enjoyed the highest honors and respect which Pennsylvania could bestow, and present-day Pennsylvania fully shares the feeling of his contemporaries; therefore be it Resolved, That the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania pays special tribute to Benjamin Franklin on this 250th anniversary of his birth on January 17, 1706, not only for his immense contribution to human understanding and enlightenment, but especially for his great services to the Province and Commonwealth as legislator, constitution-maker, diplomat, and Chief Executive.

BIRTHDAY FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO GOVERNOR GEORGE M. LEADER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am happy to note that we were unanimous in expressing our commendation to the memory of Benjamin Franklin. I hope that we are all just as unanimous in wishing our Chief Executive of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, George M. Leader, a happy birthday on his thirty-eighth anniversary, which is today.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am happy to join with my colleagues in wishing His Excellency, George M. Leader, a very happy birthday and many more of them.

Mr. President, I do not know where my good friend, Senator Stiefel, got the idea that I was going to talk at length on Benjamin Franklin. I have not told him that I was. However, I will say that it is very fine of Senator Stiefel to present the resolution which he did. I think we can all learn a lot from the life and teachings of Benjamin Franklin. He gave us a wealth of information as a guide in our daily lives.

Benjamin Franklin came to Philadelphia as a very poor young man. As I remember it, he only had a couple of loaves of bread under his arm and he parlayed that, as my good friend, John Cummings, has stated, into quite a sizeable fortune at a relatively early age. We all can agree that Benjamin Franklin, if he were here today, perhaps would take a different view of things than he did back in the time when he lived.

Mr. President, we had a television program in Philadelphia, sponsored by the Philadelphia Bulletin, a week ago last Sunday, in which Governor Leader participated along with others. I was privileged to be a participant on that program, and we did elaborate to some extent on what we thought Benjamin Franklin would do if he were faced with today's problems. As we all know, Benjamin Franklin was a very frugal man. He believed in thrift; he believed in a pay-as-you-go policy. We have departed somewhat from those teachings in our governmental policies of today. It certainly would be interesting to know what Benjamin Franklin would do if he were a Member of the Pennsylvania Senate today. I feel that he would depart somewhat from his teachings because we cannot evaluate today what we would do in relation to the various complexities which confront us as officers of the State because problems are changed today.

However, Mr. President, I feel that we should take into consideration those teachings and, as far as possible, try to run and manage our government in line with those teachings and try to practice thrift and economy in the operation of our State.

Mr. President, I would like to join with Senator Stiefel and the others in honoring Benjamin Franklin in this the Sesqui-bicentennial of his birth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I do not want to pre-empt the field of resolutions, but I would be remiss in my duty in not bringing to the attention of the Senate a very felicitous event that took place last night.

Mr. President, one of our colleagues, Senator Anthony J. DiSilvestro, enjoyed an egregious honor last night when he was elevated to the Presidency of the Alumni Association of Temple University. I feel it is a very fine tribute to one of our colleagues, he being a graduate of the Law School of Temple University, and the School of Pharmacy and also a man who has devoted years of his life to fruitful pursuits in all fields of communal and legislative endeavor.

Therefore, Mr. President, it behooves us to honor Senator DiSilvestro on this occasion, and, therefore, on behalf of Senator Dent and myself, I am offering this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS

CONGRATULATING SENATOR ANTHONY J. DISILVESTRO UPON HIS ELEVATION TO THE PRESIDENCY OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION OF TEMPLE UNIVERSITY

Messrs. STIEFEL and DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 17, 1956.

Senator Anthony J. DiSilvestro was honored last night in Philadelphia by his elevation to the Presidency of the Alumni Association of Temple University.

Be It Therefore Resolved, That the Senate of the General Assembly extends its congratulations to Senator DiSilvestro upon this egregious honor bestowed upon him as a graduate of both the Law School of Temple University and the School of Pharmacy of Temple University, and in recognition of his fruitful work in all field of communal and legislative endeavors.

CONGRATULATING RUSSELL C. APPLER ON HIS COURAGE AND VALOR

Mr. HARNEY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 17, 1956.

Valor is the word for Russell C. Appler, aged 30, of Snyder Avenue, West Goshen Township, Chester County, Pennsylvania.

On the night of August 18, 1955, during the heavy rains and floods which swept the major portion of the State of Pennsylvania, Russell C. Appler saved the life of a Conshohocken physician who was trapped in his car when it swerved off the Schuylkill Expressway at Belmont Avenue, Philadelphia and began sinking in the swollen waters of the Schuylkill River. He swam out and managed to pull Dr. Paul R. Miraglia through the window of his car. He then returned to the car and saved the doctor's bag and instruments. Appler, at the time, was driving for the Gindy Manufacturing Co., of Downingtown and his heroic act came to the attention of the Council of Safety Supervisors of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association. A letter from Dr. Miraglia on the file at the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association's office testifies to the fact that had Appler not come along at the critical moment the physician probably would have drowned.

In recognition of this feat and also of Appler's courage in having caused the arrest of a hit run driver in July of 1955 on the Wilmington Pike, and for his alertness in turning in a fire alarm at Blossburg, Pennsylvania, in September of 1955 when he noticed flames leaping from the top of a coal tippie at 5:00 a.m. while driving through that community, the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association had Governor George M. Leader present its "Award for Valor" to Appler on January 13, 1956 in the Governor's office.

Russell C. Appler and his wife Jean, who are natives of Long Island, New York, and have lived in West Goshen Township a little more than two years, are the proud parents of two darling girls, Karen, 4, and Beth, 18, months.

During Appler's four years with his former employer he had to his credit 65,000 miles of accident-free driving. He is now employed as a paymaster for Pillsbury Mills, Inc., Downingtown; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania congratulate Russel C. Appler on his cuorage and valor displayed on several dangerous occasions and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Russell C. Appler.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KESSLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, the Finance Committee has reported out House Bill No. 1879, as amended, to the floor of the Senate, and I desire to place on the record an outline of the major changes that have been made and the philosophy which guided us in making these changes.

By means of amendment, Mr. President, we have converted Governor Leader's three and one-half per cent manufacturers' excise tax into a three per cent use tax at the consumer level, which it is estimated will produce $305,000,000 in revenue in the remaining fifteen months of the biennium and will start to produce this revenue immediately.

Our public hearings on House Bill No. 1879 brought to light many serious defects in the measure. The excise tax would have been exceedingly costly and difficult to administer. It would inevitably have been pyramided to the ultimate consumer to greatly increase his tax burden and it would have discouraged the expansion of industry in Pennsylvania and seriously limited employment opportunity.

Mr. President, our amendments remedy these defects and bring the tax out into the open so that the taxpayer will always be aware of the direct relationship between the schools, the hospitals and the other public services he demands and the cost in taxes of providing these services. As amended, this bill places the levy and collection of the tax at the consumer level. To be technical, the tax has been placed upon the use by the ultimate consumer of manufactured tangible personal property. This means, in essence, that the last person who buys such property pays the tax. By making the tax base uniform at the retail level, the possible unconstitutional features of House Bill No. 1879 are eliminated.

Actually, Mr. President, this bill is very close to a retail sales tax, a fact which your committee makes no effort to conceal. It is better in this form because it will be open and above board in its operation and incidents. We feel that the public wants it that way. The public does not want its tax burden to be concealed or the cost of government to be sugar-coated, especially when such deception increases both the cost of collection and the ultimate financial burden which must, in the last analysis, fall on the public at large.

Mr. President, the amendments we propose today will make the collection of the tax simple and relatively inexpensive. Even the exemptions which the Legislature deems necessary, such as food, can be handled simply without losing the economic and social objectives motivating such exemptions. By placing the tax directly on the ultimate consumer, we make the offsetting Federal tax deductions available to everyone, whether he be an individual citizen, retailer or manufacturer. This factor, alone, will reduce substantially the over-all tax burden on the individual taxpayer. The base of the tax is now the consumers' purchase price of the manufactured tangible personal property.

The machinery to collect this simple tax is already set up and ready to go into operation at a moment's notice. The businesses which will be asked to collect the tax have had two years experience collecting a comparable tax. Prompt passage of this amended bill would enable the tax to become effective on February 1, 1956.

Mr. President, a number of exemptions from the tax have been added to the bill to lessen its impact on lower income groups. Food for home consumption is exempt, but food served at a restaurant, tavern or hotel is taxable. Alcoholic beverages for home consumption are also exempt because they already bear a heavy burden and because their purchase is not peculiar to any segment of the public classified as to income. Alcoholic beverages, however, served at a restaurant, tavern or hotel are taxable. The exemption of such household necessities as water and electricity and fuels for domestic use will also reduce the tax burden of the average home owner. Clothing, medicine and artificial aids to human deficiencies, such as artificial limbs, are also exempt. An exemption is granted to items which become a part of another manufactured item. This eliminates the pyramiding of the tax to the consumer. An exemption is also given to some items used or consumed by a farmer or industrial employer. This does not mean that all such items are exempt; only those items directly used in the producing of the product or service are exempt. Thus, a lathe on an assembly line is exempt, but a typewriter in an office is not.

Mr. President, your committee feels that such exemptions are necessary in order to protect already heavily taxed industry in Pennsylvania in its competitive position with industries in other States. Among industrial employers, Pennsylvania is famous or, more properly, infamous for its high corporation tax burden. I would like to read a paragraph from an article appearing in the Cleveland Press on Friday, November 18, 1955, as follows:

"Pennsylvania was presented as a vivid example of a State which had allowed tax burdens to creep up on the vitality of manufacturing. John E. Senn, analyst of tax laws, described what he called a 'soak the corporation' policy which he blamed for Pennsylvania's slipping to third place industrially and partly for its similar loss population wise to California in 1953. Its employment in industry remains larger than Ohio's, but he mentioned a forecast that this would be lost in 1957."

Moreover, Mr. President, on page 13 of the conclusions of the Tax Study Committee on the Tax Problems of Pennsylvania, there is contained this significant statement:

"Pennsylvania is widely known as a high corporation tax State. The State Government taxes on corporations in Pennsylvania exceeded those of any other State in the group of fifteen in the fiscal year 1954, both on a per capita basis and in the ratio of corporation taxes collected to the total State tax collections. In the fiscal year 1953, the total Pennsylvania State and local taxes on corporations were also higher than those in any other leading State, as shown by various comparisons."

I feel sure that some of my colleagues on the other side of the Senate will cry that these amendments favor corporations over individuals in spite of the above quoted statements of acknowledged experts. They probably will say that this amended bill disregards the "ability to pay" philosophy, a tax theory which is always advocated by demagogues who are pretending to "soak the rich." In actual fact, however, they are soaking the little fellow at the same time and are trying to hide it. Those who attack this amended bill on this point will be taking the political approach, the partisan approach that beclouds the fundamental issues with deceptive emotional appeals. The public does not want to be deceived about the tax burden it must bear in order to pay for the services it demands. I want no part of any attempted deception in this matter. The excise tax appeared to be a tax on manufacturers, but in the end it would have been paid by the consumer. He would have had to pay a larger amount than he will have to pay under this amended bill which applies the tax at the consumer level.

Mr. President, the amended bill, now before the Senate, represents the best thinking of this committee. We have rejected partisan politics in a genuine endeavor to make a fair and workable tax bill out of Governor Leader's manufacturers' excise tax, one that minimizes the burden on the taxpayer and one that will not drive industry out of the State and limit employment opportunities.

We, on the Republican side of the Senate, are prepared to meet tomorrow and vote on this measure. I urge both the Senate and the House of Representatives to act favorably upon this amended version of House Bill No. 1879, so that the Commonwealth's financial problem may, in a large measure, be solved.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, although I do not usually indulge in name calling and I do not intend to now, but if the Senator from Lancaster believes that any person who believes that the basis of taxation must be based upon ability to pay is a demagogue, then I plead guilty.

Mr. President, the gentleman has presented to the Senate what he terms a three per cent sales tax. The House of Representatives as represented by the Republican Leader, Charlie Smith, has just been given a message in a very loud and insulting voice, in which in one of the passages he alluded to the present Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as a demented person. He may be demented and mad and perhaps demagogic, according to the measurements set up by our political opponents, but I doubt if the people of this Commonwealth will accept a program presented in good faith when the Republican, who have controlled the Senate for these thirteen months, have time and time again said that all they would accept was a sales tax and have presented today, after many announcements to the newspapers, a program which they call a three per cent sales tax, while at the same time their Leader in the House says that he and his Republican colleagues will stay all year before they will give one vote for a three per cent sales tax.

Perhaps the compromise which we have been seeking has been dealing with the wrong parties. The real difference seems to be not between the Democrats in the House and the Republicans in the Senate. The real difference seems to be between the Republicans in the House and the Republicans in the Senate. I believe that the people can see beyond the chicanery and skulduggery of this ill-disguised attempt to take a Democratic sponsored bill, which started out as an excise tax on manufactured goods, collectable at the manufacturers' sale price level, and convert it into a Republican sales tax with Democratic sponsorship. In fact, the previous speaker inquired, in one of our conferences, of the House Leader whether it would not be possible to run it through the House without a roll call in a fast fashion because you see, Mr. President, the Republican Leader in the House is a candidate and he would love to go before the people and say, "I have not voted for any taxes."

Mr. President, I do not know what the fate of this bill will be. Are the Republicans sincere when they admit they have two Members missing and say that they are going to call it up for a vote tomorrow? We have long ago told them in conferences, the same as they have told us, and we have respected what they said to us in that we did not try to give them that which they did not want. After they told us in committee that they would not go for our compromise program, we left it as it stood. We told them that we could not be asked, in good faith, to accept the excise tax converted into a sales tax and yet, contrary to all negotiations I have ever attended, in complete disregard of the decency of the findings and the wishes of the conferees, we find ourselves subjected to this barrage of misstatements and in some cases untruths.

The gentleman said that this sales tax would raise $305,000,000 in the, as he calls it, sixteen months of collection. I have before me—if the gentleman has to have a Senatorial investigation to find out if my figures are accurate, that would just add to their plan of delay—the entire amount of money spent in this Commonwealth for any items whatsoever, any commodities whatsoever at the consumer level and that entire amount is $16,540,000,000. However, the exemptions just advocated by the gentleman, of which I do not have the entire list but I did hear cigarettes, coarse motor fuel, farm feed and fertilizers, food for home consumption, industry machinery, items consumed in manufacturing and clothing. If you will just take that batch of amendments and exemptions, you reduce that figure down to $6,380,000,000. On a one per cent collection base, if you had the bill with those exemptions alone, you would collect for every per cent of taxation $63,800,000 in a one year period. However, you go a little further in this. You make sure that no businessman in Pennsylvania pays any part of a sales tax. You take the twine or the paper bags, which are used in a store for packaging, and you exempt them. You go further than the Fine sales tax, and you exempt machinery of industry.

Mr. President, at this point I would like to say to the gentleman from Lancaster that the person who was talking about Pennsylvania being such a poor State to operate in was just quoting the misstatements and the malicious propaganda of the State Chamber of Commerce. I say this is a good State to do business in and to live in and we want to keep it that way. We want to keep it so that the people can live in it, too. We are not interested in a prosperity for machinery and degradation for the people. We are interested, if we can be, in the philosophy of Andrew Carnegie, when he said that prosperity is built on a plane sustained by three pillars; these pillars being capital, tools and people and each ought to sustain, as to the best of their ability, the burden of carrying on the work of government.

Senator Kessler said that the gentleman who spoke in Cleveland, quoting the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce, said that we lost our peoples and our industry to the State of California. Well, sir, did I not propose to you in the conferences that if you admired the State of California, we would eliminate all of the taxes in Pennsylvania and go along with you as a co-sponsor and put California's taxes into Pennsylvania? However, you could not do that and do you know why? Because they have a sales tax of three per cent which raises $500,000,000 a year. Out of the $500,000,000, sir, $119,000,000 is for industrial machinery.

I notice, too, that you exempt in another demagogic appeal, if you want to use the word and this is demagoguery when you exempt the material to build a single house, appealing, if you can, to the so-called little man, to the G. I., to the home buyer, who buys a home once in a lifetime if he is lucky, but he buys pots and pans and dishes, rugs and carpets and things like that all of his life. You say, "We will exempt you from a purchase that you make once in a lifetime." I want to say to you, sir, that there will not be any reduction in the price of that home to the ultimate buyer.

I notice, too, as I tried to catch the amendments as they went across and I assure you that I will look them over very carefully, that you did do what you said you would do by exempting Sun Ship Building. You had to take care of old Joseph N. Pew. Of course, you took care of our friend, the Pennsylvania Railroad. I did not catch all of the things you took care of, but I think I am pretty safe in saying that you took care of all of the boys who are floating around the Senate to make sure that their people are taken care of.

You hand this to us as a representative piece of legislation, representing the Republican Party in Pennsylvania. Mr. President, I do not know whether I am in this year of our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-Six, or whether, through some terrible dream and nightmare, I have been shifted back a few generations. I am surprised that when the liquor tax went through, you did not exempt manufacturers who buy cases to give away for Christmas because they call it a cost-of-doing business in the State and take it off of their income tax.

Mr. President, oh, yes, I forgot; you exempted your public utilities, too. You did not forget anybody here according to what I see except the people. I am surprised that some of the cooler heads on the other side, who probably have some sentiment in their makeup of demagogic pretense, did work up enough pressure to have you take clothing out. I remember what the paper said recently. The Republican plan was for a three per cent
